WELCOME HUNTERS! WELCOME HUNTERS! WELCOME HUNTERS!

SUPER MOON—"Ten minutes before the Super Moon rose Monday night I remembered!" photographer John Savage writes Monday night. "It was already dark so I knew I would need a tripod for the photos—where was it? Rush, rush, almost tripped on the way down to the shoreline. At my age, the tripod, the camera and I would have all been in pieces. Rush, rush, set up, uh oh, the battery is down to one bar. Run (fast walk) back to the house for the fresh battery. Rush, rush, set up again...and here it comes—a bright, very orange sliver, much further north than the Strawberry Moon we saw in June. As it rose above the far shoreline this 'super moon' slid in and out of a few clouds, brightening enough to light up some of the surrounding clouds and finally rising high enough to cast a shimmering orange reflection on the surface of Manitowaning Bay. I then moved back toward the house to catch the scene through some of the cedars near the shore and finished with a close-up of the largest full moon we will see until November 25, 2034. And to think, I almost missed it!"

Over $2 million in federal government funding announced for Manitoulin area

by Alicia McCutcheon

MANITOULIN—It was a whirlwind trip of the District of Manitoulin for Sudbury Liberal MP Paul Lefebvre last week as he brought good news funding announcements to the tune of over $2 million on behalf of the Government of Canada.

On Thursday, MP Lefebvre attended the youth and elders' centre in Whitefish River First Nation (WRFN) to announce three Canada 150 Community Infrastructure Program (CIP 150) grants.

In a press release from the federal government, CIP 150 grants are "designed to leave a lasting legacy by supporting the rehabilitation or improvement of existing community infrastructure assets and facilities across the country that promote community and cultural benefits for the public." FedNor is the agency responsible for delivering the CIP 150 program in Northern Ontario.

Dennis McGregor emceed the event that also saw boys from Shawanosowe School's Grade 5/6 class on hand to welcome the MP and give their thanks for a CIP 150 grant for $88,000 that will rehabilitate the community's all-season recreational facility for both ice and ball hockey. This winter the outdoor rink will see a refurbished concrete slab surface, new rink boards and increased insulation and electric heat installed in to the adjoining change room.

MP Lefebvre noted the importance outdoor rinks played in his childhood, and now for his three children. He was gifted by the students with WRFN 'swag' such as a WRFN Bobcats scarf and car flag.

The MP also announced $95,784 for Wikwemikong to upgrade children's playground equipment at three separate sites, in addition to completing a youth skate park at a fourth venue.

Sagamok Anishnawbek First Nation was also in attendance to hear about the $100,000 in CIP 150 funding announced for expansion

PET scanner for Sudbury now finally within reach

by Michael Erskine

SUDBURY—The final pieces of the puzzle have fallen into place for a PET (positron emission tomography) scanner in Sudbury with the surprise November 8 announcement that two anonymous donors had stepped up to provide the last $1 million needed to build the facility.

"It's been a pretty good week," admitted Sudbury MPP Glenn Thibeault when contacted by The Expositor for comment. "In less than two years we have managed to put in place the operating funds, the capital costs, it is exciting for us as Northerners to have access to this important life-saving medical equipment."

Rifle season on Manitoulin Island opens this Monday

by Robin Burrige

MANITOULIN—Rifle season for deer opens this upcoming Monday, November 21 on Manitoulin

Island and runs until Sunday, November 27.

While many hunters have already been to their camp this fall preparing for the hunt or bow hunting, many others will be arriving this weekend.

This year there are two exciting buck contests on the Island. The first is the long running Bridal Veil Esso contest which is open to individuals and hunt camps on the Island. Hunters bring in their field dressed deer to be weighed to vie for the biggest buck and doe. Proceeds raised from the event go towards local charities.

The contest began in 1991 by owners Dave and Sharon Montgomery.

World stands in shock as Trump triumphs

by Michael Erskine

AMERICA—Real estate billionaire and former reality show host Donald Trump stunned the world by upsetting the coronation of media and pollster favourite former Secretary of State, congresswoman and first lady Hillary Clinton to win the job of the most powerful person in the world as the 45th president of the United States of America.

Manitoulin Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) Sergeant Michael Patterson, centre in photo, is presented with an OPP Commissioner's letter and St. John Award for his life saving attempts for a drowning victim earlier this year. The award was presented by OPP Commissioner Vince Hawkes and Chief Superintendent Fern Labelle.

Island officers receive Commissioner's letter and St. John's Award for lifesaving attempts

by Tom Sasvari

NORTH BAY—The North East Region of the Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) presented many awards to honour citizens and OPP members, both uniform and civilian, who have demonstrated acts of bravery, lifesaving, community service and exemplary performance of duty at an October 28 ceremony held in North Bay. Length of service was also recognized. The award recipients included several OPP members from the Manitoulin Island detachment.

Among those receiving awards were Constable Robert Manley, Constable Patricia Smith and Sergeant Michael Patterson, who received an OPP Commissioner's letter and St. John Award for their lifesaving attempts in the case of a drowning victim earlier this year.

The OPP citation explains, "on June 29, 2016 the three officers responded to a report of a drowning victim on Tobacco Lake in Gordon Township. The woman was not a swimmer and had waded out into the water with a pool noodle to keep afloat. After a few minutes, her friend observed her slumped over the noodle with her face in the water."

"A bystander rushed into the water and began to perform artificial resuscitation," reads the OPP citation. "Sergeant Patterson arrived on scene and entered the water. He brought the woman to shore and checked for a pulse before initiating CPR. Constable Smith relieved Sergeant Patterson of chest compressions (on the victim). Constable Manley located the ambulance and directed them to the scene before continuing chest compressions in the ambulance en route to the hospital."

"Today, we honour the efforts of these officers when attempting to save the woman's life," said OPP Commissioner Vince Hawkes in making the presentation.

The awards were presented by the OPP commissioner and Chief Superintendent Fern Labelle.

"I am very proud of these officers and their level of professionalism during this tragic event," Manitoulin Detachment Commander Staff Sergeant Kevin Webb told The Expositor. "They made every possible effort to preserve life in their lifesaving attempts. After the stress of the initial response, the officers spent several hours assisting the victim's family and the Coroner's office. They were very deserving of this prestigious award."

During the ceremonies, police exemplary service medals for 20 years' service were presented to Sergeant Michael Patterson and Detective Constable Stephen Redmond.

A Police Exemplary Service Medal 1st Bar for 30 years' service was presented to former Manitoulin OPP officer Dan Esposito, Constable David Millette (retired) and current Manitoulin OPP Staff Sergeant-Detachment Commander Kevin Webb.

The Quarter Century Club award (25-year service pin) was presented to provincial constable Randy Dedman.

Ontario launches award celebrating leading women/girls

QUEEN'S PARK—A new program that acknowledges and celebrates women and girls who demonstrate exceptional leadership in working to improve the lives of others in their communities through volunteer work has been announced by the province as Women's History Month came to a close.

"The leadership of women and girls is essential to creating a fair society and strong economy in Ontario," said Algoma-Manitoulin MPP Mike Mantha in a news release. "I am honoured to recognize women and girls in my community through the Leading Women/Leading Girls Building Communities Recognition Program."

According to the Women's Directorate website, the Leading Women/Leading Girls Building Communities Recognition Program "acknowledges and celebrates women and girls who demonstrate exceptional leadership in working to improve the lives of others in their communities through volunteer work, such as: breaking down barriers and encouraging women and girls to get involved in careers where women are underrepresented; actively promoting equality, diversity, healthy equal relationships; preventing violence against women and girls; reducing racism and discrimination; encouraging women and girls to participate in any part of public service; acting as a positive role model by mentoring, coaching, leading events or organizations; and/or providing a positive example to women and girls in their communities."

Leading Girls Building Communities nominees

must be girls or young women under the age of 18 who have not received the award in the past. Leading Women Building Communities nominees must be women over the age of 18 who have not received the award in the past. Nominees who have received the Leading Girls Building Communities award may be nominated for the Leading Women Building Communities award if they have different accomplishments.

MPP Mantha is responsible for Manitoulin Island nominations. For further information, please get in touch with your local MPP's office. Nominating MPPs must represent the area that contains the nominee's home address.

Requirements for nomination include two (2) letters of support and those letters must be unique to each nominee and must address three areas: describe how the nominee's efforts improved the lives of women and/or girls in her community; explain how the nominee's achievements demonstrate her leadership; and specify the number of volunteer hours the nominee contributes annually. Letters may be submitted by a community leader, mentor, employer, or another individual who has experience volunteering with the nominee. Letters of support from family members are not accepted.

Recipients of the award will receive a certificate of recognition and a congratulatory letter from the Minister Responsible for Women's Issues. The award may be presented in the community by Mr. Mantha.

Special Olympians receive top awards at gala event

MANITOULIN—Manitoulin Special Olympics (MSO) was well represented at the Ontario Special Olympics annual awards gala and annual general meeting last week in Markham with Mindemoya's Dayne Tipper receiving the Male Athlete of the Year accolade and the MSO curling team winning Team of the Year for Ontario Special Olympics. The curling team, Manitoulin Rockin' Sweepers, is comprised of athletes Regan Millsap, Rebecca Strain, Randy Corbiere, Andrew Splawnyk, and Jeffrey Panamick-Sweeney along with coaches Nancy Leeson and Ellen Holroyd.

Dayne is no stranger to the podium having brought home two bronze medals in snowshoeing at the Canada Special Olympic Winter Games held last winter and winning a team silver medal at the floor hockey championships in London, Ontario. Over the summer, the Male Athlete of the Year also participated in the Northeastern Ontario track and field championships in Sturgeon Falls where he took gold in both the 1,500 and 800 metre races, silver in standing long jump and third in shot put. Coach Janet Anning commends Dayne for his commitment to training and sport.

The curling team wowed the circuit, going from new kids on the block to winning gold at the provincials then silver at the nationals held in Corner Brook, Newfoundland.

Strobe-like tower lights at Goat Island make the council agenda

by Alicia McCutcheon

GOAT ISLAND—Following the Sunday, October 23 hydro outage many people driving the Highway 6 corridor from Little Current to Sheguiandah will have noticed bright strobe-like lights that flash every second—white during the day and red at night—attached to the hydro tower line at Goat Island.

The lights have received much unwanted attention with calls coming into the Northeast Town municipal office. So many, in fact, it was to be discussed at Tuesday evening's council meeting.

The Expositor reached out to Hydro One to ask about the need for such lights, especially as the new lights flash more often than those seen on the wind turbines.

"The navigational lights on the tower line were installed to adhere to Transport Canada regulations," Nancy Clark, a Hydro One media spokesperson, told The Expositor. "These regulations specify the position and brightness of the lights to ensure that the tower line remains visible at a range sufficient to permit a pilot to take appropriate action to avoid the tower and line."

"The Transport Canada requirements on this crossing is different than those for wind turbines," Ms. Clark continued. "The lights on this crossing flash at a 60/min rate as opposed to 40/min for other applications. The reason is to warn the floater planes early on that they are approaching a catenary (overhead wire) crossing and there are hanging wires on their path."

Ms. Clark urged those with questions regarding the regulations to contact Transport Canada, "as they are the regulating authority."

Nomination for 2016 Junior Citizens Awards are now open and accepting nominations

MANITOULIN—Extraordinary young leaders—they're all around us; in schools, at church and on sports teams. The truth is, there are young people everywhere who are working hard to make their community a better place by volunteering for various organizations, making donations, saving lives and maintaining top grade averages. It's time to recognize their dedication and nominate them for a 2016 Ontario Junior Citizen Award.

"Our newspaper strongly supports this program because we care about the growth of our community," said Expositor editor Alicia McCutcheon. "We look forward to providing recognition for such outstanding young people who continue to be an inspiration for others. The awards program is co-ordinated by the Ontario Community Newspapers Association (OCNA), of which we are a member, and sponsored by TD Bank Group."

Any Ontario resident aged six to 17 is eligible to be chosen as a final recipient of this award. Please help us by nominating an individual in one of five areas:

President Trump? The sky is likely to remain in place

So the unthinkable has come to pass and the great unwashed (read disenfranchised working class whites) of the American electorate have won the day. Reality television has been catapulted into the most powerful office on the planet and the weeping, wailing and lamentations of the left have begun—along with a number of riots and clashes between supporters of the president-elect and those who oppose his election to the highest post in the land.

Although Hillary Clinton won the popular vote, the American electoral college is designed to make the contest for president one of regional victories, rather than overall preference of the nation. This is quite common in federal systems and seeks to place a balance on the tyranny of the majority, but when the two are mismatched, as is fairly often the case, dissatisfaction is loudly voiced by the losers—along with petitions and vows to "do away with the electoral college," but don't hold your breath.

Right now the "losers" of America are revelling in a victory that took the ruling elite, the winners of the globalized economy and the gated community of the American Dream, completely by surprise. It is their day in the sun.

There will be plenty of analysis and soul searching taking place over the next four years, but that in itself is a very good thing. The US system was built to withstand the seismic shocks that occasionally come from democracy and, nuclear launch codes notwithstanding, there is little reason to believe that the world will not continue to turn after Donald Trump takes office. It just might be a little hotter is all.

For a region which seems to be in a state of near constant recession, Manitoulin may well be largely insulated from the broader effects of the economic fallout of a more protectionist US policy. Certainly local beef farmers may be looking askance to the implications that tighter borders will affect, and other agricultural exports could be impacted, but we will be unlikely to lose our major manufacturing plants as they move south—because we don't have any.

The more likely impact might be the boomeranging home of our expat children if the economic fallout from potential trade wars come to pass.

But our ancestors have weathered isolation, drought, the War of 1812, Fenian raids, the Great Depression, world wars, low water, high water, Liberal governments, Conservative governments, NDP governments, the Great Recession and a host of other calamities that were touted to end the world as we know it. We are still here.

Not that the potential for an even worse calamity is not just around the corner, but chances are we will not see that coming.

If the predicted tide of US refugees does come to pass, Island property values could see a dramatic rise and American pop singers may come to dominate the JUNO Awards (comedy is safe, we seem to be dominating that portion of American culture already), but in general life will go on much as it has for the past several generations.

The environment seems set to take a nasty hit, with Mr. Trump's avowed disavowal of climate change and antipathy toward the Environmental Protection Agency, but we have been hammering the environment and the atmosphere since the advent of steam power and another four years will likely not make that much of a difference to our fate—it will remain bad.

Anxiety is rising across the globe, fueled by the immediacy of social media and the hysteria of youth. But as those who have weathered the Cold War's Sword of Damocles can attest, most of that effort is wasted.

As a human being, Mr. Trump will be under tremendous psychological pressure within his own psyche to do a good job—because he knows that in four years America will be judging him at the table, they won't hesitate to take a page from his book to declare "you're fired."

op-ed

Trump's very unCanadian path to victory

by Perry Anglin

Donald Trump won with flagrant positions in sharp contrast to Canada's on the issues of immigration, social justice and free trade.

His narrow win also represents a new low in American sympathy for immigrants and the poor.

Social science surveys in both the United States and Canada have found that sympathy for the disadvantaged peaked about 50 years ago. Think Lyndon Johnson's Great Society and his War on Poverty. Think Lester Pearson's medicare and his Canada Pension Plan. Since their time, caring for others has declined steadily in both countries.

Nevertheless, current surveys show that Canadians strongly favour government support for new immigrants and widely welcome Syrian refugees, including Muslims.

Trump opposed taking in any Syrians at all. He pandered to prejudice against Muslims, against Latinos, and particularly against black people, who make up the largest single group to benefit from Obamacare. In doing so, Trump pandered to racists who don't want public dollars to help "those people" get health care.

Although universal medicare is perhaps Canada's greatest source of national pride, surveys have shown that we are largely indifferent to poverty. We also care less about helping Native people than about helping immigrants.

The new Trudeau government is rising above public opinion in its plans to help aboriginal people. And it has helped the poor with a multi-billion-dollar new child benefit. (It has "done good works by stealth," however, portraying the child benefit more as help for the middle class than as a reduction in child poverty.)

On trade, we signed a new free trade deal with Europe at exactly the same time that Trump was winning votes in decaying factory towns by promising to kill the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA). Mexico was his main trade target, along with China, but Canada will lose thousands of jobs if he abrogates the NAFTA treaty. We will lose even more in any trade war that he starts.

More than anything else, Trump attracted both rural residents and the rearguard in the rust belt because they haven't shared the wealth that came from free trade. It was pretty much the same story in rural and backwater England when Britain chose Brexit over free trade with the European Union. That was another close vote marred by lies and racism.

We can't be complacent here. Our income inequality is severe, though not quite as bad as in the United States and England. Ignoring it could well bring a backlash that would threaten human values we Canadians hold dear.

Young people may rise to the challenge of distributing wealth more equally for the great good of all. Exit polls show that they were the only age group to vote against Trump. That age group had fervently supported Bernie Sanders. Perhaps Sanders would have done better than Trump with the working families who suffered after NAFTA.

Women usually support social programs more than men do. But for whatever reason, exit polls said that the majority of white women (53 percent) voted for Trump, the misogynist. Some say they cared more about family income than gender.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Mr. Anglin has followed politics in Canada, Britain and the United States for the last 50 years. As a civil servant he met frequently over the years with American officials. Mr. and Mrs. Anglin live on Belle Baie Lane on Lake Manitou near Mindemoya.

Former AMK Liberal candidate muses on US election

Heavy hearts perhaps, but the sun still came up shining warm and bright

To the Expositor:

On the day of the US election last week, a voter left the polling station and told CBC "it's all over but the crying." Such a loaded statement since a few minutes earlier a young woman could not contain herself as she openly wept as she finished voting.

Just over a year ago, I ran for the federal Liberals for Algoma-Manitoulin-Kapuskasung and came up second to long-time NDP MP Carol Hughes. Although Canada's race was not as much of a circus as the US election was, there were attempts by Harper to pit one group of Canadians against another that was soundly rebuked by voters when we went to the polls. Similarly, polls were close on election day last year. But Canadians did not surprise me when they turned their backs on negativity and embraced Justin Trudeau.

I have faith in democracy. Admittedly, on Tuesday, I really thought Americans would have listened to the values and ideals that Donald Trump was representing and that they would deny that they were part of that just like Canadians did a year ago when they heard intolerant and divisive messages in our election. Politics is not perfect and I believe that politicians know the difference between right and wrong in their hearts. Voters should be able to make informed decisions. And that responsibility does not rest solely on the media for the media only feeds an appetite. It rests with the education system and conversations within the home and communities. In Canada, the curriculum includes civics but does it go further to include interactions that could produce a deep understanding and appreciation for the democratic process? I asked to be able to speak to my son's class during the election (as a candidate and as a mother) and was denied by the principal with the explanation that I would be "campaigning." Given that none of the students were of voting age I thought that was a lame explanation. Was I denied because of school policy or bias? Are students aware of the production of knowledge?

We have a duty to develop engaged citizens so family also have to participate. Talking about how families are affected by policy is only part of it. What is most troubling is that the character of Donald Trump is now literally on stage as being powerful. Obama said, "if you want to know what someone is going to do, look at what they have done." We can give Trump his success as a business person even though he has had financial failures. It is his reported misogyny, cultural intolerance and racially motivated "law-and-order" that is most troubling.

However, the sun came up warm and bright on Wednesday in Espanola. I have a heavy heart for sure. But, voters always have the last say. Sure, we can have a good cry over the results, but I have faith that good prevails and so should America.

Remembrance Day ceremonies take place in communities across Manitoulin Island

Manitoulin Secondary School honours veterans with school-wide Remembrance Day ceremony

by Robin Burridge
M'CHIGEENG—Manitoulin Secondary School (MSS) held a school-wide Remembrance Day ceremony to commemorate the veterans who served in WWI, WWII, the Korean War and war in Afghanistan. MSS Vice Principal Dave Wiwchar shared with the school that his great uncle died in WWI. "James left for France at age 22 and died at age 25," said Mr. Wiwchar. "He died on April 9, 1918 from wounds from action. He was part of the Fort Garry Horse Regiment. It was sad that he never got to finish his life. His last letter home to his mom he was just able to check boxes—he was doing well, he missed home. On Remembrance Day I think of James and what he gave for our country." As part of the ceremony, the MSS band played and the MSS Vocal Group sang a version of the poem In Flanders Fields. There was also a video that highlighted Canada's participation in war. Student council co-presidents Kayla Greenman and Bryce Mastelko laid a wreath on the stage for veterans. The service also recognized all Manitoulin residents who served in both WWI and WWII. The ceremony concluded with the Act of Remembrance, the Last Post, two-minutes of silence and the singing of O'Canada.

Little Current Royal Canadian Legion members hold five linked ceremonies across the community

by Michael Erskine
LITTLE CURRENT—Members of Royal Canadian Legion Branch 177 Little Current had a full day laid out for them on November 11. A hardy troop of Legion members, colour guard, executive and accompanying members of the Manitoulin Sea Cadet Corps travelled first to Little Current Public School, where Legion President Debbie Menard explained the significance of Remembrance Day to the assembled students, students watched videos on the importance of the day, sang songs in tribute to the sacrifices made and hopes for the future. The main Remembrance Day observances took place at the Legion Hall on Van Koughnet Street to a packed hall, with the laying of dozens of wreaths before taking part in a second ceremony outside at the Legion Cenotaph. The Golden rifle team fired a salute into the brisk morning air to accentuate the event.

In the early afternoon, the Legion members and cadets headed to Manitoulin Centennial Manor, where wreaths were laid by resident veterans. In the final ceremony of the day, the colour guard, veterans and cadets met at the Little Current Cenotaph downtown, where the rifle party once again fired a salute and emcee Roy Eaton gave a brief history of the cenotaph courtesy of Alexander McGillivray's local history.

Protests against Wagg's Wood sale continue

Beneficiaries from the sale should contribute a buffer zone of trees and bushes

To the Expositor:

Cc. Central Manitoulin Council
I would like to add my name to the long list of people who have written to protest the actions of Central Manitoulin Council for selling a beautiful heritage property that was intended for the enjoyment of all residents and visitors. To suggest that people would prefer a privately-owned parking lot to a nature preserve for all to use is ludicrous. The access to the park area has been devastated by the huge trees that were cut and left on the ground. The view has been obliterated by opening the woods up to the parking lot and commercial buildings. The trail along the creek bed has been covered with tons of gravel. The survey stakes have disappeared so it is no longer possible to determine the boundaries. The school classes that used to have field trips here will be unlikely to attend unless it is to observe an ecological ruin. And for what benefit?

Council has been offered several suggestions as a way to help right a grievous wrong against the community, but we have yet to see any progress or commitment.
It would be gratifying to see the funds from the sale being used to improve a natural beauty spot and tourist attraction for the benefit of Central Manitoulin.
Signage and rest areas, with a bench or two, does not seem like too much to ask. New trails with a lookout on the bluff are easily achieved with volunteers already coming forth. Knowledgeable park and recreation planners are available through local organizations willing to collaborate with council.

And finally, surely the beneficiary from the sale could contribute a buffer zone of trees and bushes as a goodwill gesture to the people of Central Manitoulin.
Sincerely,

Gail (Becks) Meehan

Man found dead on cross-country trek still remains unidentified

by Expositor staff
PORT ALBERT—There have been no updates in the case of the 57-year-old man who was travelling across Canada by bike and canoe found dead along the shore of Lake Huron, near Port Albert, Ontario last month.

"I have nothing new to report," Constable Jamie Stanley, community services officer with the Huron County OPP, told The Expositor on Monday. "We are still getting lots of tips and hopefully there is a break in the case soon, but there has still been no positive ID."

The deceased was travelling from Alberta to London, Ontario, via bike and canoe. He identified himself as Mitchell Nelson to The Expositor during his time on the Island in September.

An OPP spokesperson observed to The Expositor that the point where Mr. Nelson's body was found on the Lake Huron shore was only about an hour's paddle north of Grand Bend.

The body was found on a beach north of Port Albert on Saturday, October 15 by civilians. The police previously told The Expositor that a post mortem exam was conducted on Monday (October 17) on the body. The cause of death was undetermined, but there is no evidence to indicate foul play. A search was conducted for his canoe and bicycle, but they have yet to be located.

Investigators initially identified the body by contact information found on the deceased leading them to a reporter from SooToday.

The name 'Mitchell Nelson' has been run through many databases, but has proven unsuccessful.

Anyone with information can contact the Huron County OPP at 1-888-310-1122 or their local police agency as soon as possible. Should you wish to remain anonymous you can contact Crime Stoppers at 1-800-222-8477 (TIPS) where you may be eligible for a cash reward of up to $2,000.

Billings councillor Tom Imrie tenders resignation after six years on council

by Sharon Jackson
KAGAWONG—"I didn't have an agenda when I joined council," stated Tom Imrie when he threw his hat in the political ring. "I wanted to give something back to the community by finding out what the community wanted, then work to achieve those goals." Mr. Imrie tendered his resignation during the last meeting of Billings council.

"I joined council as an appointed member in 2008 as a result of another member resigning due to health issues," Mr. Imrie continued. "I served two years and was re-elected in 2010 and again in 2014, for a total of eight years."

Prior to joining council, stated Mr. Imrie, "I was extremely interested in the history of Kagawong and Billings Township so I volunteered for the museum board as council's representative. I was also appointed to the Library Board, and the Community Policing Advisory Committee (CPAC), later served on the Provincial Offences Act Board of Management, and was elected chair of that board.

"Along with other council members I participated in the development of a Strategic Plan, which provided some concrete direction based on community input, and resulted in the formation of, among other things, the Waterfront Improvement Committee," he said. "Mayor Hunt and I were the council representatives on the committee and I was elected chair. I served in that capacity for two years until the final committee recommendations were approved by council, the grant applications were submitted, and council assumed responsibility for the project through the committee of the whole. As of now, my understanding is we are in the second stage of the funding agencies approval process."

"During my service on the museum board we were given the opportunity to investigate the acquisition of the Kagawong lighthouse, and the board worked with council to develop a business plan to purchase the building and use it as a tourism destination," he added. "Several challenges were faced during the process including reluctance of some council members to invest in the property but as it stands now we are on track to finalize the purchase."

"One of the takeaways from the strategic plan," stated Mr. Imrie, "was the community interest in establishing Kagawong as an arts and culture centre.

Councillor Tom Imrie has tendered his resignation from Billings council.

This coincided with the land side development that is included in the Waterfront Improvement Project. When LAMBAC approached the township about sponsoring an arts project."

Mr. Imrie was asked to be the township representative along with Councillor Hurcomb. "We worked with 4elements and for a year participated in The Art of Being Billings. The success of that project and the community interest that was generated proved to the 4elements board that Billings was an ideal place to stay. The former town office on Main St. beside the fire hall was vacant but sorely in need of renovations."

Councillors Hurcomb and Imrie presented a business case to council demonstrating the benefits of having 4elements establish its offices in Kagawong and the potential income generation, job creation and tourism that would result. Further, improving the building would achieve our asset management goals.

Council approved the expenditure and 4elements found a home.

"When I joined council," said Mr. Imrie, "we were constantly under criticism for the management of the hydro generating station. Allegations of excessive water consumption were common and council worked with the owner to reduce complaints through monitoring and communication. Gradually the complaints diminished. We were presented with an opportunity to increase the township's revenue through the increased payment to the generator offered by the Green Energy Act. We now earn more and have fewer complaints."

The lack of revenue being generated by township owned buildings was evident when Mr. Imrie first joined council. "We actively

Ice Chips to Canoe Quips

Panther Points

The Peewee Panthers have topped up their incredible start to their season with a tournament championship at this weekend's Bobby Orr Hall of Fame event down in Parry Sound. In the semis the local knocked off Waterford 5 - 1. The Panthers set the tone early with Liam Bridgeman taking the feed from sister Delaney off the opening face-off to score just seven seconds in with his new personal record for Liam.

They were in tough in the final though and found themselves down 3 - 0 early in the trophy game against the hometown Shamrocks. Liam was once again in the mix. Although he hasn't had a penalty in almost two years, and never in a fight, finally snapped after one too many fouls and went to the box for five. The altercation seemed to be the spark that fired the team up, as Liam came out of the box and popped in a quick goal, making it 3 - 1. Then he set up Gabe Hare for the second to complete the Gordie Howe hat-trick and the Panthers drew closer at 3 - 2. Liam's pass to Delaney made it 3 - 3 with under 5 minutes left. Finally, with 1:20 to go, Gabe took a cross-ice pass from Liam on a 2 on 1, and potted the winner 4 - 3 tournament winner. Way to go team.

Laidley on the D.L.

Get well wishes go out to Little Current's Michael Laidley. Michael, who earned a scholarship to St. Lawrence University where he plays Division 1 hockey, has been having a great sophomore season with 6 points in six games. Unfortunately, the young man recently suffered a season-ending injury. He has been diagnosed with a ripped ACL, a bruised LCL and a pinched meniscus which will require surgery and a long period of rehabilitation. Young Laidley had been St. Lawrence's first line center, penalty-killer and had a place on the second, power-play unit demonstrating the high esteem in which his coaches held him. We wish him a successful surgery and a complete recovery.

Mustang minute

The MSS high school boys' curling squad put in an excellent showing at the recent Providence Bay Bonspiel finishing 2nd in the A Division. Members of the team feature: Dustin Mackenzie, Brady Green, Alex Dawson and Bryce Mastelko. Congrats gentlemen!

Two Manitoulin Olympians named to the 2017 World Winter Games

Congratulations to Matthew Bedard and Kelsey Mellan who were both selected to be part of the Canadian team that will be travelling to Austria in the New Year to compete in the 2017 Special Olympics World Winter Games in March for snowshoeing. Congratulations Kelsey and Matthew. Good luck in all of your training.

Manitoulin Minor Hockey Spotlight

It is still early in the 2016/17 season but the Manitowaning Wolves Atoms are off to a great start with their first win over the Gore Bay Bruins. Although both teams played a great game the Wolves brought home their first win with a lot of smiles. Not so much due to the win but because of the effort made in playing as a team. Jacob Smith, the goalie, dominated the net despite strong attempts from Gore Bay. While scoring some goals is needed to win the game, this team showed teamwork with all the passing and assists. Goals and assists were recorded as followed by the Wolves players including: Xavier Mara, William McComb, Brodie Pennie, Ava Assinewai, Brooke Gibeault, Alex Peltier, Kordell Elijah, Andrew Cooper and scoring her first goal was Ava Fields.

All this positive action couldn't have happened without the strong wing positions of Zoey Trudeau, Grace Pitawanakwat, also with an assist and Ryley Wassegijig-Migwans. Emily Roque, once again, is an unstoppable force on the defence line but that isn't the whole team, yet. The Wolves have one secret waiting in the wings, one of Manitoulin's newest children will take to the ice soon and Fanuel Berle Haile, who has just strapped on skates a few weeks ago, is raring to go and his teammates are so excited to see him hit the ice in a game! Of course, without the incredible volunteer staff (Jeff Pitawanakwat, Bill McComb, Ron Cooper, Teina Pitawanakwat, Brent Assinewai, Janet McComb and Dawn Roque) the team would not be what they are today. If you would like to see your team in the spotlight in the coming weeks, please forward information to the email address below.

Island runner competes at CCAA!

Congratulations to Little Current's Mikaila Kennedy who competed at the Canadian Collegiate Athletic Association's national cross country championships this past weekend hosted by Sault College. Although she and her hometown team didn't make the podium, it was a great experience just to run in such a prestigious event. Way to go, Mikaila!

Mustang v-ballers to host NOSSA championships

Manitoulin Secondary wins the North Shore title on home turf

by Sandi Kuntsi
M'CHIGEENG—Bump, set, spike, cheer. The MSS boys hosted the North Shore Secondary School Association (NSSSA) volleyball finals on Wednesday, November 9.

Coached by Peter Kategiannis and managed by Sydney Koehler, the team of 10 boys have gone undefeated in their regular season tournaments. The MSS Mustang boys' volleyball team consists of Brandon Boyle, Parker Dickinson, Bryce Draper, Greg Doane, Devon Gelaznikas, Zach Kategiannis, Cole King, Matthew Redmond, James Scott and Tait Wallace.

Four schools competed in the NSSSA tournament. The attending schools were W.C. Eckett, Jeneusse Nord, Espanola High School and Manitoulin Secondary School. The first game was between W.C. Eckett Royals and the Mustangs. The starting lineup for MSS was Devon Gelaznikas, James Scott, Parker Dickinson, Tait Wallace, Greg Doane and Bryce Draper. MSS won the first set with a score of 25-19, the second set with a score of 25-20, and the third set with a score of 25-21, qualifying for the finals. The second game was between Espanola and Jeneusse Nord.

Espanola won the first set with a score of 25-16, the second set with a score of 25-18, and the final set with a score of 25-20, also qualifying for the finals.

Wednesday was a buy-out opportunity, so students could pay two dollars to get out of class and watch the finals and support their team. At 1:15 students and staff of MSS started pouring into the bleachers. While Espanola Spartans and the MSS Mustangs warmed up, music played to get the students pumped up. Mr. Gurney welcomed everyone to the game by calling each member of the Espanola Spartans to the court. Everyone in the gym welcomed the opposing team. Mr. Gurney began announcing the MSS Mustangs, announcing his number, height and nickname. As each member jogged onto the court, they were welcomed by loud cheering and clapping from their teachers, friends, and family. When the entire team had been announced and joined by their coach and manager, the teams got set up for their match.

At the beginning of the first set Espanola was ahead by seven points, but MSS rallied and the Mustangs won with a final score of 25-21. Upon switching sides, the Mustangs had the first serve and took a five point lead before Espanola got possession of the ball. The set was very even as both teams were very focused on winning. The second match ended with a score of 25-22 for MSS. The final set was also close. Bryce Draper scored the winning point, bringing the final score to 25-23. Students and staff in the bleachers cheered for the boys, as the two teams shook hands and con-

Northeast Town installs fitness equipment at Low Island Park

by Robin Burrige
LITTLE CURRENT—The Northeast Town is installing outdoor fitness equipment at Low Island Park in Little Current thanks to a $25,000 New Horizons for Seniors Grant.

“Public works just started installing the equipment a few days ago,” explained Northeast Town Mayor Al MacNevin, who met with The Expositor at Low Island last week to reveal the new equipment. “A lot of the equipment and signage is already installed, but it will be completely done and ready for next spring.”

Mayor MacNevin said that there will be nine pieces of equipment, grouped together at four stations around the Low Island Park trail.

“It was something that was identified in our Age Friendly Community Study and fits in with our strategic plan,” said Mayor MacNevin. “We are grateful for the New Horizons for Seniors Grant that allowed us to purchase and install this equipment. The wellbeing of our community members is important to council, as in ensuring that our residents have access to equipment and tools to help them get and stay healthy.”

The new equipment is from ActiveFit Outdoor Fitness Equipment. The air walker is one of the new pieces—offering a low-impact, fun and effective cardio workout as you swing your way into shape. The hand bike provides users with strength and endurance building for both the arms and shoulders. It mimics the movements of the speed bags rowers use when training and provides a great cardio workout without involving the legs. The recumbent bike gives the cardio benefit of cycling with full back support and offering a low-impact, ease-of-use pedaling action for strengthening thighs, glutes, calves and abs. The knee lift/stepper unit is a multi-purpose piece of equipment, which is used to perform step-ups, dips, leg lifts and stretching exercises. The multi-stretcher can be used to work the abdominal area, stretch your back, arms, legs and improve your flexibility. It’s effective for warming up and cooling down. The upper/lower body stretcher promotes flexibility in the shoulders, arms and wrists as well as improving hip and back flexibility in the shoulders, arms and wrists. The side stepper helps to improve back and hip flexibility and can be used to stretch your obliques and exercise your abdominals. The leg press is great for developing leg strength by using a portion of your body weight as resistance. Lastly, the parallel bars deluxe are essential for a variety of upper body strength and stretching exercises.

Corresponding signs with each piece of equipment show the level of difficulty, the target areas and how to use the equipment.

Many of the pieces are already installed, so head check out the new equipment. down to Low Island to ment.

gratulated each other on qualifying for Northern Ontario Secondary School Athletics championships.

Zach Kategiannis, a Grade 11 volleyball player, said, “Today was awesome. We did really well in all of our sets, but the very first set we played was definitely the best one. We were really together during that game. I’m excited for NOSSA for sure.”

Bryce Draper, a Grade 12 volleyball player, said, “We did a really good job today. I think we played the best in the second match, against Espanola. I think that personally I played pretty well, and as a team we were all in sync. Getting the winning point was a huge rush. I was just so happy about it.”

Mr. Gurney congratulated each team on their achievement, and the medal ceremony began. As Mr. Gurney named each player on the Spartans team, their coach Mr. Vermeer presented them with their silver medals. Mr. Kategiannis looked proud of his team, as he and Sydney presented them with their gold championship medals. After another round of handshakes with the Spartans, the Mustangs gathered in a group for their team picture. Smiling widely, pride radiated from the boys.

On Thursday, November 17 the MSS boys' volleyball team will host Northern Ontario Secondary School Association (NOSSA) in M'Chigeeng.

Coach Kategiannis said, “We did a pretty good job today. The second match was definitely the best. The guys really tried, and they were really together. Once they finished their warm up in the first set, they really got into it. I think we have a good chance at winning NOSSA.”

...Over $2 million in funding announced for Manitoulin

to its fitness centre.

"The Government of Canada recognizes the importance of supporting community infrastructure improvements and modernization in First Nations, organizations and municipalities," Mr. Lefebvre quoted the Honourable Navdeep Bains, Minister of Innovation, Science and Economic Development and Minister responsible for FedNor, as saying.

WRFN Chief Franklin Paibomsai commended the Liberal MP for coming to the community, noting that visits from politicians under federal Conservative rule were a rarity. The chief explained that under chief and council, there are three community priorities: wellness, education and economy. "We have an ethical responsibility to invest in our young people," Chief Paibomsai said, adding that an investment in a safe environment to live and play in means successful, fit and smart future leaders.

Next it was on to the West End and the Split Rail Brewing Co. in Gore Bay where MP Lefebvre announced a further $1.2 million in funding.

The LaCloche Manitoulin Business Assistance Corporation (LAMBAC) received $960,000 through FedNor's Community Futures Program which will enable LAMBAC to provide small and medium-sized enterprises with access to capital and business counselling services for a three-year period.

Whitefish River First Nation Chief Franklin Paibomsai, Liberal Sudbury MP Paul Lefebvre and boys from the Shawanosowe School's Grade 5/6 class celebrate a CIP 150 grant for $88,000 that will rehabilitate the community's all-season recreational facility for both ice and ball hockey.

Sheshegwaning First Nation will receive $100,000 from the CIP 150 program to add a garage bay to an existing heated building, enabling the community to store both of its fire trucks, as well as its EMS van. Currently, without a heated facility, water must be drained from the fire trucks during colder months to prevent it from freezing while parked. This heated facility will ensure all vehicles are ready to respond quickly to emergency situations.

In nearby Misery Bay, the Friends of Misery Bay are set to receive $90,000 through a CIP 150 grant to complete the design, construction and installation of high quality interactive exhibits at the park's visitor centre. This is the final phase of a five-phase interpretive plan for the park which began in 2010.

Lastly, the Municipality of Central Manitoulin will receive $72,490 through CIP 150 funding to rebuild the arena's lower east wall, which will include a barrier-free entrance. Other improvements include the addition of a new wood post and steel beam guide rail, interior and exterior safety lighting and an overhead service door. The upgrades will improve access and increase safety for patrons.

...Hydro Ombudsman to attend Island public meeting

Island," said Algoma-Manitoulin MP Michael Mantha. "I thought it was a fabulous idea and wanted to help set up the meeting."

"The meeting will be an open format and will include an opening from Ms. Crean stating what she can and can't address, followed by general discussion and questions," added Mr.

Mantha. "It will be a good opportunity for Island residents to get answers about their Hydro One billing such as the outlandish costs many residents are facing, the irregular billings and their bills explained."

The meeting will be held on Monday, December 12 from 6 to 8 pm in the Manitoulin Secondary School auditorium.

Mr. Mantha said he will likely be moderating the meeting, assisted by the MMA.

...PET scanner for Sudbury finally within reach

Mr. Thibeault had campaigned vigorously for a PET scanner for Sudbury while a member of the Federal NDP and had taken considerable flack from his former colleagues on the file when he became a member of the provincial Liberals.

The MPP was quick to congratulate others for making the project a success, however. "Not only was Sudbury rallying behind this project, but communities from all across the North really stepped up to make this happen," he said. "We had donations coming in from communities on the Island and from north of Timmins. People recognize the benefit of not having to travel to Toronto to get the tests."

That barrier of travel goes beyond mere inconvenience, noted Manitoulin Health Centre CEO Derek Graham. "When faced with that travel to take the test, a lot of people just choose not to make that journey," he said. "But it goes beyond that. Studies have shown that with the closer proximity of that technology, more people on the periphery will get the test. From a health care perspective, it is a great thing and there is good reason to anticipate better clinical outcomes will come of this in the future."

Both Mr. Thibeault and Mr. Graham noted that the capital fundraising efforts of the special foundation (The Sam Bruno PET Scan Fund) have been outstanding.

"The Sam Bruno PET Scan Fund has been among the most visible campaign projects the Northern Cancer Foundation has been a part of," said Tannys Laughren, executive director of the Northern Cancer Foundation, in a news release noting the donations. "Today, these two very generous donations have made acquiring a PET scanner a reality for Sudbury."

Mark Hartman, HSN vice-president of regional cancer services and medical imaging, said the hospital will be seeking proposals for a scanner so it can properly build the space where the PET scanner will be located following the Tuesday, November 8 news conference at which the $4.6 million in capital funding was announced to build the space. The news conference included a surprise announcement that two $500,000 donations from anonymous donors had put the fund to purchase a PET-CT scanner over its $3.5 million goal.

"I am pleased to announce that Sudbury is getting a permanent PET scanner," said Dr. Eric Hoskins, Minister of Health and Long-Term Care during the funding announcement in Sudbury. "MPP Glenn Thibeault has been a tremendous advocate for equitable access to high quality care in Sudbury and Northeastern Ontario, echoing the voices of his community at Queen's Park every day. The commitment and generosity of the community in Sudbury is truly inspiring."

"What great news for our community. I want to recognize the Bruno family for working tirelessly over several years to bring this issue to the forefront," said Mr. Thibeault during the announcement. "We all know how important it is for patients in the North to have access to a PET scanner locally. By working with Minister Hoskins over the past few months, we have been able to make this a reality."

Ontario had already announced that it will cover operating costs for a permanent PET scanner at Health Sciences North in Sudbury last year. In that announcement the government committed to providing the hospital with up to $1.6 million in operating funding for a permanent PET scanner once the community and the hospital have raised the necessary capital for a permanent PET scanner. As of November 8, that capital bar had been reached.

"A PET scan is a diagnostic test used in managing patient care for patients with certain cancers, heart disease and neurological diseases. Currently, patients in Northeastern Ontario have to travel to Toronto to have a PET scan. A PET scanner in Sudbury will reduce the travel burden on patients in Northeastern Ontario and perform up to 750 tests per year," noted the release.

The release goes on to note that "improving access to PET scans in Northeastern Ontario is part of the government's plan to build a better Ontario through its Patients First: Action Plan for Health Care, which is providing patients with faster access to the right care, better home and community care, the information they need to stay healthy and a health care system that's sustainable for generations to come."

Before he lost his battle to cancer at 54, Sudbury native and accomplished salesman Sam Bruno lobbied the government for years to make PET scans free. After that success, Mr. Bruno shifted his focus to acquiring a machine for Northeastern Ontario, located in Sudbury. A foundation made up of seven community members: Cheryl Bruno, widow of Mr. Bruno; Frank Bruno, his brother; Lori Bouchard and Mary Hopkin, his sisters; Trisha Moore and Jody Third, step-daughters; Rita Beech, cousin; and Brenda Tessaro, a family friend.

Mr. Thibeault said he was confident that the first patients would be accessing the PET scanner by the end of next year.

(QDMA) and the Township of Assiginack have partnered to host a deer contest.

The organizers are asking hunters to bring in their does, buck or fawns for the purpose of collecting data. All entries will be entered into a draw for each of the three categories of buck, doe and fawn and a $100 cash prize will be awarded to a winner in each division.

The contest will start on Tuesday, November 22 and run until Thursday, November 24 from 7 to 9 pm at White's Shell garage.

Hats for Hides will also be running throughout the week at the Old Dump Road in M'Chigeeng from 8 am to 5 pm. Call Dominic Bebonang at 705-377-4130 for more information.

The MNR and College Boreal are again partnering to conduct a deer check station.

"The check station, which has been operated every second year since 2006, will be open from Wednesday, November 23 to Saturday, November 26 from 9 am to 5 pm at the Espanola Mall parking lot," said Wayne Selinger of the MNR. "The check station provides valuable data regarding the age/sex structure of the harvest and the condition of harvested animals. Hunters are encouraged to participate. There will also be a chronic wasting disease (CWD) sampling crew at the check station. The target sample size is 460 white-tails pooled across wildlife management units 36, 43 A (Manitoulin), 43 B (Manitoulin), 44 and 45."

"The deer population in Wildlife Management Unit (WMU) 43A is considered to be stable, with a slight population increase noted between 2010 and 2015," continued Mr. Selinger. "In WMU 43B populations have been slowly increasing since 2011. Winter 2016 was very mild which should have made for good fawn recruitment this year. Recognizing the need to balance deer abundance with agricultural impacts, antlerless tag allocations were increased from 250 to 400 tags in WMU 43A and from 3,500 to 4,500 tags in WMU 43B for 2016."

There are also CWD depot stations set up on Manitoulin at Manitoulin Streams in Manitowaning and the Bridal Veil Esso in Kagawong, which started during bow season on Manitoulin in early October.

The deer heads are placed into bags, labeled and placed into a freezer which will be picked up and sent to Guelph for sampling for CWD. When the hunter brings in the deer head they will fill out a form with information about where they harvested the deer and they will receive a crest in exchange

Larissa Nituch, senior wildlife research technician with the MNR, said that the location of the CWD surveillance program varies each year based on a number of factors and was last held here in 2008.

"There is no evidence that CWD is present in Ontario or on Manitoulin, but it is an important program to ensure that it isn't," said Ms. Nituch.

She told The Expositor on Monday that the heads on Manitoulin have not been collected yet, but will be following rifle season and tested for CWD.

Have a safe and happy hunting week.

...World stands in shock as Trump triumphs

uary 20, 2017, policy analysts, trade officials, defence officials and an innumerable host of civil servants and businesses are scrambling to prepare for a very uncertain world.

An unabashed populist, Mr. Trump has made a great many promises and declarations on his way to the White House. While his central theme of "making America great again" resonated well with a large portion of the US electorate, the lack of any firm or delineated stepping stones toward that goal accompanying is making that job a lot more difficult. Mr. Trump made a virtue out of that ambiguity when he proclaimed "No one is going to touch us, because I'm so unpredictable."

Mr. Trump tapped into a number of deeply held angsts in the American psyche in his march to victory, and now that the dust is beginning to settle, the rest of the world is trying to figure out how the president-elect's protectionist, anti-immigration and anti-Muslim tirades on the campaign trail will actually play out in the "real" world.

While some of Mr. Trump's railings undoubtedly are setting off alarm klaxons throughout our national and provincial capitals, particularly in the realm of trade and defence, Mr. Trump's focus has been aimed at his southern border, Canada was blessed with an absence of mention through most of the campaign. The reality is that the US is Canada's largest market, and we theirs, so any seismic change in US trade policy can have unintended consequences for that relationship. Canada is a trading nation, and although it has become one of the largest economies in the world, the US is also historically and currently a major trading nation.

To be fair, Mr. Trump has not so much repudiated trade as made the assertion that his experience as a hard nosed wheeler-dealer would allow him to renegotiate trade deals to America's benefit.

He doesn't plan to do it on his own. The great delegator has made it known that he would replace "free trade" with "fair trade" and then gather together the "smartest negotiators in the world," assign each of them a country and renegotiate all foreign trade deals.

Mr. Trump has asserted that he would impose new taxes on many imports into the country and the numbers he has thrown about are indeed alarming, ranging from 32 percent to 35 percent.

A June report from Capital Economics stated, "We would view a Trump win as very bad for Canada's economy. If he doesn't push the US economy into recession by slashing public spending, Canada's exports might end up as collateral damage in his push to increase protectionism."

But not everyone is running to the economic bunkers just yet. The Globe and Mail reports that TD economists Beata Caranci and Leslie Preston had weighed in saying "but, when it comes time to govern, [presidents] frequently implement much more pragmatic policies that attempt to level the playing field rather than rewrite history."

On the other hand, Mr. Trump hardly casts himself in the traditional image of a US president. If his policies are constrained by anything, it will likely be the power of the Republican held House of Congress and House of Representatives that will be the author (and if history is to be a judge, blamed for any shortcomings in implementation).

Another worrisome policy plank is his assertion that he would allow corporations a one-time window to transfer profits being held overseas, charging a much-reduced 10 percent tax. Since Canada's corporate tax rates are significantly less than those of our neighbours to the south, this could result in a large drain on the Canadian economy and a large drop in the value of the Canadian dollar. Estimates of the drain run between $30 billion to $38 billion. While that might not hit our dollar all that badly even in the short run, it could lay the smack down on business investment in the country and that spells trouble for job growth.

A bright spot on the horizon is Mr. Trump's pledge to rebuild America's aging infrastructure, focussing heavily on bridges and airports. He asserts that his negotiating skills will ensure that the cost will be one-third of the current cost of such projects.

...World stands in shock as Trump triumphs

Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan on the eve of the election, that Ms. Clinton was perceived by some as a bit of a war hawk.

“There was a couple in a restaurant, he was originally from White River and his wife was from Sault, Michigan,” recalled Mr. McCutcheon. “He had been an OPP officer before taking theology and becoming a minister.”

The couple told him that they had been following Hillary Clinton for years and, with a son still in the military, flying Black Hawk helicopters in the world’s hotspots, they felt she was the more likely to place him in harm’s way.

In fact where familiarity seems to have insulated Canada’s Justin Trudeau from the character-based attack ads of the Harper Conservatives, that same familiarity played heavily against Ms. Clinton.

In striking up a conversation with a 25ish young woman in a restaurant about her new tattoo, Mr. McCutcheon was told by the woman that she “really had no choice, because of all that email stuff with Clinton, it’s pretty sketchy.” Ms. Clinton had built up a long history in government that her opponents were able to wield against her.

Guns is a big issue in that part of Michigan, with a lot of avid hunters in the region. “We met one woman who said she had never voted, at any level, in her life, and even though she tends to lean Democrat, she was going to be voting for Trump,” said Mr. McCutcheon. When asked why, she replied “it’s the gun thing.” Her husband and family enjoy hunting and she didn’t want to take a chance on “them taking their guns away from them,” because “you can’t be too careful.”

In an odd sidebar, the woman offered up that her ex-husband isn’t allowed to have any guns. “A bit of a mixed message there,” offered Mr. McCutcheon. Some of Mr. Trump’s policy planks may actually benefit Canada. The aforementioned plan to build infrastructure could positively impact Canadian exports. Although there are many “buy local” or “buy US” provisions in government contracts these days, limiting markets for Canadian steel, it is hard to define a path to rebuilding infrastructure less expensively by utilizing only US products.

Western Canada may be taking hope in the revival of the Keystone pipeline, killed by President Barack Obama, but a project Mr. Trump has vowed to revive.

Much of the rest of the nation may be unsettled by Mr. Trump’s view that climate change is a hoax perpetrated by the Chinese to hobble US industry. As a colliery he has also promised to help make coal king again and to rein in the Environmental Protection Agency—so much for breathing easy.

Mr. Trump has vowed to strengthen the US military so that it’s “so big and so strong and so great” that “nobody’s going to mess with us.” Since the US already ponies up more on its military than the next 10 countries, that promise could be considered to already be a done deal.

Concurrent with that vow is the terrifying retreat from America’s commitment to the NATO alliance. His repudiation of US assurances of defending any NATO member who is attacked is unnerving in the light of a resurgent Russian aggression towards its neighbours. The Baltic States are not resting easy these days, but Canada is a member of NATO and continues to maintain its commitment to friends and allies. The thought of dealing with that eventuality without our closest ally and neighbour is unsettling.

While Mr. Trump’s vow to triple the current number of US immigration and custom enforcement officers might seem at first glance to be unsettling, perhaps if some of those new officers are stationed on the northern border transitioning the border might be quicker. This will probably be a relief to returning US citizens and snowbirds alike.

The temporary ban on most foreign Muslims entering the United States “until our country’s representatives can figure out what is going on” is likely more global warming than much of a major change. Mr. Trump has already said that he would allow exceptions for dignitaries, business people, athletes and others who have proven themselves.

His plan to bar Syrian refugees from entering the country and kick out any who are already living in the US will likely prove challenging, the US is already heavily burdened with the chasing of economic illegals. Mr. Trump claims that wealthy Persian Gulf nations like Saudi Arabia should set up a heavily guarded safe zone in Syria—on their own dime of course.

Kagawong’s Wayne Hunt is a professor of Politics and International Relations at Mount Allison University and has been a Visiting Scholar at Harvard University’s Kennedy School of Government, a Senior Research Associate at St. Antony’s College, Oxford University and Visiting Fellow at the Centre for International Studies at the London School of Economics.

“My view is that the system is working as it should,” said Mr. Hunt. “Trump represents something very old and very new. The very old part of the story is nationalism and restoring pride back to people who serve their country through institutions like the military. The new part of the story is his use of social media to put views out in an unfiltered way. Trump made a name for himself as a reality television star. Mainstream media gave all sorts of coverage to him because he was not part of the story, he WAS the story. He was different; he was not an old-line politician. But as president, his chances of making significant changes are far greater in international affairs than in domestic affairs. His type of right-wing populism is a direct attack on a number international institutions, like the UN, the IMF and even the EU, that have been in place since the end of the Second World War. Trump was in the UK when the Brexit vote came through and he declared himself to be an ardent fan of Brexit (“Brexit, plus, plus”). In that sense, commentators are right to say that he has cleared space for a number of populist politicians around the world who want to change the old rules of the game and gets things done directly. Think of Marine LePen in France, Rodrigo Duterte in the Philippines, Victor Orban in Hungary and most of all, Putin in Russia. Thus there is talk of an end of liberalism.”

Mr. Hunt notes that “all my students talk about is what his election means, and what it means to them.” What is their consensus? “They are all scared.”

Concerns centre on privacy rights and an unleashed NSA poking their noses into every facet of people’s lives.

So are they right to be afraid? Not so fast.

“I think the system is a lot more resilient than people give it credit,” he said. Mr. Hunt points out that Mr. Trump is a “reality television star who has been able to build himself up by saying all kinds of wild things on which he has never been called to account.”

In fact, Mr. Hunt said that he sees a major silver lining in the election of the populist demagogue that appeals to the white working class, a group that has seen itself more and more marginalized in a world dominated by technocrats and east coast elites while their jobs are moved offshore in ever greater numbers. “They despise the way things are going, their jobs are at risk, divorce rates are climbing, they are far from happy,” he said. “Regan was all about the positive, this guy is all about fear.”

But by playing to that demographic, Mr. Trump has provided white working class America with a place in the American story again. “As LBJ said, ‘better to have them inside the tent pissing out,’ he said. “They see a game rigged against them, this election puts them back in the game.”

But for Canada the storm clouds do look ominous.

“Canada could get hit hard on this,” he said. As a commodities-based economy, we have a lot to lose. China being hit with trade sanctions and tariffs means less demand for Canadian raw materials in that country and, as a heavily trade dependant nation, a global system where the intricate weave of commercial interactions and trade agreements is torn asunder is anything but good news.

But on a brighter side, Prime Minister Justin Trudeau is currently meeting with the managers of funds that control more than $21 trillion dollars to convince them that Canada is a stable and dependable place to park their money. In a world where Mr. Trump is trumpeting his unpredictability, good old staid Canada could find new friends. “Right now America isn’t looking like such a safe haven,” noted Mr. Hunt.

The prime minister is also seeking to paint Canada as a player in the new economy, with more about knowledge-based industries and high technology than our traditional role as hewers and drawers.

For the rebels challenging Syria’s Assad, the future does not look bright today. Mr. Trump has said that he would allow Russia to deal with the Islamic State in Syria and/or that he would work with the Russian president to wipe out shared enemies—and their relatives. Since Mr. Putin regards many of the groups fighting ISIL as fair game because they oppose Assad, Canadian troops working closely on the ground with the anti-ISIL rebels who also are challenging Assad (yes it’s a secret that they are there—shhh) may have to watch their backs more closely.

A lot of Mr. Trump’s plans will run full tilt into the wall of a congressional agenda guided by senators and representatives where a lot of his policies run counter to the business interests of the people who fund their very expensive campaigns.

It is easy to say you will “force Nabisco to once again make Oreos in the United States” or that you will bully Apple into making its “damn computers” and other products here, another thing to bully your way through a congress that holds the purse strings.

A large part of the US seems to be taking the stance of a Sault, Michigan bookstore owner, however, and studiously avoiding any political conversations. Although a chatty and voluble fellow, very proud of local history and what Mr. McCutcheon described as a “jolly old bookstore,” the shopkeeper “deflected any questions I had about the election.” The same stance was to be found in conversation with the receptionist at the local community newspaper. Sometimes it seems, in business particularly, discretion is the greater part of valor.

Deer Management and Assiginack partner for rifle hunt contest

MANITOWANING—The Quality Deer Management Association (QDMA) and the Township of Assiginack have partnered to run a contest during the week of rifle season with cash prizes.

The QDMA's mission is to ensure the future of white-tailed deer, wildlife habitat and our hunting heritage. Among the QDMA's current members are nearly 3,000 of the world's leading deer management professionals. Their collective knowledge enables the QDMA and its members to remain at the forefront of deer biology, research and management.

The local chapter of QDMA and the Assiginack Township are hosting a contest to encourage hunters to bring in their does, bucks or fawns for the purpose of collecting data. In return, the hunter's name will go into a draw for each of the three categories of buck, doe and fawn and a $100 cash prize will be awarded to a winner in each division.

The contest will run on Tuesday, November 22 and Thursday, November 24 from 7 to 9 pm at White's Shell garage where members of QDMA and specialists from Sudbury will be there to weigh and measure the deer.

Manitoulin QDMA branch is always looking for new members. If interested in helping or learning what QDMA is all about, come and see them at the weigh in or feel free to call President Peter Craig. Thanks for helping keep deer hunting great on Manitoulin! For further information call Peter Craig at 705-282-7163.

Assiginack students and community members plant the Canada 150 garden

by Joel Mailloux, a Grade 5/6 student at Assiginack Public School student MANITOWANING—"I couldn't think of a better way to spend the 150th birthday of Canada."

On October 14, students from Assiginack Public School and community members planted tulip bulbs in a garden in front of the Assiginack Public Library to celebrate the 150th birthday of Canada. The event was organized by Alison Greenhill and Assig-inack Horticultural Society. Holes were already dug. This made it easy for students to plant two bulbs each. A total of 1,000 bulbs were planted.

Ethan Dey says, "It was a great time. It is a great way to celebrate the 150th birthday of Canada." The whole school felt the same way.

The school and community is looking forward to spring when the bulbs will become nice and beautiful tulips. When in full bloom, the tulip garden will resemble the Canadian flag.

...Billings councillor Tom Imrie tenders resignation after six years on council

sought tenants and today all our buildings are occupied by successful businesses. We have even expanded through the use and rental of kiosks to add to the business community.”

Some major improvements to the Park Centre through renovations, improved insulation and the installation of geothermal heating and cooling were also made. The result is the increased use of the venue by a variety of renters.

Historically Billings Township was an agricultural community. Today many of the farms and dairies are hunt camps or vacant. Tourism has overtaken every other commercial activity as the primary economic driver for the township. “We have the top tourism destinations on Manitoulin and we rightfully claim the title of Ontario’s Prettiest Village,” shared Mr. Imrie.

The Township is working with the private sector to encourage growth and development of businesses and create jobs.

“We attempted to establish a brewery in the township, but were thwarted by provincial bureaucracy rather than lack of community interest. Today the brewery is thriving and growing in a neighbouring town. Existing businesses and new businesses are encouraged and welcomed, with more to come.”

The Waterfront Improvement Project will enhance tourism through land art, signage, highlighting historic locations, develop an enhanced harbour with more and improved docking, as well as more business opportunities and more employment.

Given the fact that tourism including cycling and ecotourism is such an important economic driver for Billings and most of the Island, the lack of foresight by the province in failing to provide paved shoulders on Hwy 540 was a large disappointment for Mr. Imrie. “I know that historically we had lobbied the province for paved shoulders and some time in 2009 we received a letter from the Minister of Transport of the day that said when Hwy 540 was remediated paved shoulders would be added. Obviously that commitment was not kept. Poor judgement on the part of the province in my opinion.”

Mr. Imrie joined the fire department because he had been appointed the Community Emergency Management Coordinator (CEMC) for the township, and in an emergency the fire department is the first line of defence.

Mr. Imrie learned the chief and deputy were working to make improvements, and was happy to advocate for them on council. “We now have a new pumper, newer tanker, new bunker gear and equipment, and a full contingent of better trained and equipped personnel. Volunteer members participate in many community events and parades, and even fought a few fires in between.”

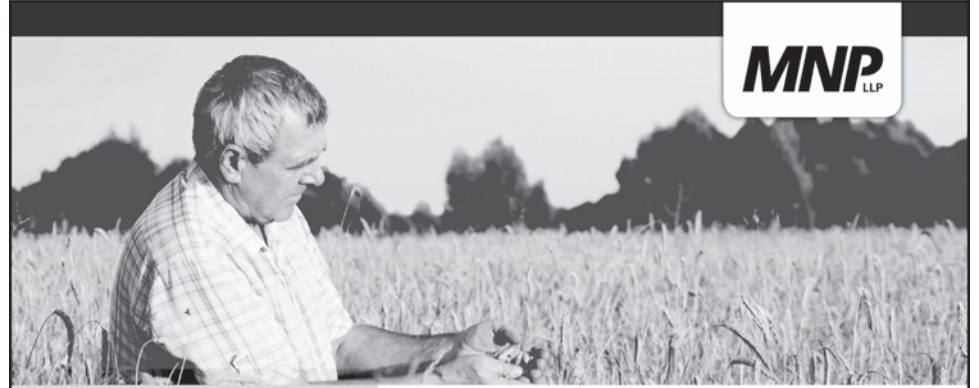

As for the future, “my wife Kathy and I plan to travel for the first time this winter. I have also been offered and accepted a very exciting job near Ottawa which will start in 2017. My plan is to work for a few years and then retire once more and come home again.”

When asked if Mr. Imrie had any advice for those interested in taking a seat at the council table, he said “the job is demanding but rewarding and the mayor, councillors and staff of the town are dedicated, professional and committed to the improvement of the community. Have fun working with them!”

Northeast Town Council Notes

Golden gala

Manitoulin Centennial Manor board member Wendy Gauthier made a deputation to council last week, requesting the donation of the Little Current Recreation Centre hall for the Manor's 50th anniversary Golden Gala on May 6, 2017.

"The event will include live and silent auctions, draws, dinner and dance," said Ms. Gauthier. "Presently we have a large number of community volunteers who want ensure that this event is both a success in commemorating this special 50th anniversary and as a fundraiser for the Manor."

Northeast Town Mayor Al MacNevin explained that council has a policy of not making decisions on deputation requests until the following meeting, but noted that council has supported the Manor in the past and was sure that council would continue to support the long-term care home.

Councillor Paul Skippen commended Ms. Gauthier on helping to organize the gala.

Application consent

Council reviewed a planning application from James and Linda Ferguson to sever a plot of land to create two new lots. Mr. Williamson explained that the Manitoulin Planning Board was looking to council to see if they had any comments or concerns with the application.

Council discussed how it would make sense for the couple to rezone the property prior to it being severed and recommended that staff contact the proponents.

Council carried a motion that it had no concern with the application.

Declaration of poppy week

Councillor Dawn Orr put a motion on the table to proclaim October 28 to November 11 'Poppy Week,' seconded by Councillor Laurie Cook. The motion read: "Whereas the poppy has been widely recognized as a symbol of remembrance since it was first adopted in 1921; whereas, by wearing the poppy we demonstrate our gratitude to those who gave their lives for the freedom we enjoy; whereas the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 177, Little Current, has been honouring veterans in our area for over half a century through the distribution of poppies; therefore I, Al MacNevin, Northeast Town mayor, do hereby proclaim the days October 28 through to November 1 as Poppy Week and ask that all citizens pay tribute to those who have made the ultimate sacrifice in the name of freedom by wearing a poppy during this period."

The motion was carried.

Fixing Our Felines

Council reviewed a letter from Fixing Our Felines, a cat rescue group in Manitowaning.

The letter urges the Northeast Town council to support efforts in its own municipality to help cats, as they get many calls from members of the Northeast Town.

Councillor Cook suggested that council look into setting something up like the Central Manitoulin Animal Welfare Fund.

Councillor Michael Erskine pointed out that the Central Manitoulin Animal Welfare Fund was started by a Northeast Town community member. The Central Manitoulin Animal Welfare Fund is administered by Central Manitoulin, but is funded through donations and is for animals across Manitoulin.

Councillor Erksine also noted that there are people in the Northeast Town who are currently involved in cat/animal rescue.

Library board

The Northeast Town

council carried a motion to accept the resignation of Little Current Library board member Dorothy Atchison with regret.

Councillor Cook, council's representative on the board, commented that the board is stabilized and looking for a new librarian and will be looking at recruiting a new board member.

Christmas dinner

Kelly Timmermans of Country 103 requested that council donate the use of the recreation hall and kitchen for a community Christmas meal. The meal would be provided to any community members who wish to attend, free of charge, or those who are able to could donate. Councillor Cook made a motion to donate the space, seconded by Councillor Erskine. Council carried the motion to donate the use of the hall and kitchen with a value of $470.

Award nomination

Councillor Marcel Gauthier suggested that council nominate Island artists Ivan Wheale for the Premiers Award of Excellence in Art.

"The award is to recognize outstanding artists in Ontario," said Councillor Gauthier. "He is a great candidate for the award."

Council agreed that Mr. Wheale was a good candidate and carried a motion for him to be nominated. Councillor Gauthier volunteered to fill out the required nomination paperwork.

Budget

Town CAO Dave Williamson walked council through some of the suggested changes to the 2017 municipal budget made by a councillor. He recommended that council review the suggested changes and that he would talk to the managers about them as well and then there could be a discussion at the next administration and finance meeting.

He also noted that there had been a suggestion to build a sidewalk on Hardbargain Road next year instead of Draper Street. He said that staff had suggested Draper Street because of the route children take to school, but if it was the will of council the

Manitoulin writers featured in new anthology

MANITOULIN—Seventeen Northern Ontario writers, including some familiar Manitoulin voices, are featured in a new collection of prose and poetry released by the Sudbury Writers' Guild in November 2016.

Former Little Current resident Vera Constantineau is an internationally published, award-winning haiku poet and short story writer. She is a long time member of both the Guild and the Manitoulin Writers' Circle. She is a member of Haiku Canada and the Writers' Community of Durham Region. Island readers will recall her work in Manitoulin Morsels, Canadian Crossroads and Cross-pollination Two. Her Sudbury Ink stories, Daisy Chained and Invisible, demonstrate why her writing is receiving positive acceptance in Canada and beyond.

Margo Little, a charter member of the Guild and founder of the Manitoulin Writers' Retreat, has penned three short stories for Sudbury Ink: Endangered, Mother Pride and Courting Lady Luck. Her short fiction has appeared in the Toronto Star, the Sudbury Star, Northern Life, The Manitoulin Expositor, Outcrops, Meg's Solo, Spirit of the Island, Sulphur, Terra Nord, Morsels, Canadian Crossroads, Manitoulin Cross-pollination Two and Whisper Tangerine. Her memoir of childhood in Mills Township, 'Pilgrims at Poplar Corners,' was published in July 2016.

The Guild and the Circle have been closely affiliated since 2006 with members participating in cross-pollination projects. The Guild was established in 1992 with the goal of developing and promoting writers in Northeastern Ontario. Short story writers Clay Campbell and Laura Foreshew, novelist Rosanna Battigelli, young adult literature author Emily Deangelis and poets Tom Leduc, Irene Golas and Melanie Marttila will be readily recognized by island book fans since they often participate in Writers' Circle events at Gore Bay Harbour Centre, Mistry Bay and Central Manitoulin.

Sudbury Ink was released to coincide with the Wordstock Literary Festival November 3 to 5 in Sudbury. The Guild's official launch took place Saturday, November 12 at the main branch of the Greater Sudbury Library.

Levack native Mark Leslie selected the array of stories and poems for Sudbury Ink. He publishes many spooky narratives himself including Tomes of Terror and Creepy Capitol. He serves as the Writing Life Director for Kobo. "I am delighted to help introduce readers to the incredible voices and talents of these local writers," he notes in his introduction.

Copies of Sudbury Ink are available through the Guild website www.sudburywritersguild.com or by contacting co-chair Andy Taylor 705-507-4931 or MWC facilitator Margo Little at 705-282-1714.

Kenjgewin Teg job fair packed with opportunities

by Michael Erskine
 M'CHIGEENG—Over 20 businesses and 15 public service organizations brought exhibits and presentations to the Kenjgewin Teg Educational Institute/M'Chigeeng Hub Centre Career Fair 2016 where students from schools as far away as Sagamok got an opportunity to learn about career options open to them.

“Our theme for this year’s career fair is Nidaawaabmaa ebezhigoyaa—Looking Out For No. 1,” said organizer Brian Bisson. “Young people are looking for information that will help guide them in the decisions they make for their future. We are encouraging them to take control of their future.”

The M'Chigeeng community centre was bustling throughout the day on Tuesday, October 25 as students took full opportunity to investigate various career paths.

The day opened with a prayer by elder-in-residence Josh Eshkawkogan and a welcome from M'Chigeeng Chief Linda Debassige. Ron Sarazin of Gezhtojjig Employment and Training delivered the opening keynote address to help launch the event.

A great selection of promotional materials was available at most of the booths for the students to gather up, but the Operating Engineers Training Institute of Ontario (aka the heavy equipment operators’ union) really hit a popularity home run with a miniature excavator that the students could operate. Brian Peltier, a Wikwemikong band member who joined the union after retiring from a career in the civil service, was effusive about the benefits of a career in heavy equipment operation. He told the story of a union member from the James Bay coast who had not been heard from for a while. “We contacted his wife and learned that he had passed away six weeks previously,” said Mr. Peltier. To the wife’s astonishment, the union informed her that her husband’s death benefit topped $125,000.

ter, was joined by co-op student Hunter Abotossaway in assisting students with discovering what law enforcement has to offer. Const. Baxter has a wide range of experience in the field, having previously served with the Anishnabe Aski Tribal Police in a remote fly-in community of 900.

Hunter is planning to pursue his diploma in law and security.

Across the aisle, OPP Community Services Officer Steve Hart was providing information on careers with the Ontario Provincial Police.

As the day went on, presentations were given on careers in dental hygiene, the mining industry from Vale, agriculture by ag rep Brian Bell and aquaculture by the Anishnabek Ontario Fisheries.

“It’s been a great day,” beamed Mr. Bisson, “we are very happy with the turnout and support we have received from businesses and service organizations.”

...Northeast Town Council Notes

"There are 23 young kids on Draper Street," said Councillor Bill Koehler, stating that he felt it should not be changed. Councillor Paul Skippen agreed.

Mr. Williamson also brought to council's attention that since the new salt shed had been broken into two projects—the base this year and structure next year—the contractor had come forward and offered a $6,000 deduction if the town decided to build it all this year. The committee made a recommendation to council that staff contact the contractor and have the entire salt shed built this year, realizing the $6,000 savings.

There were also discussions concerning the amount council was putting into reserves. In a recorded vote, committee carried a motion to recommend to council that staff look into putting an extra $20,000 into reserves in the 2017 budget, bringing the contribution to reserves up to $100,000.

In the recorded vote, Councillors Laurie Cook, Bruce Wood, Marcel Gauthier, Dawn Orr and Melissa Peters voted in favour of the motion, while Councillors Paul Skippen and Bill Koehler and Mayor MacNevin voted against it.

Financial report

Town Treasurer Sheryl Wilkin reviewed the accounts receivable with council. For water and sewer, she said that there were $146,329.51 made in payments last month. She also noted that there were currently 37 accounts over $400, of which 27 were due to the billing due date of October 31, five individuals whose water/sewer had been disconnected, and in five cases, payment arrangements had been made.

For taxes, Ms. Wilkin said there were $270,664.54 made in payments last month.

Food for thought

Central Manitoulin Public School held a Halloween Dance on Thursday, October 27. Admission to the dance was a non-perishable food item. The students in the Grade 8 class are pictured in costume with the food that was collected for the local Food Bank. Way to go Eagles!

Thank you for the wonderful surprise party for the volunteering I have done over the years and giving me the Vivian Levensohn Volunteer Community Award for 2016, which was given to me on Sunday, November 6 at the Howland Seniors' Hall. Thanks to Laila Kiviaho who nominated me and organized the party. She was the 2015 recipient so she nominated the 2016 recipient. Also, special thank you to my nieces and nephew: Sandra Pope, Shirley Viney, Rosalie, and David Jaggard for their hard work organizing and keeping the secret. Also a huge thank to all who gave me such kind and generous tributes and for your attendance. I love the corsage as well. Thank you for the kind words, hugs and support. A huge thank you to the Howland Seniors' Club for the delicious turkey dinner with all trimmings. Thank you one and all. It was very much enjoyed by all. in memoriam

WADE--In memory of my son, Brent Wade. Unbelievable, unimaginable, beyond understanding! How could it be 17 years since I last saw you, since I last heard your voice and saw your smile? Nothing of emotions could be more demanding

Than a broken heart, a foreign world, a life without you. Time has passed me day by day, mile by mile. No choice was I given, no preparation had I. For the day you were taken without a goodbye. November 9, 1999, the day I lost you, the day I lost me. The life that was so familiar became forever changed. The person I was, I no longer am. Suddenly, unexpectedly, my life was rearranged. The joys I had no longer existed, Replaced by the new norm I had to create. Grief as my partner has continually persisted. So many times your sisters and I, With events of the day, the month or the year, So many times we say, "Brent should have been here." For so long I was in mourning. Oh, so many times I wished you were near. Reminders of hopes and dreams that surrounded your life Now replaced by sadness and strife. What should have been and could have been Are now and forever left unforeseen. A journey I did not sign up for, Has led me in directions I never thought to explore. Through The Threads of Life and the support they have given, Thank God now I am motivationally driven. Your death, I have said, I want not to be for nothing. No one else I want to feel this pain that is so crushing. Many things I do in honour and in memory of you. I will strive to make a difference in the lives of others by increasing Workplace Health and Safety awareness in the hope of preventing them living a life of unfairness. To you I pledge a lifetime of dedication to this cause. Workplace tragedies have brought about many changes in laws. I pray those who love you will keep your memories alive By sharing stories with their children as they grow and survive, So they may grow to know you as their uncle, cousin, and friend. I thank God every day for you Brent, to me He did lend. Forever in my heart, from now into an Eternity. My Love is with you Always. Until we all meet again, my son. Love, Mom, Chrissy and Laura Loving and kind in all his ways, Upright and just in all his days; Sincere and true in heart and mind, Beautiful memories he left behind. Love Dad, Deanna, Dennis, Bill and Families.

PEARSON--In loving memory of my parents Robert Cecil, June 28, 1973, and Leona Violet, November 9, 1977. Loving and kind in all their ways. Upright and just to the end of their days. MCCULLIGH--In loving memory of Roy Ernest McCulligh, August 30 1942 - November 17 1999. Dad, you left us without warning, Not even a goodbye. I can't stop asking the question, Why? I didn't see this coming, It hit me by surprise. When you left for heaven, A part of me died. I think about you every day, Wishing I could hear your voice just one more time. Dad, you will always be in my heart and always on my mind. You may be gone, But you will never be forgotten. I love and miss you so very much. Love your daughter Catherine and Grandson Aaron.

Birch Island vets honoured during annual Remembrance service

by Alicia McCutcheon

BIRCH ISLAND—Much of the Birch Island community braved the cold north wind to pay tribute to their warriors during the annual Remembrance Day ceremonies held at the Whitefish River First Nation (WRFN) Veterans' Memorial, which marked its 12th year.

Master of ceremonies Martha Shawanda welcomed all to the ceremony, introducing WRFN councillor Esther Osche.

"Thousands of aboriginal men and women enlisted in Canada's armed forces," she began. "Aboriginals served in units with other Canadians and in every theatre in which Canadian forces took part."

More than 500 (First Nations) servicemen lost their lives in foreign battlefields during the world wars with the number of casualties and injuries much higher, Ms. Osche told the large group. "How remarkable that the percentage of enlistments among the Anishinabek is fully equal to that among other sections of the community."

In World War I, Status Indians were prohibited from recruitment for fear of their war tactics and how Germany would respond, the councillor explained. "Despite being prohibited from recruitment, many dedicated aboriginal men had still enlisted," she said. "It is believed that some militia units were unaware of the prohibition or decided to ignore it for they were proud to be associated with their 'fellow subjects'."

When conscription came into place during the Great War there was no exemption for aboriginals. It wasn't until January 17, 1918, after much aboriginal lobbying, that the government passed an order that would exempt aboriginals from the Military Service Act. Nevertheless, enlistments among the aboriginal communities continued to reach large numbers.

Ms. Osche shared some facts

The eagle staff carriers honour those who gave the ultimate sacrifice for our freedom.

about WWI: more than 4,000 aboriginals had enlisted for service; approximately 35 percent of all Status Indian males of military age had enlisted for service; and approximately 100 Anishinaabe men from isolated communities in Northern Ontario enlisted at the Thunder Bay recruitment office.

"Aboriginal soldiers were lauded as effective snipers and scouts; in battle, the skills of the Indian hunter and warrior came to the fore," Ms. Osche said. "Aboriginal soldiers were seen to be adaptable and patient, with keen observation powers, stamina and courage. Correspondingly, an aboriginal background sometimes placed aboriginal soldiers in the most hazardous jobs that the army had to offer."

"Aboriginal peoples, like all other Canadians, were called upon to make sacrifices and contribute to the national crusade," Ms. Osche continued, speaking of WWII.

Veteran Gerald McGregor recites In Flanders Fields while Martha Shawanda looks on.

"Aboriginal service personnel were among the casualties at Hong Kong and Dieppe, they fought in Italy and Sicily, served on convoy escorts in the Battle of the Atlantic and flew with bomber and fighter crews around the world. They landed with the 3rd Canadian Infantry Division on D-Day and fought through the campaigns in Normandy and North-west Europe.

Despite the high number of enlistments, as the War went on, more manpower was needed and once again conscription was put into place, Ms. Osche added. Just as in WWI, aboriginals had fought for their right to be able to choose to volunteer their enlistment. As of 1940, the government's final decision was that aboriginals would not be exempt from the Military Service Act.

On the home fronts, as had been the case in the First World War, women's service clubs and community groups donated and raised funds for the Red Cross and other war charities, Ms. Osche said. By the end of 1945, bands officially had donated $23,596.71.

"For some aboriginal soldiers, military service was an adventure, an opportunity to demonstrate their loyalty to the King and Queen; for others it was a chance to perpetuate a warrior tradition," she added.

The Wikwemikong Singers drum group then sang a Flag Song followed by Tim McGregor reflecting on 'honouring our veterans,' not just on Remembrance Day, but each day.

Veteran Gerald McGregor then read In Flanders Fields followed by two minutes of silence.

As the names of Whitefish River First Nation's veterans were read aloud, wreaths were laid at the monument by friends and family.

The Wikwemikong Singers then struck up a Victory Song before Chief Franklin Paibomsai closed the service, noting that this was the 12th ceremony at the Cenotaph, noting that Violet McGregor was the driving force behind remembering their warriors in that way.

Kagawong Cenotaph Board recognizes leadership through the years at Remembrance Day service

by Sharon Jackson

KAGAWONG—Community members who attended the annual Remembrance Day service presented by the Cenotaph Board were treated to Ben McDonald playing the bagpipes as he escorted members of the military and service leader Dianne Fraser to the front of the room.

"Welcome everyone," said Ms. Fraser, "and thank you to our pianist (Donna Beam), singers, special guests: members of the 2nd Battalion Irish Regiment of Canada (based in Sudbury) wreath layers and sponsors."

Along with the traditional singing of O Canada, God Save the Queen, and Eternal Father: Strong to Save, the audience enjoyed Men O' The North and Taps sung by Sandy Cook, Susie De Kuyper and Jim Munro.

Ms. Fraser read 'Why Wear a Poppy' by Don Crawford followed by the wreath laying ceremony.

Those laying wreaths were: Mayor Austin Hunt (The Government of Canada), Councillor Tom Imrie (The Province of Ontario), Deputy Mayor Sharon Alkenbrack (Municipality of Billings), Sharon Jackson (In Honour of the Silver Cross Mothers—Mabel Wyman Green, mother of Fred Green who was killed in WWII), Peter Fletcher (The Royal Canadian Navy), Robert Johnson (The Canadian Army), Les Osborne (The Royal Canadian Air Force), Bill Temple (The Merchant Marines), Red Butler (The Peacekeeping Forces), Sgt. Mike Patterson (Ontario Provincial Police), Constable Robert Manley (UCCM Anishnaabe Police), Lt. Denis Blake (Wikwemikong Tribal Police), Beverly Wright (West Manitoulin Legion Branch) and Fern Chamberland (The Veterans of Past Wars). Each was escorted by a member of the 348 Manitoulin Royal Canadian Sea Cadets.

Sea Cadet Miranda Mackay played The Last Post and Reveille on the bugle following laying of the wreaths and two minutes of silence.

Maureen Johnson recited 'In Flanders Fields' written by Lt Colonel John MacRae, MD who was with the Royal Canadian Army Medical Corp.

Featured at the service was the military career of Garry L A Riebertz whose parents Dan and Fay make their home at Maple Point. Rick Nelson read a poem written while serving during one of his tours of duty in Afghanistan called 'The Price of Freedom.'

"I cannot speak for everyone. I can only speak for me

I can tell you of the pride I feel to set a country free

Fallen from an explosion and taken into the light

Bury me beneath the flag that flies half mast tonight

Tears fall from friends and family remembering my deeds

Tears of joy fall from the sky for the country we set free

What is the price of freedom? Is my life too great a fee?

If you ask me, it isn't, for a country to be free."

"His life," shared Rick Nelson, "was profoundly changed by it."

"On behalf of the Cenotaph Board," said Mr. Nelson, "thank you for coming today. Following the service I hope you visit the Old Mill Heritage Museum; we have a few new toys to show off."

"Members of our military, such as Mr. Riebertz, made the sacrifice to go anywhere our leaders sent them," stated Mr. Nelson. In 2016 our military is "on the other side of the world in Iraq. Their focus for the past year has been ISIS. They are on their knees," stated Mr. Nelson, "but not down and out via recruitment over the Internet."

"Things can get better," he shared. The question to be asked is 'how did things get so bad?'

Mr. Nelson paid tribute to war leaders such as Theodore Roosevelt, Winston Churchill and Mackenzie King. They each came with a game plan.

Local heroes such as Allan Tustian, now 97-years-old, "knew there was a chance he could die. There were smart people at head office," stated Mr. Nelson.

just elected a new president in Donald Trump. Democracy is not pretty sometimes. America has made their decision. It would be naive if Canada were to believe we are not affected by it."

"War time leaders," concluded Mr. Nelson, "come up with a game plan. Soldiers pay the ultimate price, and pray for peace. It is impossible to eliminate risk. They must see the big picture, the end game and pledge to do their best for us. Whatever the mission, they will do it."

Mr. Nelson turned the service back to Ms. Fraser who took a moment to inform those in attendance that the donations taken at the door go towards donation of the Cenotaph, poppy fund, Sea Cadet bursary, trip to Vimy Ridge, and band equipment.

Members of the Cenotaph Board include Chair Peter Fletcher, Vice Chair Ron Young, Lillian Boyd, Beverly Wright, Dianne Fraser, Rick Nelson and Carol Pierce.

Following the service, everyone was invited to refreshments and encouraged to visit the military display on exhibit at the Old Mill Heritage Museum.

Students and staff at MSS are remembering the past to create a better future. On Wednesday, November 9, 27 students attended the National WE Day in Ottawa. WE Day is a day full of motivational speakers and musical performances. This year the event was hosted by July Black, Chloe Wilde, Tyrone Edwards and Maripier Morin at the Canadian Tire Centre. Some of the performers and speakers included Hedley, Classified, Celebrity Marauders, Paula Abdul, Rick Hansen, Craig and Marc Kielburger, Spencer West, Margaret Trudeau and Annie Bartlett. To add to the excitement, there were several surprise guests: Tom Jackson, Gord Downie, Mike Downie, Pearl Achneepineskum, Daisy Munroe and Prime Minister Justin Trudeau. The speakers talked about hope, love, reconciliation, and unity, all in the spirit of making a difference.

Two new campaigns were introduced at WE Day: We are Canada and #Make150Count. The goal of the We Are Canada campaign is to “Mobilize young people and create the Canada of tomorrow.” This campaign is a partnership between the Federal Government and the WE charity. #Make150Count is a campaign through RBC. Representatives from RBC were at WE Day to invite young Canadians to #Make150Count. RBC is encouraging young people to make a difference in their communities by offering them $150 and asking them to do something great with it.

Mason Golder, a Grade 11 student who attended WE

Day, said, “The trip was excellent. It was nice to be around all the other world-changers in our school and province. My favourite speakers would have to be either Margaret Trudeau or Annie Bartlett. Both of them were amazing speakers, bringing light to the fact that no illness, either mental in Ms. Trudeau’s case, or physical, in Ms. Bartlett’s, can stop them from being people. My favourite thing about the trip was the bus ride home, because everyone was discussing ways we could impact our school and our communities as a result of the show.”

Some ideas that the group came up with on the way home were to start a pen pal program to reach out to remote communities in the North, simple things like playing thought-provoking videos and empowering music in the school, a plan to plant 150 trees around the school to celebrate 150th birthday, to have a Manitoulin Reads campaign to raise awareness about residential schools, an ambitious goal of hosting a WE Day Manitoulin, and many other ideas.

Battery Drive to Save Lives is taking place all this week during mornings and at lunchtimes. This project is a win4 because it keeps poison out of our Earth, recycles precious medals, provides zinc supplements to children in need, and raises money for Free the Children projects in Kenya.

shared his family connection to Remembrance Day. Staff, students, and guests honoured the two minutes of silence and reflected on the sacrifices made by soldiers and their families. Bailie Desroches, a Grade 12 student, said, “I thought the Remembrance Day ceremony was a huge success and truly honoured the memory of the locals that fought for our country and gave their lives for us.”

The MSS Mustangs athletics have been very busy. The boys’ volleyball team hosted the NSSSA Championship, winning and then qualifying for NOSSA. NOSSA will also be hosted by MSS. The girls’ volleyball tryouts have begun, with close to 30 girls trying out for the junior team. The boys’ basketball tryouts have also begun.

“Til next time, stay golden, Mustangs.

Wrapping Ontario in Courage for the 2016 Woman Abuse Prevention Month

Women’s shelters and community organizations across the province are engaging with their communities to address the overlooked issue of Woman Abuse in Ontario. Throughout the month of November, we are inviting everyone in Ontario to show their support by wearing a purple scarf to let women and their children know they are not alone.

The courage of a woman alone is not enough.

It takes the commitment and support of an entire community to end violence against all women.

Shelters in Ontario Need Your Support

For nearly 40 years the Ontario Association of Interval and Transition Houses has been supporting Women’s shelters across the province to provide safe housing, counseling, legal and outreach support services to assist women to live their lives free from violence. We need to work together to eliminate all forms of violence for all women and children in Ontario. Your support of Women’s Shelter Services is essential in making that happen.

For more information or to purchase a scarf please contact Manitoulin Family Resources 705-377-5160

It is the season where organizations are having Christmas cheer in dinners, baking tables, craft sales etc. The calls are put out for donations in "what can you contribute" in all sorts of categories. Baking is one on top of the list for requests. It is my favourite and I have a system in place that is quick and also a bonus for my freezer. The main "ingredient" for me to make things easier is parchment paper. I line my baking dishes with it—I can't live without it. A hint to make it easier to work with when trying to fit it into your pan is to crumble it into a ball, put it under your kitchen tap and wet it thoroughly- squeeze it a bit and while still wet, unroll the parchment paper and place it in your pan.

The following recipes are quick and yummy.

Chocolate Pecan Bars

I always think when you bake one recipe, you are already in the mess, so bake two. You can donate the one and put the other one put in your freezer for the Christmas season. Leave the parchment paper bigger than the pan so when the baking is done, you can grab the edges and lift your masterpiece out, place on a cutting board and cut into squares using a big chefs knife. I used semisweet chocolate and unsweetened chocolate.

- 1 1/4 cups all-purpose flour
- 1/3 cup brown sugar
- 1/4 cup unsweetened cocoa powder
- 1/4 tsp baking powder
- 3/4 cup butter
- 1 cup chopped pecans

TOPPING

- 1/2 cup corn syrup
- 1/3 cup granulated sugar
- 1/4 cup butter, melted
- 2 eggs
- 1 tbsp all-purpose flour
- 1 tsp vanilla

CHOCOLATE TOPPING

- 1 Tbsp butter
- 4 oz semisweet chocolate, melted (I used 2oz semisweet and 2oz unsweetened)

1. Preheat the oven 350°F. Place parchment paper in an 8-inch square pan. If you are not using parchment paper grease the pan with butter.

2. In bowl, stir together flour, sugar, cocoa powder and baking powder. Using pastry blender, cut in butter until crumbly. If you don't have a pastry blender use your fingers until the butter is the size of large green peas.

3. Use your fingers or a large spoon and press into the 8-to 40 minutes or until golden brown. Remove from oven and let cool for 10 minutes.

6. Melt the semisweet chocolate and add the butter; stirring until the butter is melted. Spread evenly over top. Let chocolate harden before cutting into bars.

Caramel Pecan Squares

If you like Turtles chocolates, you won't be able to resist these. For the topping I mixed unsweetened chocolate with semisweet. I omitted the part where you add a pecan half to each scored square because I ran out of time.

- 1 cup butter, softened
- 3/4 cup brown sugar
- 1 tsp vanilla
- 2 cups all-purpose flour

CARMEL FILLING

- 1 1/3 cups brown sugar
- 3/4 cup whipping cream
- 3/4 cup corn syrup
- 1/3 cup butter
- 1 1/2 cups chopped pecans

TOPPING

- 10 oz semisweet chocolate, chopped (I used 6 oz semisweet and 4 oz unsweetened)
- 1/4 cup butter
- 1/4 cup whipping cream
- 1 cup pecan halves

1. In bowl, beat butter, sugar and vanilla until creamy; blend in flour, 1/2 cup at a time. Pat into a lightly greased or parchment lined 15 x 10-inch jelly roll pan. Bake in 350°F oven for 18 to 22 minutes or until golden brown. Let cool in pan on rack.

2. In saucepan, cook sugar, cream, corn syrup and butter over medium-high heat, stirring often, for 10 to 12 minutes or until thickened and candy thermometer registers 230°F. Remove from heat; stir in pecans. Spread evenly over base. Let cool completely.

3. In top of double boiler over hot, not boiling, water, melt together chocolate, butter and cream, stirring occasionally. Spread evenly over filling. Let cool for 15 minutes. Score into 1 1/2-inch squares; press pecan half into each square. Refrigerate for 30 minutes or until set. Cut into squares.

inch square pan keeping the same thickness throughout the pan. Sprinkle the pecans on top.

4. In a bowl, whisk together corn syrup, sugar and melted butter until smooth; whisk in the eggs. Stir in flour, and vanilla. Pour over the base.

5. Bake in the oven for 35

Providence Bay News and Notes

The Providence Bay Village Square is looking amazing thanks to the many volunteers who contributed their time, equipment and materials. Last weekend bulbs were planted for a splash of springtime colour and small cut evergreens were added to the corner bed in anticipation of some Christmas decorating. If anyone would like to contribute a string of tiny multi-coloured lights please drop them off at 5252 Mutchmor Street (Alex and MJ's place). Decorating for Christmas will take place on the last Saturday of November, the 26th. Hot chocolate and cookies will be served at 5252 Mutchmor after we "plug in" the square. All are welcome at this community event.

DL Stephens and wife Shannon had a beautiful baby girl on November 6, 2016. Welcome to Seras Victoria Stephens, a granddaughter to Derek Stephens.

Steve Barclay and wife Kerry (nee Cranston) were up for some rest and relaxation as Kerry is recovering from surgery. While here they recognized John Cranston Senior's sixth memorial with Shirley and other family and friends.

The Manitoulin Meat Spiel was held on November 11, 12 and 13. The first event winners were the Jessie Orford team from the Sudbury Curling Club. The runners up were the MSS boys' team. The second event was won by Wayne Skippen's team from the Assiginack Curling Club. The runners up were the Bob Caddel team from right here in Providence Bay. The third event was won by Lew Lanktree of the Mindemoya Curling Club. The runners up were Del Prescott's team, another Providence Bay Curling Club team. The Hog Draw sponsored by Cheeky Heifer Farm was won by Paul Whelan. Congratulations to all the winners.

Ladies' Night will be coming up on November 17 at Second Time Around. Make sure and mark your calendars and then get out to take advantage of some great deals.

Rifle hunting season will soon be here for our deer population so expect to see a big influx of visitors to our island. We hope everyone is safe and successful in this longstanding Island tradition.

If there is anything that you would like to contribute to the Providence Bay News and Notes, we'd love to hear from you. You can email prov_chick@hotmail.com or call Cheryl at 705-377-7511. All submissions are required by 3 pm on the Sunday before each Wednesday publication of the paper. Have a great week.

Spring Bay News

Our sympathy is extended to Mrs. Willard Sloss in the passing of her grandson Todd Shaw, also to Todd's mother, Diane Lalonde and his wife Jenny Shaw, along with their families.

Spring Bay euchre is at the Spring Bay Community Centre on Friday, November 18 at 7:30pm. Come on out for an enjoyable evening. All welcome.

As my friend started to introduce a woman who had recently moved to our town to become the assistant to the postmaster, his mind went blank, and he couldn't remember her name! After considerable hemming and hawing, he blurted out, "Meet the postmaster's mistress."

Not only have we had beautiful fall colours, we have had some absolutely gorgeous sunrises and sunsets. Did you see the full moon on November 13th? It appeared to be larger than it has been seen in the past 68 years and won't be seen as large again until 2034, 18 years away. The apparent size difference was due to the wonders of the solar system; the moon had moved considerably closer to the earth.

Congratulations to John Reid who has 30 years of service with our fire department, how time flies! Thank you, John.

By the time you're 80-years-old, you've learned everything. You only have to remember it.

We've reached the middle of November, time to start preparations for Christmas.

Ontario Mapleseed Pasture Award
The deadline for nominations for the 2017 Ontario Mapleseed Pasture Award is approaching. Each year the Beef Farmers of Ontario partner with Mapleseed and the Ontario Forage Council in sponsoring the Ontario Mapleseed Pasture Award. This is an excellent opportunity to recognize an individual producer who has demonstrated good use of resources through selection and management of pastures. The winner is announced at the Annual General Meeting of the Beef Farmers of Ontario in Toronto held in February each year and presented with a cash award of $500 donated by Mapleseed. Completed applications must be received by the Ontario Forage Council by November 30, 2016. Visit www.ontariobeef.com for more.

Tax credit for farmers who donate food
Established in 2014, the Food Donation Tax Credit for Farmers gives farmers a tax credit valued at 25 percent of the fair market value of the agricultural products they donate. Community food programs, like the student nutrition program, also benefit by receiving more fresh local food for distribution to Ontario families. This credit helps to ensure that more locally grown food ends up on people's plates, and that includes the people who need it most in our communities. ## Tehkummah Talk and Times

Sympathy to the family of Velma Shepard. Her niece Dorothy Cronk attended her funeral service on Thursday afternoon, November 4. Also sympathy to the family of Brian Willoughby, who passed away after a short illness.

Rosie came and helped me with some outside work on the 7th. A phone call from sister Mollie and a friend, Helen Oswald, as well. Well here it is Wednesday evening already. A nicer day, but a chill in the air tonight.

I beat Mum two of three games of crib, after our cribbage tournament. We had seven and a half tables and as always a good time: high hand, Teresa, 21; first, Graham and Sheila, 941; second, Jim and Dorothy, 937; third, Glenda and Betty, 929; low, Freda and Doris, 847; door, Joan Chrysler, Betty Gammie, Bill Case. Lots of good snacks and treats, thank you to all the contributors.

Margaret and Brian McCarthy returned from their trip west, gone a while.

How are you doing, Grant Moggy?

Marg Case and her sister are off for a trip to Victoria, BC.

Helen O calls frequently; she's better on the phone stuff than I.

I don't think you should spike your hair with "gel," for when I was burning my garbage, I could smell burning hair (so distinctive an odor). I'm a little shorter on one side, but then it's not so "long" since I was bald!

Friday the Triangle Community Hall had a good crowd for the Armistice Day service. More folks than the last few years. Martin Garmiss organized the program, and we had a piper newly moved to the Island (Providence Bay), Dave Beaton. Welcome! Wreaths laid by Andy Bowerman, Jean McCauley, Beulah Russell, and Eric Russell. Refreshments served after the service by the Triangle Club.

Well, Friday I've been planting a few Canada "150" tulips (felt like they might have to plant me, I have no energy.) Tara and Skylar helped me on Saturday. After a nap, I went in and had a chicken burger at Carol's and Earl's, then came back. I beat Mum a couple of games, then I went home smelly when she skunked me Friday night, Cal gave me a good skunking. But he was annoyed, as I'd beat him three in a row (he usually quits after getting beat two.) He fed me supper first though. I took some compost type stuff to the road (camp entrance), threw some bulbs and seeds in with it, they might grow. We do so much on faith.

Today our church service was giving thanks, Remembrance Day theme.

Mum and I were talking to Rob and Donna. Their family has been hit hard this past nine months or so. Rob said within 18 hours of his dad's (Brian's) hospitalization he had passed away. A shock to them all. Today too I met the new South Baymouth resident who had bought Lucy Hill's place, so welcome to Paul Crepeau.

Dawn Watkinson, happy birthday today! And if I got it right, Rae Keating (mum).

I've been singing Dark Moon, but it hasn't been. It certainly has been showing lots of night light!

Speaking of light, Earl has the restaurant sparkling, and a huge snowman greeter. Lorrie gave me some reading material.

Lots of trucks, vehicles going by with four wheelers behind or in the back, lights in strange places. The hunters gather, I think!

Hey, this already is the Hunters' dinner at the Tehkummah Hall this Saturday, November 19. St. Andrews by the Sea's annual big fundraiser, turkey and all the trimmings.

Here it is Monday, past noon, and here I sit in the sun. Could almost wear a "kini," it's that nice. Fussing cats, one drunk on catnip.

Unbelievable weather! The ground is too/so dry that in spots the shovel rebels, or is that me?

Have a good week, I'm going to fatten up on chocolates (again). Folks are too kind to me. Have a great week, all.
