Northern Credit Union moves to one Island office

All services to be amalgamated to Little Current; Mindemoya closing MINDEMOYA—Mindemoya businesses and residents were shocked to discover that Northern Credit Union intends to close its Mindemoya branch. In a press release sent to The Expositor late last week, the company that took over operations of the former Espanola and District Credit Union five years ago announced that the Mindemoya branch would be closing its doors on November 30.

"Northern will give its Mindemoya members four months to help with the transition," reports the news release.

The news was received by local members of the Northern Credit Union delegate group after it was released to local politicians and the media, leaving some delegates privately disgruntled that they were not given advance notice in order to be better prepared to answer questions.

Saturday fundraiser planned for victim of Sheg hit and run

KAGAWONG—The fundraiser for Ruta Tribinevicius, who was left seriously injured in a July 20 hit and run in Sheguiandah, will take place this Saturday, August 11 at the Kagawong Park Centre.

Ms. Tribinevicius is currently recovering from serious injuries at Health Sciences North in Sudbury where she was transferred from St. Michael's Hospital in Toronto.

"We look forward to having you come out to show your support for Ruta!" a Facebook page encourages. "Join us for an evening of music, entertainment and food to support this amazing person on her road to recovery."

The cost of admission to the musical evening is $10 per person. There will also be a silent auction of local art, items and services. Cash, credit and Apple Pay for admission and sales are all welcome.

"We are encouraging everyone to wear your best combination of leopard print, camo, leather and sequins—we plan to make Ruta smile with pictures of people trying to imitate her amazing fashion sense (as if we could!)" the Facebook page states.

For those who can't come, Ruta's family has set up a direct-to-Ruta

Manitoulin Country Fest starts tonight, Wednesday, August 8

by Warren Schlote

LITTLE CURRENT—The 12th annual Manitoulin Country Fest is returning to Little Current this week, promising good times and a “little bit of something for everyone” with performances running from Wednesday, August 8, to Saturday, August 11, including Billy Ray Cyrus of “Achy Breaky Heart” fame headlining the show.

“It’s a large festival with an intimate kind of feel,” says Country 103’s KT Timmermans, co-organizer of the festival alongside her husband Craig.

Country Fest events start the day before the festival shows, beginning Wednesday evening. The first event is a sold-out fundraising boat cruise with North Channel Cruise Line, featuring music by George Canyon. This is the third year of the fundraising cruise and proceeds are going to the Manitoulin Diabetes Network.

Billy Ray Cyrus takes to the Country Fest stage this Friday, August 10 at 10 pm.

Also on Wednesday is the Kick-Off to Country Fest party at the Anchor Inn, which gets underway at 8 pm. The 19+ event has a $5 cover charge, with funds also going to the Manitoulin Diabetes Network. Toronto-born singer-songwriter Nate Daviau will be there performing original songs and covers. Ms. Timmermans says she hopes to donate upwards of $10,000 through the pre-festival events.

The festival officially gets underway at the Flat Rock Entertainment Centre Thursday, August 9, with headline perform-

Love Your Bay cleanup an international event

by Michael Erskine

BAY OF ISLANDS—The Love Your Bay shoreline cleanup currently underway in the Bay of Islands is a perfect example of what can be accomplished when a group of determined people get together to help preserve something they love.

“It is going very well,” said Celesta Bjornson. “I am really proud of our community.”

It’s rather difficult to pin down an actual number of how many people are participating in the Love Your Bay event, but anecdotally it is pretty impressive. “Most of our bay is taking part in it,” said Ms. Bjornson. “I can’t say for sure, 70, 80, 100 people? Almost every island has people taking part.”

Before the effort got underway, a community barbecue was held. “We had a big barbecue and a meeting with a large map,” said Ms. Bjornson. “Everyone highlighted where they were committing to clean-up so we didn’t have a duplication of effort.”

The Love Your Bay cleanup was made possible through a grant from the Great Lakes Guardian Trust. “The grant from the Trust is sure being put to good use,” said Ward 1 Councillor Laurie Cook. “Many thanks to Dave Williamson for suggesting that NEMI apply for it on behalf of Ward 1.”

The funds have provided for the steady flow of debris pouring into the bins stationed at the landing to be hauled away for disposal at the landfill. “We have emptied a bin just about every day,” said Ms. Bjornson.

As part of the effort a number of contests are being held. “We have a prize for the most collected by volume, the best item suitable to be

Noojmowin Teg achieves CCA accreditation

AUNDECK OMNI KANING—Noojmowin Teg Health Centre (NTHC) received confirmation that it has been formally accredited through the Canadian Centre for Accreditation (CCA).

“Having CCA accreditation is recognition of the organization’s commitment to developing and following good practices and processes,” says Ryan Corbiere, board chair. “The First Nation and Indigenous communities and community members we serve, as well as our health partners, can be assured that we have undergone an extensive internal and external review process that measures our practices against highly reputable standards of practice. Accreditation also opens doors to be explored by board and staff moving forward.”

After extensive work on policies and procedures, a formal CCA accreditation review was completed by a neutral and third part review team comprised of three volunteers in May 2018. The review was based on assessing whether Noojmowin Teg followed accepted organizational practices that promoted ongoing improvement, and responsive, culturally relevant and effective services to community members. The three team members spent a week carefully reviewing organizational documents and processes, completing a site visit to an external First Nation clinic, and conducting interviews and surveys with clients, community partners, staff and board. The team assessed the organization using specific CCA mandatory requirements and leading practice standards in the areas of governance, organizational planning and performance, leadership and risk management quality of services, and most importantly, from a cultural lens. Noojmowin Teg met all required organizational, and community-based primary healthcare standards.

Debaj returns to ruins with ‘Tales from the Sugar Bush’

by Michael Erskine

WIIKWEMKOONG—The Deba-jehmujig Storytellers have returned to the Holy Cross Mission Ruins in Wiikwemkoong for their summer main stage production ‘Tales from the Sugar Bush.’ ‘Tales from the Sugar Bush’ is a collaborative creation that taps deeply into the sweet creative sap of the venerable Indigenous theatre troupe and features both old and new faces among its cast members.

Ashley Manitowabi delivers a tour de force performance as the Mishomis, a grandfather patriarch of an Anishinaabe family returning to the land at the family sugar bush for the first time since losing their grandmother and mother. Mr. Manitowabi used his considerable slight of hand skills to add another “magical” element to his performance.

Sheila Trudeau channels her inner “auntie” to deliver a superb performance of the technophobic aunt. Her interchanges with her nephews brought a classic authenticity to the stage.

Samantha Brennan’s portrayal of the non-Native girlfriend provided a vivid contrast between the traditional small family sugar bush operation and the steady inexorable disconnect from the land and family that comes from building a successful commercial industrial operation.

The supporting cast of Bradleigh Steven Trudeau, Reece

Wabegijig, Sheldon Mejaki and Daniel Recollet-Mejaki also played well to the theme of the impediments technology puts in the way of staying connected to the land and the challenges of trying to bridge two worlds.

The stories that make up the “tales” highlight how the sugar bush came to be and the roles it plays in the history and culture of the Anishinaabe.

Director Bruce Naokwegijig welded the talents of the cast and crew together in a cohesive whole

Charge of criminal harassment withdrawn against Patsy Corbiere

by Lori Thompson

GORE BAY—The final charge of criminal harassment against Aundeck Omni Kaning Chief Patsy Corbiere was withdrawn at the Ontario Court of Justice in Gore Bay on Thursday, August 2. The charge was withdrawn after Chief Corbiere completed a diversion program.

Speaking on Chief Corbiere’s behalf, her lawyer stated, “This was not an admission of guilt. She simply wanted to put the matter behind her.”

Charges of criminal breach of trust and intimidation of a justice system participant laid against Chief Corbiere by the Ontario Provincial Police following an investigation requested by the United Chiefs and Councils of Manitoulin Police Service in October of 2016 were previously withdrawn.

Family, friends reunite at the Annual Crystal Shawanda Homecoming

by Warren Schlote

WIJKWEMKOONG—Internationally-acclaimed vocalist Crystal Shawanda's annual homecoming party brought friends, family and fans together under the setting Wiikwemkoong sun to the sounds of blues and country hits last Friday.

The event, now in its 11th year, was a more intimate affair than past years which have drawn hundreds of people. One of the factors for the smaller size was the usual stage being in poor repair this year.

"And to be honest, I have a little 17-month-old baby now, and I just didn't want to wear myself out worrying about it," said Ms. Shawanda. Her daughter Zhaa Zhaa was at the show, excitedly running around to meet the many new faces around her.

The floor-level stage for this year's event was set up facing the sun which, although slightly blinding when the clouds occasionally parted, offered a striking backdrop for the performance. Ms. Shawanda was joined on stage by her husband Dewayne Strobel, providing all of the musical accompaniment on his electric guitar. It was a special day for the musical duo—homecoming coincided with the couple's 15th anniversary.

Ms. Shawanda created the original idea for the homecoming shows out of necessity.

"When we first started doing these events, it was because there was nowhere to play in the area," said Ms. Shawanda. "Basically, the closest place I was playing was Toronto."

Despite her relocation to Nashville, Ms. Shawanda has remained committed to her home in Wiikwemkoong as well as some places which have fostered her growth. Her international successes are what have enabled her to express that gratitude back home.

"Now I'm at a point where I do what I want to do. I visit the communities that have nurtured me through my childhood when I first started singing," said Ms. Shawanda. Since she has started playing at more venues around the province, fans have not needed to visit her family's home to see her perform. That factor also contributed to the diminishing size of the event.

This year's smaller event also

Crystal Shawanda and husband Dewayne Strobel put on a show for the small crowd gathered for her 11th annual homecoming.

meant more time for Ms. Shawanda to interact with old friends, family and long-time fans, something that tends to be difficult at big shows. "It's nice to invite the Island here so we can catch up. Having that support is nice."

Derek and Celina Blakeney travelled from Sudbury for the show. Ms. Shawanda's music has been a recurring presence in their lives—last year, she sang 'Happy Birthday' to Ms. Blakeney at the homecoming event. When the couple got married, Ms. Shawanda's 'You Can Let Go' played as Ms. Blakeney walked down the aisle.

"We'd bring my parents every year," said Ms. Blakeney. "Usually we come out as a family to homecoming because Crystal is my mom's favourite artist."

Ms. Blakeney's father died three years ago, turning the annual homecoming trip into a sentimental tradition. Ms. Shawanda performed the emotional 'You Can Let Go' near the end of her first set, which brought Ms. Blakeney up to the front to dance with another audience member.

For Ms. Blakeney, the personal connection Ms. Shawanda brings to her performances—especially homecoming—has resonated the deepest.

"I like how she gets involved with all her fans; she treats them like family," she said. "It's like a gathering of friends celebrating music."

A number of people in attendance were members of the Espanola Autism Acceptance group. That group has partnered with Ms. Shawanda on numerous occasions in the past and are major supporters of her work. Several of them were seated in the front row, and did not hesitate to get up and dance along to the performance.

About 75 people had gathered by the end of Ms. Shawanda's first set. It was a mixture of original tunes and covers from both a blues and a country repertoire. The setlist was appropriate for Ms. Shawanda, who began her career as a country singer but has been moving more firmly towards blues in her latest few albums.

Ms. Shawanda's most recent album 'Voodoo Woman' came out in late 2017. Even though she is still actively promoting that release, she is already back in the recording studio working on another blues album. While her most recent release contained a number of cover songs, the new project will feature more original tunes. Ms. Shawanda said she hopes to release that album in early 2019.

A call for support to help save a son's life

With a bonus that negotiations could save taxpayers money

To the Expositor:

I am writing to you today in regards to Orkambi. Orkambi is a drug which treats the underlying defect for many of those suffering from cystic fibrosis, specifically those with the F508del mutation. This accounts for over 700 people in Ontario.

My 10-year-old son Benjamin has cystic fibrosis (CF). CF is the most common fatal genetic disease affecting Canadian children and young adults. Ben has already undergone a non-transplant surgery and frequently deals with lung infections that severely curtail his enjoyment of life.

The approval process for Orkambi has taken longer than expected. A similar drug called Kalydeco was made publicly available in Ontario recently. Kalydeco has the same success as Orkambi in reducing or eliminating many symptoms for many individuals taking it. Kalydeco works like Orkambi, except that it is targeted at a different cystic fibrosis mutation.

Orkambi currently costs more than $250,000/year. Many major private insurance providers cover Orkambi. Many western nations have negotiated pricing agreements. France, Ireland and the United States make Orkambi publicly available for those who meet eligibility requirements.

While Health Canada has already approved Orkambi, the Canadian Agency for Drugs and Technologies in Health, the Common Drug Review, the Committee to Evaluate Drugs and the pan-Canadian Pharmaceutical Alliance must also approve the drug.

Negotiations can significantly reduce the current cost. The long term benefits of drugs like Orkambi can be measured in fulfilling years lived, and in a more practical sense, money saved for the taxpayer by way of less hospital visits and expensive procedures that will only increase as time moves on for untreated individuals.

Orkambi may alleviate many of Ben's symptoms and prevent much future lung deterioration, however, damage already present cannot be undone. Transplants are often the last resort for individuals with CF. Please consider to act as a voice for my son and others like him. Please contact Christine Elliot to request that Orkambi is made publicly available as soon as possible.

Red light runners blocking egress from the Island

Everyone just wants to be on the Island, of course

To the Expositor:

I am absolutely one of many people who want to get on beautiful Manitoulin ASAP.

I've noticed a few times this summer just how eager folks are.

On Thursday early afternoon I was at the bridge leaving Little Current briefly for Espanola. The light was red and I was second in line; not at all busy.

When our light turned green we could not proceed because a vehicle was still exiting the bridge. In fact, three more vehicles followed after.

Again, this just tells me that everyone wants to be on the Island—of course!

Just an observation.

History Day in Kagawong this Thursday, August 9

by Michael Erskine
KAGAWONG—One of the most anticipated events of the summer season has to be the History Day in Kagawong series. This year there are two themes backstopping the event, the tragic tale of the two Henry brothers and the Danny Dodge tragedy.

“The story of the Henry brothers, who founded Kagawong back in the late 1800s, is really a story we are looking forward to sharing,” said museum curator Rick Nelson. “It’s a great story and our museum committee members Dianne Fraser and Sabine Huege have been putting in a lot of hours getting it ready.”

Avoid ticks, and Lyme disease, this summer

SUDBURY DISTRICT—With the warm weather upon us and people enjoying the outdoors, Public Health Sudbury and Districts is reminding you to protect yourself and your family against tick bites and to learn what to do if you are bitten.

Infected blacklegged ticks can spread the bacteria that causes Lyme disease, and they have been found in the Sudbury district. Although the risk of contracting Lyme disease remains low, people need to protect themselves. In Ontario, blacklegged ticks are found more commonly in rural areas along the north shores of Lake Erie, Lake Ontario, Lake Superior, and the St. Lawrence River.

“Checking for ticks immediately after activities like gardening or hiking is one simple way you can protect yourself from Lyme disease,” said Jon Groulx, an environmental support officer with the organization.

Blacklegged ticks cannot fly. They wait on grass and bushes for animals or humans to brush against the vegetation. Ticks vary in size and colour and can be hard to see until they are full of blood.

Avoiding a tick bite in the first place is best. To prevent tick bites: avoid walking in tall grass; make sure yards are kept clear of debris and overgrown vegetation, grass, bushes, and trees; keep wood piles and bird feeders away from homes; wear a long-sleeved, light-coloured shirt, pants, and closed-toe shoes; use insect repellents that are approved by Health Canada and follow the application recommendations on the package; and take a shower after outdoor activities to help wash off ticks that have not yet attached themselves to the skin.

How to remove a tick: If you find a tick attached, use fine-tipped tweezers to grab the tick close to the skin and gently pull straight up. Wash the area with soap and water, and put the tick in a container and bring it to your local public health unit for it to be sent for testing for Lyme disease. If the tick has been attached for more than 24 hours, follow up with your health care provider to determine if you need treatment. Lyme disease is treated with antibiotics. If left untreated, Lyme disease can cause serious complications to the heart, joints, and nervous system.

One of the signs of Lyme disease is a rash that looks like a red bull’s eye around the bite area. Other symptoms can include fever, headache, muscle and joint pain, fatigue, stiff neck, and swollen glands. Symptoms vary from person to person.

For more information on Lyme disease and ticks, call Public Health Sudbury and Districts at 705-522-9200, ext. 398 (toll-free 1-866-522-9200) or visit <http://www.phsd.ca>.

after falling out of the boat on the way to medical aid, will form the second portion of the presentations.

“I think that Robert was on the Manitoulin (May 1882) and William was on the Asia (September 1882),” said Mr. Nelson, correcting a previous misstep in a story about History Day. “I don’t think they drowned a year apart,” he laughed. “May 1882 and then September 1882 would be more like four months—and there is no James Henry.”

The musical portion of the multi-media event will be provided by Lyle Dewar and Darrel Dewar, who will be performing songs that were on top of the charts during the days of the Henry brothers. To titillate the taste buds, freshly baked goods from the period will be on hand to sample.

“One of the speakers at this year’s History Day is the great, great granddaughter of William Henry,” said Ms. Fraser. “One of William’s sons grew up to be premier of Ontario from 1930 to 1934.” A testimonial letter about William Henry, written by his son and requested by Billings Reeve Austin Hunt in 1957 is part of the museum’s permanent collection and will be featured at History Night.

Living links such as Peter Gordon, Ethel Newburn, Candy Tracy and Don Lloyd will help the audience experience what it was like to be an early pioneer on Manitoulin Island.

As part of the second portion of the History Day presentation, John Van Etten, son of Laurine Dodge (Daniel Dodge’s wife) from her third marriage, will be on hand as one of the VIPs (but not speaking), said Mr. Nelson. “Also Roger Weber, the News 4 NBC affiliate reporter who created a documentary about the Dodge tragedy,” he said. “He will be talking about his interest from the Detroit angle.”

History Day in Kagawong will again take place at the Park Centre in Kagawong on Thursday, August 9 with a matinee at 3:30 pm and an evening session starting at 7:30 pm. Both sessions include all of the presentations. Admission is free, but donations to the Old Mill Heritage Site Museum are gratefully accepted.

Planning, Preliminary Design and Class Environmental Assessment Highway 6 Little Current Swing Bridge Study, GWP 5268-14-00

The Ontario Ministry of Transportation (MTO) has retained Stantec Consulting Ltd. to undertake a Planning, Preliminary Design, and Class Environmental Assessment (Class EA) Study for the Highway 6 Little Current Swing Bridge located in the Town of Northeastern Manitoulin and the Islands in Northeastern Ontario. The bridge provides year-round highway access between the community of Little Current and Manitoulin Island and mainland areas of Northern Ontario. The existing bridge is nearing the end of its service life. The purpose of this study is to identify a Recommended Plan that addresses current and future transportation needs at the bridge crossing.

THE PROCESS

This study is a “Group A” project under the Class Environmental Assessment (EA) for Provincial Transportation Facilities (2000) and includes undertaking environmental and engineering field investigations and seeking input from stakeholders, external agencies, Indigenous communities and the public. A Study Design Report (SDR) will also be completed and will be made available for public review. The purpose of the SDR is to confirm the project Need and Justification, define the study area, assess alternative crossing types (Alternatives to the Undertaking), and document the Class EA process including consultation.

PUBLIC INFORMATION CENTRE 1

A Public Information Centre (PIC) is being held to provide the public and stakeholders with an opportunity to review the transportation needs assessment, existing conditions, alternatives to the undertaking, and comment on project activities to date. The PIC will be a drop-in format, with members of the Project Team available to discuss the project with you and respond to any questions you may have.

Date: August 22, 2018
Location: Manitoulin Hotel and Conference Centre, 66 Meredith Street East, Little Current, ON
Time: 4:00 p.m. to 8:00 p.m.

COMMENTS

You are encouraged to participate in the study and to provide comments in writing to the Project Team. If you wish to have your name added to the project mailing list or have questions about the study, please contact:

All comments will be maintained on file for use during the study and, with the exception of personal information, may be included in study documentation and become part of the public record.

Manitoulin Deer Show back for its fifth year

MANITOWANING—In its fifth year, the Manitoulin Deer Show in Manitowaning is excited to present not one but three incredible speakers from popular outdoors television programs. The fun starts at 10 am when the doors open and will continue until 3 pm on Sunday, August 26. The cost is $10 per adult and $5 for kids age 6 and over.

Amanda Lynn Mayhew from ‘Just Hunt’ on WILD tv will be hosting a 45-minute presentation on Women and Youth in the Outdoors. Ms. Mayhew is the Official Ambassador and Host of the Great Outdoors Stage for the Toronto Sportsmen’s Show. She is one of the most popular female ambassadors in hunting and fishing in Canada. It will be a treat to hear her speak on such a hot topic, as more and more women and kids take to the great outdoors to enjoy this wonderful hobby.

Also from WILD tv is the family oriented outdoors show ‘Homemade Hunters’ featuring Bob and Jaime Radu. Bob and Jaime are also the hosts of ‘The Outdoorz Guyz Radio Show’ on a local station in southern Ontario where they share their passion for hunting and fishing, promoting all things outdoors. They will be here to speak to the kids before they compete in the Wilderness Challenge. This will take place outside in the ball diamond at 11:30 am. Last year there was an obstacle course that had them climbing, jumping and walking precariously on some narrow boards, as well as spear throwing, target practice and animal identification challenges. This year will no doubt be bigger and better! Two $100 cash prizes are up for grabs. Conquer the Kids Wilderness Challenge for your chance to win!

Back by popular demand is Ian Anderson, a retired Ministry of Natural Resources and Forestry conservation officer and exceptionally knowledgeable local deer hunter. He will be speaking about predator control, a hot topic on the Island.

Perry’s Gun Shop from Sault Ste. Marie will be coming as well our local gun shop Manitoulin Guns and Pawn. The Manitoulin Deer Show will feature many other great vendors and exhibitors.

The Wild Game Cook Off has grown so much from its first year, thanks in part to Jake’s Home Centres that continue to sponsor this event with amazing prizes. This year the prize is a camouflage rocker and recliner, perfect for any home or hunt camp. Our panel of judges will be back hungrier than ever and ready to sample the amazing food Hawewater Runs!

Thanks to a growing number of volunteers, the annual Haw Runs (1K, 5k and 10K) took place this past weekend in Little Current. In the 10km race the top-ten finishers started with: Zack Gamege (38:09), Rob Campbell, Jessie MacNevin, Andrew Zimmerman, Monica Haring, Kristin Farquhar, Bobbie Landry, Amy Hoss, Steve Ross and Steve Fesenden.

Finishing first in the 5k race was Cindy Lewis with a great time of 19:09! She was followed by first names but not necessarily surnames! In second place was Jake Gougeon, then Georgie Chown, Mackenzie Campbell, Tom, Brodie Pennie, Steve M., Katie Delaney, Douglas and an Andrew!

The all-important volunteers begin with commander in chief Nelson Rochefort-Wood and Dale Wood, Cathy Wood, Vance Wood, Deana Debassige, Sarah Seabrook, Darwin Wood, Sydney Latva-Aro Cash and Duchene-Milne. The race committee is donating $1,000 to three deserving groups: Manitoulin Pet Rescue, the NEMI Library and the Furever Furbaby Rescue based out of Sudbury. Congratulations on another successful year, team!

Colour Run

Staying with Manitoulin sporting events keep the 5K Colour Run open on your schedule for August 19. The run, organized by Pride Manitoulin, "Into the Current" will have registration at 9 am and the gun goes at 9:30 am. Your very affordable $15 per person fee includes a t-shirt. The race headquarters are at the NEMI Library.

Manitoulin Fastball Finals

After a summer of exciting fastball the final standings are all set. The first round match-ups are as follows. The Wiikwemkoong Lumberjacks were first and receive a bye, The Mindemoya Brewers were second and will also be awarded with a pass through to the second round. The third place Kaboni Tigers will take on the sixth position, M'Chigeeng Youngbucks. The final first round series will feature the fourth place, Gore Bay Merchants versus the Wiikwemkoong Redmen who took fifth. Condolences to the M'Chigeeng Cliffrunners who finished just outside the playoff round. On the bright side, it is was so amazing to see so many teams and so many more players staying active and having fun on Manitoulin than in recent memory.

A reminder that the first round is a best of three. The higher seeded team has home field advantage. Organizers hope to get the second round going by Wednesday or Thursday or at the latest next week. If they run into any scheduling issues, they will make the schedule on whichever field is available so as to not hold up any of the series moving forward (even though it may not be, the earned, home field).

Ultimate Tuesdays!

A reminder that Low Island is the host location for a fun, all-ages and all-abilities, Ultimate pick-up game night. Every Tuesday at 7 pm, a fun group of players get together and make up some equitable teams for some great fun in this often, under-appreciated game. The game, as I may have mentioned before, Ultimate is one of the best exercises, least confrontational, self-refereed and fun, combinations you can have.

Ultimate worlds!

Summer visitor Daniel Johnson, who is the player/manager of his Kitchener-Waterloo/Guelph team Crash Ultimate, recently won 5th place at the World Ultimate Club Championships Cincinnati, Ohio. The team had an 8-1 record in the mixed division, and faced teams from all over the world, including Singapore and New Zealand. Crash qualified for the world championships after winning silver at the Canadian Ultimate Championships in Saskatoon last year. Formed in 2014, the team won the Canadian Ultimate Championships in its inaugural year. Dan is also the target of Ultimate, head-hunters who are looking to extend his season. Have fun, Daniel!

MICC Men's Open

The Annual Manitoulin Island Country Club was an exciting event once again this year for the Men's Open. Walking away with the lowest score were the father-son team of Warren and Justice Corbiere who won the championship flight by four strokes! They ripped through the 36 hole, final score of 132 (64-68). Finishing in second in that championship flight was Kelly Abotossaway and Shawn Assinewai, who tallied a two-day score of 136, (66-70). In the first flight, Marc Addison and Garrett Gouge finished first with a 36 hole score of 149 with Roger and Junior Beaudin took second with 150. Placing first in the second flight with a score of 154 was Cory Croft and Steve Pearson, with John and Andy Windsor second at 155. In the third flight, Anthony Rogerson and Matt Garneau were first with a score of 163 and Bob Marsh and John Garrett placed second with a score of 164. It should be noted that on Sunday, on the par 5 12th hole, after Bob O'Brien and his teammate Derek Crew had teed off, Mr. O'Brien's second shot went in the hole for an eagle! Also on Sunday, Cam McLeod and his 10-year-old son Carson posted the low score of the day, a four under par 68.

Manitoulin Island's first competitive open water swim slated for August 25

by Alicia McCutcheon

MANITOWANING BAY—Manitowaning's Jackie White, well-known swim coach, is hosting, alongside the Township of Assiginack, a first annual Open Water Swim in Manitowaning Bay on Saturday, August 25.

"I've coached and done competitive swimming for decades," Ms. White said, noting that she is also an open water swimmer. "It's fun because you don't know what the weather will bring," she added.

The route is approximately 1.3 kilometres and begins at Manitowaning Beach, goes to the tip of Fanny Island and back again. It's the equivalent of about 52 laps in a pool.

For swimmers, Ms. White said, this is a warmup. "For those that swim, it's very doable," Ms. White added. "But it's different, swimming in Lake Huron," she added. "It's a very different group of people who have that urge."

"There will be support crews all around," Ms. White explained, both in boats and kayaks.

Front crawl is the preferred stroke of open water swimmers, and for those who are looking to brush up on their skills Ms. White is hosting stroke clinics every Tuesday night at the Manitowaning beach from 6:30 to 8 pm until race day, August 25, all free of charge. Ms. White helps swimmers with their form and their breathing.

The race will begin at 10 am on August 25 and all swimmers must have a brightly coloured swim cap so that support crew can keep a keen eye out for the swimmers. Wetsuits are allowed and swim goggles are encouraged, Ms. White added.

Depending on how it works out, Ms. White hopes to make it an annual event. The folks at Canaqua Sports, Canada's biggest boosters of open water swims, are helping to spread the word about the race too.

To register for the event, visit assignack.ca and click on the link.

"If you're at all thinking about it, come out, or come to the stroke improvement class," Ms. White urges.

Knox United 4th Annual Charity Golf Tournament again a success

ASSIGINACK—The Knox United Church 4th Annual Charity Golf Tournament held at Rainbow Ridge Golf Course on Tuesday, July 10 was again a highly successful event. A total of $12,000 was raised by the event, bringing the four-year results up to $44,500, half of which is shared with local charitable and non-profit community organizations and the other half goes to the Knox Building Fund.

Manitowaning Mill Home Hardware and Building Centre was the Title Sponsor again this year with a $2,000 donation. Manitoulin Transport and Manitowaning Freshmart were both significant sponsors, donating $1,000 each.

The team of Carol Hughes, June McDougall, Barb Poulton and Marilyn Smith won the ladies' division of the 4th annual Knox United Church Charity Golf Tournament.

The winners of the Knox Charity Golf Tournament are: men's division, Ken Bond, Floyd Ense, Paul Menthor and Harold

Thirkell; women, Carol Hughes, June McDougall, Barb Poulton and Marilyn Smith; mixed, Bob Corbiere, Sonja Morningstar, Henry Hoy and Elaine Hoy. "The support received from the business community as well as the participants and volunteers exceeded last year," said Al Mattison, tournament committee coordinator.

The following 12 groups are being included in the distribution of the proceeds this year, which takes place at the church on Sunday, September 9 during the regular church service at 9:30 am: Burns Wharf Theatre Players, Assiginack Curling Club, Assiginack Public Library, Fixing our Felines, Manitoulin Family Resources, Manitoulin Secondary School, Manitoulin Special Olympics, Manitowaning

Agricultural Society, Manitowaning Minor Hockey, St. Paul's Anglican Church, Tehkummah Public Library and the Triangle Seniors' Club.

The 5th annual charity golf tournament takes place next year on Tuesday, July 9, 2019. Congratulations to everyone who helped make the event a success.

Bruce Peninsula National Park set to expand

OWEN SOUND—The Government of Canada announced that, with the support of the Bruce Trail Conservancy, it has reached an agreement to acquire new land to expand the Bruce Peninsula National Park.

Alongside the Minister of Environment and Climate Change, Beth Gilhespy, chief executive officer of the Bruce Trail Conservancy, announced the agreement that will see the government acquire the 3,272 Driftwood Cover property at the tip of the Bruce Peninsula. The property was publicly listed for $20.6 million, however, until the transaction has completely closed, the purchase price cannot be made public.

The property features 6.5 kilometres of uninterrupted Georgian Bay shoreline, representing 22 percent of the park's coast and is home to at least 10 federally listed species at risk including the Massauga rattler, some of the oldest trees in eastern North America, and dozens of significant cave systems.

...Manitoulin Country Fest starts tonight ances by Genevieve Fisher, River Town Saints and George Canyon between 7 and 11:15 pm.

Friday's programming starts at 4:30 pm with Brea Lawrenson, followed by performances from Beverley Mahood, Carroll Baker and Aaron Goodvin until 9:30 pm. At 10 pm, internationally award-winning musician and actor Billy Ray Cyrus takes the stage. His set runs until 11:15 pm.

On Saturday, August 11, Kyle Dunn kicks things off at 2 pm. The programming continues until 11:30 pm, featuring Dani Strong, Andrew Hyatt, Leaving Thomas, Dan Davidson, Emerson Drive and Lee Brice.

"The fact that we have this level of talent in Little Current is pretty mind-blowing," says Ms. Timmermans.

The festival is a family-friendly venue, with on-site camping available to pre-book. In addition to the adults-only beer tent, the TD Family Fun Zone is back again. This year, it features new inflatables, face painting and demonstrations by Science North. All programming within the TD Family Fun Zone is free.

There will not be much on-site programming before the shows begin in the afternoons, according to Ms. Timmermans.

"We want to encourage our attendees to go out and explore the Island rather than holding them here," she says.

Tickets are still available for Friday's Songwriter Showcase cruise. It runs from 11 am until 1 pm and features Genevieve Fisher, Aaron Goodvin and Beverley Mahood. The musicians will perform and share stories behind their original music. A buffet barbecue lunch is included in the ticket price, and bar service is available on board. Tickets are available through North Channel Tours at northchanneltours.com.

Ms. Timmermans says the Manitoulin Country Fest can be a great time, regardless of your music tastes.

"There's nothing like live entertainment and the camaraderie it brings. There are always good times to be had with old and new friends," she says.

All tickets will be physical copies to be picked up at the entrance gates. Patrons can order online or pay at the gate. The festival website, manitoulincountryfest.com, has a FAQ page for general information. The Country 103 office in downtown Little Current will be closed this week, however they will have an answering service available at 1-866-755-7425.

The Flat Rock Entertainment Centre is located at 181 Harbour View Rd., on the south side of Little Current. Doors open an hour before the start time of all shows. Tickets and passes are still available as of press time on Monday.

accreditation program is that it promotes an ongoing culture of learning and quality improvement throughout the organization," says Siu Mee Cheng, executive director. "By choosing to go through the CCA accreditation process, Noojmowin Teg Health Centre is demonstrating its accountability to the community and its commitment to providing the highest quality programs and services."

"The Noojmowin Teg board of directors supported and participated in the accreditation process recognizing CCA as a means to externally monitor our organization," says Pam Williamson, executive director. "The staff were engaged and committed extensive time and efforts in the process. As an Anishinabek primary health service provider working and serving both First Nation and non-Indigenous people, we see this accomplishment as a starting point of our commitment toward ongoing improvements, and toward achieving recognition as a responsive, culturally relevant, quality and safety driven organization. Miigwetch. Thank you."

The Noojmowin Teg Health Centre is one of 10 Aboriginal Health Access Centres found across Ontario. The organization works in partnership with all seven First Nations on Manitoulin Island to provide health programs and services including health promotion. The Centre was incorporated in 1998, and has been expanding services since then to better serve the First Nation and Indigenous populations within the Manitoulin Island and most recently, the Espanola area.

The programs and services delivered through Noojmowin Teg Health Centre are centred around the traditional health program and support a wide range of services including pre and postnatal care, nutrition, health education, health promotion, disease prevention, counselling, traditional healing and treatment. The primary health care services include physician, nurse practitioners and traditional healing.

Noojmowin Teg currently works within a collaborative model of holistic health and wellbeing that recognizes the expert knowledge, skills and resources in supporting sectors and aims to maximize the utilization of existing services through an integrated and coordinated inter-sectoral, wrap-around approach, grounded in Indigenous determinants of health, racial and gender frameworks.

Noojmowin Teg is funded by the Ministry of Health and Long-Term Care, Ministry of Children and Youth Services, Ministry of Health Promotion and Sport, North East Local Health Integration Network and Northern Diabetes Health Network.

prepared by the contestants. This year, on a first come first serve basis we will allow food to be plugged in, if required. Cooks will still be responsible for registering their food and getting it to the contest on time.

Upon request, hunters who make the effort to bring in their deer mounts will be recognized even more. In the past, they would have their name entered for a chance to win one prize, but this has now been increased to not only include a firearm but up to four awesome prizes will be awarded for the Deer Mount Contest! All the more reason to brag about your mount and maybe even with a prize.

Bring in your game camera photos by 11 am or email them to info@assignack.ca in advance for a chance to win the $100 Best Game Camera Prize.

"This year, with the amazing speakers, fun events and cool prizes to be won, we are encouraging everyone to come out and see how fun this event is!" Assignack events coordinator Jackie White encouraged.

The Manitoulin Deer Show takes place on Sunday, August 26 at the Manitowaning Arena.

The set design and build by Barry Beaver recreates a small family sugar shack nestled deep in the sugar bush maple stands.

Stage manager David (Sonny) Osawabine's experience was evident in the smooth operation of the various components that complemented the performance.

The cast's double duty as the playful piasuk, the little people of the Anishinabe tradition, added a bit of delightful comic relief as they interacted with the audience and utilized the clown skills imparted down through the years of collaboration between Debaj and John Turner's "Clown Farm," now the Manitoulin Conservatory for Creation and Performance.

'Tales from the Sugar Bush' is being performed at the Holy Cross Mission Ruins in Wiikwemkoong August 9, 10, 11, 15 to 18. Shows all start at 7 pm. Admission is $20 for adults, students and Oooo, shiny! A piasuk investigates the elders $15 and children under 12 $10.

The issue is likely to be discussed at the next delegate meeting scheduled for August 18.

The release notes that "While the credit union will no longer offer a bricks and mortar location in Mindemoya, its valued members will be able to access the physical branch in Little Current and Espanola. Or, if these members prefer, they can conduct their in-branch duties at any one of Northern's 32 branches located across Northern Ontario."

"I received an email earlier this week," said Central Manitoulin Mayor Richard Stephens. "I was a little bit disappointed that we didn't get some advance warning at the municipal level."

Mayor Stephens did have an opportunity to engage with one of the company vice presidents at the Mindemoya branch on Thursday. "I expressed to him my concern that we had spent a long time at the credit union trying to bring them in because Central Manitoulin is a growing community." The vice president, Steve Hatzipantelis, assistant vice president retail sales and service, reiterated much of what was in the press release. "He talked about the change in banking and how bricks and mortar operations are not needed so much anymore and that a lot of banking is moving to telephone and the Internet these days," recalled Mayor Stephens. "I haven't been able to speak to all of council, but I have spoken with a couple of them and they too expressed their concern. But it is a business and at the end of the day you can't do too much about it."

Mayor Stephens noted that the official did indicate that the lease on the current location was coming up. "In the end I guess they looked at things and decided it wasn't a viable location for them."

A statement from the Al Suraci, Northern Credit Union CEO, notes: "This consolidation was a very hard decision. I want to assure our esteemed members that we always keep their best interests at heart. This consolidation may not seem to be in-line with this commitment, however, I can promise our members and Northern staff that this decision was made for the overall good of our credit union."

The credit union points out that "Mindemoya members are also extended a host of other banking options to help ensure they continue to receive the same high level of service they have become accustomed to. These include online banking and digital procurement tools and resources that allow them to access Northern's products and services online—everything from chequing and savings accounts to investments and more."

The press release goes on to say that it is "doing its best to ensure that all Mindemoya employees remain a part of Northern and will serve in their current capacity, or be extended opportunities to further their career."

In the letter sent to local politicians, Mr. Suraci notes that "These past few years, Northern Credit Union has achieved countless community- and business-related goals, all working towards making us the one true financial institution of the North. While we continue along this successful journey, we are not immune to change, along with the adverse effects it can have."

The missive from the CEO to local political leaders, which includes the information sent in the press release cited above, adds that: "To continue with our 60-plus year history of keeping it True North Strong, this consolidation was necessary. You see, the banking industry has changed. Where banks, credit unions and other financial institutions were opening more branches not so long ago, today, these same organizations are operating from less physical locations than ever before. Northern is certainly not immune to these changes, which is why we have come to this decision."

"I just found out," said Jim Gilpin of Spring Bay, former chair of the Espanola and District Credit Union who was at the helm when that organization was subsumed by Northern Credit Union, where he is now a delegate. "I am very disappointed to see it go." Mr. Gilpin said that he was under the impression, although not specifically stated at the time by Northern, that the Mindemoya location would stand for at least five years. "That was our general understanding," he said.

Members of the board and delegate group were reluctant to speak on the record about the closure, noting that it is the chair who speaks for the board.

"Not avoiding you but I don't have anymore information that I can add," replied delegate member Steve Schaffer. "I'm still digesting the announcement myself. Our delegate group has it as an important agenda item for our August meeting." Mr. Schaffer referred The Expositor to delegate committee chair Jim Brandow.

A fundraiser for Ruta Tribinevicius will be held this Saturday, August 11 at the Kagawong park Centre where one can pick up a bottle of her famed maple syrup (seen above).

repurposed or reused and another for the most bizarre thing found," she said. What was the most bizarre thing found so far? "That had to be a melted outhouse," said Ms. Bjornson ruefully. "It was all melted from being in a fire, including a grate."

"This all really started out with a group of us out kayaking," said Sheile Williams, who is co-ordinating the effort with Ms. Bjornson. Both are members of the Bay of Islands Community Association (BICA). "We said to ourselves 'isn't it terrible to see what people throw away or just hide along the shoreline?' There are discarded docks, all kinds of styrofoam, oil drums from back in the day that people have just hidden on the shore."

In fact, the BICA members have discovered and dismantled six abandoned docks that have drifted into the bay. "We have another two to deal with yet," said Ms.

Williams.

As for the most re-purposable/reusable item found to date? "That has to be the big black dock floats that we found," said Ms. Bjornson.

The Love Your Bay effort has a true international flavour to it due to the number of Americans who call the Bay of Islands home during the summer. That dichotomy is reflected in how the BICA acronym is said. "Americans pronounce it 'bike-a' and Canadians say 'beek-a,'" laughed Ms. Williams.

"The amount of styrofoam being cleaned up off the shorelines and rocks is just amazing," said Ms. Cook, who was out helping with the cleanup efforts along with her partner John McHarg. "The metal oil drums and the old rusty junk will be picked up by a salvage company. Great job all around."

Tehkummah council approves 4.78 percent tax rate increase

by Lori Thompson

TEHKUMMAH—Tehkummah council approved the 2018 budget and a 4.78 percent tax rate increase at its July 24 meeting. Acting Clerk-Treasurer Barb Deforge told council the 2018 budget must be approved prior to nomination day, July 27. She noted there were three options: pass the budget as presented, follow the 2017 budget, or wait for the new council to be elected.

The budget was prepared with assistance from Susan Shannon of 910090 Ontario Ltd. o/a Shaping Organizational Solutions (SOS), based in Port Severn, Ontario. According to the report provided to council, since the 2017 audited financial statements were not yet available, the 2018 budget was based on the unaudited figures in the 2017 general ledger, other 2017 information provided and thorough discussions with staff on anticipated 2018 revenues and expenditures.

The report to council stated, "Clearly the preference would have been to wait for the auditor's final adjusted figures for 2017, but given the urgency to have a 2018 budget passed due to the pending 2018 municipal elections and the need to produce the 2018 final tax and water bills, it is recommended that council pass the 2018 budget as presented."

The report also noted the budget may require amendment once 2017 audited statements are available. "The Ministry of Municipal Affairs and Housing has confirmed to staff, 'if' the audited results for 2017 determine there is a need to amend the budget, the township does have the ability and authority to do so before ...continued on page 11

Great Lakes islands

Part III of a series

by Jim Nies

This is the third in a series of snapshots of some of the islands that are part of the Great Lakes Islands Coalition (GLIC). The information is taken from material placed online by member organizations at the Island Showcase, GLIC's website hosted by Northland College. (<https://www.northland.edu/sustainability/crc/great-lakes-islands/#island-showcase>) You can also check out Manitoulin's entry there, too.

Looking back: week of July 25—some thoughts on islands in general, an introduction to GLIC, and Madeline Island in Lake Superior. Last week (August 1), Beaver Island.

Note: if you are interested in Great Lakes islands and would like to be a member of the Manitoulin GLIC team, please email member Alicia McCutcheon at editor@manitoulin.ca

Les Cheneaux Islands

The Les Cheneaux Island community is located along the shores of northern Lake Huron in Michigan's Upper Peninsula between St Ignace and Drummond Island. The community includes the towns of Cedarville and Hessel which are connected by M-134, designated Pure Michigan Byway that is accessible from I-75.

Our land and water make us who we are. There are 36 islands in the Les Cheneaux archipelago, eight nature preserves and numerous public recreation areas in the community.

Our people connect to this place. Our living heritage includes our community's Native American culture and traditional hand-built crafts and educational experiences such as wooden boat and paddle building and local culinary and fine arts programs. We are proud of our historic connection to Aldo Leopold, a famed leader in land conservation, who spent his childhood summers here. We host an annual festival to honor his legacy and to celebrate the lands and waters that inspire us all today. Our local businesses and community events are infused with respect for our history and our land ethic. Our vision for our future honors our past and celebrates the land and water we love.

There are many ways to enjoy the natural environment on Les Cheneaux. Our current conservation projects cover a wide range of environments and opportunities for locals and visitors. Birding opportunities are abundant: The North Huron birding trail highlights the abundant bird species and creates more opportunities for people to learn about and view the birds of Les Cheneaux, and Search Bay, the 2,000 acres of the Hiawatha National Forest where drivers, hikers, and campers can see various bird species and other wildlife. Paddlers have an opportunity to travel over 120 kilometres of the northern-most shores of Lake Huron from the Carp River near St Ignace through the Les Cheneaux Islands, continuing on to DeTour Village at the mouth of the St. Mary's River. Hessel beach, improvements to Cedarville Harbor, and Government Island, the only wholly publicly owned island in the archipelago with nine campsites, also give visitors access to the abundant water. Hiking opportunities abound in Les Cheneaux's eight separate nature preserves representing more than 3,500 acres of conserved lands that are open to the public.

Other opportunities on the island include: the Avery Arts and Nature Learning Center, which is a non-profit housed in the Hessel Schoolhouse and also serves as the trailhead for the North Huron Birding Trail, and the location of the annual outdoor Aldo Leopold Festival; the Lex Cheneaux Culinary School, which offers students a comprehensive one-year program, the last four months of which are spent working in the adjacent 55-seat restaurant; and the Great Lakes Boat Building School, which is the only licensed school of its kind in the state, teaching quality wooden boat building skills and preservative craftsmanship.

...council approves 4.78 percent tax rate increase

year end. If the audited changes are minor, there would not be a need to amend the budget," the report concluded. "In this case, staff would simply adjust operations to try to meet budget or run a deficit at year end to be picked up in the 2019 budget."

Total 2018 budgeted expenditures are $1,709,644 operations and $59,894 capital costs for a total of $1,769,538. Costs are offset by $680,586 non-tax revenues leaving $1,088,952 to be levied.

Councillor Paul Bowerman was concerned by the increase as property owners are also affected by a Municipal Property Assessment Corporation increase, asking if there was an option to offset the municipal tax rate increase by transferring from gas tax reserves to roads and water and sewer. Ms. Deforge noted, "If you change any of this you won't be passing the budget."

In a recorded vote, Reeve Eric Russell and councillors Paul Bowerman, Lorie Leeson and Mike Mackenzie voted in favour of passing the budget as presented. Councillor Ron Hierons voted against the motion, noting there were too many unanswered questions.

Later in the meeting, council also approved water and sewer billing rates on the recommendation from staff "that the water and sewer second quarter billing be sent out at the 2017 rates until the 2018 budget has been approved and passed."

Second quarter water and sewer billing had been delayed for various reasons.

Language and cultural camp offers foundational knowledge

by Warren Schlote

AUNDECK OMNI KANING—Drum circles, charades, fire teachings and card games may not seem like natural complements, but they were all key parts of Mnaamodzawin Health Services (MHS) Anishnaabe Aadziwin Language and Culture Camp, held last week for its employees.

“It’s important they have the skills to have an introductory discussion with their clients, and they have a respect for the language of the people they serve,” said Craig Abotossaway, executive director of MHS.

The camp’s intention was to enhance cultural competency when providing care within Indigenous communities. Some of the activities, such as the card games, were chosen because of their engaging and easy-to-understand nature. This introductory camp was designed to create a foundational knowledge base onto which participants could further develop their skills.

The language and culture camp also offered traditional teachings outside of the introductory language games. Attendees participated in ceremonies such as smudging and drum circles, and gained cultural knowledge through teaching lodges.

“The cultural competencies in this program link back to medicine. The learning is all about understanding the ceremonial practices that relate to healing, Indigenous health practice and how those relate back to the work they do,” said Mr. Abotossaway.

Initiatives such as this camp are all part of MHS’ newly-enacted Anishnaabe Aadziwin policy. The policy aims to ensure all staff members measurably increase both fluency and cultural competencies every year. Exact details of how fluency will be measured and what levels will be required are still being finalized.

MHS began offering weekly language classes a couple months ago for its employees to learn basic parts of speech such as greetings. This camp offered the team

Please be Respectful, Don't Burn

PUBLIC NOTICE OF A FIRE BAN

Effective immediately, the lighting of fires in all areas and boundaries of the Town of NEMI is prohibited. All fire permits in the fire ban area are suspended for the duration of the ban. This fire ban will remain in force until revoked by further notice.

Thank you for your cooperation.

NOTICE

The regularly scheduled Council meeting of August 21 will be CANCELLED and held on August 23.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC MEETING TOWN OF NORTHEASTERN MANITOULIN AND THE ISLANDS ZONING BY-LAW REVIEW

TAKE NOTICE that the Town of Northeastern Manitoulin and the Islands will hold a Public Meeting for the purpose of receiving public comments and considering adoption of the proposed new Zoning By-law.

PUBLIC MEETING DATE: Tuesday, August 28, 2018, 6:00 PM
PLACE: Council Chambers, 14 Water Street East
Little Current, ON

Section 26(9) of the Planning Act requires that a municipality update its Zoning By-law no less than 3 years following approval of a new Official Plan. The Town of Northeastern Manitoulin and the Islands’ Official Plan was approved in 2016, and the Town’s current Zoning By-laws for Little Current (By-law 2002-31) and the Rural Area (By-law 2002-32) were adopted in 2002. The new Zoning By-law consolidates the Town’s two by-laws in to one and updates zone boundaries, permitted uses, and regulations to ensure conformity with the Official Plan.

For more information about this matter, including information about preserving your appeal rights, contact the Town Clerk, Municipal Office, 14 Water Street East, Little Current, ON POP 1K0 during regular business hours or visit the Town’s website.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION and copies of the draft Zoning By-law are available to the public for inspection on the Town’s website and during regular business hours at the Municipal Office.

Dated at Little Current this 8th day of August 2018.

The spirit of longevity: Rose McIntosh on her 95th anniversary

by Julie McIntosh

SANDFIELD—On a breezy Saturday night, dancing alongside close friends and family members at the Sandfield Schoolhouse Community Hall, Rose McIntosh was living how she envisioned her 95th anniversary.

A potluck style diner was provided by guests. Slow-cooked macaroni and cheese from her granddaughter, chilli from her granddaughter-in-law, salads, chips and dip. The General Store and Country Kitchen also pitched in three large pizzas of their making. Indeed, the delicious meals provided was food fitting for a woman who had surpassed heart disease.

In between 30 to 40 attendees, largely family members and friends, were present to celebrate Ms. McIntosh's vibrant, infectious love of life after she turned 95 on Friday, July 13. People drove from Montreal, Ottawa, from the Toronto region, Niagara Falls, and the Greater Sudbury region to see her. Friends from the Island were also in attendance. Rose plays cribbage at the Sandfield Schoolhouse, often organizing the event on Wednesday nights. Every other day of the week she fines an excuse for a competitive outing playing cards with friends like Patrysha Norton from Spring Bay, who was present at the evening.

"We're major card players," she says. Friends from the Island have grown fond of her over time, helping her with small errands and household chores over the years.

Ms. McIntosh has indeed been a stalwart of the Sandfield scene for almost half a century. She and her late husband Russell McIntosh bought her current property beside the General Store back in 1970. The home was historic in its own right; the prior family were composers and classical musicians. Ms. McIntosh lives independently, often receiving overnight visitors. In two years' time, she and her children will have driven to her home leaving her to plot flowers in her wide garden for over 50 years.

"It's an honour to go to her 95th birthday," shared Jill Edwards of Sandfield. Ms. Edwards has been a friend of Rose for 20 years.

Rose McIntosh celebrated her 95th birthday in Sandfield recently surrounded by her many friends and family members.

Ms. Edwards is amazed by the nanagenarian's independence: "She participates in everything." Often, she cooks her meals at home, does laundry and cleans her home prior to visits.

Ms. McIntosh is not a woman who will sit back while activities unfold. But on this rare occasion, she allowed her close family to take the reins over her birthday: "I didn't have nothing to do," she says. "It was really good because Garfield and Duncan [her sons] set it all up. I let them do it the way they want and it turned out so good."

Towards the end of the evening, Ms. McIntosh was presented with a two-foot wide heart-shaped vanilla cake cooked by the Sandfield County Kitchen.

After dinner, the evening was filled with melodies spun by Ms. McIntosh's French Canadian relatives. Leon and François Bédard strummed the guitar as Darell Dewar fiddled sing-along songs alongside Bernard Noël de Tilly. She could be seen dancing with Jill Edward and her eldest son Garfield.

When many guests had left for the evening, Ms. McIntosh had finally sat down in the schoolhouse. In between conversations, she made time to speak with me: "The people here feel like brothers and sisters to me. All my neighbours. I really enjoy that."

Ms. McIntosh is no stranger to small town notoriety. In 2007, she was recipient of the township of Sandfield citizen of the year award for her contribution to her local community.

Over the last year Ms. McIntosh learned of a long-lost daughter-in-law from her late husband during the Second World War, prior to them meeting. Sue White from Norfolk, England, and her sister came to visit Ms. McIntosh a few weeks prior.

Over a short period of time, Ms. McIntosh had open her arms and become increasingly acquainted with Ms. White. In fact, the former had hopes of them staying for another week. "She's such a lovely person," said Ms. McIntosh.

"She stayed for three days. We got to be so friendly... they were so amazing that I almost started to cry."

"I describe Rose as one of a billion exceptional and exquisite woman," shared Sehar Horton, a family friend of Ms. McIntosh. She met Ms. McIntosh the day prior to the anniversary, but felt very welcomed into the family: "She can make you feel like her own within the first moment of meeting her." They met the day before the anniversary.

For Ms. McIntosh, achieving the ripe age of 95 was never out of the question. "I feel perfect," she shares. "I feel like I'm good to work." As for her tips on succeeding in longevity: "I sleep good. I eat very well, and I enjoy other people in my house all the time. I don't feel older. I have my flowers, my garden. I'm always occupied."

"She has her religions she follows, and she gardens every day," adds Ms. Edward. "Her house is her everything. She loves her home and cherishes it."

"I felt like I have known this woman all my life," adds Ms. Horton. "The birthday evening was an amazing family affair. I have never witnessed or experienced so much joy and love."

As for Ms. McIntosh, she looks forward to the future by living her life day-by-day: "I get up in the morning, I have my breakfast by the table under the birds singing. I got my passport changed for another 10 years!" she laughs.

Passion for plein air

A group of intrepid outdoor artists set up their easels at the Ten Mile Point lookout last Wednesday. Helen Siksek, Sue Lampinen and Sharon Preen didn't want to miss their day of painting at this scenic spot. So they donned masks and carried on despite the forest fire smoke moving across the water. Next week, August 10, they will be in picturesque Manitowaning catching impressions on canvases to be displayed in future exhibits. To join in or get more information call Paulette at 705-562-2577 or 705-368-2577.

members a more immersive environment to reinforce and go beyond their introductory language skills.

"We were able to come together as a staff with a defined goal," said Anna Grigull, director of care at MHS.

"It's been a good teambuilding experience," added Kate White, the home care team lead. The camp participants appeared to be enjoying their time together. Many of them spent their time between activities sitting with their coworkers and getting to know each other better.

Ms. Grigull said building a cultural connection is crucial during the care process. She estimates that currently, only one in four staff members are fluent in Anishinaabemowin.

"The more we're able to engage with our own clients on a cultural level, that helps to build trust and rapport," she said. "We come in at a vulnerable time, so anything that can build a relationship is helpful."

Often, even if care providers are unable to carry a full conversation, the effort they make is the most important part.

"(Clients) like to see us try to speak, and then they'll respond in an area they know we can't reply. Then, we all start laughing and they actually teach us a bit more," said Ms. Grigull.

"A lot of times when we try, it results in humour, and in Indigenous practices humour goes a long way," she said.

The benefits of the immersion camp extend beyond the participating NHS employees. Their heightened cultural knowledge will help to support a better environment for their clients and the community as a whole.

"As much as young people have the ability to learn from elders, the elders can learn from young people," said Ms. Grigull.

MHS provides health services to five First Nations in the Manitoulin area. This includes its home location in Aundeck Omni Kaning, Sheguiandah, Sheshgewaning, Whitefish River and Zhiibaahaasing First Nations.

The traditional teachings at the camp involved elders from each of its five member First Nations. Mr. Abotossaway said the camp will become an annual event to continue encouraging language and cultural knowledge development.

Young Eagles soar over Manitoulin

by Warren Schlote
MANITOULIN EAST—The Young Eagles took to the sky once more as the annual event landed at Manitoulin East Municipal Airport on Hawewater Weekend.

Saturday morning saw a number of families attend for the opportunity to take a short flight over Manitoulin.

"It was a bit nauseous, but a lot of fun," said participant Adrian Manitowabi.

"The main goal of this event is to promote aviation," said George Dobbs, airport manager. "It gives the local residents some benefit of having an airport here, some fun for the kids."

The Wisconsin-based Experimental Aircraft Association (EAA) started Young Eagles in 1992 to allow young people to experience flying, often for the first time. Manitoulin East Municipal Airport has hosted its Young Eagles event since 2004.

Youth aged 8 to 17 were welcome to participate in a free flight during the event. Four pilots were on hand to facilitate the flights. Two were staff members at the airport, one came in from Timmins and the fourth came from Sudbury.

"The pilots that come here volunteer their time and their aircraft," said Marcel Gauthier, chair of the Airport Commission. The commission covers the pilots' fuel costs.

The weather was picture-perfect on Saturday morning. It was bright and sunny with only a minimal breeze and very high clouds. The conditions offered great views of Little Current, a highlight for participant Luka Brisebois who had come with his family from Lively.

"My favourite part was looking at all the houses and stuff. Everything was tiny," said Luka. It was his first time ever being in a plane.

Mr. Dobbs said their luck with the weather seems to follow a two-year cycle, offering perfect conditions roughly every other year.

The Expositor asked Luka if he would ever consider getting his pilot licence. Although he wants to become an architect, Luka said he might get his licence just for fun.

That idea intrigued his parents, who joked about being taxied around with their son. But Luka had other ideas.

"I would make you pay for a trip, dad," he said.

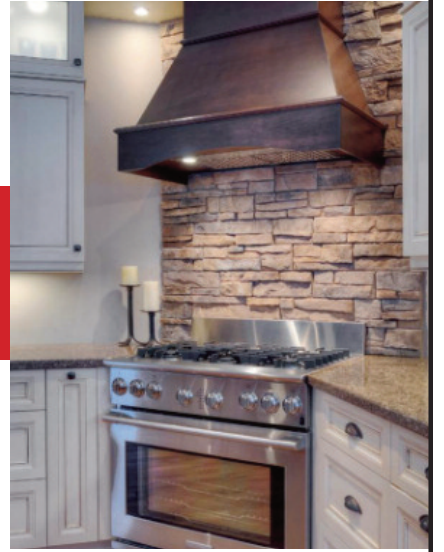

Luka Brisebois, Nathan Allen and Adrian Manitowabi pose with their Young Eagles certificates after touching down from their flight.

WHO IS GOD? Is God really real? This study will help young people come to an understanding of their personal identity and lets them know that identity comes from God! Is God really my Father? It's one thing to think of God as the Creator, it's another to call him our Father especially when so many of us have distorted ideas of what a father is. Is Jesus really Divine? God in the flesh. This study will explore the claims of Jesus in the Bible and push to a decisive answer. Was he a liar, or the Lord? Is the Holy Spirit really a Person? In this study, we'll look closely at the real Holy Spirit—a Person as real as the Father and the Son—with whom we are meant to have a relationship. But what does that relationship look like, and what does it mean in a teen's journey as a disciple? 8-week program and then a Christmas play along with scriptures study games and activity. Program start on September 20. Location: Our Lady of Canada Catholic church. Time: 5-7 pm. Ages 14years to 18years. To sign up please email keithlegree@hotmail.com or call 705-968-0822. God Bless.

McLean's Mountain Wind Farm

PROJECT NOTICE – RENEWABLE ENERGY APPROVAL (REA) AMENDMENT
McLean's Mountain Wind Farm - REA #7733-8XUNS5 - Turbine #20 Acoustic Audit

McLean's Mountain Wind GP Inc. (operating as McLean's Mountain Wind Limited Partnership) was issued Renewable Energy Approval (REA) #7733-8XUNS5 by the (now named) Ontario Ministry of Environment, Conservation and Parks (MoECP) for the McLean's Mountain Wind Farm (MMWF). The wind farm is a Class 4 Wind Facility with a total name plate capacity of 60 megawatts (MW). The wind farm is located on Manitoulin Island, just southwest of Little Current.

The MMWF includes 24 General Electric wind turbines which are nominally a 2.85 MW design, but each turbine is reduced (de-rated) in the electrical power it can produce. To conform to the 60 MW limit imposed on the wind farm, twenty-one of the turbines are de-rated to 2.49 MW, two turbines are de-rated to 2.66 MW and one turbine is de-rated to 2.38 MW. The only 2.38 MW wind turbine is referred to as Turbine #20 and is located at Lot 9, Concession 4 (see map below).

The REA approval requires that acoustic audits be conducted at two of the 2.49 MW turbines, one of the 2.66 MW turbines and at the 2.38 MW turbine, and the audits must adhere to the IEC-61400-11 standard.

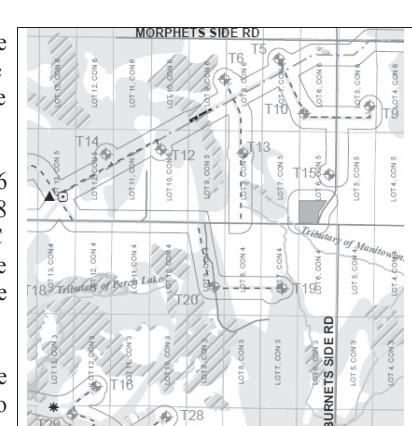

Acoustic audits were completed at the 2.49 and 2.66 MW turbines, but the terrain surrounding Turbine #20 (2.38 MW) is very hilly and forested which means the IEC standard cannot be adhered to. As a result, we have applied to the MoECP for an amendment to delete the acoustic audit requirement for just Turbine #20.

No other modifications are being proposed, none of the Project study reports have been altered and there is no REA Modifications Document.

The completed acoustic audit reports for the MMWF can be found on the Reports page of the project website <https://mcleansmountain.northlandpower.ca> Once at the Reports page, select the bottom link "Post-Construction Audits and Assessment Docs" and "REA Amendment 3 Docs".

If you have any questions or feedback about this amendment request, please contact:

Jim Mulvale, Sr. Director, Environment, 647-288-1273 or jim.mulvale@northlandpower.com at Northland Power Inc., as agent for McLean's Mountain Wind GP Inc.

Some of the Triangle Club girls were busy whipping up sandwiches and squares for the memorial tribute on Monday afternoon for Brenda Playter. For some reason I was having a bad time emotionally that day, thinking of Brenda's courage and fight. Perhaps their youngest daughter's words and also Wendy's (Pastor) words seemed to be just perfectly suitable.

Finally, someone asks about the streak of light that went by us on July first. I thought more folk would be curious or at least say they had had a similar experience!

When I got home I called Joan, I thought I was a day late for her birthday, but it seems I was right on! She had been fielding calls and guests for three days, she says!

Ziggy and Shirley Capp made a surprise stop today. It's been years! They're staying on the Island and are from Kitchener way.

"The Painted Penny," I am assuming, is the name of her shop in North Bay. She's on the Island for the next two weeks. Earl and Effie Freeman's daughter Penny will hold the paddle painting workshop at Tehkummah Hall on September 2 register on line at the paintedpennie.com or call 705-492-0840. Everything provided and refreshments. I was not up to company dealing with the flu bug, I guess, sick all night. I couldn't even hug my great-nieces, Ava Jean and Leah or nephew Peter and Leanne. (They talked to me long distance! Wonder why?)

BJ phoned, no Prov Bay for euchre this time for me. I slept all day, 6 pm.

Cribbage, 7.5 tables, Wednesday: two 24 hands, Bill McGregor and Bert Whalen; first, Bill and Ruth, 952; second, Patrysha and Laura, 948; third, Pat and Cal, 940; low, Hugh and Donna, 835; door, Sheila, Brad and Patrysha. Good lunch, thanks. Thanks dish washers and clean-up crew!

I received a nice letter this week that popped the buttons off my shirt too!

Went to euchre at Sandfield tonight and won ladies' lone hands with 4. Last week won ladies' high, 76. Have to leave Tehkummah to win? Can't remember Dave James, high; Ruth; almost low, Ted, Laurene maybe; ladies' high was Linda maybe? My golly (actually said worse) that alternate route is a shock breaker! Then I met the dashed boat traffic too.

Thursday morning, I met Pete, Leanne, Ava Jean and Leah at the Garden Shed for breakfast and a visit. They weren't afraid to be closer to me today.

Tehkummah euchre as many tables as Sandfield had on Wednesday night: ladies' high, surprise and after just lamenting too, me, 64; lone hands, Sheila, 3; ladies' low, Brenda, 47; men's high, (won on a cut), Graham, 61; men's low, Grant, 59; door, Sheila.

Lots of folk went through the Market on Friday. Found out that day that Doug and Bonnie were getting the footings poured for their new home. Things are moving right along down their way. (The kickass cookhouse) etc!

Martha Estok always was so kind to me. Her daughter Kimberly and Doug are holidaying here. Coop's Candies were popular. Joan and Bob Beard's two grand-helpers are very good in the garden I hear! Triplets, Andi, Payton and Ciera, have been on holiday? Beautiful young ladies. A young very polite Ethan Harper I met too. Michelle stays at Black Rock Lodge each summer.

Corrine and her friend Nora are at the apartment for a week and visiting friends. Rita dances to Lori's music each week. Wilfred Holmes has a broken rib to recuperate from and Sharon Case a bone in her foot. "Careful folks."

After waving goodbye to "Pete and the youngsters, lots of hugs, Leanne's parents were up with them too, enjoying the nice weather. They left Saturday mid-day on the Chi-Cheemaun. Simon, Susan and I checked out the new sweet shop, in the harbour after the send-off. (Tina's Crumbly Cake Shop.) The SBCDC young cooks. They are always good. I visited my way and shopped at the yard sale and bake table. Later did the same at "Wendy's" large sale. (Fundraising for Guatemala!?) Came home sat under the tree with Marg, (Ray's Mum) Tara and Skylar.

Later, Skylar introduced me to her friend Taylor. We all took in the Star Wars movie at South Baymouth Pavilion. I can't say I ever watched one before, but I did recognize Darth Vader. Though I might have nightmares.

A nice girl named Lisa, her Mum has a place at Providence Bay Tent and Trailer Park, said Hi to Jackie and Gil at Mum's. Boy the girls are earning their pay there Sunday morning. One busy spot!

I did the laundromat early shift. Marg Reckahn's birthday August 5. I'm invited for cake and ice cream later.

Sherry's getting a big supper and a cake too for Monday night, August 6. This all takes place at Tara's and Ray's.

Our sermon on contentment, I just wonder how many know what that is? Any more? Our songs were all lovely old favourites. Our church organist is still missing! "But we sing good!!"

Hello all my friends!

Tehkummah Talk and Times

All of us consume too much sugar. There are so many articles and studies on the damage that the consumption of processed sugar does to our bodies when we eat it that we are on information overload and we tend to ignore the data. We are addicted to white and brown sugar in all its forms-it is cheap and is found in a lot of our food.

I am always trying out new recipes where you use a natural sweetener like maple syrup, honey, agave syrup, coconut or date sugar—still a form of sugar, but much healthier.

We have to train our taste buds to get away from the big sugar rush and wow factor of a piece of pecan pie to that of a healthier substitute which eventually becomes the new WOW!

The following recipe is great-no sugar, very healthy (and John has something to nibble on with coffee)!

Carrot Loaf with Cashew Frosting

If you don't have maple syrup switch to honey and for the pecans use your favourite nuts or seeds. To get the smoothness for the icing you do need to use cashews and they have to soak at least for 2 hours.

- LOAF:
 1 egg
 1 1/2 cup spelt flour
 2 tsp baking powder
 1/2 tsp baking soda
 1/2 tsp salt
 1/2 tsp ginger powder
 1 tsp grated orange rind
 1/4 cup shredded unsweetened coconut
 1 1/2 cup shredded carrots
 1/2 cup unsweetened applesauce

- 1/4 cup coconut oil
 1/2 cup maple syrup
 2 tsp vanilla extract
 1/2 cup coconut milk
 1/4 cup chopped pecans

- CASHEW FROSTING:
 1 cup raw cashews, soaked
 1/4 cup fresh lemon juice
 2 Tbsp honey
 3 Tbsp coconut milk
 1 tsp vanilla extract
 Pinch salt

DIRECTIONS:

1. Preheat the oven to 350°F. Grease a loaf pan or line with parchment paper.
2. In a large bowl, combine the spelt flour, baking powder, baking soda, salt, ginger, pecans and coconut. Add the shredded carrots to the bowl but do not stir them in. Set bowl aside.
3. In another bowl combine the egg, applesauce, maple syrup, melted coconut oil, vanilla, and coconut milk. Combine until smooth.
4. Pour the wet ingredients into the bowl with dry ingredients. Stir everything together until combined. Pour the batter into the loaf pan and bake in oven for 35-40 minutes or until a toothpick comes out clean.
5. Drain the cashews. To make the icing put everything in a high-speed blender and blend until smooth. Add additional coconut milk if needed to thin out the frosting and more honey for sweetness.
6. Allow the loaf to cool for at least an hour. Spoon the frosting on top. Sprinkle with shredded coconut or chopped pistachios.

Death Notices

LARRY LANKTREE

Larry Lanktree, a resident of Gore Bay, completed his earthly journey peacefully in hospital on August 1, 2018 with his wife and family surrounding him. Larry lived through his love for and with his family and his dreams were lived out through his family. Larry was first and foremost a perfect husband to the love of his life, Janet. He leaves behind his children, Robin, Christian, Tanya and Michelle. He is predeceased by his grandson Elijah. His grandchildren and proudly his whole world were Dawson, Shawn and Benjamin. Larry was the oldest sibling to Allen (wife Kyra), Derek (wife Shari), and Michelle (husband Scott). Will be sadly missed by nieces and nephews Justin, Kennedy, Parker, Jaxson (predeceased by nephew Kyle), Tyler (Carley) Brock, Allen, Derek, Jen, Shawn, and Katherine. Larry will be loved and missed by so many more. His love and life were getting together with his family whom he valued. His passions were hockey especially. Larry will eternally be a Leafs fan, but enjoyed many other sports as well. Larry passed his time doing sudoku puzzles, defeating his Rubix cube, keeping a close watch on his family on Facebook and spending time with his wife. He lived to prove the medical field wrong through research. He had a passion for woodworking which he continued through his life when his own hands could no longer hold tools. He loved the outdoors and was passionate about hunting and fishing and his passion continued to carry on through the adventures of others and through the memories of his uncle Moe and Ken. Larry was passionate for his family and will live on in our gatherings and memories, Love never dies with the body, it remains and binds us together. Friends and family were invited for a Celebration of Life service Sunday, August 5, 2018 at 11 am at the Gore Bay Curling Club. Cremation at the Park Lawn Crematorium. Donations to the Arthritis Society for JRA research would be appreciated. Arrangements entrusted to the Jackson and Barnard Funeral Home.

DONALD ABBOTT

Donald Abbott passed away after a long and beautiful life on Saturday August 4, 2018 at the age of 90. A Loving husband of the late Audrey (Wood) Abbott. He was a loving Dad to Sandra and the late David Turner of Exeter, Janice & husband John Campbell of Chesley and Paul of Little Current. Dearest grandfather and great-grandfather of the late Mavis (Barry) Govier, Jacob & Megan of Varna, Michelle (Karen) Simpson, Rachel, Lavonne, Jessie & Phoebe of Blenheim, Melody (Sean) Wardell, Dominique, Quin of Mt. Brydges, Matthew (Tammy) Turner of Varna, Chace, Trent, Amanda & Christopher, Tina Campbell of Burnaby BC., Joel (Kim) Campbell, Avery & Abby of Delta BC., Bill Campbell of Centralia, Mandy (Steve McVeene) Campbell of Paisley, Riley, Matthew, Chloe, Gilbert, Fleet, Gus. Shawn Abbott of Sudbury, Sabrina Abbott of Ottawa. Survived by sister Edythe Mugford of St. Mary's, sister-in-law Marion Abbott of Niagara Falls and many nieces and nephews. Predeceased by parents Murray and Verna (Davis) Abbott. Brothers Bill and Clayton Abbott and sister Pauline Maguire, sisters-in-law Velma Abbott, Eileen Wood, Doris Wood, brothers-in-law Jim Mugford, Ken Wood and Lloyd Maguire as well as father and mother-in-law Ethel & Heslop Wood. Don farmed for years at Lucan, moved to the Island continuing to farm. He retired from farming, moved to town, and started to work at Tim's and Co. Don kept busy with his small engine repair until he moved to the Manor. He will be remembered for his occasional tour around town on his Ford tractor, to keep it in good running order, his friendly smile and chats. "Well say". Services was at Grace Bible Church on Tuesday August 7, 2018. Visitation was from 1 pm - 2 pm. Funeral Service was at 2 pm with burial in Coldsprings Cemetery. Donations to Grace Bible Church or the Alzheimer's Society in Don's memory would be appreciated.

RANDOLPH LAWRENCE GORDON December 9, 1921 - August 3, 2018

Randolph Lawrence Gordon a resident of Tehkumma peacefully said his last goodbye on Friday, August 3, 2018 with his family by his side at Manitoulin Centennial Manor. Randolph was in his 97th year. He leaves behind his loving wife Kay.

Father of Bev (wife Sue), Terry (wife Rita) and Lyle Gordon. His four grandchildren, Carrie (Randy), Trevor (Josee), Becky and Jennifer. He will be greatly missed by his six great-grandchildren Brent, Shay-Lynn, Breanna, Matthew, Todd and Alexa. Randolph is predeceased by his mother and father Elmo and Grace, sisters Vera, Lillian, Clara-Mae and brother Lindsay. He leaves behind many nieces and nephews. He will be greatly missed by all. He was a great wealth of knowledge of people and history of the Island. Family and friends will gather at Island Funeral Home for visitation from 2 - 4 & 7 - 9 pm Wednesday, August 8, 2018. Funeral Service will be at 11am Thursday, August 9, 2018 with burial in Hilly Grove Cemetery. Donations to Manitoulin Centennial Manor for the Palliative Room would be appreciated.

Celebration of Life

Everybody is welcome to get together and potluck with friends of Morley Campbell who were unable to attend his funeral at the Burpee-Mills complex. Saturday, August 18 starting at 1 pm with potluck at 5pm.

Providence Bay News and Notes

The Manitoulin Expositor Salmon Classic 2018 is well under way with quite a few fish caught in Providence Bay waters weighing in on the leaderboard. Get out there fishermen and "Fish On."

There have been a lot of concerns about forest fires with the smell of smoke in the air locally all the way from Parry Sound Fire 33.

Many people are also expressing frustration about not being able to enjoy one of Canada's favourite summer pastime, "campfires." Our local fire chief has been entrusted with the responsibility of setting or lifting fire-bans. It's a responsibility that he doesn't take lightly since he has to ensure the safety of people, livestock, resources and balancing with our local industry of tourism. He may not always make decisions that we are happy with but we should all strive to respect a fire ban when it is in place.

Bryan Morgan of Peterborough is home visiting his Mom Sandy.

What a wonderful Venue, West Deck, Harbour Centre in Providence Bay, to be introduced to the introductory moves of Taoist Tai Chi. The view and the ambience is breathtaking, which induces relaxation, enabling spontaneous assimilation of flow in the basic Tai Chi movements. Save the dates of August 9, 16, 23, 30 from 7-8 pm. Turn up and join in at any stage. The classes are free; donations are gratefully received! For more information from Jean Pearce, 705-377-5845.

On Thursday, August 9 the Discovery Centre will be having an Aboriginal Culture Day. Activities are for all ages and are free. For more information please call 705-377-5025.

Birthday wishes go out to John C. Young who celebrates on Tuesday, August 14, so if you see John around, be sure to wish him a happy birthday.

Raymond Smith, Claudine St. Pierre and sister Annette with son James Czerkawski and his good friend Eric Stanziano along with Janet St. Pierre are visiting their summer homes from London.

Cheryl Sheppard embarked on a three-week journey with her Dad Merwyn of Rockville and niece Kate (15) and nephew Quinn (13) of Espanola. They are heading west and had stops in Agawa Bay on Lake Superior to see pictographs, Wawa, Thunder Bay and Kakabeka Falls in Ontario. They also stopped in Winnipeg, Manitoba and North Battleford, Saskatchewan then Hinton, Alberta before enjoying the beauty of crossing the Canadian Rockies. They travelled the Columbia Icefields Parkway. They stopped in Jasper, Lake Louise and Radium Hot Springs. They saw elk and big horn sheep. They used the Kicking Horse Pass and Rogers Pass through the mountains before stopping in the Okanagan Valley. Their adventures continue on in British Columbia and Cheryl is so appreciative of friends and a caring community for keeping an eye on things back home for her.

Don't all you anglers forget about the 29th Annual Small Mouth Bass Live Release Derby this weekend Saturday, August 11 starting a 6 am until 8 pm. The awards ceremony, fish fry, prize money and trophies will be held on Sunday, August 12 commencing at 2 pm (LLBO) at the Providence Bay Centennial Hall. For more information please call 705-377-5639.

On Friday, August 3 Jenna Maisonneuve returned once again to the stage at the Harbour Centre to take part in the Sunset Music Series and was welcomed by an appreciative crowd. She performed on a beautiful warm evening and she helped everyone enjoy the amazing Providence Bay sunset and drifting away to her lovely voice. Huron Island Time Ice Cream Parlour welcomes you to their next evening of entertainment at sunset on Friday, August 10 with a performance by NS3.

The Providence Bay Fair will soon be upon us. Skip the lines by purchasing your weekend passes in advance at Mindemoya Home Hardware or the Providence Bay Post Office. Also, make sure to participate in the hay bale structure or front yard display competition sponsored by Second Time Around. The judging will be done August 12 so get started and good luck to all.

If you have something that you would like to contribute to the Providence Bay News and Notes, please let us know. We know the amazing people and things that happen in our community but let's allow everyone to know. If there is an upcoming birthday, anniversary, fundraiser or celebration, please let us know. If there is someone that you would love to give a shout-out to because of the things they do for, in or around our community let us know. You can email Cheryl at prov_chick@hotmail.com or call her at 705-862-1613. Submissions must be received by each Sunday at 3 pm for submission in the following Wednesday publication of the paper. We look forward to hearing from you!

thank you

Thank you to all who send condolences, kind words, food and support in the sudden death of Carl Hall, husband, father and grandfather. We will never forget Carl as he was our life. Special thanks to Dr. McRae and staff and to the Mindemoya Hospital and staff. Thank you to Pastor Erwin Thompson for the lovely sermon and to our daughter-in-law Heather for the uplifting eulogy. Thank you to the golf course for the luncheon and to our friends who served. Very special thanks to Stewart and Mary from Simpson Funeral Home for guiding our family through this very difficult time. Sincerely, The Hall Family

12p

The family of Reta Pearson wish to express our thanks and appreciation to all who assisted during the past few weeks. We send a special thanks to the caring, considerate and compassionate staff of the MHC Mindemoya site, especially Dr. Maryna, to those who sat with us at the hospital, and those who brought food to our homes. A sincere thank you to all who sent flowers and cards, attended the graveside service, and made donations. We are very grateful to the Burpee Mills Golden Age Club, of which Mom was a member, for the luncheon following the service. We wish to thank Reverend Janice Frame and Erwin Thompson for the thoughtful service Mom wished for, the Simpson Funeral Home for guidance and assistance, and Janis for the lovely flower arrangements. To all of you, our sincere appreciation. Cora and Art, Christie and Rob, Connie and Bob, Rodger and Donna

DISPENSING KNOWLEDGE
By Taylor Geertsema and Melanie Sanderson

The Scoop on SHINGRIX
Shingles. You have probably heard about it from a friend or family member who has suffered the painful rash, or maybe you've experienced it yourself. Shingles is caused by the same virus that causes chickenpox. When you have chickenpox, the virus stays dormant in your body and can be reactivated by stress or illness to cause shingles later in life. Shingles is known to initially cause pain in one area of the body, then an itchy, red rash develops. After this rash heals, the pain can continue for weeks to years. It is important to seek medical attention early in the course of this viral illness as early treatment can help to prevent transmission to your loved ones, reduce pain, and help to prevent the rash from worsening.

You may also have heard about ZOSTAVAX, the vaccine that you can get to reduce your risk of shingles, and perhaps you have received it; but have you heard of the new vaccine, SHINGRIX?

SHINGRIX is an adjuvanted, inactive vaccine. An "adjuvant" is a substance that is added to a vaccine to boost our body's response to vaccine - this means that it helps increase how well the vaccine works. "Inactive" means that the virus in the vaccine is not able to cause shingles. Here are five things you should know about SHINGRIX.

1. How well does it work? SHINGRIX can reduce the risk of developing shingles by about 90 percent in people 50 years and older. On the other hand, the older vaccine, ZOSTAVAX, has been shown to reduce the risk of shingles by about 50 percent, and the protection declines over time since the injection.

2. How many shots do I need? SHINGRIX requires two injections that are separated by 2-6 months. ZOSTAVAX requires only one injection.

3. Are there any side effects that I should know about? With SHINGRIX, the most common side effect that you will most likely experience is pain where the injection was given. You may also experience some muscle pain, feeling tired and a headache.

4. How much does it cost? SHINGRIX is not covered under Ontario Drug Benefit or Indian Affairs. If you have additional insurance, a portion or all of the cost may be covered. The cost of SHINGRIX is approximately $154/vaccine - coming to a total of approximately $308 for both vaccines required for the two shot series. In contrast, ZOSTAVAX is covered by Ontario Drug Benefit for those 65-70 years of age. The cost is approximately $190 for the vaccine.

5. I have already received ZOSTAVAX, should I get SHINGRIX? There are no current Canadian recommendations. If you have received ZOSTAVAX more than five years ago, you can ask your doctor, nurse practitioner, or pharmacist for more information.

Developing shingles can be devastating. While neither of these vaccines are 100 percent effective, they can both be used to help reduce your risk of developing shingles and the pain that comes with it.

Head to the Little Current Public Library today for your new library card

by Alicia McCutcheon
LITTLE CURRENT—The Little Current Lions were on hand for a special open house at the Northeast Town Public Library recently to make an official presentation of a donation of $3,500 toward the library's new Joint Automation Serve Initiative (JASI) operating system.

Head library Karen Gallo explained that the Northeast Town library is part of the Ontario Library Services North consortium, of which JASI is a part.

"We now have an online public access catalogue," Ms. Gallo said.

For the past three months, two staff people and Ms. Gallo have been working Mondays and Tuesdays to get all the library's titles re-barcode and they thanked the library's patrons for their patience while the library was closed on Tuesdays.

"The new system is very beneficial," she said. "(Online), patrons can now place items on hold and renew once. New books at the library will also flash across the screen." Email addresses can also be registered with notifications sent to one's email about when a book or DVD needs to be returned.

"The old system served us really well, but it was no longer supported," Ms. Gallo added.

All patrons must have a new library card and are encouraged to do so soon to enjoy all that JASI has to offer.

Ms. Gallo thanked the Lions for their generous donation, which came from Catch the Ace funds.

The total cost of the new system upgrade was just under $11,000.

"I also thank the staff for all the grueling hours put in," she said, ensuring patrons that those same staffers would be happy to walk them through the new system.

The Northeast Town Public Library hours from now until the end of August are: Tuesday through Thursday, 10 am to 8 pm; Friday, 10 am to 5 pm; Saturday, 10 am to 4 pm; closed Sundays and Mondays.

Wiikwemkoong Cultural Festival fun for all ages

58th annual festival draws international visitors, media attention

by Warren Schlote

WIKWEMKOONG—Germany, Netherlands and Sweden were among the more distant countries from which Wiikwemkoong Cultural Festival attendees travelled.

The festival, held this past Saturday to Monday, offered a chance for all nations to gather and experience some of the best displays of Anishinaabek cultural traditions.

“It looks like participation is up; numbers have increased this year,” said Ogimaa Duke Peltier.

Chris Pheasant assumed the lead MC role, a position he has held at many past festivals. The Grand Entry ceremony featured elders, incoming Wiikwemkoong Tribal Police Service Chief Terry McCaffrey, veterans and the royalty of Miss Wikwemikong, Little Miss Wikwemikong, Wikwemikong Lil Brave, and Junior Miss Wikwemikong.

The powwow received international media attention, most visibly with a team of camera and drone operators present on Sunday to shoot a television special featuring a Texas entrepreneur visiting cultural events in Ontario. Photographers Without Borders was also present shooting the festival.

Ogimaa Peltier said he was happy to see the documentarians in attendance.

“We hope to increase interest by sharing the story of this festival. Our goal is to continue promoting tourism in this region, partly because of the economic benefits for Wiikwemkoong and Manitoulin Island by having the premier cultural festival in Northeastern Ontario,” he said.

The Expositor reached out to the on-site producer for the television shoot, who said he was unable to provide any details about the production for confidentiality reasons.

Jingle Dress dancers honour late Connie Phillips

In the early afternoon, the Phillips family entered the arbour to host the Connie Phillips Memorial Old Style Jingle Special. Ms. Phillips was from the Oneida Nation of the Thames and Chippewas of the Thames. Elizabeth Edgar-Webkamigad, a childhood friend of Ms. Phillips, was asked to speak for the family.

“They consider Wiikwemkoong to be part of their home,” said Ms. Edgar-Webkamigad. “They have lots of extended family and connections to this community.”

The memorial special marked 10 years since Ms. Phillips’ death. Her family worked with the community to arrange the special. Family matriarch Donna Phillips chose the drums specifically, as she had watched the singers grow up.

Ms. Edgar-Webkamigad said the last time she saw Ms. Phillips, she taught her the importance of repairing relationships, being brave and making amends with others despite the challenge.

The winning dancer in the Connie Phillips Memorial Old Style Jingle Special was Kyla Sanderson, a Plains Cree who lives in Saskatoon. She has danced since the age of five, but began to travel to farther powwows in her teens.

“I felt like I needed to dance. It’s a memorial special in their time of need, because their mom was a jingle dancer as well,” said Ms. Sanderson. “More importantly, to help heal the family because the jingle dress is a healing dance.”

Ms. Sanderson said she mainly tours the powwow trail around Saskatchewan and Canada’s Midwest, but she attends Wiikwemkoong every year to visit with her partner’s family who live here. In her teen years she was crowned Miss FSIN, a contest held by the Federation of Sovereign Indigenous Nations in Saskatchewan.

“I was nervous dancing in front of the other jingle dress dancers because the Great Lakes region is its home,” said Ms. Sanderson. “It really was an honour because it was a memorial special for their mom.”

Ms. Sanderson said she likes attending the Wiikwemkoong powwow because “it’s laid back and I feel at home.”

Now that she has started a family of her own, Ms. Sanderson has gained new perspectives.

“I have a six-year-old son who already dances and it’s a blessing feeling, raising my son in this environment of powwows and his culture,” she said.

For Ms. Edgar-Webkamigad, seeing the roughly 75 dancers standing to support Ms. Phillips was a powerful image.

“It was a reminder of the meaning of the circle,” she said. “The circle is here for you. We’re going to take care of you.”

Visiting Manitoulin?

Last Net Shed in Meldrum Bay a museum of

by Isobel Harry

MELDRUM BAY—Nearly 150 years ago, Meldrum Bay began to be settled by Scots coming to Manitoulin Island from southern Ontario, attracting fiercely dogged, independent-spirited types drawn by cheap, plentiful land covered in virgin forest and the immeasurable waters of Lake Huron teeming with fish

Working with the first survey party of 1876 in Dawson

Township, the original settlers staked their claims, under which conditions they had to clear and fence five acres and build a house (usually a two-room log cabin) before they could own their land's title. Then, they would venture over the water to Cockburn Island's land office to acquire their patents—two settlers drowned on that treacherous journey—or by foot in all weather through bush to Gore Bay's land office. The hardships, the harsh winters and lack of even the most basic supplies, the isolation and backbreaking work of survival, the innovations and small victories of those days are stuff of legend. No roads, electricity, telephones, doctor or dentist softened the tough, often brutal, way of life.

In the early 1880s, lumbering quickly became a thriving industry everywhere on the Island, with sawmills built in all the feasible ports for easy transport of logs and lumber by boat to the US and England. Meldrum Bay's first sawmill was built in 1880, situated where the marina sits today, hiring hundreds of workers to process the huge quantities of wood being harvested up, down and around the Island's western tip.

Fishing also became big business; fish abounded in these Great Lakes waters and the 1890s saw fishing stations built to supply the boats from Collingwood and Sarnia with as much as 24 tons of fish weekly.

Several net sheds ringed the bay, their rooms and attics maritime memories and boomtown days

The Net Shed Museum is meticulously maintained inside and out by volunteers from the community and the Meldrum Bay Historical Society. The Society's treasurer, Dawn Marie Wickett, left, Liz Durham, president, and summer assistant Adam George Wickett, among others, keep the museum in top form.

large and airy workshops in which to dry and repair nets; the day's catch was packed for shipping and the fishermen prepared for the next morning's pre-dawn start on the lake. In a few short years after settlement, Meldrum Bay was a boomtown with stores, hotels, blacksmiths, school and boarding houses to service the flourishing community.

Now home to the Net Shed Museum, the last remaining net shed in the bay, built by fisherman Joe Millman in about 1902, stands resplendent in its lighthouse-red, original cedar shakes. The long, rustic building offers itself to be savoured as a unique historical artifact in its own right.

Inside, small windows on three sides and wide screened doors on the fourth side let in a surprising amount of light through gauzy curtains; the wide plank floors, heavy log rafters and poles supporting the ceiling testify to the handmade origins of the structure.

Founded in 1967 by the Meldrum Bay Historical Society as a Canada Centennial project, the museum is maintained scrupulously inside and out by a dedicated band of community volunteers. Across the road in Joe Millman's old family home lives the treasurer of the Historical Society, Dawn Marie Wickett, a descendant of Millman's through marriage into the Millman/Wickett families. She can look out her front windows and keep an eye on the net shed all year long while her husband Mark keeps up with improvements. Nephew Adam George Wickett is this year's summer museum intern who greets visitors and keeps the place spiffy; a high school student, he lives in Brampton and loves to re-live Meldrum Bay summers and stay with his grandmother. The president of the Historical Society is Liz Durham, who lives just up the hill and has been active in the museum since its founding, taking part, with other volunteers, in the annual opening of the museum in spring and closing in fall and in dreaming up fundraisers such as the popular annual beef barbecue.

Community members donated all the museum's artifacts: jewellery, beaded appliques and sewing baskets, photographs, linens, washtubs and irons, butter churn and moulds, quilts, school desks and blacksmith and farming implements. "Remember," says Liz Durham, "electric power only came to the village in 1950. Until then, people used coal oil lanterns and phones were hand-cranked." One donation, from the Joyce family, was of two large steamer trunks full of beautiful clothes and trimmings that had been owned by their "two elegant Irish dressmaker cousins."

Toward the back of the shed, artifacts from the steam mill, a leather black-

Hoop dance champions give intro workshop

Two international award-winning hoop dancers paid visits to the powwow.

Wiikwemkoong's own two-time world champion Lisa Odjig led a workshop with Ascension Harjo of Six Nations of the Grand River Territory, who won the teen division at this year's Hoop Dance World Championships. Mr. Harjo's dad Adrian Harjo served as MC to the workshop, which invited participants to try out hoop dancing.

Ms. Odjig, who now lives and works in Toronto, paused with her father Franklin Odjig after her workshop. This was her first time teaching a session at the Wiikwemkoong powwow.

Ms. Odjig's uncle introduced her to the dance style, and soon she was able to use 12 hoops at once. She has danced with as many as 17 hoops in past performances.

"I was so focused on what he was teaching me," said Ms. Odjig. "When he was teaching me to hoop dance, I was so focused on what to do with the hoops and what they mean. I just had so much fun with it."

Ms. Odjig has now danced in Europe, Asia and all around North America. She has performed for the Olympics and other sporting events, TV shows and toured with producer and DJ team A Tribe Called Red, based in Ottawa.

Mr. Odjig said his daughter's successes can be attributed to her hard work and perseverance.

"I didn't really push her, I just encouraged her and supported her. I'm really proud of her," he said.

RIGHT: Franklin Odjig says his daughter Lisa's international successes are a result of her hard work and determination.

Intense storm microburst forces early closure of Cultural Festival

The winds picked up strongly Sunday afternoon as a storm tracked eastward across Manitoulin Island. A strong microburst brought damaging winds and torrential rain upon the festival grounds, causing wide destruction.

Many tent structures, under which families were watching the dancers, or where vendors had set up, were destroyed.

In the early morning, festival organizers logged onto the event's Facebook page apologizing for the inconvenience and thanking all those who offered help to those affected by the storm.

According to the post, over 30 beds were offered for people who needed them, and money had been raised to cover fuel expenses. Showers and clothes dryers were also available, and the youth centre above the Pontiac School became an emergency shelter.

The post also officially cancelled the festival a day early.

According to some Facebook comments, the damage was mainly confined to the tents and nobody faced any serious injuries. Trees were downed and roads were flooded around the community.

Several community members volunteered to help clean up the grounds on Monday morning. Volunteers travelled from as far as M'Chigeeng to provide food and support.

Liz Eshkibok and daughter Shki-Aandseh Eshkibok-Keeshig make their way around the powwow arena during an intertribal dance.

Haweater Weekend was a blast

Little Current Lions Club Haweater Weekend rises up with the mercury this year

by Michael Erskine
LITTLE CURRENT—The weather came together for the Little Current Lions Club Haweater Weekend in just about a perfect storm, quite literally, as the heavy downpour Sunday afternoon lasted just long enough to take the edge off the heat and humidity while soaking things down enough to help ensure the fireworks display went off safely.

Little Current Lions Club master of opening ceremonies Marcel Gauthier brought regrets from Algoma-Manitoulin-Kapuskasing MP Carol Hughes and Algoma-Manitoulin MPP Mike Mantha who had previous commitments (Mr. Mantha did make it to the Haweater Parade, where he could be seen enthusiastically tossing Frisbees into the crowd), but Northeast Town Mayor Al MacNevin was on hand to officially thank the Little Current Lions

New this year were the folks from the Carver Kings, with three professional chainsaw artists creating incredible art from raw logs. The beautiful carvings were being snapped up almost as fast as the carvers could wield their chainsaws.

“I was talking to Paul, the fellow from the Carver Kings, and he was telling me that he that if we have him back next year they will be bringing six carvers,” said

Sometimes you just find a secluded spot to wet a line. There is something for everyone during Haweater.

The Sudbury and District Pipe Band can always be counted on to add the skirl of the pipes and the beat of the drum to the audial flavour of the parade.

Ski-Mazing Water Sports were another big hit that was new to this year's festivities. “There was a lot of success with the parasailing, it really went over well,” said

Lion Burnett. “They were very happy with how it went for the first year.” More than 100 people took to the air, parasailing to get a bird's eye view of the festivities at Low Island and across the North Channel.

The cardboard boat races are a perennial Haweater favourite and this year was no exception. From the hilarious Titanic award winners' dunking to the ultra cute sight of little mariners pulling their cardboard creations forward doggedly with their tiny paddles, it was a true family event. This year's Business Class winners, Heartwood Mushrooms, put naysayers swiftly to shame as their precarious appearing vessel won not one, but two events, managing to survive to the second finish line before disintegrating into a sodden but glorious pile of fibre.

Among the standard Haweater fare things were up as well. "Our numbers were up at the Hawdance this year by about 30 or 40 people," said Lion Burnett. "We have a couple of adult things to help fundraise, but Haweater Weekend is all about family."

The ball tournament had a great turnout, and the hot weather ensured that both players and spectators were thirsty and hungry.

The Haweater Parade took a new route this year,

Manor (aka the Bowerman family) and the Three on Three Hockey Champs.

Leapfrogging ahead of the parade was Alan Boyd, former community services officer with the OPP and leading light of the Manitoulin Amateur Radio Club. Mr. Boyd ensured a safe passage past each of the side streets along the route. "It's part of what we do as the radio club," he smiled.

Lion Bruce said the Little Current Lions Club was very appreciative of the sudden downpour that preceded the fireworks. "We were taking a lot of heat because of the bans and everything, but that rain really helped to dampen things down, in more ways than one. The crowds really love the fireworks, a lot of people tell us it is the highlight of the weekend so we are very grateful to the NEMI Fire Department and the fire chief and his team for helping ensure that everything went off without a hitch. The pro-

smith apron and tools lead the way into the marine history room, centered by a library table covered in scrapbooks for browsing. Models of Millman's tugs, named after his daughters, sit in glass cases; memorabilia from the 'Alberta' include a hand-fashioned horse motif weather vane and steam whistle.

The vast waters of Lake Huron lapping the rocky shore just a few feet outside the windows provide the nautical backdrop to one of the greatest marine mysteries of Manitoulin Island. Here, laid out in timbers and chains and fascinating found bits, is a display of 'Le Griffon'—a French ship that sank in the Mississagi Straits in 1679. Or did it? Stories have proliferated over the years, of how the ship, navigating by compass, was drawn helplessly into the infamous magnetic shoals; of the skeletons of crew members found in a nearby cave, including a "very large" skull, said to be that of the pilot, Luke the Dane, known to have a very large head; of the found watch case, buttons and coins stored for years in the Mississagi Lighthouse before vanishing. It is a story that has fascinated people in these parts and abroad for centuries and remains an unsolved puzzle to this day.

Even now, Meldrum Bay retains the spirit of rugged determination that marked its beginnings. The Township of Dawson is officially 'Unorganized' – there is no municipal council, nor reeve, to run things. Says Liz Durham, "All public works in the township and the village of Meldrum Bay are done by volunteers. The Dawson Citizens Improvement Association raises money and volunteers to put the marina docks in and take them out every year; we applied for and got grants for the re-installation of gas tanks and pump-out service. A Service Board collects taxes to pay for snowplow and dump contracts; there's no water department, everyone has their own water. When we need to get things done, we do it ourselves, together."

The Net Shed Museum is a moving testament to the resolve and perseverance of the generations who pioneered here, and to a very large extent in this faraway outpost, still do.

fessional company that sets up the fireworks and sets them off really know their business so we had the confidence to go ahead, but the rain sure helped.”

If there was a fly in the ointment this year it was the drop in numbers for volunteers, so the Lions want to put a call out for help next year.

“Our club members and the people who came out to help really stepped up this year, but we were definitely down in the number of helping hands,” said Lion Bruce.

Sporting some serious temporary tattoo ink these two youngsters proudly show off their “tats.”

“None of us are getting any younger and it takes a lot out of us when the hands are short.” Sadly missing from the volunteer roster this year were stalwarts like the incomparable late George Pennie of Manitowaning and late Ron Bowerman of Honora Bay. “Those guys always came out to lend a pair of hands, and usually brought a few more pairs along with them,” said Lion Burnett.

Helping out this year were a number of students looking to garner their volunteer hours and their help was very timely this year.

“Those young people really made a difference,” he said. “We had a lot of Lions who were doing triple duty this year and it was great to have a few younger folks helping out.”

Lion Bruce and the rest of Little Current Lions Club volunteers were still hard at it on Monday afternoon, taking down the last of the bouncy castles and cleaning up the various venues around town.

“Yeah, we are just about done—and a good thing too because we are just about done in,” laughed Lion Bruce. “Looking forward to putting my feet up for a bit soon.”

From The Expositor staff, and on behalf of so many of our readers who enjoy the fruits of the Little Current Lions Club members and their volunteer helpers: THANK YOU!

THE BANKING LANDSCAPE IS CHANGING.

A few years ago, credit unions were opening more branches. Today, these same organizations are decreasing their physical footprint as they invest in technology to better serve how people bank today.

Northern Credit Union is not immune to change, which is why we will be consolidating our Mindemoya branch with Little Current. The doors to the Mindemoya branch will be closed on November 30th, 2018, while the ATM machine will be accessible until December 31st, 2018.

Even though we will no longer have a physical branch in Mindemoya, Northern is committed to Manitoulin Island and the members that call it home. That’s why we’re pleased to announce that the Little Current branch will be undergoing some upgrades this November — from updated teller technology for faster transaction speeds, to additional member meeting space and updated equipment, furnishings and décor.

Visit NorthernCU.com/Mindemoya for further details, or call the True North Hub at 1.866.413.7071
