Tehkummah Twp. appoints integrity commissioner, adopts code of conduct

by Michael Erskine
TEHKUMMAH—The Thursday, June 15 regular council meeting of the Township of Tehkummah started early, at 5:30 pm, with a significant agenda of around 50 items to be dealt with. The first main item of business, following the opening of the meeting and a prayer by Reeve Eric Russell and the approval of the minutes of the May 2 meeting of council, was a delegation from the township's newly appointed integrity commissioner, Toronto lawyer George Rust-D'eye regarding a proposed code of conduct for the council.

Councillor Paul Bowerman requested that votes on all motions be recorded.

The delegation and review of the code of conduct lasted until after 8 pm.

Mr. Rust-D'eye began his delegation outlining his considerable experience in municipal law, having been called to the bar 43 years ago and spending the past 40 years of his practice in that field. "Almost entirely on the side of municipalities," he said. He noted that a soon-to-be passed bill in the legislature would require all municipalities to have a code of conduct. Currently there are 84 municipalities in the province with a code of conduct and nine of those municipalities have Mr.

Construction underway on M'Chigeeng business centre

by Michael Erskine
M'CHIGEENG—The official ground breaking ceremony for a new business development centre in M'Chigeeng took place last year and work is now well underway under the direction of contractor Rob Sheppard.

The new business development centre will have space available for lease, including space earmarked for the community's long-anticipated grocery store. Although a client to operate the grocery store has not yet been selected, the band is working hard toward securing that cornerstone client.

Details on the development remain somewhat elusive. M'Chigeeng Ogiimaa Linda Debassige has been unavailable for comment.

Amish horses dead after horse and buggy mishap on Hwy. 6 at Fossil Hill

by Alicia McCutcheon
FOSSIL HILL—Manitoulin's relatively new Amish community is dealing with its first horse and buggy accident on an Island roadway, thankfully not involving a motorized vehicle.

On Saturday morning Manitowaning's Shirley Hamilton and a friend were on their way to breakfast at JD's Garden Shed Café in Tehkummah when they made a startling discovery while cresting Fossil Hill on Highway 6, just before New England Road.

"We were just coming up that grade when suddenly horses came wildly running at us," Ms. Hamilton told The Expositor. The horses, two of them, and still bound by their harnesses, were running down Fossil Hill, northbound, having obviously been spooked.

"They came up over the hill, stuff still rattling around them," Ms. Hamilton added, referencing the remnants of the buggy.

Ms. Hamilton and her friend then came upon a distressing

Friends celebrate Eugene Manitowabi's induction into Country Hall of Fame

by Michael Erskine

TEHKUMMAH—The Tekumma Triangle Club Seniors' Hall was packed to overflowing as friends and colleagues gathered to celebrate the pending induction into the Northern Ontario Country Music Association Hall of Fame of one of the most popular entertainers and Island country music icons, Eugene Manitowabi.

Manitoulin's Down Yonder, itself containing a number of inductees and members of the Great Northern Opry, provided the main musical support as a number of the North's top country musicians took to the stage for guest spots honouring Mr. Manitowabi.

The evening started off in fine form as the fiddling barber (and Down Yonder mainstay) Doug Hore launched into a rendition of 'Turkey in the Straw.' Pianist Maurice Labelle and singer Debbie Robinson also provided songs before the first of the special guests took to the stage. Bettina Mercer was the first guest, noting that Mr. Manitowabi "is my men-

Long time Manitoulin Sea Cadet officer Denis Blake retires from the 348 corps

by Robin Burrige

LITTLE CURRENT—After 12 years, Lieutenant (N) Denis Blake will be retiring from the 348 Manitoulin Cadets Corps at the end of this month.

At the 13th annual cadet review recently, Lt. (N) Blake was recognized with a Commemorative Queen's Sapphire Jubilee Medal for his years of service.

"My son Andrew joined the Manitoulin Sea Cadets when he was 13," explained Lt. Blake of why he first joined the corps. "I was an officer with the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) and my work took me away quite a bit. I joined the cadets as an officer in order to spend more time with my son."

His OPP experience provided Lt. Blake with a good background in being an officer with the cadets. He also worked through a series of courses with the Department of National Defence.

Lt. Blake started as part of the training staff under Carmen Laidley in 2005 with the Manitoulin Sea Cadets, eventually becoming the training staff officer and in 2009 the commanding officer, a position he held for three years before he went back to being a training officer.

"I'll be retiring at the end of June," said Lt. Blake. "My last duty was preparing the cadets for camp,

New emergency room officially opened at Little Current hospital

by Michael Erskine

LITTLE CURRENT—The successful completion of a long and challenging journey toward a new modern emergency department at the Manitoulin Health Centre's (MHC) Little Current site was celebrated with an official opening ceremony and ribbon cutting at the hospital on Thursday, June 15.

Chair of the hospital fundraising committee and member of the resource and strategic planning committees Angela Becks acted as Master of Ceremonies for the official opening and took those present on a short journey back in time to the 2010 start of the emergency department project.

"Better served patients—patients first," was the vision that guided the process, noted Ms. Becks. She said that without targeted funding for the refit, the hospital staff, administration and board had to engage in "very concerted thought and planning" in order to find the funding for the project.

As a result of that effort, two things came into being, said Ms. Becks. First, the goal of planning the physical space that would meet the challenges presented by patient needs and second, a strategic plan embarked upon by the MHC board that was approved in January 2016.

"I am still getting used to public service," joked MHC board chair Terry Olmstead. "I am still trying to make a profit."

Mr. Olmstead acknowledged the work of former board member and chair Suzanne Norris "who got this going." The chair also noted that the challenges faced by the staff during this process were considerable. "First we tore their house down, and then it was another eight months that they succeeded in making it through while doing a great job. To Lynn (Foster, vice president of corporate support) and her team—great job. The board is extremely pleased."

Northeast Town Mayor Al MacNevin came to the podium joking that he had a lot of experience operating on a non-profit basis. "It is a privilege to be here," he said. "We have always been very proud of the facilities we have here." Mr. MacNevin congratulated the board and the staff in being able to bring the project to fruition despite the budgetary constraints that are all too familiar to public institutions.

Chief of Staff Dr. Stephen Cooper pondered his mixed emotions on the new facility, noting that there are many memories of challenges, victories and defeats that flood in when the door to the old emergency

Four highway construction projects slated for work on Manitoulin this summer

MANITOULIN—With the summer construction season upon us, Islanders and visitors to Manitoulin can expect a number of Ministry of Transportation road and bridgework projects over the next few months.

Crews will be continuing work on the Kagawong Creek bridge replacement on Highway 540 at Kagawong. The bridge project should be completed by the end of June. Traffic is currently reduced to one lane by means of temporary traffic signals.

Replacement of the Mindemoya Creek bridge on Highway 551 is currently underway in Providence Bay. A single lane temporary modular bridge has been utilized as a detour while the existing bridge is removed and replaced. Traffic will be reduced to a single lane controlled by temporary traffic signals. The estimated completion for the bridge is late fall 2017.

Highway 6 will see 23.6 kilometres resurfaced 10.5 kilometres north of Highway 542 (0.8 kilometres north of Cowan's Side Road) northerly to 0.3 kilometres south of the Ten Mile Point Lookout. Daily single lane closures on Highway 6 will be managed by traffic flagging operations while resurfacing is carried out. Construction is anticipated to be complete in early September 2017.

The reconstruction and resurfacing of Highway 540, one kilometre west of Highway 6 at Little Current, westerly for 17.6 kilometres. Daily single lane closures will be managed by traffic flagging for culvert replacements and ongoing paving operations. The anticipated completion of this project is late fall 2017.

Northeast Town planning now through municipal office

by Robin Burrige

LITTLE CURRENT—The Northeast Town officially became its own planning authority earlier this year, meaning that any severance (consents), zoning or minor variances in the Northeast Town are now handled by town staff, with decisions made by council opposed to the Manitoulin Planning Board (MPB) (which the municipality is no longer a part of).

"The only big change in terms of planning is that Northeast Town residents (or landowners) come here, to the town office, now," explained Northeast Town Clerk Pam Cress.

Ms. Cress said that residents are welcome to come to the office and have a conversation with her, or make an appointment if she is unavailable, to figure out if the project fits into the Official Plan or Provincial Policy Statement and what steps need to be taken such as filling out the appropriate form.

"I then take a period of time to review the application and make sure everything is in order," explained Ms. Cress. "From there, a notice is advertised in the paper regarding the application for 20 days prior to

Getting things done on councils calls for discipline and order

It's challenging to get things done in a democracy. There are all those annoying contrary opinions on what the right course of action might be and which policies to enact in order to meet the needs of the public. How tempting it must be for politicians and civil servants to simply deal with things behind closed doors and through quiet phone calls away from prying ears and eyes and all the fuss and controversy they tend to engender.

With no need for long explanations to people who are not inclined to listen or evidence-based policy, a policy maker could just fly along on gut and intuition or just do things "they way we have always done them." As Fiddler on the Roof's Tevya was wont to sing, "tradition!"

But this isn't the early 19th century and, like it or not, we do live in a democracy, so municipal councillors have to relinquish some of the "way we have always done things" and pay attention to the legislation that defines their roles.

This isn't a bad thing, in fact, it is a really good thing. But it is a change and change is hard.

Direct democracy is often put forward as an ideal by those who don't actually have to go through the challenges of getting something done. In the days of the Greek city states, when everyone could gather in the town square and hammer out what needed to be done about the Spartans gathering outside their gates, or how to respond to a neighbouring community's depredations upon their fields and/or shipping, it was the epitome of democracy. People apparently had a lot of time on their hands in those far off benighted days. It really didn't work out all that well in the end. By the time decisions were made the Spartans had already scaled the walls and the pirates made off with their booty.

Getting things done in a timely manner requires a certain amount of discipline. Getting things done fairly and honestly calls for a great deal of transparency and accountability, and yes, decorum. That means behaving like civilized ladies and gentlemen as well as having set rules on who speaks when and how.

Most modern councils work on the principle that should someone wish to enter the discussion at the council table they make an application for a delegation. Random interactions from the floor, that realm so pejoratively characterized by the late W.C. Fields as "the peanut gallery," is a sure recipe for chaos, complete with red herrings and white rabbits for all.

If you think getting things done in a democracy is tough, try shouting your way through an anarchy.

While it may seem wrong to "muzzle" citizens in the council chambers, it is the chair (usually the reeve or mayor) who must enforce the rules of order, in the interests of actually getting the work of council done. It is not an easy task, no one likes to tell their friends and neighbours to sit down and stay silent—but it has to be done if order is to be maintained and work to proceed in a timely manner.

Nearly all councils on Manitoulin do follow those basic tenets of modern democracy. It is past time for all councils to shake off the shackles of the past. What worked well enough in the 1880s is not going to cut it in the 21st Century. Better to catch up to time than be forced into it through the offices of the court or provincial intervention.

Manitoulin is one of those take for granted jewels

Others wish that they could enjoy it for longer than a few days

To the Expositor:

Once again, your editorial of the June 14 edition hits the nail squarely on the head ("Tourism is everybody's business on Manitoulin Island," Page 4). Almost any northern community abound with the natural beauty of Manitoulin must recognize that the injection of tourist dollars is vital to the prosperous survival of both year-round local businesses and seasonal operations, and thus, the permanent residents. From my travels all around your beautiful island, Manitoulin Island has done so and continues to capitalize on its most abundant resource, itself. There is no shortage of fine places to stay, if you book early enough, and so many places to visit, cultures to learn about, historic places, and views that are seldom rivaled.

Where I live, we too have many natural wonders to attract those who love clean, unspoiled nature, just a little different from the world known Manitoulin Island, and, without the benefit of access to the Great Lakes for water visitors. Unfortunately, here, these benefits are basically hidden under a rock, with sparse promotion and, one and one only hotel, one lodge outside of town, and a couple of very nice bed and breakfast accommodations. For the most part, we are an unknown to the world, and if they do find us, there is no place for them to stay if they visit. We hold some very good local events, but, again, out of town visitors have little place to stay in town.

So, your editorial states the obvious. Local residents should be open and tolerant and be proud that others appreciate and want to drink in all that the locals take for granted every day. Recognize that you live in a place that others may only wish they could enjoy for longer than a few pleasant days.

Provincial elections loom with growing promises

Who can we believe? They all seem to lie to us

To the Expositor:

Provincial elections are coming and I can see these Liberals are really ramping up their schemes again to try to win votes. First of all, this basic income study they are doing, it will cost the province 150 million dollars for three years. It would have been best just to raise incomes, including OSPD (Ontario Disability Support Program). Instead, they are going to raise minimum wage to $15 an hour. This may kill jobs, and it will also cause an increase to living expenses, but they will still not raise our incomes, even with the cost of living increase. The Conservatives and NDP are speaking very negatively against the Liberals, mostly because of the hydro rates going down and saying it will cost the province more in the future.

Who can we believe now anyway, they all seem to lie to us all the time. Every election time these politicians will tell you what you would like to hear and make promises. These people are heartless when it comes to serving ordinary citizens and living in Northern Ontario. It's more expensive and the government refuses to acknowledge this problem, especially when it comes to our fixed income. How come we never get a raise on these incomes?

Billings council needs a comprehensive plan for its properties

Ban on jumping off the Kagawong dock will backfire like the pesticide issue

To the Expositor:

Two agenda items in the last Billings council meeting seem to highlight some of the problems this community faces. They highlight the biases and influences that history, tradition and religion have in decision making in this Township.

First, a delegation representing the congregation of St. Paul's on the Hill United Church approached council to inform the community that the congregation is dissolving, and asking whether the Township would be prepared to buy the property. An interesting request, since it is my observation that council is heavily influenced in its decision making by the congregation of St. John's Anglican church—what one might call "the competition." In fact, there was a lively debate about the different models—the Anglican one being "top-down" and St. Paul's being, in the words of John Christian, who along with Jacque Gordon, represented the congregation—being bottom up! Either way, though Mayor Hunt claimed that the church is, in his opinion, 'the centre of the community,' even on a very good day St. John's is very happy to have more than 60 people attending its Sunday service. I've always been of the opinion that politics and religion should be kept apart, so, not to make too blunt a point of it, but the power base of the current Billings administration, appropriate or not, seems to be melting away!

On the decision—to buy or not to buy—St. Paul's church stands in the middle of town-owned land so it could well fit (with de-consecration and some expenditure on insulating the building and possibly structurally adding another floor), into a planned and well thought out civic complex, along with a new fire station, possible library etc. What the Township can't afford is to keep collecting property, either through tax arrears acquisition, or in unique circumstances like the present one, without having a plan approved by the community as a whole.

The other item that caught my eye was a motion by council to ban the "jumping off the marina dock," which has been a tradition, to quote the mayor, for as long as he can recall. Indeed, he expressed opposition to the motion, even though on a vote the motion passed. The fact that all council offers as an alternative is a small swim platform anchored out in shallow water is, I predict, going to backfire badly on this motion. Of course, there are liability issues, but those have existed "for as long as the mayor can remember" too! What is more to the point is jumping off the Kagawong Marina dock has become quite the tourist attraction (as well as a right of passage for Billings youth and not so young residents). I predict this decision is going to bounce back and forth through as many meetings as it took to come to a resolution on the pesticide spraying issue!

Dismay over the proliferation of dog feces on Providence Bay beach

A beach closure due to extensive contamination would be horrible for all of us

To the Expositor:

Last night after dinner we went for a walk down the boardwalk for an ice cream at the Providence Bay pavilion. After this lovely visit, I decided to take a walk back by the beach, which I have done for nearly 30 years now. I was dismayed and disgusted to see that someone or several someones are allowing their dogs to use the beach as an outhouse. I have not in all my years here seen this level of mess! There is no exaggeration when I say that there was not two feet that was not lousy with dog excrement and all with an foot of the water's edge. Plenty of large dog prints surrounded this matter from the Mindemoya River's mouth down to close to the park entry—shocking—and I left the beach at this point to return to the boardwalk. This after months and years of volunteers, local residents, campers and visitors working hand-in-hand to maintain our beautiful beach!

With hundreds of families with small children about to descend in time to join in this Canada Day's festivities once school is out, the level to which the matter extends concerns this reader for contamination of the water and sand. This is so dismaying and disheartening-we have often commented to transients coming through after witnessing their failure to pick up after their dogs on the need to do so. Parvo, a horrible disease caused by this irresponsible behaviour, is on the rise and no wonder with the mess I saw last evening! I am willing to go out with shovel and plastic bags in hand this coming week but unless something is done to stop this behaviour it will be a wasted effort. If it continues a beach closure due to the extensive contamination posing health hazard in the future would be horrible consequence for all of us!

A tale of an encounter with a caring Islander

Endless hospitality and trust from Ken Blodgett

To the Expositor:

We visited beautiful Gore Bay during our recent holiday in Ontario. We ended up being stranded by the lighthouse 3km out of Gore Bay Marina (a beautiful place to be stranded) and we had the pleasure, in the middle of our predicament, to meet Ken Blodgett.

We can't thank him enough for making dozen of calls late Saturday evening and all day Sunday, to help us finding a contact at a local Ford dealership as well as calling several local businesses to help us find a solution to our lost RV keys.

As well as all this, Ken gave us his pickup truck to go back and forth from the marina to our RV and he gave us access to the office. Endless hospitality and trust.

Ken and the stunning marina deserve a mention and we hope they will have a busy summer, they deserve to succeed in what they do.

Proud to live where Native culture is usually honoured

A suggested reading list on the history of Canada's relations with its indigenous partners

To the Expositor:

Kudos to John Van Veen for graciously confronting Mr. Lewis, the author of the racist whine about the recent colourful improvements to the Chi-Cheemaun. I was reluctant to stick my paddle in to the waters, as I would not likely have been as circumspect. I am proud to live where the wonderful local Native culture is usually honoured, so this sentiment was an unexpected shock! Of course, racism is not dead in Canada the good.

However, with the upcoming celebrations planned for Canada's 150th birthday it seems long past time to set the record straight about the First Nations fundamental role in the founding of our mixed-blood indigenous culture, called Canada. Those curious to be illuminated on this subject could wisely invest the time reading the excellent book, 'A Fair Country: Telling Truths About Canada' by John Ralston Saul.

A hard view on the loss of the Cup and Saucer entrance

Islanders should not be held hostage again

To the Expositor:

When I saw the posts on Facebook regarding the Cup and Saucer I just thought it was the same issue as last year. But as more information came out it became more troubling. To close one of the largest attractions on the first long weekend of the summer at the last minute is just disgraceful. Now it is well within Mr. Eadie's rights to close down access through his property, but to do it without notice is just again disgraceful. To top it off, it all seems to relate back to a lost tender with NEMI.

Now, if you rely on taxpayer dollars to operate your business I would think it would be in your best interest not to anger the majority of the residents on the Island. I am sure he has some supporters but at the end of the day he didn't follow the rules of the tender. Don't take that out on the rest of the businesses, families that rely on this tourist destination.

If you can't operate that pit at a profit then the pit shouldn't exist. I am sure all that timber will help pay the bills.

Which is it, timber/gravel/garbage left on trail? It is hard to keep up with the story Mr. Eadie is weaving. Alternative routes should be established so Islanders are not held hostage again and a long term strategy should be put in place for future generations to enjoy the beautiful views.

Anishinabek Nation Statement on Canada 150

Now is not the time for celebration but for reflection

Ngo Dwe Waangizid Anishinaabe. One Anishinaabe Family.

Preamble to the Anishinaabe Chi-Naaknigewin (Constitution)

Creator placed the Anishinaabe on the earth along with the gift of spirituality. Shkode, nibi, aki, noodin, giibi dgosdoonan wii naagdowendmang maanpii shk-agmigaang.

Here on mother earth, there were gifts given to the Anishinaabe to look after; fire, water, earth and wind. Debenjiged gii miinaan gechtwaa wendaagog Anishinaaben waa naagdoonjin ninda niizhwaaswi kino maadwinan.

The Creator also gave the Anishinaabe seven sacred gifts to guide them. They are: Zaagidwin, Debwewin, Mnaadendmowin, Nbwaakaawin, Dbaadendziwin, Gwekwaadziwin miinwa Aakedhewin.

Love, Truth, Respect, Wisdom, Humility, Honesty and Bravery. Debenjiged kiimingona dedbinwe wi naagdowendiwin.

Creator gave us sovereignty to govern ourselves. Ka mnaadendanaa gaabi zhiwebag miinwaa nango megwaa ezhwebag, miinwa geyaabi waa ni zhiwebag.

We respect and honour the past, present and future.

This year, Canada will celebrate 150 years since the formation of the Canadian state. There is a long history prior to and since this time with First Nations across Turtle Island. This history cannot and should not be forgotten. However, it should not impede finding a new path forward.

The Anishinabek Nation Government continues to extend its invitation to renew alliances and partnerships with the newcomers to our lands, represented by the Government of Canada.

The Anishinabek Nation expects that meaningful co-existence between the Government of Canada and the Anishinabek Nation must be based on mutual recognition, mutual respect, sharing, and mutual responsibility.

Without the contributions of First Nations during the War of 1812, there would be no celebration of 150 years.

Assimilation policies and a blatant disregard for the human rights and the inherent rights of the Anishinaabe Peoples have caused unmentionable suffering, humiliation, and the deaths of countless people.

Now is not the time for celebration, but a time for reflection, acknowledgement and a meaningful commitment to change these discriminatory policies and legislation.

The settler governments have committed cultural genocide against our people. While there has been great upheaval in our Nation, we have endured and we will prevail. We did not disappear, become extinct, become assimilated, and we are not "aboriginal Canadians." We are Anishinabek.

Anishinabek First Nations will continue lead and build alliances and relationships with their neighbours through constructive dialogue and actions that support reconciliation and healing.

For the next 150 years and beyond we must have a collective and determined focus to elevate healthy relationships needed in this country between First Nations and Canadian citizens—let's build towards something to truly celebrate.

We are All Treaty People.

Manitoulin is a surfer heaven

Delaware sign points the way

To the Expositor: Our neighbor in South Bethany, Delaware is an avid surfer. He has a pole with top surfing destinations in his driveway. After reading your article about surfing on Manitoulin I added this sign using a piece of driftwood from Lake Manitou where we have a summer cottage. We will be heading to Manitoulin shortly for the month of July.

The Importance of Charms

by Vera Constantineau

The last day of Grade 8 my teacher, Mr. Fred Smith, gave me a sterling silver charm in a little box, the type of box you would get if you had purchased something worthy at one of the local jewellery stores. I wish I could tell you what I received this charm for, but it seems I no longer have any idea. I was an okay student, but I didn't excel at anything.

The box is long gone, but happily, I still have my charm. I remember looking closely at the shiny surface of my little silver piece that day. I could see trees, a lion, sky and grass embossed on the front, with the letters P.E.I. It was a generous gesture on Mr. Smith's part; however, I remember thinking, rather ungratefully, that it would have made more sense to have received a charm of the province of Ontario, since I didn't know a soul from P.E.I.

Time moved on, as time does. When I graduated from Little Current High School, I enrolled at Sheridan Technical School in Sudbury where I completed a one-year commercial course, aptly named Special Commercial. When I successfully completed Special Commercial, I got a job in Classifieds at the Sudbury Star. My sister, Marie, and I shared a small place located at the very top of the Bloor Street hill. From our window one could see New Sudbury and beyond.

New art gallery opens its doors in Little Current

by Michael Erskine

LITTLE CURRENT—Members of the Manitoulin Fine Arts Association (MFAA) are excited about a new partnership with the Northeast Town that will see the club operate an art gallery in the town's Artisan Incubation Centre on the waterfront in downtown Little Current.

"Last autumn Sue Cairns put out an invitation to the MFAA members to participate in the project and 11 said yes," said MFAA member erin-blythe reddie (no capitals), whose own art is expressed in three dimensional naturescapes, textiles and wearable art.

The artist erin-blythe reddie describes the space offered by the artisan incubation centre as a "beautiful space and a beautiful location." The location is very well situated to be accessible to visitors to the Island, being located in the Port of Little Current, but also nicely placed for those arriving by boat or cruise ship. "Everyone will be able to see the art that is available on the Island," she said. Not only will visitors be able to see the art, they will be able to meet many of the artists themselves, as two artists have made the commitment to be at the art show each day that it is open. "Others will be dropping in from time to time as well."

"The town is very pleased to be able to host the North Channel Gallery in our Artisan Incubation Centre," said Northeast Town Mayor Al MacNevin. "This is the very kind of partnership that we envisioned when the concept of the Artisan Incubation Centre was developed."

The range of artists cover a wide spectrum of media and art forms, from oils and acrylics, to water colours, mixed media, textiles and pottery.

Artist Sue Cairns started painting as a hobby 10 years ago when she took a watercolour class. "It brought back wonderful memories of my youth and my early painting days," she said. Now it has become part of who she is. Ms. Cairns paints in oils, acrylics, watercolour and will also have examples of her photography at the North Channel Gallery. Ms. Cairns currently has a piece in the Northern

Swing bridge closing issues last week caused by proximity switch failure

by Michael Erskine

LITTLE CURRENT—Experienced travellers heading to and from the Island on Highway 6 tend to time their arrival and departures to avoid the opening and closing of the Little Current Swing Bridge (although just about everyone gets caught occasionally), but recently timing wasn't everything as the oldest structure on a provincial highway stalled twice in one week throwing an unanticipated delay into some travel plans.

"There was an electrical fault on one of the proximity switches on the bridge," said Carole Paiement, communications services coordinator with the Ministry of Transportation. "The proximity switches monitor the position of various moving components of the bridge as it swings and closes."

According to Ms. Paiement the electrical fault in the proximity switch triggered a circuit breaker in the main control panel interrupting the bridge's ability to swing closed. "This event occurred while the bridge was closing on Monday, June 12 and again on Wednesday, June 14," said Ms. Paiement.

She went on to note that "during the two events when the circuit breaker was triggered due to the electrical fault, bridge staff were able to manually override the main control panel and close the bridge. Disruption to highway traffic was minimal and there were no swings lost for marine traffic."

Things should be back to normal operations now. "The electrical fault in the proximity switch has been corrected and the bridge is back to routine operation," said Ms. Paiement.

Stories From Our Land

Celebrating Canada's 150

The PEI charm.

One Friday night I hopped on the Greyhound bus and travelled back to Little Current to spend the weekend with my mother. When I returned on Sunday night to our apartment, Marie said she'd made a friend while I was gone. She told me all about how she'd been approached by a young woman while on her way to work. I was already preparing my lecture about talking to strangers when she said, "Her name is Frances and she has brothers." I cut the lecture back by half.

It turned out there was way more than one young woman; the entire group of Newly Met Persons included two sisters, three brothers, a brother-in-law, two young children, and a slew of friends, all of whom came from P.E.I. Suddenly my life was full of P.E. Islanders and as the weeks, months and years went by we became solid friends.

I learned a bunch of new phrases common to the folk of that other Isle. For instance, "S'notting" which, when translated, seemed to mean "Can you believe that?" And:

"Is that all the far you are?" Which is self-explanatory and seriously cracked me up. And "Weak, eh?" which is explained with this example: if someone bought a new car, in admiration one would say, "Weak, eh?"

Receiving a charm of P.E.I., something so inconsequential back in Grade 8, took on much greater significance after Marie met Frances. In honour of my new friends, I strung the charm on a silver chain and wore it faithfully for years. That group of people had a big impact on my life, but an even bigger one on my sister, Marie's. She married one of the brothers, Ralph, and they moved to British Columbia, where together they grew a great family.

If my sister had not met Frances, and if we had not all become friends, she would not have her family and I might never have had the experience of standing at the rail of the ferry that ran from the mainland to P.E.I. I vividly recall my sense of awe at my first sight of the red soil of that beautiful place. I remember saying to Frances, "It really is red!"

In addition to visits to the East Coast, I had visits to my sister and brother-in-law in British Columbia. Her chance meeting, and its aftermath, gave me the impetus to travel the entire expanse of Canada. I love the mountains. I've stuck a toe in two oceans. And the land that lies in between the east and west coasts is well worth the drive across country.

When I look at my charm now, certainly I think of Mr. Smith and his generosity, I think of my classmates and our continuing friendship, and I realize a person never knows how, some time down the road, the smallest things can take on huge significance.

That two islands, beautiful Manitoulin Island and beautiful Prince Edward Island, should give me such bounty in my life is something I will always be grateful for, along with my charm, of course.

Island Track and Field

The annual Manitoulin Island Elementary Track and Field Championships took place over two days last week in Gore Bay. As per usual there were supportive crowds and excellent competition in attendance at the June 13 and 15 event. Amazingly, there were 12 Island track and field records that were broken, by seven individuals and one team, over the two days, despite softer track conditions. In the 9-year-old girls' division, Alexandra Wilson-Zegil set the new record in high jump with a 1.24 m bar!

In the 10-year-old girls' Ava Assinewai upped the ante in two events as she eclipsed the high-jump mark, setting a new target of 1.27m. Finally, she absolutely was on her game to beat the old 1500m record set by none other than former, super-Eagle, OFSAA alumnus Emma Tallman by 9 seconds in the 1500m. Ava clocked a sub-6 time of 5:59.47 to break the 15-year-old tally. Malachi Joseph beat the long jump with a leap forward of 3.81 m while Eli Locke moved the mark up to 1.28 m in the high jump. Jayden Hayden completed the strong 10-year-old hit on the records with a new rank in standing-long with a 2.09 m mark.

In the 11-year class, Delaney Bridgeman took home two new records as she obliterated the old standing long jump by 12cm with a 2.22 m in addition to her triple jump record with a 8.65 m measuring.

In the 12-year-old girls' division, Sophie Heitkamp had a mind-blowing, three records fall to her efforts. She racked up a new long jump of 4.23 m, standing long jump of 2.23 m and a high jump at 1.37 m!

Finally, there was a large cheer emitted from the C. C. McLean 13+ girls' relay team as their time of 1:01.95 was called out as they reduced all future teams' targets to win the gold medal.

As well as these record results, individual medal winners featured: 9 and under tied girls' gold medal recipients Mya Balfe and Alex Wilson-Zegil, Sadie Bridgeman with silver and Zaagaage "Z" Corbiere-Toulouse and Tessa Merrylees sharing third. On the boys' side it was Rhyis Arthurs in sole possession of the goal, Jack Carter of the silver and then Noah Thorpe and Cody Campbell each taking home a bronze medal.

In the 10-year-old girls' class Ava had a perfect 12 point gold, Brooke Gibeault amassed 9 points for the silver while cousin Annie Balfe was a close bronze with 8 tallies. On the guys' side it was Malachi Joseph taking gold, Davin Deschenes with a silver and Jaydan Hayden and John-Michael Taggart each picking up the bronze with 8 points a piece.

The 11-year-old girls' set highlighted a rare perfect-12 tie between Delaney Bridgeman and Aysia Debassige who managed to each win all of their four events but not to have to meet each other in them. Taking silver Shaolin Roy in silver then Amelia Osawanimiki and Jazmin Colwell each in bronze. The boys' event featured the C. C. McLean 1-2 punch of Bay Migwans with the gold and Mason Leighton taking silver. Tying for bronze was the Little Current pair of Allan Wilkin and Billy Biederman.

In the 12 girls' Sophie Heitkamp posted a perfect-12 while teammate Teah Migwans was second and Wasse Abin's Victoria Trudeau and LCPS's Autumn Deschesne in thirds. The guys division was tightly contested with the push for gold naming three gentlemen counting 10 points to each take gold including: Trent Bell, Liam Bridgeman and Latrell Peltier. In silver, both Julian Wemigwans and Jacob Wilson scored eight points and finally wearing bronze was both Carter Moggy and Darwin Wood.

The 13-plus division was very competitive and predicts great things for their future team as they move into secondary school next year. In the girls' category, Malia Leighton was golden with teammate Ayriell Nodecker close with the silver. Donning the bronze was CMPs athlete Hailey McGills-Prior tying Wikwemikong's Francesca Pheasant. The boys' set featured Owen Duncanson with a perfect 12 points, Nyron Panamick in a close second with 11 points and Rory Dearing in bronze with 9.

Meet hosts C. C. McLean won the Per-Capita and Overall trophies in fine fashion. Their accolades must echo the kudos to all the C. C. McLean staff volunteers and Manitoulin Transport officials who helped make this annual top notch. Event organizer Dan Smith, in addition to thanking all of the people responsible for the huge undertaking, also acknowledged the three staff who will be leaving the fold for next year. The Island sports' committee will surely recognize, Bruce Lindsay, Heather Jefkins and Lydia Burlein for all of their tireless work in track and field, cross country and everything else they have helped out with Island elementary sports over all these years from Gore Bay.

Meanwhile at the Miners' Mayhem...

This Mayhem is an annual Sudbury obstacle course with crazy and often unexpected feats of brains and brawn. Congratulations to several Manitoulin athletes who were up to the task. Laury and Kylie Cranston took 1:02:23 hour and 1:00:31 respectively of the humanity. Brad and Anya Wright in the team division clocked 54:06. Denise Brady was in at 40:25 and Greg Bond ripped it up at 39:23!

Fundraising barbecue to complete Classic summer athletic event

The 16th annual 'run, paddle and pedal' triathlon is ready to go, Sunday, July 2 down at the government dock on Lake Mindemoya as part of the Central Manitoulin Lions' Club's Homecoming Weekend (www.mindemoyaclassic.com).

The event is a 5.5k run, 3k paddle and 13k cycle triathlon and can be completed as a team of four, part of a pair or all on your own. That being said, there are always "unranked" teams who like to get creative with the established categories. There are no division bragging rights, but it is all about being active and having fun so, why not? As always, organizers can use a couple more volunteers so visit the above website for more information.

This year there will be a full-fledged barbecue offered for participants, volunteers and observers alike and all for a great cause. This year the Manitoulin Pet Rescue will be hosting a barbeque (11 am – 2 pm) with all proceeds going directly to M.P.R. For those unfamiliar with this lauded charity here is some details: volunteer operated, not-for-profit charitable organization; dedicated to rescuing and re-homing unwanted or displaced cats and dogs of Manitoulin Island and the North Shore; dogs and cats coming into MPR go into caring and committed foster homes and assess their individual needs to find permanent, responsible, forever homes; M.P.R. is sustained by public donations; all donations go directly toward the care for the animal in the program.

A good sport is good for sports. chipstoquips@gmail.com

by Robin Burrige

MINDEMOYA—Despite rainy weather, it was a great weekend for the annual Pearson Cup Slo-Pitch Tournament, with players utilizing the baseball field upgrades that were made possible thanks to $150,000 in funding from the Jays Care Foundation, the charitable arm of the Toronto Blue Jays.

Organizers were forced to call the championship games because of rainstorms Sunday leading to 'co-champions' in each division that split the prize money. In the Open A Division, the top teams were the Keggers and the Happy Hooters; the Open B Division top teams were Blakes Bats and I'd Hit That; the Open C Division tops teams were the Weekend Warriors, King Crushers and Sucker Lake Sea Squirrels; the 35ers A Division top teams were the Cleats and Cleavage and Walking Wounded; the 35ers B Division top teams were Balls and Dolls and Weapons of Mass Consumption; the 35ers C Division top teams were Balls Deep and Beetle Blue Balls; and the 45ers

OPP Torch Run raises awareness of Special Olympics

by Michael Erskine
MINDEMOYA—The OPP Torch Run touched down at Central Manitoulin Public School (CMPS) where it was greeted with cheers and plenty of bright smiles. The OPP officers accompanying the torch shared their burden with students from the school during the “run.”

Just about the entire student and teacher contingent from CMPS joined in the run which was led by Manitoulin’s Special Olympics (MSO) champions. Matthew Bedard and Kelsey Mellan, two athletes who competed internationally in Austria this past winter were joined by MSO Athlete of the Year Dayne Tipper in carrying banners to lead the run in its journey from CMPS to the Mindemoya OPP detachment offices where speeches were made and cake and other refreshments were served.

The Sandy McCutcheon Campbell Memorial Bursary went to Yvonne Bailey and was presented by Sandy’s daughters Cassie Noble and Laney Campbell.

“I was very surprised to receive it, however I was very honoured as Sandy was my best friend,” said Ms. Bailey. “It is an award I will cherish for the rest of my life.”

Players were pleased with the new baseball field upgrades that include new dugouts and covers, which came in handy with the weekend’s weather.

The upgrades also included protective plastic on the outfield fences, players benches, eight foot high screens in front of the dugouts, work on the infield and new bases.

“We had about 20 volunteers who helped with all the work,” said Pearson Cup Committee member Greg Lockyer. “We had a real push before the (Pearson Cup) weekend and tightened the last bolt Friday afternoon at 4 pm.”

There will also be upgrades to the lighting at both fields, but the Pearson Cup Committee is waiting on quotes and options. As well, the outfield will be built up using top soil, clay and sod in the fall.

A new concession stand is also being built at the Mindemoya baseball fields—a joint effort between the Central Manitoulin Lions Club, Mindemoya Minor Hockey Association, Mindemoya Curling Club, Manitoulin Special Olympics and the Pearson Cup Committee. The Central Manitoulin Lions Club has donated $10,000 for the stand that will be 16 ft. by 32 ft. and feature an eight-foot service window and full kitchen.

office (now a storage facility) is opened. "I can still feel the ghosts and the stories of patients who passed through those doors," he said. "But we have a new room, trauma one and trauma two, a bright functional space. The tools you need are right at your fingertips. The space works and it is easy to connect to specialists in Sudbury—it's a very modern emergency room." Dr. Cooper said that he was leaving nostalgia behind, happy that there is a facility where patients can now get the best care possible. "Thank you to the board for having the courage and the vision to move forward."

Dr. Simone Meikleham said that the construction crew should receive commendation for their consideration and care taken during the process to minimize their negative impacts of the construction on patients and staff. "Especially those times when they showed up in a construction hat when an umbrella might have been more appropriate."

"This has been a dream for this facility for many years, long before I came here," said MHC CEO Derek Graham. He noted the countless attempts over the last 11 years to secure funding. "For whatever reason, those attempts failed to hit the sweet spot," he said. Mr. Graham recalled the board chairs that have helmed those efforts, including both the board of today and the board of years goneby. "We have been fortunate to have such wonderful leadership."

He listed the project starting with Ivan Edwards, through Karen King, Mike Shain, Suzanne Norris, Georgie Hari and now Terry Olmstead. "We have been very fortunate to have had good leadership and solid vision."

Mr. Graham acknowledged the work of his two executive colleagues, Pat Morka, clinical team lead, and Lynn Foster for their invaluable work in bringing the project in on time and on budget.

"I have to admit this project has been a test of our mettle," said Ms. Foster, who thanked the internal team and the outside consultants Deb Arbuckle and Ian Whittington for their efforts in the planning stage. Ms. Foster also gave a "very special thanks" to those who worked through the chaos of construction to serve MHC patients "under very trying circumstances."

Following the speeches those assembled made their way from the board room down to the new emergency department to cut a ribbon and then returned for cake and refreshments back in the board room.

Northern Ontario Country Music Association inductee Robbie Shawana channeled Johnny Cash among other artists and had the audience bouncing in their seats, while guitarist Jim Beech (who lost his fingertips in childhood) invoked tears with his original song about singing Amanda for Maria (a 10-year-old blind girl) and laughter with his compendious collection of jokes.

But a standing ovation awaited the guest of honour, as Mr. Manitowabi made his way to the stage.

"You look like you are all having a good time—we'll soon fix that," quipped the veteran entertainer as he donned his guitar. "We've locked the doors and windows."

Mr. Manitowabi introduced himself with a chuckle and plug. "I am Eugene Manitowabi from Wikwemikong and I listen to Brother John's Gospel Hour every Sunday, then I go to Holy Cross to listen to Robbie Shawana. I am a former chief of Wikwemikong, a former councillor, a former lands administrator, in due time my gravestone will read 'here lies the former Eugene Manitowabi'."

Mr. Manitowabi peppered his songs (opening with 'Mirrors Don't Lie') with anecdotes and humour throughout the evening and had clearly captured the hearts (and ears) of his audience, many of whom had travelled a considerable distance to join him for the celebration.

"This is a most humbling experience," said a visibly moved Mr. Manitowabi. He recalled a number of his friends and colleagues, including the late Clayton Shawanda and Carole Middaugh. "Carole was quite a community organizer," he said. "I remember the first time she invited me here to downtown Tehkummah, it has always been a pleasure to be here."

A huge crowd gathered for Eugene Manitowabi's induction party in Tehkummah.

The evening proceeded with gentle ribbing, and a few mildly ribald references.

"From the bottom of my heart I love every one of you," he said.

As the first set ended, the musicians gathered onstage for a group photo.

Mr. Manitowabi will be inducted into the Northern Ontario Country Music Association Hall of Fame during the annual Country Music Awards weekend in Sault Ste. Marie November 3 to 5.

Bus packages are available from Manitoulin to Sault Ste. Marie return and can be reserved by contacting Beth and Glen McDougall at 705-377-4643 or by email at gbmcdougall@amtelecom.net.

which they will be attending the week of July 8."

"I will miss it a bit," said Lt. Blake of the cadets. "My wife is retiring this fall and we are looking forward to travelling. I will miss the people—both the cadets and officers, but I felt it was time to retire."

He noted that a highlight of his time with the cadets was the opportunity to take them on international exchanges such as the one they attended in Bermuda in 2013 and Newport, Rhode Island in 2015.

"Being part of the Manitoulin Sea Cadets Corps was a very rewarding experience," added Lt. Blake. "I encourage those who can volunteer their time to do so with young people. There is nothing more rewarding than being a part of helping young people as they grow and mature—being able to look back and know that you helped them along their way."

Although Lt. Blake is retiring, he will be joining the Manitoulin Navy League this fall and hopes to assist with the sponsorship committee, which supports the Manitoulin Sea Cadets.

Manor Centennial Manor Minutes

Administrators report

Manor Administrator Michelle Bond presented her report to the board. She said that the home was at a 94 percent occupancy rate with 17 applicants on the waiting list.

"A family I know were told that it could be up to a year to get into the Manor," said Board member Dawn Orr.

Manor Director of Care Sylvie Clark explained that it depends on what type of room the individual requests. "If they just request a basic room it could take a while, but if they choose basic, semi private and private, that's three separate lists and they could get in sooner."

Ms. Bond was pleased to report that former Manor chef Chris Lethbridge had been taken over the role of dietary manager and a new chef had been hired.

She said that unfortunately, the Manor had to fill 33 hours with agency personal support workers in May.

Ms. Bond noted that they have hired two personal support worker students and are continuing to advertise, but are short staffed due to sick leaves.

The board discussed the need for more PSWs across the Island and the province.

A letter will be crafted to the premier and Ministry of Health and Long Term advocating for personal support workers in the long-term care field.

Financially, Ms. Bond said that the Manor had a surplus of $429 in May. "Year to date we have a $19,000 surplus which is good—a bit of a buffer for the summer," said Ms. Bond.

Fundraising

Board member Wendy Gauthier told the board that the fundraising campaign for the new patient ceiling lifts is at $36,316.50. The goal is $75,000.

Ms. Gauthier noted that the Manor did well at their booth at the Manitoulin Trade Fair in May and sold $2,000 in raffle tickets for the Ivan Wheale painting, which had been donated earlier in the year. She added that it was good promotion for the Manor as well.

Board member Pat MacDonald commented how wonderful it was that Mr. Wheale helped staff the booth at the Trade Fair and how many people stopped at the booth due to his presence.

Ms. Gauthier said that volunteers would begin selling Tree of Light tickets this summer and that their goal this year is $15,000.

The next Manitoulin Centennial board meeting is scheduled for Thursday, July 20.

...horse and buggy mishap on Hwy. 6

sight—the buggy to which the horses had obviously been tethered was found along the rock face across the highway from New England Road, smashed into many pieces. The pair got out of the vehicle to look for any passengers and found nothing, until they caught sight of an Amish man making his way around the rock face, bleeding but mobile.

"We put him in the back seat of the car and called the ambulance," Ms. Hamilton said, noting that her friend is a nurse and checked him for injuries, but that besides a gash to the face and chest, he appeared to be okay.

The man, Ken Albrecht, told the women that the horse on the right had come into contact with the guard rail, setting it off, in turn spooking the other horse. He had been pitched from the buggy on impact, which destroyed the vehicle.

Before the ambulance came Mr. Albrecht gave the women an address book of all his family and relatives, including the couple who leases land from him. Knowing the couple would have a phone in the home (Amish tradition dictates that no phones or other electronics can be within the home), they called the tenants to let them know what had happened to their landlord and to tell the appropriate people.

Mr. Albrecht and his family had just moved to Manitoulin less than three months ago.

Still bound together, one of the horses jumped to its death over the guard rail. The other horse did not make the jump and was found to be suffering greatly on the highway. When the Ontario Provincial Police arrived on scene the horse was euthanized.

"He sat there, in the backseat, the whole time with this sweet smile," Ms. Hamilton said of the gentle nature of the man she helped. "Meanwhile he'd just lost his wagon and two horses."

"You just never know what's around the corner," she added thoughtfully. "It was just like being in the Wild West, with horses racing at you."

Ms. Hamilton said that while sorry for the accident, she was pleased that it didn't involve a motorized vehicle.

"There's more Amish moving here and we want to make sure they are safe on the roads," Ms. Hamilton concluded.

...illuminates gang reach into Wiikwemkoong

for and two peripheral individuals were caught up in the sweep.

The investigation and arrests attest to a wide crime network of related to gangs stretching into every corner of the province.

"We are often asked if something is gang-related," noted Wikwemikong Tribal Police Sergeant Chris Cooper. "But how do you really know? This time there are definite links to the Driftwood Crips and to the Hells Angels. It's not a guess anymore."

Project Kronik is the third large police operation targeting the Driftwood Crips and involved more than 800 police officers from 20 police services across the province, leading to more than 660 charges and 120 people being accused of charges related to an alleged criminal organization.

Charges across the province range from drug trafficking to attempted murder, trafficking in firearms as well as kidnapping conspiracies.

There were 33 suspects swept up in raids conducted in Sudbury and a combined 141 charges were laid in that community. A number of the charges laid in Project Kronik relate to the spread of fentanyl, with 193 fentanyl patches and 194 pills seized in the raids across the province.

The Driftwood Crips are described as one of Toronto's oldest criminal gangs with a highly organized command structure. One of those individuals swept up in the Sudbury raids is described as a member of the Hells Angels.

Charged with conspiracy to traffic cocaine contrary to section 465(1)(C) of the Criminal Code is a 38-year-old female of Wiikwemkoong.

...Salmon Classic Early Bird draw

"It's primarily a safety thing," said derby coordinator Dave Patterson. "We looked at the number of people who were coming across to Gore Bay to weigh in. It is a long crossing and probably not a great idea, especially if there is inclement weather. We had a chat with Pam Lortie (CAO of the Town of Spanish) and put it together for this year."

Another great new addition to the derby this year is the chance to grab one of 600-plus salmon lures being offered to the first 600 people to weigh in a fish. "Jack Hicks of Osprey Lures generously donated the lures," said Mr. Patterson.

"They are high quality lures—I use them myself." The opportunity to secure one of the lures is limited, though, as they are "while quantities last."

There will also be a $100 daily prize this year for the heaviest fish to be weighed in that day. "So you should definitely weigh in your fish," said Mr. Patterson. "That five-pound salmon or trout might be just enough to win if everyone else is having a bad day."

Mr. Patterson is an avid angler himself and just a little bit competitive, so a new contest offers a chance to "out fish Dave." Each day that Mr. Patterson weighs in a fish (no, he doesn't qualify for prizes) if your salmon or trout weighed in is heavier than his, your name goes into a draw for $500 to be drawn at the close of the derby.

Also new for this year is a youth ticket (14 and under) that sells for $35 and not only qualifies for any of the prizes, but also for a special youth prize of $500. "We want to encourage families to get out and get fishing together," said

Mr. Patterson.

This year's Manitoulin Expositor Salmon Classic fishing derby opens on Saturday, July 29 and runs until noon August 27. But remember, to qualify for the Early Bird draw your ticket has to be purchased by 5 pm on Thursday, June 22. The Early Bird draw will take place on Friday, June 23 at 2 pm.

...Coverage of Manitoulin athletes at World Games to air this month on TSN

by Robin Burridge
AUSTRIA—TSN (The Sports Network) will be airing coverage of the World Special Olympics (SO) Games in Austria from March next week that will feature Manitoulin athletes Matt Bedard and Kelsey Mellan.

The coverage, which starts on Monday, June 26, will not only show Matt and Kelsey competing at the Worlds in snowshoeing, but also exclusive footage taken on Manitoulin earlier this year of the two athletes.

Bradford Productions, one of the producers filming the coverage of the Games, came to Manitoulin in February for a feature on Kelsey and Matt as they prepared for the Worlds. The film crew followed the athletes as they trained, interviewed their parents and coaches and captured an inside look at their every day lives.

man Pete McCallum. Mr. and Ms. Diamond have been filming for the SO for the past 26 years.

Kelsey and Matt were chosen out of all the athletes on Team Canada for a feature due to their community involvement, personalities and hard work.

Bradford Productions filmed Kelsey and Matt training at the Maple Ridge Trails in Mindemoya, along with fellow MSO athlete Ontario SO Male Athlete of the Year Dayne Tipper, who was helping the pair train.

From there, they filmed Kelsey and Matt working out with their personal trainer Maria McInnis of KINFIT. They also met each of the athlete's families and visited where they work. Kelsey works at the Assinack Family Health Team, while Matt is a prep cook at the Anchor Inn Hotel.

The filming wrapped up with Matt preparing a special meal for Kelsey and the film crew at the Anchor. Matt surprised Kelsey with a mixed seafood pasta for dinner.

Matt and Kelsey both performed very well at the Worlds with Kelsey posting eighth in the 100 metre race and achieving a personal best time of 1:29:76 in the 200 metre race while Matt received silver in the 800 metre race, fourth in the 1,600 metre race and silver in the 4x4 100 metre race.

The Special Olympic Austria coverage on TSN will air Monday, June 26 at 8 pm (EDT) on the TSN Network (TSN 1, 3, 4 and 5), Tuesday, June 27 at 3 pm on TSN5, Wednesday, June 28 at 1 pm on TSN3, Thursday, June 29 at 12:30 am on TSN2, Thursday June 29 at 12:30 pm on TSN4 and Friday, June 30 at 1 pm on TSN1.

by Robin Burridge
LITTLE CURRENT—Registration is now available for the Little Current Yacht Club's (LCYC) Learn to Sail Program, which starts after Canada Day.

"We will be starting with the Taste program the week after Canada Day (July 4-7)," explained head instructor Bryce Mastelko. "The Taste program gives kids a chance to try sailing over a couple days."

The Taste program will run Tuesday, July 4 to Friday, July 7 from 9 am until noon, or there will be a second session from 1 to 4 pm the same days.

A second set of Taste sessions will be held Tuesday, August 8 to Friday, August 11 from 9 am to noon or from 1 to 4 pm. The four-day, half-day course is $100.

"I started in the sailing program with the LCYC when I was eight or nine," explained Bryce. "By Grade 8 I had gotten as far as I could with the club and I worked two summers with the camp. Two years ago I was the assistant instructor."

Bryce said he is pleased to be back with the club as head instructor and has taken many courses in order to obtain his new position including First Aid and CPR, boating licence, boat safety and CanSail certification so that he is able to teach both Level 1 and 2.

"I was sad I missed last summer, so I'm excited to be back on the water," he said. "I've been through the program (as a student) and I know the struggles the club has had trying to find instructors, so I'm really happy that I'm able to coach. I'm proud to be taking on this role."

CanSail Levels 1 or 2 will be running weekly: July 10-14; July 17-21; July 24-28; and July 31 to August 4 from 9 am to 3:30 pm. Each week-long session is $250.

New this summer is Saturday CanSail 1 or 2 July 8, 15, 22, 29, August 5 and 12 from 9 am to 3:30 pm for $250.

"We are also doing adult sailing for teens or parents by request," said Bryce.

Early bird registration ended on June 19, but there is still a five percent discount for LCYC members or for those who register for two or more courses.

More information and the registration form can be found at www.lcyc.ca.

innovative fundraising platforms including Polar Plunges, Tip-A-Cops, NHL Alumni Games, Torch Rides and Endurance Series to name a few. Since its inception (1987 in Ontario), the Torch Run has "raised more than $35,000,000 and changed millions of attitudes."

Dayne Tipper's mother related how Special Olympics has impacted her son Dayne. "When he first started he had a challenge to run 50 metres," she said. "Now, 11 years later, he's running 1,500 metres and 800 metres in track, and now he is going that distance wearing snowshoes."

MSO community coordinator Janet Anning recalled the earlier iteration of the Special Olympics on Manitoulin, then noted how the latest organization began from humble beginnings as a bowling team to grow into an organization that competes in dozens of categories. She went on to point out that the opportunity for people to compete against their peers has had a dramatic impact on the athletes lives and encouraged them to stretch to their fullest potential. "You don't just get to go because you want to go," she said. "You have to work hard for the opportunity."

MSO athlete Matt Bedard recalled his experience getting into athletics. "When I saw Kelsey and my other friends competing, it looked like they were having a blast," he said. He went on to speak of how much he had learned through the process. "It's been great," he said. His success includes three gold medals at the nationals in Newfoundland. "Never give up," he said. "Keep doing what you do to be the best that you can be."

...Wiikwemkoong STEM kwe advise

...continued from page 1 still pumped from the experience when contacted by The Expositor noting that the experience was “pretty exciting.” Ms. Letander-Trudeau said that, when it comes to the STEM field subjects (science, technology, engineering and mathematics, she “really enjoys all of it.”

Her passion for STEM developed when she entered high school, said Ms. Letander-Trudeau. “We really didn’t have a lot of it in grade school, it wasn’t until I started high school that we really began to get into it,” she recalled.

The Wiikwemkoong team was one of only two from the North and the only one coming from a First Nation school. “The other teams were from places like Toronto and Windsor,” said Ms. Letander-Trudeau, which gave the team members an opportunity to network with students coming from urban schools. “They divided us up into teams for group activities,” she said. The groups worked on the issues facing women in the STEM fields and how to encourage more young women to enter those fields with the fastest growing opportunities in the 21st Century.

Ms. Letander-Trudeau was on a panel that included Minister Hunter and Bruce Witmaker of RBC Wealth Management along with two of the first alumni of the FIRST Robotics competitions.

“I never really saw myself as a leader,” said Ms. Letander-Trudeau, but that perception obviously wasn’t shared by others. Today, she finds herself taking on a role on the highest levels in the province. She now sits on the Girls in STEM executive council. “I will be giving them my ideas on how to get more girls involved.”

Wikwemikong High School’s FIRST Robotics team is a bit of an anomaly on the provincial stage, noted team mentor and Wikwemikong science teacher Chris Mara. “On other teams you might see one or two female students,” he explained. “On our team the female members have always been in leadership roles.”

Mr. Mara recounted one of the recent competitions that the FIRST Robotics team entered where an issue developed with their robot. “There was a team surrounding the robot working on it, determining what the issue was and finding a way to remedy it and they were all young women, working it out themselves. You just don’t see that happen with other teams. I think we represent something that is unique to the FIRST Robotics competition.”

The Wikwemikong High School FIRST Robotics team has always enjoyed a strong participation level from both male and female students.

Ms. Letander-Trudeau has some advice for those young women who may be looking to the STEM field. “Don’t give up on it,” she said. “You can do it. A lot of people might try to tell you that you can’t because you are a girl. Don’t buy into that thinking, because you will find out when you try that you are as good as anyone else if you put the work into it.”

Asked if there were any significant differences between the urban teams that the Wiikwemkoong contingent met at the Kingsbridge Centre and theirs, Ms. Letander-Trudeau noted the main difference comes down to access to sponsorships.

“We have to do a lot more fundraising,” she said. “There is a lot of travel that we have to do to just reach the competitions. Putting together a state-of-the-art robotic competitor also calls for a lot of support from business and corporate sponsors and finding those sponsors is a greater challenge in the North.

There may be challenges, but the Wikwemikong High School students, both male and female, have risen to meet them and prevailed. Those interested in sponsoring the team and its efforts are encouraged to contact Chris Mara at the Wikwemikong High School.

Rust-D'eye as an integrity commissioner.

Mr. Rust-D'eye invited any member of the council, staff or member of the public to ask questions. "I like answering questions," he said. "I like assisting people."

The lawyer went on to explain the general source of authority of municipal councils, which act as a creature of the province and are enacted through provincial legislation and remain under the care and control of provincial legislation.

"A municipality enacts its own bylaws," he said, which are in themselves a form of legislation, although not with the force of criminal penalty. "In the late 1990s, the province of Ontario adopted a new approach to municipal government." That new approach stressed accountability and transparency. "Municipalities are elected by the people and govern in the public interest."

As part of that new approach, legislation should be "clear to the people reading it," he said. "There was a tradition of bylaws being too complicated."

But the new legislation went even further, continued Mr. Rust-D'Eye. "Municipalities must not only act in the public interest, but also must appear to act in the public interest."

Mr. Rust-D'eye said that one of his principle roles as integrity commissioner is to receive complaints from the public. "I do not act for the municipality," he cautioned. "As an integrity commissioner I deal with councillors, not council as a whole."

One change in the way the role is now interpreted, he said, was that in the past all complaints had to be written out. That is not necessarily the case now. In fact, Mr. Rust D'eye can even act without any complaint at all being officially registered, guided by what he sees as a potential issue facing councillors. But not all complaints have to be major official investigations or inquiries.

"Very often I can deal with complaints by talking to the parties," he said. "But if someone wants to file a complaint, it must be in writing."

Once a complaint is filed, Mr. Rust-D'eye must then assess that complaint to determine if it is serious enough to warrant intervention. "Can it be solved quickly? Most of the time it can."

Mr. Rust-D'eye dealt with an aside at this point in his presentation. "I want to confirm right now that the Township of Tehkummah has an excellent clerk-treasurer," he said, referring to Karen Gerrard. "You are very fortunate." As the main record keeper of the municipality the clerk treasurer has a number of statutory obligations, he went on to note. "Ms. Gerrard has been of tremendous assistance."

As to the code of conduct presented at the meeting, Mr. Rust-D'Eye said that the document "must be something that the councillors can live with."

He went on to say that a lot of councils spend a lot of time "fiddling with details they don't need to." Mr. Rust-D'eye then indicated that he was going to go through the code of conduct in detail.

A question from the floor asked if the code of conduct "was going to control the councillors" and make them work in the public interest "instead of following their own agenda."

"It is desirable to work together," said Mr. Rust-D'eye, but he added the caveat "you can't force people to get along." He admitted that in the case of councillors acting poorly, "there is not a lot I can do." He noted that in some instances he had even witnessed council meetings degenerating into fistfights and violence. "People were looking to me saying 'can't you stop this?'" Mr. Rust-D'eye is a very senior lawyer, with a less than intimidating appearance or demeanor.

"If you don't work together, then the township won't exist," he said. "Any member of the public is free to make an address to council. Send a document in writing. I strongly urge, if you have a complaint, make it in writing."

Mr. Rust-D'eye went on to explain that "if the code of conduct is passed by council, it becomes law. It doesn't get dealt with in provincial court, it is dealt with on council."

In the case of a violation of the code, the integrity commissioner produces a report in the form of a public document. "That, to me, is the key," he said. "I am an independent officer, not beholden to any. I have in the past insulted councillors, that's tough."

Most of his work is done by telephone or email, he said. "I have seen a lot of bad press, it doesn't matter. How can I solve the problem in the most reasonable and appropriate manner? I am good at it. I am here to serve, just as council is here to serve."

The conversation moved on to the composition and procedures of the town's recent hiring committee. In response to an assertion by Councillor Laurie Leeson that the hiring committee had not been formed by the council, Mr. Rust-D'eye noted that the town already had a bylaw that governed the composition of the hiring committee, which clearly indicates that the clerk treasurer and town foreman sit on the committee. A fact he described as "wholly appropriate."

Councillor Bowerman then interjected that he was "fed up" with how the business of the municipality has been historically conducted. He made general allegations of nepotism and actions and decisions being made without the input from all of council.

"Decisions are supposed to be made at the council table, not in a coffee shop or a garage," he said. "Things have been purchased without motions, resolutions have been changed in order to get government funding." Councillor Bowerman did not give specific examples or evidence of his assertions. "I am tired of dodging the bullet," he said, alleging that he has been the target of harassment. "No

Ontario Art Association juried show, held each year at a different art club, where only 40 pieces are chosen. Ms. Cairns is also a regular contributor to the LaCloche Juried Art Show.

One of the most important features of Jan McQuay's pottery is that it is stoneware and she uses commercial glazes that are safe for dinnerware. Ms. McQuay works mainly on the potter's wheel, creating functional items like plates, mugs and a lot of bowls. Her photographs are all taken all across Manitoulin Island and she tries to capture the "best" of the Island in her landscapes so that "people will look at them and smile."

Linda Jack is also inspired by Manitoulin landscapes, and her work is infused with her love of nature and animals. She works in watercolour, oil and acrylics and her enjoyment of photography has provided her with a never-ending stream of subject matter.

Artist Marcie Breit's landscapes utilize acrylic media and she enjoys producing fairly large original paintings. She has been the proud recipient of several art awards for her work. A member the Manitoulin Fine Arts Association, the Sudbury Art Club, the Walden Art Club and the Creative Minds Art Association, her work has remained popular with patrons for several years.

As for erin-blythe reddie herself, you will find that by combining materials found on Manitoulin with her haiku poetry, her naturscapes will "invite you to pause and contemplate the ease and benefits of connecting with nature and your self." Her solo show at the Gore Bay Museum in 2015 brought this Providence Bay artist's works accolades and exposure to Island dwellers as well as those living internationally. Her wearable silk textile art and individually painted whimsical watercolour cards are also featured at the North Channel Gallery.

Donna Kanerva's original art is completed in pastel, pencil and oil. She is an award winner at several juried shows, including LaCloche Art Show. Her subject matter includes horses, other animals, landscapes and florals.

Gail Meehan grew up on Manitoulin Island and has returned here during the summer months for her retirement. She works primarily in oils and acrylics and is happiest when painting the landscapes and flowers she sees around her. Her paintings have won awards in local shows and are in collections in Florida, Saskatchewan, Nova Scotia and Ontario.

Paulette Soganich works in pencil, graphite, oil-based coloured pencil and ink. She creates local landscape paintings of old barns, churches and sheds and most of her inspiration comes from Manitoulin Island. It is her hope that "others can see my love of Manitoulin" in her art.

Lorraine Loranger a multi-media artist inspired by nature's birds, wildlife and scenic landscapes and strives to not only create impressionistic pieces but endeavours to replicate their distinctive characteristics

Judy Boyd is a self-taught artist who has been painting in watercolour and oils for over 25 years. In 2016 she showed at the Anchor Inn with Marcie Breit, Donna Kanerva and Sue Cairns on the MFAA Art Tour.

Manitoulin Brewing Company officially open

by Robin Burrige

LITTLE CURRENT—The Manitoulin Brewing Company (MBC) has officially opened the doors to its retail operations, tours and outdoor patio in Little Current at the former Manitoulin Chrysler building on Highway 6.

“We officially opened on Tuesday, June 13, but we got the building last year (July) and have been doing renovations and brought in the brewing equipment in April,” explained Blair Hagman, MBC partner. “We’ve been working hard on this for years now and to finally see the doors open so we can share what we’ve been up to—it’s been incredible.”

The opening of the brewery also unveils their outdoor beer service ‘The Silo’ which has a partnership with food truck operators Jason Heaton and Dezi Oliver of The Trough.

“We know we wanted an experience for our customers,” said fellow MBC partner Joet Dhatt. “This patio, the combination of beer and food from The Trough and Silo will certainly offer something unique on the Island this summer. We are very excited.”

Beyond the beer patio and food service, the fully operational brewery offers full retail and beer to go in can and growler jug format.

The Manitoulin Brewing Company is now officially open in Little Current on Highway 6. Visitors can enjoy a meal from The Trough and a fresh brew from The Silo on the patio. Brewery tours will start in July.

Manitoulin Brewing Company partners Blair Hagman, Joet Dhatt and Nishin Meawasige.

The patio of the Manitoulin Brewery is busy as The Silo serves up fresh brews and The Trough, hot eats.

matter how transparent I try to be, it is not good enough." Mr. Bowerman said that he hoped that the code of conduct would help deal with those issues.

But in a later exchange in response to a challenge by Councillor Leeson, he asserted "this council doesn't want a code of conduct, they want one that shuts me up."

The conversation continued to revolve around the hiring policy and the role of the clerk treasurer in that process.

"Does she get a vote?" asked one member of the public, referencing Ms. Gerrard and her role on the hiring committee.

"Basically the answer is yes," replied Mr. Rust-D'eye. "Unless council says otherwise, quorum is the majority of the committee."

Conversation then moved on to the actions taken in the course of the last hiring committee sessions, with Councillor Bowerman repeating his allegations that he had been asked if he had voted twice by the reeve.

"I didn't do that," responded Reeve Russell. To which Councillor Bowerman

Petra Wall, the creator of the popular Expositor series 'Now and Then' prefers to work in watercolours, but has also dabbled in pen and ink and pencil sketches. In 1995 she added simple-form rock carving and photography to her repertoire. Ms. Wall has historically been drawn to the human form and has always enjoyed the spontaneity and the subtle nature of watercolours the most. Her formal training was gained through courses at the University of Edmonton and the University of Windsor as well as Sir Sandford Fleming College in Haliburton and Cambrian College. The artist participates in several Manitoulin Island shows each year. She will be including her photographs at the North Channel Gallery.

...Tehkummah appoints integrity commissioner, adopts code of conduct

replied "yes you did."

The lawyer then interjected to point out that any gathering by members of council, whether by phone, sequentially or all at once, "even if a meeting is not called or advertised, is a meeting. If it is a series of phone calls, emails, if it discusses town business, it is a meeting."

Mr. Rust-D'eye then dropped a bit of a bombshell. "That is an illegal meeting."

But unless the matter were to end up in court, there is also little recourse to dealing with the issue.

The question then becomes a matter of public exposure of the practices. "When the public gets wind of it, especially if it is just before an election..."

Enforcement otherwise is very problematic. "You can't listen to every phone call," he said. Following further discussion, Mr. Rust-D'eye reiterated that "primarily it is the press" and the exposure they provide that calls councils to account.

There are some sanctions available to council as a whole to rein in maverick councillors, including docking of pay and removal from committees.

Several audience members interjected to demand that council get on with the business of governing the township and asked if there was a way to force council's hand on issues. "You can't force councillors to vote," said the integrity commissioner.

The June 13 meeting of Tehkummah council saw a full house of agitated ratepayers armed with plenty of questions for the integrity commissioner.

One audience member noted that a media report on a council meeting "contradicts what they said here. Is this false news or what? All we want is for council to do their job."

Councillor Bowerman continued to reference decisions that were made without the input of council.

Discussion then turned back to the hiring process.

Councillor Laird Lee noted that the council has had a great deal of policy and procedure issues from multiple years dropped on them all at once. "If there is no clear policy or procedure, everybody goes by the way it has always been done," he said. He went on to note that in the volatile atmosphere that has developed at the council table "you judge the motion," looking for the ulterior motive or where it is coming from rather than its intent. He went on to say that he values everyone at the council table.

For his part Councillor Lee relayed an error he had made in attempting to do his job as councillor when he requested private information that he was not entitled to as a councillor. "Hats off to you," he said, referring to the clerk treasurer. "I got smacked."

The audience members again challenged the councillors to do their job. One audience member asked why there was a high turnover among employees. "Why have we gone through three road superintendents in eight years? One only lasted three weeks."

At this point an audience member asked why he was taken off the agenda. "You know why you were taken off," replied Reeve Russell. "That's between him and me."

The complainant, Jim Fawcett, then made a formal written complaint to the integrity commissioner, supplying the press with a copy of the email communication between himself and the reeve.

"Karen regretfully informed me that I will not be on the agenda for the meeting," reads the first line, followed by the query "can you inform me by correspondence why you don't feel my concerns are valid to the ratepayers of Tehkummah?"

The reeve's reply, also by email, read "Why would you think I would consider adding you to the agenda after that letter you wrote to the Expositor? If you were to issue a formal written apology I might consider your request in the future. Until then, just know that I don't tell lies and I don't play games." The reply was signed simply 'Eric.'

The meeting continued with some further injections, but in the end council voted to pass the code of conduct by a recorded vote of four to one. The sole dissenting vote was cast by Councillor Leeson.

A correspondence item in the package that was not addressed at the meeting was a response from the Minister of Municipal Affairs (MMA) to a petition from the ratepayers indicating that the minister would not order a provincial-municipal audit of the financial affairs of the township, but that the clerk treasurer had been contacted by the office of the MMA Advisor and that the ministry would be sending "at least three people (legal advisor, policy advisor and financial advisor) to spend at least a week at the municipal office. Once the review is completed, the staff will report back to the minister and the report will be available to council and the public."

spirituality

The same soil where good fruits and vegetables grow will grow weeds, thorns and thistles. If the weeds, thorns and thistles are not removed they will hamper the producing of the desired fruits and vegetables. This is true of the garden of a mind too; the same mind that can expound on important biblical truth can expound heresy. A person can believe sound doctrine and also false doctrine at the same time. There is not one subject the NT spends more space on than on warning against believing false doctrines. Believing false doctrine is a sin that will keep the person believing them out of the Kingdom of God, GAL. 5:19-21. Like all other sins this sin puts a person into bondage of Satan, see JOHN 8:31-44, PROV. 5:22. All sin is also an act of unbelief and this blinds the mind, 2 COR. 4:4 and it confuses the mind, DEUT 28: 28. A person may be sincere, intelligent, well educated and know the Bible (like the Pope and Billy Graham and many other Christian theologians). But when he rejects a biblical teaching he accepts a false doctrine and he will be spiritually blind and mentally confused, especially on the doctrine he rejects, and is partly in bondage to Satan (evil spirits). PS. 111:10 says "A good understanding have all those who obey God's commandments." DEUT 4:6 says, "Obey these (10) commandments for that will be your understanding." When only one of God's commandments is disobeyed, understanding goes out the door and confusion takes its place. The word Babylon means confusion. Everyone who sins or believes a false doctrine accepts a lie of Satan and is automatically taken captive by Satan into mystery Babylon. All people who believe a false doctrine, a lie of Satan (reject biblical truth), are taken captive by Satan to do Satan's will, 2 TIM 2:26. (Doing Satan's will includes teaching this same false doctrine to others.) The only way to get out of this trap of Satan is by listening to the instruction of opponents, 2 TIM 2:25. In other words, "Conflict on doctrine is God's way to guide you into truth and so deliver you from the bondage that is created by believing Satan's lies," JOHN 8:31-44. The basic problem is that most people consider all conflict wrong and the moment a person tells them that one of their beliefs is wrong Satan closes their ears, and they don't hear the truth and they stay in bondage. JER 50:33 says: "All who took them captive (that is Satan who is the King of Babylon IS. 14) held them fast, they refused to let them go." But the next verse says, "Their Redeemer is strong Yahweh Sabaoth (who marks his people with the Sabbath) is his name. In most translations "Yahweh Saba-oth" In JER 40:33 is translated as "the lord of host." I believe Sabaoth is a contraction of two Hebrew words strong 6635 Tsaba and strong 226 that means a sign or a mark. In EX. 31-13+17 and EZ. 20:12+20 it is explained that the sanctifying of the Sabbath is a sign (mark) that a person truly belongs to God. In other words the sanctifying of the Sabbath is the main mark or sign that identifies a person as a true Christian. The basic sin why Israel went into Babylon captivity is that they polluted (did not sanctify) God's Sabbath (Friday sunset till Saturday sunset) see LEV. 26:34+35, 2 CHRON 36:20+21, EZ.20, NEH. 13:15-20. And the basic sin why most Christians are held captive in mystery Babylon (are confused) is the same they do not sanctify God's Sabbaths. Let no one deceive you, Sunday is not God's Sabbath. God's Sabbath is the 7th day of the week, Sunday or the day of resurrection is the day after the Sabbath, LUKE 23:56, 24:1, MARK 16:1+2, MAT. 8:1. The day of resurrection is the day of first fruits, 1 COR. 15:20 and the day of first fruits is instituted as an annual event together with the Sabbath, LEV. 23:3+11 the resurrection of Jesus on the morning after the Sabbath does not change anything about God's commandment to sanctify the seventh day as the Sabbath. It is Satan who is behind this lie, this suggestion that Sunday is now God's Sabbath and the Saints who believe that Sunday is God's Sabbath are in bondage, DAN 7:25. And the only way for Sunday "Christians" to come out of mystery Babylon is by a) confessing that they are sinning by not sanctifying God's Sabbath and by b) repenting. That means they dedicate themselves to sanctify God's Sabbath from Friday sunset till Saturday sunset. And as long as a person has not taken these two steps he will stay spiritually blind and confused and under Satan's control and that is thus says the Lord. Hank Reckman, Prophet of Manitoulin, Search for Truth Biblical Ministries, Box 210, M'Chigeeng, Ontario P0P 1G0

Death Notices

JOHN "JOCK" PATTEN FLEMING

John Patten Fleming, known as Jock, was born on July 21, 1920. He passed away peacefully on June 14, 2017 in his 97th year. Jock was born and raised in Toronto, the second child of Bob Fleming, a Scottish engineer, and Bess Patten Fleming from Little Current, Manitoulin Island. He completed high school at Upper Canada College, finishing in 1938. WWII interrupted his university career, and at the end of third year engineering, he was transferred to northern England with the Perth Regiment in the Canadian Armed Forces. As a lieutenant, he taught soldiers how to build Bailey Bridges. On June 11, 1944 his younger brother Bobby was killed in action in Normandy, France. As a result, Jock joined the front line as part of the Italian campaign. In charge of a platoon, he fought his way from southern Italy north through Europe at night, one farmhouse at a time. Nine months after the war ended in Europe, Jock arrived back home to Toronto where he completed his engineering degree and courted a lovely University of Toronto graduate Zoe Christie. Zoe had also been part of the armed forces and had been stationed in Vancouver during the war as a scientist. Jock and Zoe were married on June 25, 1949 and proceeded to have four children, Zoe (Chip), Nancy, Ann and Rob. They raised their family with one outdoor adventure after another. Weekends and holidays were filled with hiking, canoe tripping, sailing, skiing both downhill and cross country, and camping in any weather. Professionally, Jock started his work life with Canadian General Electric, but moved on to become the estimator, director and president of Cloke Construction Company in Toronto. In 1970 he was president of the Toronto Construction Association. At the age of 50, he preferred to leave management and be his own tradesman to renovate various old homes in Toronto. Retirement with Zoe was filled with trips, maintaining a cottage in northern Georgian Bay without the aid of electricity, and welcoming home their family. He will be missed by his sons-in-law Burnley and Cliff as well as his daughter-in-law, Michelle, with whom he shared a love of art. He also enjoyed his 10 grandchildren Matthew (Chrissi), Jessica (Abdoul), Eric, Sarah, Heather (Saro), Ben, Michelle (Rick), Tessa (Daniel), Emma, and Michael as well as his five great-grandchildren Ian, Greyson, Amina, Djibril, and Sloane. Jock moved to Owen Sound in 2003 and lived in Hanna Walker Place ever since. He will be sorely missed for all the fun he created there. A heartfelt thank you to his Hanna Walker family for loving and caring for Jock for almost 14 years. Friends will be received on Thursday, June 22, 2017 at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, 865 2nd Avenue West, Owen Sound, from 1 pm until the time of the funeral service at 2 pm. Donations in memory of Jock in lieu of flowers may be made to the "Jock Fleming Staff Education Fund" at Hannah Walker Place, Wounded Warriors Canada, or the Bruce Trail Conservancy. Arrangements have been entrusted to the Breckenridge-Ashcroft Funeral Home, 241 9th Street West, Owen Sound, 519-376-2326, with memorial online at www.breckenridgeashcroft.com.

...Manitoulin Brewing Company officially open

...continued from page 15 up to—now to actually bring people into our location and show them who we are as a company has been very satisfying,” enthused MBC partner Nishin Meawasige.

The Silo is a unique feature of the brewery.

“We wanted to create a unique environment,” said Mr. Hagman of the outdoor patio. “Nishin had the idea for The Silo—he saw the idea in a photo for a bar. We tried to find one, but didn’t hear from anyone. One day I was driving to work along Highway 6 and saw a silo at a farm just outside of Little Current and I stopped and spoke to the owner about buying it and what we wanted to do. He agreed to sell it. In the spring we started to dismantle it at the farm to get it here, which was a bit of a challenge. Our carpenter Bud Spry did amazing work converting it into a brew house.”

On tap is Manitoulin Brewing Company’s Swing Bridge Blonde Ale, the Bridal Veil Pale Ale that was released earlier this year and MBC’s newest brew, Cup and Saucer English Ale. This month on tap will also be Duxbury Cider. “We will be rotating a guest brew on tap—featuring a brew from an Ontario brewery,” said Mr. Hagman.

“For the Cup and Saucer English Ale we focused on using maris otter malt,” explained Mr. Hagman. “It gives it a nice, light finish. The name fits with our marketing and branding theme of highlighting different landmarks on Manitoulin. It also works as ‘cup and saucer’ is associated with England.”

The Cup and Saucer English Ale is only available at the Little Current location and Mr. Hagman said there will be more brews launched exclusively onsite throughout the summer.

The Trough and Silo will have a 54 person occupancy with Manitoulin’s OneKwe building custom tables. Other local companies that were part of the new brewery were Corbiere Construction, which did the landscaping, O. Bond and Son Plumbing and D and H Electric.

Since Mr. Hagman and Mr. Meawasige started MBC in their garage five years ago, the company has grown to include a new partner (Joet Dhatt) and created seven new jobs. MBC brews can be found in 59 restaurants and licenced establishments across Ontario and Bridal Veil Pale Ale can be found at over 60 LCBO stores across the province, while the Swing Bridge Blonde Ale can be found at over 200 stores.

Large fermenting tanks hold 4,00 litres each, giving the brewery the ability to brew 220,000 litres of beer per month.

Brewery tours will be held Sundays in July, giving visitors an inside look at the brewery operation from production, fermentation, carbonation, canning through to The Silo for a drink on the patio.

The MBC, including The Silo, is open Sundays to Tuesdays from 11 am to 7 pm and Wednesdays from 11 am to 9:30 pm.

Drawing boxes encourage creative outdoor activity on Manitoulin Trails

KAGAWONG—In early June, the first annual Ontario Trails week was celebrated across the province. 4elements Living Arts has come up with another fun and creative way to get people out on local trails on Manitoulin. “Drawing Boxes” that are also geo-caches have been installed on trails across Manitoulin Island.

Heather Thoma, coordinator of 4elements’ Outside the Box program, says that getting people off the beaten track, and providing an interesting way to attract people to trails who might not otherwise venture out, is what stimulated the idea for the project.

These beautiful wooden Drawing Boxes are the brainchild of 4e, and are handcrafted by Manitoulin Crate Company. They are filled with 4e trail maps, paper, pens, stretching tips by yoga instructor Lise Baronet, and trail info. The invitation at these geo-cached spots encourages hikers and paddlers finding the box to make a simple drawing along the trail, and then choose a drawing in the box, made by someone else.

“We enthusiastically encourage people to find new places to walk, or paddle, to see new corners of the Island, and learn more about the ecosystems that are here,” Ms. Thoma says. “The learning starts with getting out there, and paying attention to what can be found along the trails and waterways. Stopping and looking and making a drawing is an awesome way to see the landscape more fully and notice new things!”

For those that prefer a guided walk rather than solo visits to the Drawing Boxes, 4elements is offering another series of its excellent creative walks and paddles through the spring, summer and fall.

Mira Jones, 4elements education development facilitator, will be facilitating some of the guided outings, and she has also spearheaded getting the boxes up on the geocaching.com website and highlighted through Instagram.

“People travel far and wide to come to Manitoulin, and many people who travel use geocaching as a way to explore new places,” she adds. “You will see at geocaching.com that it’s both locals and visitors who come to the caches on the Island.”

A contest has now been launched, to invite people to send photos of themselves at all of the Drawing Boxes and be eligible for a small 4e gift. More about the contest can be found at the Facebook Page for the OTB program: Outside the Box-4elements.

Drawing Boxes can be found from Northeastern Manitoulin to Assiginack, from Silver Water to the south shore, with a few more still to be added. The Drawing Boxes are located on gentle trails, approximately 1-2 kilometres into the trail, so at a reasonable distance which is accessible to many ages and abilities, offering great opportunities for families, school classes, just about anyone, to venture out and engage at the Box. One box is even water access only, so you can dust off your canoe or fishing boat and join in that way too.

You don’t need a GPS or electronic device to find the boxes. Locations of the trailheads (or boat launch sites) for all of the boxes, are listed on the OTB webpage: www.4elementslivingarts.org/programs/outside-the-box/.

The Outside the Box project received support from The Ontario Ministry of Tourism Culture and Sport, and also from many local organizations and businesses, and local landowners and trail organizations are hosting the boxes. Manitoulin Nordic Ski Club, Ravenswing Gardens, Manitoulin Physio, Escarpment Biosphere Conservancy, and the Island Jar, are current sponsors. If you or your business would like to sponsor a box or the educational outings that will take place on the trails, there are still opportunities available.

Contact heather@4elementslivingarts.org or call the 4elements office in Kagawong for more information. See you on the trails!

The Agricultural Youth Green Jobs Initiative is back

The great success of the Agricultural Youth Green Jobs Initiative, launched in 2016, has led to its renewal this year with an additional $5.2 million available over the next two years. The program gives farms or farm groups access to funding so they can hire Canadian youth to complete environmental projects. The initiative is part of the Government of Canada’s Youth Employment Strategy to help young people gain the skills, work experience and abilities they need to succeed in the labour market. It helps farmers, non-profits and other organizations in the agricultural sector create jobs for Canadians who are 30 years or younger and want to work in agriculture. In the program’s first year, 45 green farm jobs and 102 green internships were created across the country. Projects included composting, permaculture, land preparation for certified organic production, and the construction of a root cellar for alternative storage for a family operation. Agricultural companies, conservation area organizations and associations completed more than 100 green internships. Some of these involved sustainable crop analysis, environmental instrumentation and monitoring, and projects to support consumer education for local food baskets. If you are looking to make environmental improvements to your farm, or if your organization provides environmental benefits to the agriculture sector, you may be eligible to apply. There are two streams: The Green Farms stream offers farmers funding for up to 50 percent of the cost of hiring young interns, to a maximum of $10,000 per worker. The Green Internships stream offers organizations up to 50 percent of the cost of hiring young workers (up to $16,000 per intern) for environmental activities, services or research that will benefit the agriculture sector. Non-profits with five or fewer employees may be eligible for funding of up to 80 percent. For both streams, projects must be no longer than 12 months in length and interns must be between the ages of 15 and 30 inclusive. The internship stream requires that the interns be post-secondary graduates. Applications are being accepted now, and will be approved on a first-come, first-served basis until all funds have been allocated. For more information, call 1-866-452-5558.

The Wikwemikong Board of Education

M'Chigeeng Board of Education

Country Fest donation

Council reviewed a list of requests that were made by the organizers of Manitoulin Country Fest through a deputation last month.

Council carried a motion to approve the majority of requests, excluding the donation request of tables, chairs and NIM bins.

Sudbury Hyundai

Council reviewed a request from Sudbury Hyundai to leave their oversized billboard sign on the Highway 6 lot in Little Current.

Northeast Town Council Notes

Councillor Michael Erskine asked if the sign interfered with sight lines.

Mr. Williamson responded that the manager of public works was present when the sign was placed temporarily for the Trade Fair and that it did not interfere with driving sight lines.

Councillor Paul Skippen noted that it was nice to see the lot's lawn is cut and that maybe in the future a building might go up.

Councillor Melissa Peters said, "I do not believe that that sign belongs in an urban area and it is not in support of Island business."

Councillor Erksine commented that it is zoned commercial and questioned if now that the sign and sale of cars on the lot is permanent, if the taxes would change as it has gone from commercial vacant to commercial.

Mr. Williamson responded that since the lot was now being used as commercial it would indeed increase the tax burden.

Councillor Marcel Gauthier stated, "What about the local guys (car dealers)?"

In a recorded vote, Councillors Laurie Cook, Marcel Gauthier and Melissa Peters voted against the motion. Councillors Michael Erskine, Bill Koehler, Dawn Orr, Paul Skippen, Bruce Wood and Mayor MacNevin voted in favour of the motion. The motion was carried.

Tenders

Council carried a motion to accept a tender from Calvin Pearson for $7,920.37 including HST for HL3 (gravel). Council also carried a motion to accept a tender from Pioneer Construction for $160,460 including HST to pave one kilometre of Townline Road.

Financial statements

Town Treasurer Sheryl Wilkin reviewed the accounts receivable with council.

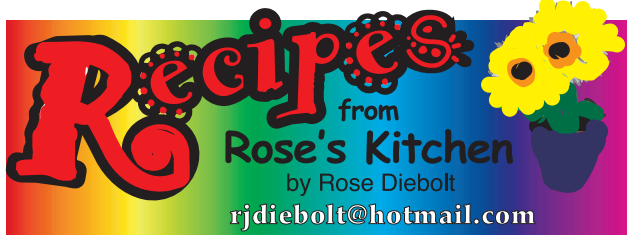

For water/sewer, Ms.

Wilkin reported that there had been $45,568.55 made in payments in May.

"Currently there are 13 accounts over the $400 limit," she said. "Arrangements have been made with six account holders, two were over the limit due to penalty applied, one has been disconnected and four account holders will receive disconnection notices."

For taxes, Ms. Wilkin said that there were $284,011.46 in payments made in May.

Ontario strawberries are here and what a treat. You can't compare them with the ones that come from half way around the world. Even better yet are the ones from your very own garden. I don't have any planted but they are on my list for next spring. My 91-year-old mother planted some last year and she was so excited about "the plants being loaded with flowers and you should see all the berries that will be ripening." I called her the other day to see how the garden was growing and she tells me how she was sitting on her deck and watched a mother racoon with three little ones walk down the driveway and how cute they were. The phone call the next day was in a totally different tone—"they ate every single red and green strawberry, there is nothing left for me to eat," she said. "Well, Mom, you can go and support your local farmers' market, they will love to see you."

Summer Berry Salad

My lettuce is growing like crazy and John is complaining that instead of his cauliflower ears he is getting lettuce ears! Who doesn't love fresh-from-the-garden salad, and this time of year when you can add fresh fruit, it makes it extra yummy. Instead of the almonds and Brazil nuts I used pumpkin seeds and sunflower seeds. I also switched the raspberries for the dressing to strawberries. The best way to make this salad is to arrange the lettuce on individual plates or one large plate, then top with the rest of the ingredients.

NUT CRUMBLE:

1/2 cup almonds
1/2 cup Brazil nuts
1/2 tsp cinnamon
24 mint leaves
4 Tbsp hemp hearts

RASPBERRY DRESSING:

1 cup raspberries
20 mint leaves
2 Tbsp minced shallots
1/2 cup olive oil or sunflower seed oil
Juice of 1 large lemon
2 Tbsp maple syrup or honey
1 tsp Sea salt
Freshly ground pepper

BERRY SALAD:

4 cups mixed lettuce
1 cup fresh strawberries washed and sliced
1 avocado, sliced or diced

1. For the dressing combine all ingredients in a blender and process until smooth and creamy. The dressing will keep up to 4 days in the fridge.

2. Arrange the lettuce on a large plate, and then top with the berries and avocado. Drizzle with the dressing, and sprinkle with the nut crumble. Serves 2.

Strawberry Cardamom Cobbler

This is a quick dessert and to make it a bit healthier switch the flour to Loon Song spelt and the butter to coconut oil. It will make the cobbler a bit denser. The apples are added to give the cobbler some body and absorb some of the juices.

2 cups fresh strawberries, sliced in half
2 cups apple peeled and diced
1/2 cup sugar
2 Tbsp all-purpose flour
1 tsp cardamom
1/4 tsp cinnamon
2 cups all-purpose flour
3 Tbsp cornmeal
2/3 cup sugar
2 tsp baking powder
2/3 cup butter, cut into pieces and chilled
2/3 cup milk
1 tsp lemon zest
1 tsp vanilla extract

1. Preheat oven to 325°F.
2. Toss the fruit with 1/2 cup sugar, 2 Tbsp flour, cardamom and cinnamon and spoon into a baking dish.
3. In a mixing bowl combine the 2 cups flour, cornmeal, 2/3 cup sugar, and baking powder. Cut the butter until it's an even crumbly texture. Blend milk, lemon zest and vanilla and add to pastry, mixing until pastry just comes together. Spoon dough onto fruit, leaving a little space between spoonfuls to allow for expansion as cobbler bakes.

4. Bake for 35-45 minutes.
5. Serve with whipping cream or ice cream.

EDITOR'S NOTE: In her column Beyond Rx, Andrea Wong, a 4th year Doctor of Pharmacy (PharmD) candidate from the University of Waterloo, and a very new member to the Manitoulin community, will be exploring topics on health and wellness, medical advances, and everything in between in the pages of this newspaper which are used to treat infections.

Infections are interesting in that not every infection requires an antibiotic. Antibiotics are only useful in bacterial and not viral infections. A lot of the common infections such as the common cold, flu, sore throats, sinus infections, ear infections, and coughs are caused by viruses. These conditions may be annoying and may take a while to go away, however they will eventually go away on their own. Using antibiotics in these conditions will not help relieve your symptoms and may actually put you at risk of problems such as nausea, vomiting, and diarrhea. Antibiotics also kills off your good gut flora so that you are more at risk of getting a potentially deadly bowel infection called Clostridium difficile.

A problem with using antibiotics in everyone with an infection "just in case it is bacterial" is that it puts you at develop drug resistant bugs so if you were to get another infection, you may need a different antibiotic that may not work as well to treat it. These resistant bugs can spread to people are already vulnerable. It is our young kids, our elderly parents, and our friends, family, and neighbours that have multiple illnesses and are the sickest. The combination of the increase in medication resistance and the limited number of antibiotics we have require us to be more careful with how we use them.

Antibiotics are used to kill the bacteria to treat the underlying infection. It should not be used for pain. It should not be used to help with just a fever. It should not be taken on an "as needed" basis. Your antibiotic is prescribed for a set number of days to ensure that it will kill off the bacteria causing the infection. It is crucial to finish the whole course of treatment or else there is a chance the infection will come back and will be resistant to the same drug and you will need to start from scratch with another

So a couple weeks ago I came down with a really bad sore throat. After a week of a painful scratchy throat, sleepless nights and intense nausea, I decided that enough is enough and I was fed up with being sick. I was pretty convinced that this was strep throat and wanted antibiotics. However, a little voice in my head decided to pipe up. Was it really as bad as my last episode of strep throat or was I just grasping at anything that had the possibility of getting rid of this really annoying problem?

As a pharmacist, 99.9 percent of my job is making sure medications are being used appropriately (the last 0.1 percent is spent on hold trying to deal with drug insurance companies...). One of the most important medications I need to make sure are used appropriately are antibiotics, MSS Mustangs are looking forward to next year as they bring this school year to a close. On Wednesday, June 14, the SHARE/Go Green committee had an end of year potluck to celebrate their success and say goodbye to two of their long-time advisors, Madame Desbiens and Ms. Wilson. Over a meal of lasagna, nachos, veggies, pasta salad and more. The group is looking forward to We Day 2017 in Toronto on September 28 and continuing to change the world in 2017-2018. Students who want to attend We Day have to help with one global and one local action that have a positive impact.

Students' Council Executive elections took place on Monday, June 19. The top position of Co-Prime Ministers was contested by Jacob Maxwell, Josh Noble and April Torkopoulos. The contenders presented 3-5 minute speeches to the student body. Other students were campaigning for the positions of Audio-Visual Technician, Fundraising Rep., Junior Rep., Secretary, Spirit Rep., Special Events Coordinator, Public Relations and Treasurer. Those running for the above positions presented 1-3 minute speeches about why they are the best candidate for the job. The voting took place at lunch on Monday.

Marshall Maciuk and myself were selected by the Rainbow District School Board Student Senate to represent MSS in the board-wide group. The Student Senate is a group of student leaders that are voted in by the previous year's senate and represent their respective schools. The Student Senate helps the student trustee on the advisory committees of the School Board to improve schools and programs. Marshall and I will be taking over from this year's MSS senators Bryce Mastelko and Savanna Webb.

Many students have spent time with the guidance counsellors sorting out their courses for next year. Students are also working hard on completing their culminating projects before exams, which run from Friday, June 23 until June 28.

As the school year winds down, there are many ideas and plans in the works to make the next school year memorable. 'Til next time, stay golden, Mustangs.

Providence Bay News and Notes

Cheryl Sheppard had visitors over for a rib BBQ on June 10. Overnight visitors were Merwyn and Sandra Sheppard of Rockville and Dorothy Cronk of Tehkummah. They enjoyed many other visits from local friends and others that were attending the Bluegrass in the Country Music Festival that was held that weekend.

The Huron Island Time ice cream shop in the Harbour Centre has opened its doors to patrons on weekends, and will soon be open full time hours. We look forward to the outdoor concerts that they host and to the delicious treats that are available for sale along with their Farquhar's ice cream.

We're so happy to see the new furbaby addition to the Morgan family. Sandy and Mike Morgan welcome Harvey to the community. You may see them out on their walks.

A big thank you goes out to Fire Chief John Reid for filling the water barrels out by the "Welcome to Providence Bay" sign and planters on the Government Road. So, when you're out and about, stop and check the soil and if necessary, please water our thirsty friends.

We're also very thankful to Mike Meeker for donating his Meeker's Magic Mix for our Providence Bay community gardens.

June 21 is the official first day of summer. Also known as the summer solstice and is the day that has the longest hours of daylight. It's also a day to recognize our First Nation neighbours and their unique culture as we celebrate National Aboriginal Day.

Happy Birthday wishes go out to Ingrid Blay's husband who celebrates on June 22. If you see him out and about, make sure to wish him a great day, and let him know that you heard it here first. We also wish a happy birthday to council member Derek Stephens who celebrates on June 26.

Former resident John Payette also celebrates his birthday on June 27.

The monthly Seniors Twilight Club Euchre Tournament will be held on Tuesday, June 27. They will continue to hold the monthly tournaments on the last Tuesday of each month for July and August. The other weekly euchre games held every Tuesday will be on hiatus for two months. The Rockville Hall social committee has graciously invited all patrons to attend their weekly euchre socials each Tuesday over the summer.

We have a very festive day planned for Canada Day celebrations. It all begins on the beach with the Discovery Centre hosting sand sculpture/castle building competitions, a balloon toss, scavenger hunt and many other fun activities.

The township once again will be serving free Canada Day cake and lemonade in the Centennial Hall.

The Providence Bay/Spring Bay Lions Club will be hosting their annual yard sale (they're still looking for any donations) and will also be having a BBQ selling hot dogs, October fest sausages and beverages.

The local band "The Islanders" will be holding their outdoor concert on the bandstand at the Harbour Centre.

It's our 150th anniversary so let's show our civic pride and start decorating our homes and yards. Who knows, you may even win a prize.

The grand opening of our Village Square will also be held on July 1 from 2 to 3 pm. They'll announce the families of the six dedicated memorial trees, celebrate the inaugural installation at the kid's community art corner and recognize the contribution of over 30 volunteers and donors. You'll also get to meet the winning artist of the Great Lakes sculpture competition.

Due to the exceptional fundraising efforts of the Providence Bay and Spring Bay Lions Club they have given an additional contribution towards this year's Providence Bay fireworks display. We're sure to have a truly memorable and spectacular finish to the show this year. Thank you to the Lions for all your support in the community.

So come on down for a beach social and enjoy all the Canada Day festivities.

If you would like to make a submission to the Providence Bay News and Notes, please ensure that you do so by each Sunday at 3 pm. This will be for the column published the following Wednesday. You can email prov_chick@hotmail.com or you can call Cheryl at 705-377-7511. We appreciate any and all information received. There is so much going on in our village that we'd love to let everyone know.

antibiotic. If you are using your antibiotics properly, you should not have any leftover pills after your treatment. Leftover liquid antibiotics should also be brought back to the pharmacy for proper disposal.

The throat swab I did came back negative for bacteria and my throat started getting better a day or two afterwards. Thankfully, I had ended up not taking any of the antibiotics and this whole incident was a good reminder for me to practice what I preach. I am glad my cold is over and the whole antibiotics issue can be postponed to the next time I get sick again.

Tehkummah Talk and Times

Walked through Joan's garden with her on Monday and we had a little visit and a cup of tea with a piece of Bordie's birthday cake (from Wednesday). Tuesday morning got a phone call from Pat Falter; she's back at her campground home!

Boy my bones are spasming today. The weather sure gets me, I had a long sea salt soak too.

I have a money plant as tall as I am in the back yard this spring. The lilacs are lovely, the tulips were gorgeous and were exceptional. Mary O'Neil has a spring garden.

Bob and Valerie Brill are at their Windfall Lake home (got their garden in too). Somewhere under the rainbow, double actually, at break time at bingo everyone (almost) was out on the step admiring. Dorothy got one (and Lori the other) I think Dorothy had the "Pot." Linda McGillis celebrated a birthday this past week. I saw her in the store but she never mentioned it. A little bird told me!

Last week was busy, this week busier. I wasn't going to write more columns as it seemed a comedy of errors last edition but I'm a beggar for punishment, so here I am again.

I forgot to mention last week that I had been to Garden Shed with Pat Falter for breakfast on Thursday the 9th, a nice visit too.

This week went with Cal for breakky, and Mum for lunch, different days. Every day there were big doins, it seems. Tuesday, to the laundromat, Grill and Chill for supper after.

Tonight we went to Barney's. I guess he just opened, first of July daily he says. Food was good! A couple, three actually, games of cards, I came home thrice defeated. Mum skunked Susan; a 24 hand did the trick. I could hear the yelling outside!

Hey, I saw a King Fisher at the Blue Jay and the pink lady slippers are in bloom, short stems this year!

John took Helen and Susan over to Sudbury on Wednesday for their eye checkups! They are doing fine. Well, do you recall my concern about the butterflies? Well, four floating around today. They are on the Manitoba lilac (now in bloom).

Twelve tables for euchre tournament on Thursday evening, Lorna and Rita on lunch duty: Brad and Bill, 80; Pat and Blaine, 77; Don and Dennis, 76; Tied with 75, Pauline and Wayne and Donna and Eila, lone hands won on the cut; Pat and Blaine, 6; with Donna and Eila, Brad and Bill, Sharlene and Janice, Wayne and Pauline; low, Sandra and Anne, 45; door prize, Bill Case.

Thursday afternoon in Mindemoya I met with June and Lynda at the little coffee shop (good coffee too) for a mini meeting concerning our church, and of course the church anniversary "120" and visit?

Isn't it funny how you don't see someone for ages and then twice in two days? Donna DenEnglesman at eating establishments, of course. For that is where I see everyone to visit! Saturday evening at Island Fish and Chips too, we shared a table space with Heather and Evan. He works in Sudbury, nice to visit.

Saturday was a very upsetting day and sad for our newly met Amish folk when an accident happened on Fossil Hill. Found Ken Albrecht in the hospital and two beautiful horses killed. There were lots of kind folk directing traffic. I only saw the totally destroyed wagon and one horse lying dead on the side of the hill. I cried all the way to Manitowaning, not knowing till later in the day of the who, or the extent of the injured. I had to play cards with Mum later to get it out of my mind. She beat me three straight too. I did not sleep that well last night (I've just gotten back to sleeping well again.) Cal and I drove down Lakeshore then the long walk to Rogers Crick (Creek). Cole and Alicia followed us! Somebody's keeping the grass cut there. Lots of goose fertilizer. We went on to Sherry and Dave's, her gardens are blooming beautifully right now. Dave has been too busy. He went and bought a clothes line "hole" this week.

We had a couple of games of cribbage. Tara and I as partners, Dave finished for her, but the opposition won this time!

Friday I went to Barney's and paid Lynette for my flowerpots. Then went to South Baymouth in the pouring rain. Waited for the 8:00 ferry. Ha! It's on the new schedule, it must mean summer is here! My tomato plant from my window was so long I've got 5 tomato cages over it! Don't laugh they will grow! It's no wonder folk think I'm strange! Scotch too?

Wednesday's cribbage, 7 and a half tables: high hand, Dorothy Cronk, 24; first, Doris and Sandra, 962; second, Dorothy and Marg Case, 933 tied Graham and Sheila, 933; low, Gib and Florence, 827; door, Sheila, Mary, Doris. Stop in at "Thistle Do Nicely," a lovely little shop in South Bay-mouth near the harbor. Local artists and crafts persons, Canadian made products (smells wonderful in there), friendly Judy and Rick, congratulations and good luck! Judy painted the sign, and it's lovely!

Another busy day, 11 pm before I got home from the Down Yonder show at the hall. Some great entertainers, Bonita, Robbie, Harold, Jim. The regular crew, Ben, Doug, Tim, Marcelle, Jeff, Debbie and the honoree into the Hall of Fame, Eugene Manitowabi. Prior to the show a Father's Day supper at Tara and Ray's, Jacob, Skylar, Sherry, Dave, Cal and I. Cherry cheesecake dessert, yum. "Happy Father's Day."

I let Mum beat me once at cards in the afternoon!

Lunch at Carol's and Earl's with Bordie, Joan and June. June's sermon on the spirituality of the hummingbird, and what a marvelous creation they are. What they do is aerodynamically impossible, yet? Our Creator created them.

Tonight I met a lovely smiling lady called Carolyn Feasey (did I get it right?) from Loon Island (off of 10 Mile Point.) Do they jump/parasail/parachute? Now I'm curious? She reads/ enjoys my columns.

I can't believe it's strawberry social time already. Saturday, June 24 at 7 pm at the Tehkummah Hall. You are invited to the Tehkummah Hall on Sunday, June 25 for our Sunday Church service at 11:30 am and pot luck afterwards. There will be special music and entertainment. Everyone welcome, come and bring a friend too!

Little Current Public Library News

by Marian Barnett

June 20 was the final Library Board meeting before the summer break. But Library Board members will continue to be busy with the upcoming fundraiser, the Second Annual Book Sale. This year the event will be part of Canada Day activities, and the library will have its book kiosk on Water Street along with the other booths featured on July 1. Volunteer Nina Coates hopes sales will match last year's excellent results. Once again, there will be huge bargains for holiday reading. Call Maureen if you would like to help with the book sale, 705-368 2017.

The library has been the scene of many events so far this year. Pauline Tofflemire, Dorothy Atchison and Lamar Hyatt rented the activity room for their art classes. Pauline gave watercolour classes once a month, January to May. Her own paintings are being featured in the library's current art display. Detlef Heiser will also be showing his beautiful woodworking pieces over the summer.

On May 18, Sandy McGillivray presented his project "The Little Current Story in Pictures, Volume 1," using the large screen for his interesting photos of the early days. A staunch supporter, Mr. McGillivray's CD is for sale with profits going to the library.

Librarian Karen Gallo is pleased to have lined up two students to work over the summer. These placements are government funded. In August, Science North reps are coming to present "Building It Up" and "Body Business," a day of hands-on activities at the library, geared to families.

The Library Board members are: Ned Martin, Chair; Maureen Armstrong, Deputy Chair; Laurie Cook, Municipal Rep; Rosemary Burnett, Mike Easton, Karen Nesbitt, Nina Coates, and John Royal. Summer hours in effect July and August are listed on bookmarks for you to pick up at the desk. Board and Staff welcome our seasonal visitors and old friends to make use of this excellent local resource over the summertime. The children's section is an inviting spot to bring young readers who are out of school.

Have you visited the Young Adult section? Regular patron Gail Murray says, "These books are popular with adult and senior readers too." Meanwhile, Mrs. Gallo tells us, "Watch this paper for announcements about upcoming programs for seniors."
