Wiky's Autumn Peltier nominated to receive International Children's Peace Prize award

Deemed to be Nobel Peace Prize for children

by Robin Burrige

WIKWEMKOONG—Autumn Peltier of Wiikwemkoong has been nominated for the 2017 International Children's Peace Prize. Out of 169 nominees, she is the only Canadian.

"Autumn Peltier has been an advocate for the right to clean drinking water and water in general because it is sacred," said Wiikwemkoong Chief Duke Peltier. "She has expressed her concern against Kinder Morgan's expansion of the Trans Mountain Pipeline to the Prime Minister of Canada, the Honourable Justin Trudeau. As a result of her advocacy, she signed a Treaty at the Assembly of First Nations meeting in Regina to fight the Kinder Morgan Pipeline and protect grizzly bears. She is relentless in her fight for the environment. I hope all Canadians will show support to Autumn by using social media and give her the recognition she deserves."

Autumn is 13-years-old and a Grade 8 student at Pontiac School in Wiikwemkoong.

Secure storage of Tehkummah's municipal records catalyst for special meetings calls

by Michael Erskine

TEHKUMMAH—The reeve of Tehkummah's council called an emergency council meeting for 8 pm on Sunday evening after discovering that the clerk-treasurer had removed files from the township office without seeking council's permission to do so. That meeting was cancelled a half hour before it was scheduled, but a second call for an emergency meeting was issued by the reeve and scheduled for 7 pm Tuesday evening. A sign on the town office indicates that the office will be closed until further notice.

The reason for the emergency meeting call is Reeve Eric Russell's belief that the township records have been spirited away by Clerk-Treasurer Karen Gerard to an unknown location.

"I decided to call off the first meeting because it was felt that we should have the police there," explained Reeve Russell when contacted at home by The Expositor Monday night. The reeve explained that given the current heated atmosphere, it was felt that a police presence might be necessary to maintain order.

"Last Friday I put the call out for Sunday," confirmed the reeve. "We've got to find out where all our records are. Nobody is saying where they are. You can't just take all the records to somewhere and not tell anyone where they are. Do you know where they are? I don't."

Reeve Russell alleges that all of the municipal records are gone and that the municipal staff have told him so. "They showed me the empty cupboards," he maintained. "The cupboards are bare."

MTO bans Cup and Saucer parking from Hwy 540

by Robin Burrige

NORTHEAST TOWN—The Ministry of Transportation (MTO) will be restricting parking along Highway 540 by the new Cup and Saucer entrance.

"This letter is to inform you that this office is processing an Ontario Regulation to restrict motorists from stopping on both north and south sides of Highway 540 in the vicinity of the access to the Cup and Saucer parking facility," states a letter from Anna Long, a traffic analyst with the MTO. It was sent to the Northeast Town council. "Restricting this movement would provide a safer environment for patrons using this tourist attraction as well as for motorists using this highway corridor. Pending minister's approval, we will proceed with the necessary legislative changes."

Town CAO Dave Williamson explained that the proposed parking restriction would be on both sides of the highway for about 400 metres, both north and south of the entrance.

This news will come to no surprise to the many Islanders who took to social media this summer to post comments and photos of the cars lining both sides of the highway by the trail entrance, many noting the potential danger this new practice posed.

Mr. Williamson also noted that the MTO would be posting signs making motorists aware of the parking

Ferry's ridership picks up another two percent

by Alicia McCutcheon

OWEN SOUND—"We pulled it out of the fire," an enthusiastic Susan Schrepf, CEO of the Owen Sound Transportation Company, told The Expositor of the 2017 Chi-Cheemaun's sailing season.

"July was absolutely dismal," Ms. Schrepf admitted, adding that the remainder of the season more than made up for July with the Chi-Cheemaun meeting its goal of a two percent increase in traffic.

This year, the Chi-Cheemaun carried 80,786 vehicles, a 2.02 percent increase over 2016, and 206,718 passengers, a 1.19 percent increase over 2016.

Ms. Schrepf said that while the cool and wet weather of June and July may have had something to do with the numbers (certainly regarding the number of motorcyclists, who were down from 6,474 in 2016 to 5,735 in 2017), the plethora of Canada 150 events across the province also meant that the Chi-Cheemaun was facing some stiff competition this summer.

Every one of the dining and entertainment cruises hosted by the ferry was a sold out affair, and the once-a-month Sunday folk music in the forward lounge, in partnership with the Georgian Bay Folk Society, was also a big hit among passengers. Other events included a Craft Brews Cruise; weekly Sunset Dinner Cruises; weekly interpretation programs with Parks Canada Falcon Migwans and Wikwemikong Tourism; the soft book launch of Mark Zelinski's photobook 'Heart of Turtle Island'; and the Stargazer's Delight Tour. Junior Citizen of the Year Award deadline approaching MANITOULIN—It is once again time to nominate those outstanding young members of the Manitoulin Island community who deserve to be recognized for their accomplishments and contributions through the Ontario Junior Citizen of the Year Awards coordinated by the Ontario Community Newspapers Association (OCNA) of which The Expositor is a proud member.

The Ontario Junior Citizen of the Year Awards recognize individuals between the ages of six and 17 (no older than 17 by the November 30 deadline) who are working hard to make their community a better place by volunteering for various organizations, making donations, saving lives and maintaining top grade averages.

The Expositor urges members of the community to nominate these young people of Manitoulin in one of the five areas of the award: a person involved in worthwhile community service; a special young person contributing to their community while living with a physical or psychological limitation; an individual who has performed an act of heroism in the past year; excellence in achievement, such as the arts or athletics; and just good kids who show a commitment to make life better for others and who do more than is normally expected of someone of their age.

Twelve nominees will be selected as final recipients of the provincial award and will be invited to a special ceremony to be held in the spring of 2018 at Queen's Park.

Any young person nominated for the award will be personally presented with a certificate of recognition and will have their contribution showcased in The Expositor.

The nomination deadline for the 2017 Ontario Junior Citizen of the Year Awards is November 30 and nomination forms are available at www.ocna.org/juniorcitizen, emailing jr.citizen@ocna.org, by calling the OCNA at 416-923-7724, extension 4439, or contacting The Expositor at 705-368-2744.

Trinity United Church celebrates amalgamation

by Betty Bardswich

MINDEMOYA—The United Church is no stranger to amalgamation. Indeed, the national church came into being in 1925 with the joining of the Methodist, Presbyterian and Congregational churches into one union.

On October 15, the celebration of yet another union took place with the joining of the Providence Bay United Church with the Mindemoya United Church to form the Trinity United Church Pastoral Charge whose amalgamated congregation will meet at the newly-renamed Trinity United Church in Mindemoya.

The Amalgamation Service was held at the Mindemoya church and began with a recognition of First Nation territory by Marian Sloss who had been chosen to be the first chair of Trinity United Church Council. “For thousands of years,” she said, “First Nations people have walked on this land. Wiikwemkoong celebrates completion of IGNITE Phase I

by Michael Erskine

WIKWEMKOONG—Members of the Wiikwemkoong community joined Ogimaa Duke Peltier, members of the Wiikwemkoong band council, officials from the provincial and federal governments, Hydro One and Ignite Infrastructure Program staff in a ribbon cutting ceremony celebrating the completion of Phase I of the first IGNITE First Nations Sustainable Communities Program. Phase I will result in savings of more than $157,000 a year by reducing lighting energy consumption by up to 58 percent, money that the community can put back into services for its members. As part of the program, the band has installed LED lighting throughout its building stock.

Acting as emcee for the event, Wiikwemkoong Director of Operations Kevin Wassegijig noted that the community was “fortunate to be working with such great partners” before he introduced each of the speakers before the official ribbon cutting.

Wiikwemkoong councillor and elder Margaret Manitowabi opened the event with an invocation in both Anishinaabemowin and English.

“The Wiikwemkoong Unceded Territory is proud to be a part of the IGNITE First Nations Sustainable Communities Program,” said Ogimaa Peltier during his opening remarks at the ribbon cutting. “Our community can and should decide where and how investments should be made to best address our needs. Through this program, Wiikwemkoong is transforming the way we plan, fund and build the projects we need, to create growth and equip our community for a more sustainable and productive future. Drawing the line on harassment is long past due

The last few years have witnessed an unnerving procession of political leaders, media personalities, celebrities and dearly beloved comedic icons stroll down the media walk of shame for abusing their positions of power to sexually harass those who chance across their sights.

When the levy is breached by an accusation of harassment by a woman, a deluge swiftly follows as those who have long remained silent about their own experiences of assault and harassment out of fear of repercussion and the loss of their careers are at last emboldened to finally speak out. It is telling that this apparent "pile on" phenomenon is viewed with some suspicion among the twittering classes.

In fact, we are nearly all of us complicit in enabling the monsters who walk among us.

Stop and honestly think about how you would advise a young woman whose powerful boss, director, foreman, producer, manager, editor, patron, publisher, agent etc. has made an unsolicited and unwanted advance or assault—and then swiftly apologized for the transgression. To help make your decision a little more complicated, the person making the unwanted advance is a well respected and a "connected" individual who can make or break their accuser's career. What do you tell them to do? Those we recently polled on that question paused for a remarkably long time before admitting that they were not at all sure what their advice would be. Everyone polled was female.

It is a lot easier to answer a hypothetical question than it is when actually faced with the reality of a sobbing friend and the potential of real world repercussions—particularly in these days of social media feeding frenzies.

This is a public debate that's time is long overdue. Hopefully, the massive public revulsion that has erupted over these latest Weinstein allegations, and the very heavy economic sanctions that have accompanied them, will start the process of realigning our culture and give pause to the predators among us. It will be a long road, but any journey starts with a single step.

The current allegations against a powerful Hollywood producer don't just seem cliché, they are the very essence of cliché. A powerful Hollywood producer, a casting couch, a beautiful young starlet anxious to make it in the highly competitive entertainment industry, but this scenario plays out across our society like a kaleidoscopic nightmare and it must come to a full stop.

Wealth, position and standing should not be an armour shielding sexual predators so they can stalk their victims—no matter what the current president of the United States believes. There is no place for this kind of class privilege in 21st Century society. Not to be naive, it will not completely stop, even if the penalty for these actions is severe, but it will become far less common.

Statistics suggest that most women have been assaulted at some point in their lives. No person in our society should face such a daunting prospect simply due to their gender or for simply being within the reach of someone with power.

It may be the way of the world—but it should not be. Together, let's make a change.

Bullying is not an acceptable form of behaviour

Reeve and council need to stand up for what's right

To the Expositor:

I write this letter as a concerned and disheartened Tehkummah taxpayer.

Recent events in our township have given rise to a new and disturbing direction and that is the deterioration of a certain standard of behaviour which allows and perhaps encourages the bullying of municipal employees.

When an employee feels so threatened in their workplace that the police are called, there is a definite problem. It is not based upon the fact that a taxpayer has a disagreement with the municipality and wishes to voice an opinion. That's called democracy and freedom of speech. It is, however, not acceptable, in my estimation, to rage, shout and act "in an agitated manner" as witnesses reported to police.

It is not acceptable to be asked to leave for that behaviour and refuse. It is not acceptable for an individual to fear for their safety perhaps even more so when that individual is a small woman who is being confronted by a man who is at least a foot taller than she is. That is what I call bullying and if I know about the situation and don't stand up to say something about it, then I am part of the problem. It is also evident to me, that the Tehkummah council doesn't appear to have a problem with this incident. I saw and heard no public statement from our reeve or council when it should have resulted in an immediate response assuring the safety of every municipal employee and condemning these types of actions.

I am deeply dismayed and disillusioned by this. This is not acceptable behaviour on so many levels. Bullying has no place in our society and I was once under the impression that it had no place in our township.

Strong endorsement of The Expositor's editorial stance

"Members of the legislature or Parliament are not elected to become trained parrots"

To the Expositor:

I could not agree more with your premise stated in this editorial 'Gamesmanship is no substitute for real policy planks,' October 11, Page 4. Unfortunately, "gamesmanship" or "spin" has become the order of the day from politicians at every level of our government system, from the municipal level, through provincial, to federal. The senior levels are overzealous in protecting the "party" at all costs, and become devoid of independent thought or opinion by the individual members we, the people elect to represent us, and not the party who's banner they ran under.

The letter directly beneath this editorial is a fine illustration of this (A rebuttal to Conservative and Liberal characterization of North'), as was the previous letter to which it was aimed at. Unfortunately, neither one accomplished anything but to present further partisan "my party is better than theirs" rhetoric. Oh yes, lots of complaints about what the Conservatives did before the Liberals came along, but little substance as to what "they" (the NDP) were proposing. Likewise, the letter they are rebutting accused the Liberals of disrespecting the North, which of course, they were, and then, just had to take a shot at the NDP too, because they did not immediately object to such characterizations. May have made for good theater and more heckling in the legislature, but in the end, would it have forced that apology demanded and denied to the Conservatives to suddenly bring the Liberals to their knees? And, indeed, what would the apology do to make things better for us in the North?

It appears that any opposition party has one goal; embarrass the Liberals and make lots of noise and press doing it. They don't seem to understand that the provincial Liberals are most adept at doing this all by themselves, and we, the voters, know it. What we don't know is, what are these two (and soon maybe three if the Northern Ontario Party gets a seat or two) will do to make things better for the North, and indeed, all of Ontario. Members of the legislature or Parliament are not elected to become trained parrots, endlessly repeating party lines, spin and rhetoric, just to play follow the leader. They are elected to represent the constituents they made promises to and, eventually must be accountable to.

Unfortunately, this spin and gamesmanship is catching, and has infected even municipal politicians in many towns and cities, all playing for a press clipping or sound bite, while seeming to forget why they are there in the first place. Worse still, almost all are very bad actors and fool nobody after the initial bloom is off the rose.

A nod to Kathleen Wynne's Liberals

Thanks for listening

To the Expositor:

I would like to give credit where credit is due!

The present provincial government has acknowledged our plea for better roads, and they are hard at it. It's nice to see lots of people working on infrastructure.

They finally listened to us about our high hydro bills and voilà, they are coming down.

Our Native friends are starting to make headway with some long over due reconciliation and compensation issues.

Things look good for the future, thanks for listening to us.

Writer condemns use of gill nets

Asks for MPP to introduce banning bill

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is an open letter to Algoma-Manitoulin MPP Michael Mantha and has been reprinted here at the author's request.

Dear Mr. Mantha:

I am sure that you have heard about the complaints here on Manitoulin Island regarding the use of gill nets and the finding of hundreds of fish in, on Lake Wolsey.

I would like you and your party introduce a bill banning the use of gill nets in Ontario. If this can't be done, then restrict the use of gill nets to waters deeper than 100 feet, all gill nets be registered and a number attached to them.

Yours truly,

New Little Current minister celebrated in covenanting service

by Michael Erskine

LITTLE CURRENT—A covenanting service was held this past Sunday at the Little Current United Church to install Little Current Pastoral Charge's new minister, Paul Allard.

The service began with a procession by the Little Current United Church together with Minister Allard and Sudbury Presbyterian Chair Barbara Nott leading the congregation in 'Guide Me, O Thou Great Jehovah.'

Little Current Pastoral Charge Chair Dave Hill provided words of welcome to those in attendance, which included a number of clergy from across Northern Ontario.

The covenanting ceremony was overseen by Sudbury Presbytery Chair Barbara Nott, who guided the congregation through the service, first acknowledging that the ceremony was taking place on the traditional lands of the Ojibwe, Odawa and Pottawatomi peoples, acknowledging their stewardship of "this land throughout the ages."

Rev. Tracy delivered the meditation for the service, thanking Pastor Allard for "inviting me to preach at your covenanting."

Following the reading of scriptures and exchange of promises between the congregation and the minister, the new minister was presented with the symbols of the ministry. Chair of the Worship Committee Ken Ferguson presented Pastor Allard with a bible intoning his wishes that "the words of this book bring us near the Word of God. The bible is a guide that, down through the years, has aided our understanding of God's work in our everyday living, giving us faith, hope and love. This is the living word from which we learn together. Take this bible. Be among us as one who studies, teaches and proclaims the Word."

Gail Cronin presented a pitcher of water, saying "water nourishes and refreshes us. The baptismal font shows us that we rise out of sin and turn away from evil without violence. Baptism reveals us to be a part of the living, loving family initiated by Jesus Christ. Be among us as one who baptizes in the name of Jesus Christ."

Mike and Sharon Terry presented the minister with bread and wine. "The bread and wine make clear that Jesus died for us. In communion we are nourished and helped to grow together, sharing the presence of God's Spirit and blessings in an experience of the eternal promise of God. Be among us as one who breaks the bread, blesses the cup and serves at table."

Carol Hill and Diana Parrill presented the minister with a tea cup and shawl of comfort. "The ministry of pastoral care is there in times of both joy and sorrow. All through his ministry, Jesus encountered people in their various circumstances where they were, with compassion and understanding. Jesus shared in their joys and commiserated with them in their sorrows. Take this cup and shawl and join us as one who shares our stories and participates in our fellowship with compassion and humour."

Reflecting that life is also filled with moments of joy and play, Ken Lippold presented Pastor Allard with a large stuffed toy ape, bedecked with the red ponytails of Anne of Green Gables. "The need of seeing God through child-like eyes and disposition was not lost on Jesus. Take this delightful ape with the Anne of Green Gables red pigtailed and be among us as one who celebrates the Love of God in all creation with joyfulness and play."

Little Current United Church Presbytery representative Gail Gjos presented the new minister with a copy of the United Church Apologies to the First Nations. "The United Church has a long tradition of social action and justice making and has not been afraid to call itself to account when it has been at fault. Take this copy of the United Church apologies to the First Nations peoples and be among us as a prophetic voice, speaking truth to power and committed to right relationships among all people."

Finally, Brenda Caloyannis presented Pastor Allard with 'The United Church Manual.' "We have chosen to exercise our ministry as members of the United Church of Canada. The apostle Paul, in his first letter to the Corinthians,

Two hundred years of a unifying vision

Bahá'ís of Manitoulin celebrate the birth of their founder and his vision that 'the earth is one country'

To the Expositor:

In these trying times, it's not always easy to celebrate, even on Thanksgiving Day. And the further we look beyond Manitoulin Island, the harder it is, when we see and hear the news of fire, flood, hurricane, earthquake, mass murder, genocide, threats of war and corruption in high places. But that's only one side of the story.

For many of our First Nations neighbours, and for some of us settlers, it was hard to celebrate "Canada 150," knowing even a little about what life has been like for First Nations people since 1867, including survivors of residential schools and the Sixties Scoop. But on second thought, maybe there is something to celebrate here, in the small steps we have taken toward reconciliation. We should thank 4elements Living Arts, for instance, for their recent Elemental Festival, which devoted much of its programming to furthering the cause of better understanding between First Nations and the rest of us. Just the fact that we are waking up to the need for reconciliation, and for better ways of living together, is worth celebrating.

On the global scale too, there are signs of an awakening, one that is worth celebrating. Even in the midst of disasters we see all sorts of ordinary people reaching out to help one another; and the recognition that we need better ways of living together seems to be spreading. Racism, sexism and hate make the news, but so does the counter-movement toward "unity in diversity," as the Bahá'ís call it. The seeds of this global movement have been growing for centuries and are beginning to bear fruit.

This month, the Bahá'ís of the world are celebrating the 200th anniversary of the birth of Bahá'u'lláh, founder of the Faith, who brought the message to all humanity that "the earth is one country." The Universal House of Justice, the body elected to lead the global Bahá'í community, wrote in a recent message of some reasons we have for celebrating even in the current state of the world:

"People with divergent perspectives are discovering how to replace contention and the imposition of authority with consultation and the collective search for solutions. From every race, religion, nationality, and class, souls are uniting around a vision of humanity as one people and the earth as one country. Many who have long suffered are finding their voice and becoming protagonists of their own development, resourceful and resilient. From villages, neighbourhoods, towns and cities are arising institutions, communities, and individuals dedicated to labouring together for the emergence of a united and prospering world that might truly deserve to be called the kingdom of God on earth."

We aren't there yet, by a long shot, but the movement in that direction is worth celebrating, and that's what the small band of Bahá'ís on Manitoulin will be doing on the bicentennial of Bahá'u'lláh's birthday, Saturday, October 21. If you'd like to celebrate with us, contact one of us, for instance Gary at (705) 210 0391, or gnox@gnusystems.ca.

Wiky 10KM Championship

The 45th annual Wiky 10km championships took place this past weekend. The highlight of the day in addition to the awful weather was former MSS Mustang, OFSAA runner and Manitoulin Panther Evan Bayer who won The Manitoulin Expositor Trophy with the fastest overall time of 34:45, nearly four minutes ahead of Sebastian Diebel and Brent Walker. In the women's race Michelle Kennedy clocked in at 42: 52, Sara McIlraith was close behind and Eva Maciaszek in third.

Other notables included the first ever winner Randy Rivers, who recorded another completion. Gerry Holliday, whose name adorns the trophy more than a half-dozen times was in attendance, as well as my dad, one of the founders.

Congratulations to Ian Dokum who at just 14 finished in 8th place and Lucia Salmosa finishing in 14th place at her amazing 10 years. Hats off to Greg Bond who is still turning in great times as an elder-statesperson as is Little Current's Leslie Marshall.

Cross Country

The annual Wiikwemkoong Invitational Cross-Country meet was held, oddly enough, in Wiikwemkoong this year. Organizers, not able to use the Rainbow Ridge Golf Course in Manitowaning this season had to develop new trails for the event. As it turned out the weather was amazing for this inaugural course hosted out of Thunderbird Park in downtown Wiikwemkoong.

Individually, here are the age group results. In the eight and under girls class, Fia Flanagan from C.C. McClean was first, followed by a Lily Stewart of Assiginack and Scarlett Mohr from CMPS. In the boys' division it was Jack Bridgeman from the CMPS Eagles ripping up the course, with Kohyn Eshkawkogan from the LCPS Coyotes in second and Ethan Witty from the C.C. McClean Colts in third.

In the 9 and 10 year old girls division it was Zaagaage Toulouse who runs out of LCPS in first with Natalia Pitawanakwat from Wiikwemkoong in silver and Saraya Eshkawkogan from Little Current taking the bronze. In the 9 and 10 year old boys category in first was Jack Carter took the tape for Little Current followed by Cody Campbell of Gore Bay in 2nd and Jack Koehler also from LCPS was the bronze medal winner.

The 11 and 12 year old girls class was dominated by Ava Assinewai, way out in front, followed by classmate, Annie Balfe also from Mindemoya and taking the third place accolades was Michaela Staruck from Wasse Abin. In the boys' division, Davin Deschenes from LCPS took the gold, Brodie Pennie of Manitowaning was second and Jayden Hayden of Gore Bay finished third.

In the 13 and over division Delaney Bridgeman finished in first for the CMPS Eagles, Autumn Peltier of Wasse Abin was second and Autumn Deschenes from LCPS took the third-place medal. In the boys' race the hometown flash, Julian Wemigwans was first followed by Riley Lockeyer of Little Current and Gore Bay's Trent Bell rounded out the hardware winners.

In the school aggregate totals for the teen trophy, Gore Bay took third place, Little Current was runner-up and Mindemoya took first place. Tomorrow is the Manitoulin Island championships that will be hosted at C. C. McClean, in Gore Bay.

Panther Points

Congratulations to all of the Panther Teams who competed in the South Porcupine Ice Breaker Tournament this past weekend. Although there were no titles coming home every team got some invaluable experience and will no doubt translate that into late season grit and experience.

The Panthers' Opener Day is on October 22. The Novice begins the day at 1:30 pm, followed by the Atoms at 2:30 pm, Peewees at 4 pm, and Bantams at 5:30 pm.

Novice Panthers are running a Flipgive campaign and online shoppers can support their fundraiser by searching for Manitoulin Novice Panthers on the flipgive.com site.

The Panther Atom team will once again be involved in the Haunted Trail in M'Chigeeng on October 20, 21, 27, and 28 as a team builder/fundraiser.

Additionally, some great news has been released that the Peewee Panthers will be hosting the NOHA Peewee B TOCs on March 2-4 at the NEMI Rec Centre.

Keep your eyes and noses open for the Bantams who are selling pepperettes and jerky to be delivered in time for deer season.

Support for these and any other team fundraisers/events helps make hockey happen for the Panther Players.

Warrior Cross Country

Congratulations to the Wasse Abin high school runners who competed and did very well at the Pre-NSSA Invitational that took place last week in Gore Bay. Wiikwemkoong had three runners, including two grade-niners.

Francesca Pheasant finished 3rd in Midget Girls 4K with a time of 19:24, Sierra "Sassy" Pangowish finished 3rd in the same race with a time of 19:30. Novaleigh Peltier competed in the Junior division, 5K, and finished with a time of 31:29. We look forward to the NSSA race next week in Gore Bay on Friday.

Alumni volleyball game sees vets take it
Peter Kategiannis set to retire as coach

M'CHIGEENG—While many look forward to the gathering of family, roast turkey and pumpkin pie on Thanksgiving weekend, there are a few former Manitoulin Secondary School (MSS) students that mark this weekend on their calendar as an opportunity to dust off the court shoes, scrape off the rust and play the current crop of MSS students in a best-of-seven grudge match.

"I look forward to this all year," echoed all the alumni players. "Many of us simply don't play this game anymore as we have moved on with our daily lives."

The overwhelming sentiment from the alumni was to "embrace competitive sports and not take it for granted." The former MSS students had an aura of nostalgia about them as they conveyed this information to the young upstarts that have picked up the volleyball torch at MSS.

Coach Peter Kategiannis also looks forward to this date as it provides an excellent opportunity for the Senior Boys to play up tempo, high caliber volleyball against some formidable players.

"We are trying to build off an outstanding year last year where we qualified for the OFSAA (Ontario Federation of School Athletic Associations) championships," he said. "Although we had a very good season, the team did not perform to their full potential while at OFSAA last year. Many of the players seemed nervous playing on such a big stage. If we manage to get there this year, we are definitely aiming to improve on our results at the provincial championships."

The current Mustangs are eager to play the alumni for several reasons.

Wiikwemkoong celebrates late teacher with memorial cross country meet

by Michael Erskine
WIKWEMKOONG—The communities of Wiikwemkoong Unceded Territory have held a long and well deserved reputation for producing outstanding runners and it is fitting that the memory of the popular late Grade 1 teacher, Stephen Fox, is immortalized with a cross country meet.

“Mr. Fox was very instrumental in running with the Grade 1 students and enjoyed running himself,” said Pontiac Principal Harold Fox. “He remains with the students in spirit and like the medal says, he always called everyone a ‘Winner’.”

The first annual Mr. Fox run medals were presented by Mr. Fox’s lifelong partner Monica Fox, his daughter Jodi Fox and granddaughter Vada Fox.

Results from the first annual Stephen Fox Memorial Invitational included age 8 girls, Fia Flanagan of C.C. McLean Public School in first place, Lily Stewart of Assiginack Public School in second place and Scarlet Mohr of Central Manitoulin Public School in third place. In age 8 boys, Jack Bridgeman of Central Manitoulin Public School came in first place, Kohyn Eshkawkogan of Central Manitoulin Public School came in second place and Ethan Witty of CC McLean came in third place.

In age 9/10 girls, Zee Toulouse of Little Current Public School came in first place, Natalia Toulouse of Little Current Public School came in second and Saraya Eshkawkogan of Little Current Public School came in third place. In age 9/10 boys Jack Carter of Little Current Public School came in first place, Cody Campbell of CC McLean Public School came in second place and Jack Keohler of Little Current Public School came in third place.

And they're off! Elementary school students from across Manitoulin participated in the Stephen Fox Memorial Invitational cross country meet held recently.

The inaugural Stephen Fox Memorial Run medals declare every competitor a ‘winner’ in keeping with the late Mr. Fox’s philosophy of youth sports.

In age 11/12 girls, Ava Assinawai of Central Manitoulin Public School came in first place, Annie Balfe of Central Manitoulin Public School came in second place and Mikaila Staruck of Wiikwemkoong came in third. In age 11/12 boys, Davin Deschenes of Little Current Public School came in first place, Brodie Pennie of Assiginack Public School came in second place and Jayden Hayden of C.C. McLean Public School came in third place.

In 13-plus girls, Delaney Bridgeman of Central Manitoulin Public School came in first, Autumn Peltier of Wiikwemkoong came in second place and Autumn Deschenes of Little Current Public School came in third place. In 13-plus boys, Julian Wemigwans of Wiikwemkoong came in first place, Riley Lockeyer of Little Current Public School came in second and Trent Bell of C.C. McLean came in third place.

In the team results for age 8 girls, it was C.C. McLean Public School in first place, Central Manitoulin Public School in second place, Wiikwemkoong in third place and Assiginack Public School in fourth place (Lily Stewart with a second tie-breaker). In the age 8 boys division, it was Central Manitoulin Public School in first place, Wiikwemkoong in second place, Little Current Public School in third place and C.C. McLean in fourth place.

In the 9/10 girls division, it was Central Manitoulin Public School in first place, Wiikwemkoong in second place, Little Current Public School in third place and C. C. McLean Public School in fourth place. While the 9/10 boys saw Little Current Public School take first place, C.C. McLean Public School took second place and Central Manitoulin Public School took third place.

With two schools competing in 11/12 girls’ division, it was Central Manitoulin Public School in first place and Little Current Public School in second place. Three schools in the boys’ division saw Little Current Public School take first place, C.C. McLean Public School took second place and Central Manitoulin Public School took third place.

In the 13-plus girls’ division, Central Manitoulin Public School took first place and Little Current Public School took second place. There was no entry for the 13-plus boys’ division.

Overall champion of the meet was the Central Manitoulin Public School contingent, with Little Current Public School the runner up and C.C. McLean in third place.

Public Relations, M.S.S. Athletic Association

Rory Dearing

MSS always has time to recognize its students for their achievements. Rory Dearing is a Grade 9 student who loves to play basketball, football, volleyball, and soccer, all the while doing the things that most teenagers enjoy: swimming, video games, and hanging out with his friends.

As he is competitive, Rory has been playing sports for most of his life, participating in three-pitch, volleyball, basketball, soccer, and track & field during his time at C.C. McLean Public School. Outside of school, Rory has been playing hockey since Tyke division as left wing for the Gore Bay Bruins. Most recently, Rory began playing for the MSS Junior Boys’ volleyball team. With his team, Rory has played extraordinarily well at volleyball tournaments, stunning his coach with his serving skills. He broke the MSS record for points served in a row during his first tournament of the season, serving 21 points without fault. He plans to join basketball, track & field, and badminton as the school year progresses.

Rory has been recognized many times for his athletic talents. His team has won the Island hockey championships, and he has received awards for his cross country and track & field efforts.

Although he aspires to be an engineer following high school, Rory enjoys his time at school in his science class and hanging out with his teammates and friends. Rory’s favourite sport is basketball because he enjoys the challenge it offers. It allows him to improve in different aspects of his game. Rory is inspired by professional athletes because they reach their goals as athletes through hard work and determination. Being a team player is Rory’s favourite part of sports, and the loyalty he shows to his team mates is strong.

Rory Dearing is one of many talented Mustangs, and with his school spirit, determination, and love of the game, Rory is going to make MSS proud. Let’s go Rory, let’s go!

Congratulations, Rory!

Go Team!

...Alumni volleyball game sees vets take it in this setting and was confident that not only could the 2017 Mustangs play with the alumni this year, they were hoping to beat them. “Last year I was a little taken aback by the older players. Quite a few of them played post-secondary volleyball and it was a little intimidating.”

“This year, however, we have improved as a team and are just a little more seasoned; we came into this game thinking we could not only improve our skills but we also believed we could come out on top,” Greg added.

As the alumni warmed up and the Mustangs watched, it was evident that once again they were intimidated by some thunderous hits and pin point setting from Daniel Flanagan. However, it was the MSS team that jumped to an early lead and maintained it for most of the set. Towards the end of the set, the older ‘Stangs were able to come back and win the first set. The two teams were evenly matched as was evidenced by the back and forth play. The 30 fans that showed up were treated to some outstanding volleyball highlighted by some big hits and some nice digs by both teams. The Jr. Mustangs were leading two sets to one at one point of the match. There was some good natured “chirping” going on between the teams.

The senior players started to impose their will on the younger players mid-way through the match and it looked like the Mustangs were all but finished. However, they mounted a comeback and won an exciting sixth set by a score of 31-29.

The match was evened up much to the elation of the Mustangs and the reminder that the alumni hadn’t touched a volleyball for some time. The final set to 15 points proved that experience usually wins over youthful exuberance as the alumni finished the match strong with a 15-7. The Mustangs lost 4-3 in sets.

“This was awesome,” exclaimed alum Carter Dun-

MSS alumni match off against the senior boys’ team.

lop. “Can’t wait to play again next year.”

On a sombre note, this may be the last alumni match unless somebody else organizes the event. Coach Kategoianis has stated that this will be his last year coaching. “I have loved coaching the youth of Manitoulin for 27 years,” he said.

“Sports is the highlight of many students and I have been fortunate to play a part in so many students’ development in my time here,” the coach continued. “This year’s team has such a good chance to compete and possibly achieve success at the provincial level. With my son on the team, it would be a great way to end my tenure as head coach of the senior boys. I have made so many fond memories here.”

The Mustangs have a chance to host the North Shore championships at the high school in November.

“It would be great to have the support of the community as they continue their goal,” Coach Kategoianis urged.

United Church to join together, under God's leadership, to celebrate the ministry we have shared for many years and the amalgamation of the two points into one new faith community. It is fitting, therefore, that we have given our new community of faith a new name. The name we have chosen and which has been approved by Sudbury Presbytery is Trinity United Church. Today we come together with Presbytery representation to celebrate our union and our new beginning. During our many years of Christian service, God has walked with us through times of great joy and times of deep sorrow and struggle, and we offer our prayerful thanks. In his time and in this place, God has called us to move forward into a new relationship, a closer relationship, one union with another.

"In faith, trust and thanksgiving, we have responded to God's call and we are ready to begin the next leg of our faith journey with God as our ever-present guiding light.

"The church is not a building made of wood, stone or bricks and mortar. The church is God's people. People who love and worship God; people filled with love, compassion, strength and friendship. We have seen and felt our new church's growing pains during its coming into being. We have journeyed through a period of metamorphosis and today we celebrate our new faith community, a joining of old friends and new friends. We readily embrace the offering of new life as we, God's children, join together as one and so today, we lift our hearts in thankful praise."

Following the call to worship by Reverend Joshua Kang, minister of the Trinity United Church, and a scripture reading by Leila Thureson, Reverend Stewart Walker of Sudbury Presbytery (of which Manitoulin Island United Churches are a part), was introduced as the guest speaker. He began his talk by noting that sometimes making an adjustment can be difficult. "We are often afraid of making a change," he said. "I believe God has given us the resources to meet the situation." He went on to remark that being certain of what God gives us to do does not make the fear go away and that the amalgamation was a difficult decision that had to be made. He mentioned church membership nationally began to drop off in 1965. He pointed out, though, that there was the potential to be a stronger body and that God would be with church members as their journey continues. "Trinity United Church," he added, "does not belong to us. It belongs to the Kingdom of God."

Barb Nott, the chair of Presbytery, brought greetings from the Sudbury Presbytery. "Grace, love and peace to you from Jesus Christ," she told the church members and guests, "the head of the church in heaven and on earth, and from Sudbury Presbytery, Manitou Conference, and the United Church of Canada. We have gathered here in God's presence to celebrate the amalgamation and formation of this new congregation, Trinity United Church Manitoulin. With joy and love we offer our congratulations and pray that you have a wonderful and meaningful ministry together."

Ms. Nott also spoke for the Act of Covenant saying, "We have gathered in the sight of God to bring together these two historic congregations into one community of faith. In some ways, this act is similar to the rite of marriage because it brings two separate church families together into one new one. You each have your own history, customs and means of working together and you have now come before this presbytery so that we might, in the sight of God and this community, make you one."

Ms. Nott finished with a declaration and said, "In the name of Jesus Christ, and on behalf of the Sudbury Presbytery and the United Church of Canada, we declare that Providence Bay United Church and Mindemoya United Church are now one Church in Christ and from this moment forward will be known as Trinity United Church." Members of Mindemoya and Providence Bay United Churches stood and responded in unison of their intention to join together Trinity United Church.

The United Church is one of the most progressive Christian churches in the world and the largest protestant denomination in Canada. Women were welcomed into the ministry in the 1920s and openly gay people as of 1988. Today, the national church makes a point of welcoming people from all backgrounds and orientations, including refugees. It is committed to social justice in Canada and around the world and to working ecumenically and with different faiths.

...Autumn Peltier nominated to receive Children's Peace Prize

a huge honour. My Auntie, Josephine (Mandamin), has really inspired me to advocate for water. She is getting older and if I don't (advocate), who will for future generations?"

Autumn has made national headlines since being nominated for the Children's Peace Prize, being interviewed by CTV, CBC and APTN, among other media outlets.

"I'm doing okay," said Autumn of all the attention and interviews. "It has been busy but I know that it is helping to get the message out there about the importance of water."

"She is handling it all really well," said Autumn's mom Stephanie Peltier. "She is very busy and has been asked to speak at several upcoming events, but she is remaining calm and focused."

Ms. Peltier said that they discovered Autumn had been selected as a nominee in September.

"I couldn't believe that she was the only Canadian to be nominated," said Ms. Peltier. "The other nominees are mostly from Europe, but there are so many great kids doing wonderful things in this country. Autumn being the only Canadian and First Nation nominee is a huge honour and responsibility, but one she is ready to take on."

Autumn was featured in the October 2016 edition of Canadian Living Magazine for her passion as a clean drinking water advocate which has earned her the 12 and under Canadian Living ME to We Youth in Action award.

As well, Autumn, along with fellow Wiikwemkoong youth advocate Francesca Pheasant, were chosen to represent Canada at the 2015 Children's Climate Conference in Sweden where they shared their concern about climate change and presented a communiqué on behalf of the 64 youth in attendance to the Swedish Environment Minister and Deputy Prime Minister Asa Romson.

Last year, Autumn attended the 2016 Winter Meeting of Canada's Premiers in Vancouver, helping Josephine Mandamin during her water ceremony, singing a water song during the ceremony and sharing her concerns about climate change and the future of water with Prime Minister Justin Trudeau at a special dinner following the meeting.

When Autumn isn't advocating for clean water and protecting the sacred gift of water for future generations, she enjoys running and was a member of Team Ontario at the North American Indigenous Games this past summer.

"I try to keep balance in my life—getting enough sleep and eating well," said Autumn. "I also like writing, hanging out with friends and playing with my pets."

"The internationally acclaimed prize is awarded annually to a child who fights courageously to promote the rights of the child," a press release from KidsRights' Foundation, which founded the International Children's Peace Prize, states. "KidsRights' initiative has become a global phenomenon. Submissions from no less than 55 countries were entered this year, which marks a second record achievement for 2017. KidsRights will announce the three finalists on 15 November. In line with tradition, the prize will be awarded by a Nobel Peace Laureate in the presence of the world press on December 4 during a ceremony in the renowned Hall of Knights in The Hague, Netherlands."

"Out of the 169 children most nominees hail from Guatemala (13)," continued the release. "Fifty-five children are involved in the child rights theme child participation, followed by education (51) and health (17). This is just a sampling of a great variety of issues for which these children have raised awareness. Although they act on myriad subjects, these remarkable changemakers have something important in common: they have all achieved global impact by raising their voices on behalf of their peers."

This is the 13th year for the International Children's Peace Prize.

"Even if I don't win, I will keep going on with my work—I will keep advocating because it is important," Autumn concluded. "It is a huge honour just to be nominated."

the event series, OSTC's passengers were entertained by nine different professional performers who provided impromptu concerts through the "Play for Passage" program. Finally, art exhibits by the Ojibwe Cultural Foundation and Owen Sound's Tom Thomson Art Gallery were on display in the Aft Lounge throughout the season.

"This year (for 2018) our target will be another two percent," the CEO said. "I think it's a reasonable increase."

Ms. Schrepf noted that the OSTC's ongoing marketing will continue to push the ferry as a destination in and of itself, not just a connecting link.

While going over the ferry statistics, the OSTC was happy to see an increase in child passengers. "This means that families are travelling again, which is really nice to see."

Ride-on cyclists were up slightly in 2017, from 1,078 in 2016 to 1,167. "The peak month for cyclists was June," Ms. Schrepf noted.

Over the winter the Chi-Cheemaun will see another renovation, this time of its Aft (rear) Lounge that will see a new children's play area and Parks Canada area. When asked if the renovation will see the return of the video games, Ms. Schrepf responded with an emphatic "Never!" The children's area will, however, include some information fun provided by Parks Canada.

Monday saw the Chi-Cheemaun sail into its home port of Owen Sound on its annual Fall Cruise. As part of the annual event, a fundraiser is held with this year's recipient the Wikwemkoong Heritage Organization and its language revitalization program. Fundraising events included a 50/50 draw and a silent auction.

"We won the sponsorship to fundraise and promote the family immersion cultural camp," said the WHO's Sheena Wassegijig. "Normally the camp is held in Wiikwemkoong's downtown core, but this year we're mobilizing it. Because of the size of Wiikwemkoong, there's a need for the camp to be on the go. We will now be bringing the camp to our satellite communities like Rabbit Island and Kaboni. This," she added, "comes at a cost."

The camps run for a week at a time, four times a year.

All of the items found on the Chi-Cheemaun silent auction table were made by Wiikwemkoong craftspeople or donated by the community as well as Rainbow Ridge Golf Course and the Manitoulin Hotel and Conference Centre. Ms. Wassegijig was very pleased with the plethora of great items on hand, especially as it was pulled together on short notice—they got the okay from OSTC last Friday.

The grand total of the WHO's fundraising efforts was $2 shy of $4,000.

"It usually takes a lot of time to raise that kind of money, so it was a great opportunity for us to both fundraise and promote our language revitalization program and Manitoulin tourism as a whole," Ms. Wassegijig said.

Limited edition t-shirts at Dress for a Cause luncheon at Little Current United

by Michael Erskine

LITTLE CURRENT—Getting to the Little Current United Church's (LCUC) Dress for a Cause luncheon on October 20 among the first 60 dining patrons will reward you with a limited edition boobie t-shirt. Take note, however, this year the event is not taking place after a service.

"For years we did it after church on Sunday," said LCUC Outreach Committee Chair Gail Gjos. "This year we are going to be holding the luncheon on the actual Dress for a Cause day. Although we have had pretty good turnout in the past, it was felt we might get more of the general community out if we held it on the actual day."

Ms. Gjos said that she found the Dress for a Cause group very good to work with. "They send you plenty of material to work with, including the pink decals we put on the t-shirt," she said. Ms. Gjos purchased a batch of 60 t-shirts on which to put the decals. "They are not all white," she said. "We got a number of colours, but the pink brassiere shows up pretty good on all of them."

The so-called "boobie t-shirts" feature a pink brassiere as part of raising awareness for breast cancer research.

According to the Dress for a Cause website, one in eight Canadian women is expected to develop breast cancer during her lifetime and this year an estimated 26,300 Canadian women will be diagnosed with breast cancer, of whom approximately 14 Canadian women will die of breast cancer every day. Of all estimated

Wiikwemkoong artist featured in imagineNATIVE film

'Kchi-Nendizan' premieres this Saturday as part of festival

by Robin Burrige

TORONTO—Spoken word artist and actress Lena Recollet of Wiikwemkoong will see her film 'Kchi-Nendizan' premier this Saturday, October 21 at the imagineNATIVE Film and Media Arts Festival in Toronto.

Kchi-Nendizan, meaning 'big pride' in Anishnaabemowin, is Ms. Recollet's first poem fully in her language. The film features Ms. Recollet performing the poem and was codirected with Miles Turner. The project is part of the 'Fest Step' short film program at imagineNATIVE.

"I am really inspired by the rhythm and words of my people and I wanted to use the language to create a piece about being proud of our culture, heritage and language," shared Ms. Recollet. "The poem starts off about starting the fire—igniting the passion and being inspired by the language. It talks about the rhythm and the bounce of it, fighting for it and carrying it forward for future generations."

Ms. Recollet said that her mom is an Anishnaabemowin language teacher and that she went for her for guidance on the poem.

"Creating the poem inspired me to learn the language more in depth, but a lot of the words have dual meaning so I spoke to her when I got blocked—she was really supportive and a big help. My Auntie Lillian has passed on now, but my mom went to her for some of the words. The one word I wanted to use for 'bounce' actually had a different meaning in Wiky—people use it to mean 'someone who walks bow-legged' instead of 'walks with a bounce'—so she was able to help me find the right word."

Mr. Recollet's process for writing the 'Kchi-Nendizan' was also different than other poems she has written.

"I normally think about the rhythm and rhyme of the words I'm using, but I found writing in Anishnaabemowin the rhyme of the word was already there and I didn't have to think about it too much," she added.

Ms. Recollet and Mr. Turner have worked on creative projects in the past, she explained.

"I know Mile's style and I knew I could leave it in his hands and it would work with the poem and what I pictured," said Ms. Recollet.

Ms. Recollet has been a part of imagineNATIVE in different ways throughout the years, most notably several years ago when she performed with Buffy Saint-Marie after completing a mentorship with the iconic Canadian singer-songwriter.

The 18th imagineNATIVE Film and Media Arts Festival will be held in Toronto from October 18 to 22 with over 100 feature films, documentaries, shorts and music videos created by Indigenous filmmakers. This year, 72 percent of the films presented at imagineNATIVE were made by Indigenous female directors.

New custom catering firm launched in Little Current

by Michael Erskine

LITTLE CURRENT—Jody Elliott loves to cook, so much so that the restaurateur cooks three meals a day at home even though she puts in a full shift each day at the Little Current restaurant she and her husband Jason own and operate. Ms. Elliott recently announced the launch of a new cooking venture, Elliott's Custom Catering.

She and her husband had calculated starting a catering venture in their original business plan, but settling into the restaurant has taken more of their attention than originally anticipated.

"Now that we have the staffing down solid at the restaurant—our staffing is great—we decided it was time to move on some of the other plans we had when we took over the restaurant," said Ms. Elliott.

Ms. Elliott has been conducting research into what people are looking for in a catering service on Manitoulin these days and the results have been very exciting. "The people I have been talking to don't necessarily want a set menu," she discovered. "I originally had a set menu written up that we were going to offer, but then, after talking to people, we came up with a different business model." Since Ms. Elliott enjoys creating different dishes, the concept of custom catering tailored to different tastes really resonated with her.

"So we will sit down with people to plan out what they want, who they are serving, where we are serving them, do they want to go fancy or more traditional and simple," she said. But that doesn't mean she has totally tossed the original menu she created for the business. "It's custom catering, so if people want that set menu, that's fine. But we are very flexible. If you want homemade soups, stuffed pork loin, a traditional roast beef, chicken or turkey dinner, we can do that too, but you aren't limited."

Ms. Elliott's food offerings tend to the healthy side as well. "We find that a lot more people are being conscious about what they eat," she said. "We get that. We like to eat healthy so we are very comfortable with dishes featuring chickpeas or quinoa."

The catering options are also not limited to large groups or special events. "We can offer options for any size group or occasion, or just to do something a little different in the office," said Ms. Elliott. "But we won't be taking on weddings, yet."

When it comes to catered buffets Elliott's Custom Catering has another unique option for customers. "You can take the food left over home with you," she said. "We will package it up for you and you can take it with you." Ms. Elliott got the idea from her own wedding reception. "The next day we used the leftover food at the after party," she said. "It worked out really well."

Elliott's Custom Catering can be contacted at 705-368-3370.

...Secure storage of Tehkummah's municipal records catalyst for special meetings

 Clerk-Treasurer Karen Gerrard confirmed that the municipal records destined for archive were removed to a secure location, as per the council's direction through bylaw.

"The current 2017 financial files and 2017 and current working clerk's files are still there," she confirmed by email on Monday. "The 2016 and previous years financial files and clerk's files (save and excepting for the 2016 accounts payable boxes) were taken away to the storage unit which is deemed to be the records centre."

Ms. Gerrard noted that she has also sent files to an accounting firm. "I have transported the information requested by the accounting firm doing the financial review," she wrote. "Municipal officers are obligated to cooperate with this review. The 2016 financial records were already audited."

Reeve Russell maintains that the physical transportation of the files to the auditors for review was unwarranted. "I called them," he said. "They told me they would be willing to come to the town offices to look at the files. Somebody took the boxes to Sudbury. Mark (Laberge of the accounting firm MNP LLP, which is conducting the financial review) said they took them (to Sudbury). No files should be taken without the council's permission." He suggested the removal of files from the office "contaminated them." The reeve also maintained that the files dealing with the Government Road Bridge, a construction project that is currently the subject of legal wrangling between the town and the construction company, were removed. "(Councillor and Deputy Reeve) Paul (Bowerman) is the discoverer (Tehkummah's representative for discovery on the dispute) for that and he is pretty upset," said the reeve.

The reeve also questioned the timing of the move. "Why do it after hours?" he asked. "Why take them out the back door? She won't say where they are and council wants them back in the office."

"Access (to the files) is not denied," maintained the clerk. "It is just that in order to access any document or record, a written request must be given to the clerk who will determine if the information can be released, subject to MFIPPA or FIPPA (Municipal Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act or Freedom of Information and Protection of Privacy Act), and then, if it can be released, the document or record will be signed out of the Records Centre and brought to the municipal office." Ms. Gerrard noted that procedure is clearly defined in Section 253 of the Ontario Municipal Act.

Ms. Gerrard maintained that she was acting in accordance with a direction of council from 2016 and expressed surprise at the sudden concern. In a letter sent to members of council she noted "I am in receipt of a letter from Reeve Eric Russell, which was emailed to me as of today's date, regarding the location of the municipal records. It appears as though this matter has gotten blown out of proportion and created animosity. That was not my intent. Perhaps it may seem as if this was done in a clandestine manner, be assured that it was not. I was acting in the best interest of the municipality."

Ms. Gerrard noted that the archival records of the municipality were being stored in an unsecured room, open to the public, in clear contravention of the law. "We were on a waiting list for a secure storage space," she said. "As soon as one became available I took advantage of the opportunity to bring the municipality into compliance."

Her letter to members of council states, "Those boxes contain information from the past 17 years or more, such as confidential tax account records, confidential previous employee files, along with financial records and general files. Other boxes of information were requested by the accounting firm conducting the financial review. The Municipal Act states that a municipality shall retain and preserve its records in a secure manner. Having piles of boxes of documents in an open public area is not secure."

As to concerns of how and when the documents were moved to storage, Ms. Gerrard stated that "although it may seem as if this was a 'spur of the moment' action, this action was taken when the opportunity became available. As I had time and method of transportation available, I entered into a rental agreement for the storage unit and relocated the boxes of documents."

She went on to note in her letter that "The property where the storage unit is located has a security system and the storage unit is a secure locked unit with only the municipal administration having the key. The removal of the boxes of documents to a Records Centre was authorized through the Records Retention Bylaw."

Ms. Gerrard went on to assure the councillors and reeve that "I do believe each councillor has the right of access to all township documents that are necessary to carry out his or her duty as a councillor. However, access must be done through the clerk (see section 253 of the Municipal Act), and the clerk has to make the appropriate decision whether access should be restricted for any reason, such as the restrictions imposed under the MFIPPA legislation."

Ms. Gerrard went on to assert that "I would not consider my decision to be irresponsible or self-serving—my decision was based on the need for a secure storage location of municipal records. Those documents are not current working files, and are tagged for storage."

Ms. Gerrard struck a conciliatory note with councillors, but also stuck to her guns in regards to her responsibilities under the relevant legislation and the need for the appropriate authorizations for any actions taken. "I apologize if my actions taken under the authority given to me by the Municipal Act and municipal bylaw has caused concern for any member of council or staff. That was not my intent. My actions are always taken with regards to the best interest of the municipalirestrictions and, as it is a provincial highway, the Ontario Provincial Police will be enforcing the new regulation.

As well, Mr. Williamson informed council that town staff has been working with Escarpment Biosphere Conservancy (EBC) on plans to expand the Cup and Saucer (32 car) parking lot to accommodate 70 cars, as recommended by the traffic brief the town had completed, a condition of the MTO temporary permit for the access off Highway 540.

"The parking lot expansion needs to be done before the snow flies," said Mr. Williamson, adding that the work needs to be done while the temporary permit is still in place.

Mayor Al MacNevin reminded council that the town has applied for funding from FedNor, but that the municipality and the EBC are still seeking additional support to help cover cost for the parking lot and further trail work.

“Wiikwemkoong is leading the way for infrastructure upgrades and energy retrofits,” noted Mr. Manitowabi. That role is critical, he noted, as “the First Nations in Canada are in crisis with respect to energy costs and failing infrastructure. Existing government programming is just not available on a scope needed to address this escalating problem. The First Nations Sustainable Communities Program has been created to support First Nations in developing and implementing an innovative way of planning and investing in infrastructure upgrades accessing all available resources, including private financing. Wiikwemkoong has proven it can be done and we welcome all other First Nations to join the IGNITE movement.”

Although he was unable to attend the ceremony, Anishinabek Nation Grand Council Chief Patrick Wedaseh Madahbee sent greetings and congratulations. “I applaud the Wiikwemkoong Unceded Territory in exemplifying strong leadership,” he said. “Through the IGNITE program, Wiikwemkoong has taken meaningful steps to build capacity within their community to own, drive and determine the kinds of services they need. By advancing its self-determination, Wiikwemkoong is building a stronger, healthier and more sustainable community, while raising the quality of life for its people.”

“The Chiefs of Ontario supports Wiikwemkoong and other First Nations as they continue to build upon this new initiative and as they take leadership and control in addressing their infrastructure issues,” said Ontario Regional Chief Isadore Day. “We challenge all levels of government to be more aggressive in program development and funding to close the gap on the infrastructure and energy crisis facing First Nations. The home, known as the White house, was located at the corner of Bidwell Road and Scotch Line.

“NEMI was dispatched first, but it was fully engulfed when they arrived as well,” the fire chief added. Two trucks from Assinack and three from the Northeast Town were on the scene.

The two crews arrived mid-morning and were still on-scene by late afternoon.

Ms. Janoki told The Expositor that the home belonged to her mother and that she had purchased it from her mom four years ago.

“The cause will be undetermined,” Mr. Elliott said, explaining that there was so little left of the building that finding the cause of the blaze would be next to impossible.

The Janoki family was not home at the time of the fire.

A donation jar for the Janokis has been set up at Green Acres Restaurant, Ms. Janoki’s place of employment. The family members that were currently living at the home consist of Ms. Janoki, her partner Ivan and their 15-year-old son.

Har-Cor Diesel hosts annual pumpkin weigh-in

by Robin Burrige

GREEN BAY—There were a total of 21 pumpkins at this year's Har-Cor Diesel and Farm Supply customer appreciation barbecue and pumpkin weigh-in held last weekend.

The largest pumpkin belonged to Maddie Heise, age 8 of Little Current, which weighed in at 101 pounds.

Second place went to Bob Daniels and his 99 pound Russian giant, third to Kowan Orford at 95 pounds and fourth to Matthew Wilkin with his 94 pound Atlantic giant.

"The secret to my big pumpkin is chicken poop," laughed Mr. Daniels. "It's the first pumpkin I've grown, but I'm happy with how it turned out."

Matthew Wilkin, age 9 of Little Current, is no stranger to the pumpkin weigh-in and along with his brother Alan has had some top contenders over the years.

"There's not much of a secret," said Matthew of how he got his pumpkin to a whopping 94 pounds. "I planted it in my grandma's (Pat Wilkin) garden and made sure it got lots of water."

Six-year-old Kasey Bowerman's Atlantic giant was one of the top pumpkins as well at 88 pounds.

"I got a lot of help from my dad," said Kasey. "We planted it in cow manure

Communities named 2017 Harvest Glory Days decorating champions

MANITOULIN—It's mid October, Thanksgiving is behind us and it's time to announce the 2018 winning communities in The Expositor's annual Harvest Glory Days contest. This friendly competition is among Island communities and the criterion is simple: decorating in the spirit of fall colours and the Thanksgiving season.

A panoply of Island decorating was published in the paper the week prior to Thanksgiving Weekend, together with a directory, by community, of addresses that had registered with The Expositor Office by way of encouraging residents and visitors to take a look at the communities' efforts.

But there is always more decorating after Thanksgiving and so the final judging was not completed until this past weekend.

In a nutshell, the Harvest Glory Days decorating concept is becoming, each year, a bigger event with more communities getting more involved from the grass roots "decorating the front porch" right up to a myriad of decorated downtowns.

This year, for example, Mindemoya stepped up and the results show for anyone who has taken the time to drive around the residential areas of town as well as the main thoroughfares, especially the main downtown intersection that sports fall decorations on every corner!

Likewise, Sheguiandah this year sports more decorations with every street sign in the community boasting a hand-made harvest wreath and there are, as in Mindemoya, more homes sporting seasonal decorations.

This is the fifth year of this fun festival and the three communities judged, in their respective categories (large town, middle-sized town, small town) to be best decorated in the Harvest Glory Days theme are:

Manitowaning (large town), Providence Bay (middle-sized town) and Silver Water (small town). Congratulations to the winners, all repeats as it happens, so they will receive a 2018 leaf to add to their community spirit signs. (The signs are the prizes awarded to the best-decorated communities, with space available to show wins in subsequent years.)

But other communities should take heart: Sheguiandah is on the way to giving Providence Bay competition for middle-size town and Mindemoya is showing all the right signs of offering a challenge to Manitowaning in the large town category in up coming years.

Among the small towns, Silver Water sports decorating everywhere and any future challenges will have to bear this in mind!

Downtown Little Current looks wonderful with all the lampposts decorated and there is a nice display at the swing bridge entrance to the town.

Similarly, Gore Bay shows enterprise through the town year after year and at Wiikwemkoong, there were a record number of colourfully decorated residences and businesses this year.

Kagawong always does a good job and along its Main Street (the old bikes are a treat) and the Chocolate Works displays and Old Mill building were a delight as usual.

For everyone who has participated in every Island community, at farm gates along sideroads and along our main highways, you are all doing a wonderful job of brightening an already glorious season and bringing many a smile to the faces of passersby.

Congratulations to the winning communities and to Mindemoya and Sheguiandah, the runners-up in their respective categories.

After the disappearance of some of the Providence Bay's community decorations, this display was erected at the town limits in the spirit of Harvest Glory Days.

Ontario colleges went on strike Monday

by Michael Erskine
LITTLE CURRENT—Over 12,000 employees represented by the Ontario Public Service Employees Union (OPSEU) at Ontario's 24 community colleges, including Cambrian College and College Boreal, went on strike Monday, cancelling classes for more than 500,000 students across the province. Although classes at Cambrian's Little Current campus are cancelled, those at M'Chigeeng's Kenjgewin Teg Educational Institute (KTEI) are unaffected.

On Friday, October 13, Cambrian College media spokesperson Dan Lessard confirmed that in event of a faculty strike, all classes taught by faculty would be cancelled. "All teaching done by faculty will cease," he said. "But the campus will remain open and all student support and the student centre (in Sudbury) will remain open."

Mr. Lessard went on to note that any program not taught by faculty will continue and the Little Current offices will remain open. The only classes taught by faculty at the Little Current campus are upgrading. Community interest classes and other programs will continue.

"We have been discussing this situation with our partners," said KTEI Director of Post Secondary Education and Training Beverley Roy-Carter. "By the nature of our agreements, it does not impact us. We are business as usual."

But for the Island's Cambrian and College Boreal students, in fact all those Islanders studying at colleges across Ontario, it is anything but business as usual. As is often the case in labour disputes, both sides lay the blame at the other's doorstep.

"We felt really disappointed. There is no reason that council shouldn't be working to engage with these discussions with us," said JP Hornick, chair of the OPSEU bargaining team in a statement announcing the labour action.

The union made three key proposals in the offer. The first called for 50:50 ratios in the number of full-time faculty to the number of faculty members on contract. The second sought increased job security for part-time faculty and the third proposed "academic freedom" to give faculty a stronger voice in academic decision-making.

Employer council spokesperson Sonia Del Missier, for the college's part, said the strike is "completely unnecessary." She claimed that management was offering terms that were as good or better than recent settlements with teachers, college support staff, hospital professionals and Ontario public servants. The College Employer Council alleged that union demands for staffing ratios and wage increases would add more than $1 billion in costs over three years.

The college bargaining team had offered a 7.75 per cent salary increase over four years and committed to some improvement of the conversion of contract faculty to full-time positions.

The union did not present the colleges' final offer to the membership prior to instituting the strike, but members had voted 68 per cent to back a strike option in mid-September. The union's current contract expired on September 30.

Those Rainbow District School Board students currently studying dual credit courses at the college will no longer be able to take the college portion of the courses, as the RDSB has announced that those have been cancelled. A recent press release from the RDSB advised that "dual credit courses at Cambrian College are suspended for the duration of the strike. Alternative plans are in place to ensure that learning continues for students in dual credit programs. Students are asked to speak with their secondary school principal, if they have not done so already."

Historically, no college student has lost their year due to a labour disruption. The strike comes on the cusp of Cambrian's study week, but also the advent of midterm exams.

Students are advised to check their college's website for details on how the strike will impact them.

ingful way.”

Algoma-Manitoulin MPP Mike Mantha congratulated the community of Wiikwemkoong on the successful completion of Phase I and noted that a lot more work remains to be done.

Shawn Batisse, assistant deputy minister with the Indigenous Relations and Programs division of the Ontario Ministry of Indigenous Relations and Reconciliation, brought greetings on behalf of Minister Jane Philpott and Minister of Crown-Indigenous Relations and Northern Affairs Carolyn Bennett.

“I would like to congratulate Wiikwemkoong Unceded Territory as you celebrate the completion of the first phase of the Wiikwemkoong and IGNITE Energy and Infrastructure Project,” said Minister Philpott in a letter read by Mr. Batisse. “I commend your community’s initiative in developing this energy saving project and leveraging important partnerships like the one you have forged through IGNITE’s First Nations Sustainable Communities program.”

Minister Philpott went on to say that she hoped to be able to visit the community in the near future to see how the project is making a positive impact on the community and to tour the new homes recently built in Wiikwemkoong.

Mr. Manitowabi noted that the $1.1 million project was financed with $127,900 in contributions by the Save on Energy program and term debt through private financing. Mr. Manitowabi acknowledged the band’s financing partnership with TD Canada Trust, as well as the assistance of Hydro One and the suppliers and vendors, especially South Bay Electric for overseeing the installation of the upgrades.

Mr. Manitowabi acknowledged the leadership of Wiikwemkoong, the project team, management and staff in helping to make the project a reality.

A certificate highlighting the “4Es” of environment, energy, economic development and education was presented to Ogimaa Peltier by Mr. Manitowabi.

The second phase of the program will consist of further investments in infrastructure for energy efficiencies such as upgrading heating, ventilation and air conditioning (HVAC) systems, as well as building envelopes (aka windows, doors and insulation).

According to Mr. Manitowabi, Phase III will see a comprehensive residential rehabilitation program in partnership with IGNITE for the 1,200 residential units, with energy efficiency upgrades as well as other structural upgrades to enhance the useful life of the community’s housing stock.

IGNITE is a member driven infrastructure association based in Oakville that operates as a not-for-profit organization to manages the development, design, building, financing, operation and maintenance of the infrastructure assets that have been entrusted to its care by the members. Those members are First Nations and the so-called MUSH sector (municipalities, universities, school boards and hospitals, as well as long-term care homes, children’s aid societies and police services).

In memory of a dear husband and father, Elwood Crawford, who passed eight years ago, October 22, 2009.

My heart still aches with sadness,
And secret learns to flow,
What it meant to say I love you
No one can ever know.
Though his laugh is gone forever,
And his hand I cannot touch,
I still have so many memories
Of the one I loved so much.
His memory is my keepsake
With which I'll never part.
God has him in His keeping,
I have him in my heart.

spirituality

October 31 marks the day that 500 years ago Martin Luther put his 95 theses on the front door of the castle church in Wittenberg, Germany. This act is generally accepted as the point that started the Protestant Reformation. One of his main points was “Sola Scriptura” the Bible only, and most Protestant denominations still have in their statement of faith that the Bible is the sole foundation of their beliefs, doctrines and practice. Of course this is a big farce for there is absolutely no support in scripture for the heresies of infant sprinkling, Sunday worship, the Trinity (this word is not ever found in the Bible.) As many other false doctrines, like the accepting of homosexuals as full members. I whole-heartedly agree that the Bible is the only foundation for the Christian faith and doctrine. In many Protestant churches there needs a lot of reforming to be done in order to conform to the biblical foundation. One of the other main points of the Reformation is salvation by grace through faith, not of works. Again I agree, for this is what EPH.2: 8 +9 say. You cannot buy your salvation and you cannot earn it, because Jesus paid the price for it by his death on the cross. But there is today a big problem with being saved through faith; that problem is that the word faith is completely misinterpreted. Today most people think of it as some kind of mental consent, but to have faith means to believe and believing is living or action. To have faith means to obey. HEBR. 5:9 says: “Jesus became the author of eternal salvation to all who obey him.” ROM. 6:16 says: “Know you not that to whom you yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants you are to whom you obey, either to sin (Satan) which leads to death, or of obedience (to God) which leads to righteousness (life)?” In MAT.7:21 Jesus says: “Not everyone who calls me Lord, Lord will enter the Kingdom of Heaven, but only those who do the will of my Father in Heaven.”

I could give many more scriptures that prove that salvation and or entering the Kingdom of God is conditional on obedience or doing the will of God. But if you do not accept these three scriptures as the truth why would you accept others?

There is a song most Christians know and I like: Trust and obey, for there is no other way to be happy in Jesus, but to trust and obey.

When we walk with the Lord in the light of His word, what a glory He sheds on our way. When we do His good will, He abides with us still and with all who will trust and obey.

John Calvin, another of the reformers said something like, “Most Christians will readily agree that the Bible teaches that we should trust and obey God, but maybe only one out of a hundred will really trust God and do His will.” This is not a new problem in EX. 19:8 the Israelites say: “All that the Lord has spoken we will do.” But less than 40 days later they are worshipping a golden calf. Are you like those Israelite? You know God commands to sanctify the 7th day as his Sabbath, you know God wants you to be baptized by immersion in water in the name of Jesus and have not taken these steps? Where did the Reformation fail? I believe the failure lies with each individual. Every person himself has to make up his mind and say: “I am going to study the Bible and find out what the will of God is and then come hell or high water I am going to do it.” If you were to die tonight, would you enter the Kingdom of God? If the answer is no or I don’t know, start by reforming yourself, ROM. 12:2

LC United Church celebrates St. Francis of Assisi Blessing of the Animals

by Robin Burrige
LITTLE CURRENT—The Little Current United Church Pastoral Charge held a special service this past Sunday honouring St. Francis of Assisi, the patron saint of animals. Members of the congregation and community members were invited to bring their pets or a photo of their pet to church and Pastor Paul Allard blessed the animals and handed out treats.

“Our pets are important members of our family,” said Pastor Paul. “In celebration of St. Francis of Assisi today, we invited you to bring your four legged friends with you to church.”

Molly and Max are blessed by Pastor Paul Allard at the Little Current United Church Pastoral Charge St. Francis of Assisi blessing of the pets service recently.

Chico is blessed by Pastor Paul and receives a doggy treat.

The service was focused on animals, with the church decorated to complement the theme.

The hymns included ‘All Things Bright and Beautiful,’ ‘St. Francis Cared for Animals,’ and a music video of ‘The Rainbow Bridge’ song.

After Pastor Paul blessed the dogs and cat that had accompanied their owners to the service, he said a prayer for pets that had journeyed on.

There was also a prayer for animals and a sermon focused on treating animals with love and kindness.

...Secure storage of Tehkummah’s municipal records

ty. I can be accused of acting quickly, perhaps too quickly, and I apologize for that.” But added that “The letter delivered to me was from Reeve Eric Russell, and does not appear to be endorsed by council.”

The clerk-treasurer then went on to request direction from council, presenting two options for their consideration: “Leave the boxes of municipal documents in the storage unit, with the procedure that access to any municipal record that is stored in the storage unit will require a written request to the clerk-treasurer. Once the document or record has been retrieved, it will be logged out and then logged in when returned, or, direct that the boxes of documents be returned to the municipal office meeting area with written procedural instruction given to staff that access to any of the boxes will only be permitted through a written request to the clerk-treasurer. While the boxes of documents are in any area that is accessible by the general public, the door to that room shall remain closed and locked.”

As for the closure of the municipal offices, Reeve Russell confirmed that it was he that took that action. “The office is closed until we get this straightened out,” he said. As to whether he had the authority to take such action, the reeve said “I don’t know if it’s right, but the office is closed today (Monday) and it is closed tomorrow (Tuesday). Maybe I will get in trouble, I don’t know.” In any event, the reeve felt closing the municipal offices was a necessary precaution.

Reeve Russell said that he was greatly concerned about the direction and current state of affairs at the town. “If this keeps going on there will be no township left,” he said. “Nobody seems to have any common sense.

Nobody is saying what it is they want.”

Councillor Ron Hierons also voiced his concerns about the state of affairs in the town, but voiced strong support for the clerk. “She is doing everything she can by the book,” he said. “Things have been a mess for a long time and she is trying to straighten everything out.”

Councillor Hierons challenged the validity of the reeve’s emergency meeting call. “There is no agenda, there is no notice, there are proper rules and procedures that need to be followed.” He cited the town’s own bylaws (Procedural Policy Bylaw 2008-10) specifically Paragraph 2: “The rules and regulations of the procedural policy bylaw shall be observed in all proceedings of council.” Paragraph 5: “The only business to be dealt with is that which is listed in the notice of a special meeting.” Paragraph 11: “Agenda must be presented” and Paragraph 41: “Notice – Agenda must be posted for public viewing in the municipal office at least two working days prior to the scheduled meeting.”

Reeve Russell maintained that he had “posted posters around town about the meeting” and that the reason for the meeting was “municipal records and personnel.”

The reeve indicated that the Tuesday evening meeting was intended to be an in camera session.

Wiky Road Race celebrates 45th year with 87 participants

by Giselle Aiabens

WIKWEMKOONG—The 45th running of the Wiky Road Race, held this past Sunday, was a great success despite the weather's efforts to put a damper on the annual race. Weather alerts calling for a torrential downpour on the morning of the race did little to deter the 53 runners and 34 walkers who braved the elements in order to participate in what many typically described as a fun race.

The walkers' division began under ideal conditions with a nice breeze under grey skies and the rain holding off, however, as the runners' division began, so did the rain and conditions became quite cold and windy within about 10 minutes into the race.

Yvonne Harbinson of Wiikwemkoong, who has recently come back to her home community, and is currently undergoing chemotherapy, was in great spirits prior to the race as she prepared to participate in the walkers' division. She expressed that she was there to "finish the 10-kilometre route and to have fun."

Friends Simon Diebel and Tanner Oreskovich were in Wiikwemkoong to participate in the runners' division. Mr. Diebel, a seasoned vet, "used to do (the run) as a kid" and is pleased to be continuing the tradition since moving back to the island in recent years. This will be his third consecutive year running the race which he characterizes as a "good, fun fitness activity to do" in which he can prove to himself every year that he can still run 10km while always trying to do so under an hour.

Mr. Oreskovich, on the other hand, is a first-time participant, taking up the invitation from Mr. Diebel to join him in the run. He ran cross country races in high school but hasn't been running regularly since being in university. However, having just recently turned 25, he's started running again in an effort to "get in better shape and to be healthier at 35 than 25." He set himself a personal goal to finish the race in "just a little under 50 minutes."

The race was won by recent 50K Canadian Trail Championships Lost Soul Ultramarathon winner Evan Bayer with a time of 34:45. Mr. Bayer, who was awarded The Manitoulin Expositor Trophy for top male finisher, was supposed to fly back to Calgary on Saturday after a visit with family but opted to bump his flight in order to participate in the race. He was feeling good coming into the race and was "hoping to be a bit faster" but conceded that the weather played a factor in his final race result. Despite not having the result he would have liked, he was pleased to be back in the race which he last ran while in high school in 2001.

The Board of Education Award for top female finisher went to Michelle Kennedy with a finish time of 42:52. Kennedy said that she actually enjoyed the rain because "when it rains it adds an extra challenge."

After the race, this reporter caught up with friends Diebel and Oreskovich to get after race impressions. Mr. Diebel found the race to be very tough with the rain and cold weather but was still pleased at having broken his time goal of well under an hour and likewise Mr. Oreskovich also met his goal by about 10 seconds, "which was good considering the heart attack and continues to be involved in the run because "it makes everyone feel good." When asked about how the run began and the need for having a 10K race in the community, he explains that doing so was key to getting young people running and that at the time there was no other 10K race around for the youth to be involved in. He is especially proud of the fact that this race has an "under 8" age category, whereas many other races have the bracket of 12- to 13-year-olds as their youngest age category.

Jerry Holliday, who ran a summer running program in Wiikwemkoong, came to the race expecting that he might witness Mr. Bayer breaking one of his old records. Due to the inclement weather, Mr. Bayer's former high school coach did not get to witness any new records but hopes that he might at another time in the future. As for Mr. Holliday, he does think about running the race again but is "not looking to break any more records."

An awards ceremony was held immediately after the race in which special thanks was given to Daniel Wassengeso and the Wikwemikong Health Centre for taking the reigns and continuing the key organizing of the race.

The race brought out many return participants as well as first timers, including Ross Wilson from South Africa who found the Wiky Road Race while 'googling' nearby races. The race was an opportunity for old running buddies, organizers and coaches to reminisce about days and runs gone by while new runners were able to start new traditions and create new memories.

weather, which was pretty bad." Both friends say that they will be back next year.

There were plenty of long time friends in attendance at the event including two of the original founders, Henry Hoy and Larry Leblanc, along with seven-time race winner Jerry Holliday and first ever race winner Randy Rivers.

Mr. Rivers, who is now living in Toronto, was pleased to be back at the race and expressed pride in the runners as well as the organizers for continuing to organize the event annually which, he stated, he was "very happy about." He's looking forward to returning in coming years to perhaps run the entire race.

In the early days when the race was in its infancy, Mr. Leblanc said he never imagined it at this level and is "happy to see that it's still going on and that the Wikwemikong Health Centre has taken it on" because the race isn't just about the running, but is also about a healthy community. Mr. Leblanc commended the runners "as one tough crowd" for running in the wind and rain and with Mr. Bayer the 2016 Canadian National Duathlon champion in the race, they were also up against some pretty tough competition

Mr. Hoy, one of the key organizers, attributes running to saving his life after having a minor

The regular meeting on October 10 focused on representative reports, planning for coming events and vacant positions, both executive and representative.

Reports of continuing fundraisers were positive. Coin boxes continue to be a super source of revenue. Thanks to the businesses that display the boxes for easy access. More boxes are being ordered. If your business/public venue would like a coin box, call Dave at 705-368-1709.

The book sales at the Farmers' Market from May till Thanksgiving were very successful. The sales were the best ever! Thanks for your support in donating and buying. There will probably be a book sale in the hospital cafeteria in late November or early December. The In Memoriam Fund is an important source of income for the Auxiliary, especially for equipment purchases. The tuck cart/showcase keeps on keeping on! There was discussion about lack of interest and slower sales. The Harvest Sale was held on September 30 at the Farmers' Market. Although there were not as many donations as usual, sales were good.

Coming events include the cookie walk, the Regional Spring Conference and ornament sales for the Memory Tree. Details for the cookie walk will be in the next newsletter. The Regional Conference is on May 4, 5, and 6 at the Complex in Little Current. It is a joint effort of the Auxiliaries in Little Current and Mindemoya. Planning meetings are underway and some speakers have been confirmed. A large number of auxiliary representatives from Northeastern Ontario will be attending. Ornament sales will begin at Ladies Night on November 23 and at the Tuck Cart in early December. Stained glass and wooden ornaments will be sold.

hours so she regretfully announced her resignation from the executive. Sue has done an excellent job and has been an asset to the Auxiliary. For years, she has been the backbone of the organization of the casserole dinner and the Harvest Sale. Sue, we'll miss you!

A new secretary has to be appointed by the executive or an election has to be held. Anyone interested? Call Elaine at 705-368-3038. We also need a goodwill representative. The position involves sending cards to members who are ailing, grieving, need a pick me up or special congratulations. About three cards a month are sent. Perhaps an associate plus member or new member would like to take it on. Call Elaine at 705-368-3038.

Looking ahead, the Christmas supper is on December 12 and the next regular meeting is on November 14 at 7 pm in the Multi-Purpose Room.

Remember that we succeed because you support us! Many thanks!

There are two vacancies. One is for the position of secretary. Congratulations to Sue Lafreniere on her promotion at the TD Canada Trust. Her new position will involve concentrated training and extra 'Sub: Real Life on Board with the Hidden Heroes of the Royal Navy's Silent Service' by author Danny Danziger is an informative and fascinating read. Danziger was given unique personal contact and access aboard a British submarine. He experienced firsthand the day-to-day operations, special maneuvers, stealth in the deeps and had hours of conversation with members of this exclusive undersea boat crew. This book chronicles the author's journey and introduces us to the character of the 'unsung' people who roam the oceans keeping us safe.

Melissa Fung is a reporter for CBC and she has covered many subjects both national and international. 'Under an Afghan Sky' by Fung is the shocking true story of her abduction and life as a hostage of the Taliban in Afghanistan. This story is intensely effective and vividly written—an amazingly candid account that demonstrates a real will to survive.

A Shogun in 16th century Japan loses his only child and then passes the title of heir to his formerly unknown illegitimate son, but things are not what they seem. One of the young men at the Shogun's court tries to figure out what is going on as different parties set on gaining power and influence attempt to shut down his investigations.

'The Shogun's Daughter' by Laura Joh Rowland is an intricately complex and beautifully written tale from a time long past.

'Inherit the Dead' is a thriller that has been created through a unique storytelling method. Each of the book's 20 chapters is written by a different crime writer.

The story features Private Investigator Perry Christo—once a police officer, he was relieved from duty over corruption allegations. When a rich socialite offers him big money to find her missing daughter, Christo gets deeply involved in the case. The clues begin to weave and whirl as it becomes obvious that everyone concerned is covering up and/or concealing the truth. This is a rare opportunity to sample and experience the writing skills and talents of so many terrific authors from the crime/mystery/thriller ranks.

Young Adult Pick: 'Half Bad' by Sally Green.

DVD Pick: 'The Theory of Everything' starring Eddie Redmayne and Felicity Jones. The life story of renowned astrophysicist Stephen Hawking—superlative acting!

The cooler weather doesn't stop the Mustangs from being their best and trying new things.

Manitoulin Secondary School is hosting the Pre-NSSSA and NSSSA X-Country meets. The races will be held at the Manitoulin Island Country Club Golf Course. Pre-NSSSA was on Friday, October 13, and NSSSA is on Friday, October 20. The MSS Pre-NSSSA team was Marjorie Scott, Amber Wiwchar, Beth Wiwchar, Connor Phillips, Gabby Corbiere, Douglas Robinson, Mackenzie Cortes and Larissa Chevrette. Pre-NSSSA gave runners the opportunity to get used to the routes they will be running at the real NSSSA Championship on October 20. SHARE/Go Green is running the canteen at the events, and will be selling hot dogs, Gatorade, chips, granola bars and fruit for the runners and attendees.

On Tuesday, October 10, MSS hosted its second basketball game of the year against W.C. Eaket. W.C. Eaket won after a tough game. The girls' basketball team is playing at MSS against Espanola on October 19. The MSS boys' volleyball teams travelled to Espanola on October 11. The senior boys' team continued their undefeated run, winning all games during the day. The junior boys' team played exceptionally well, winning two out of their four games. Mr. Kategiannis, coaching the senior team, and Mr. Gurney, coaching the junior team, are both proud of the progress their teams are making.

MSS will be participating in Waste Reduction week from October 16-21. There will be separate events to raise awareness: a clothing drive, waste audit, blue shirt day, reusable water bottle day and recyclable lunches. This is a great opportunity for students and staff to bring out their best and help change the world. Share/Go Green is also starting to organize We Scare Hunger, a non-perishable food drive, to collect for Manitoulin Family Resources.

Mr. Davy took a group of students in the Robotics Club to North Bay for a First Robotics Conference. The group left on Friday, October 13 at lunch to go to the conference, where they could gather intel on how to win at the upcoming robotics competitions. The students who went were Sam Hill, Jacob Hallaert, Dillon Dunlop, Pierre Debassige and JD Herlehy.

Auditions for the MSS production of The Sound of Music took place from October 16-18 after school. Students auditioning had to perform a one minute piece of music of their choice, a monologue if they were auditioning for a speaking part, and a dance portion. The open auditions for elementary students will be taking place at MSS on October 21 from 11-12. Positions are also available to help with makeup, costuming and tech.

Students' Council Executive has a new Special Events Coordinator: Denver Lee-son. As her first undertaking, she is coordinating the first dance of the school year, which is taking place on Friday, October 20. The '80s Neon dance is being hosted by Students' Council, and tickets are being sold for $5 a person and $8 for a couple.

The MSS Mustangs are constantly learning, whether it's about winning a race, saving the world, or performing on stage. 'Til next time, stay golden, Mustangs.

Providence Bay News and Notes

The Providence Bay Agricultural Society put out a thank you to JJ Pole Line Construction of Little Current for donating their services to help them complete some electrical work on the Providence Bay Fairgrounds. Much appreciated.

We had a mixed bag of weather for Thanksgiving weekend from strong winds and rain to lovely fall weather. There were many visitors to the Island visiting family and friends and taking advantage of the long holiday weekend.

Glen and Mona Bryan from Windsor were up at their cottage.

Bryan Morgan was up to visit his parents Sandy and Mike Morgan and enjoyed seeing cousin Kathy Warner (nee Simpson).

Lesley Kerckhoff and daughter Emily were home visiting Dad/Grandpa Les Glanville and brother Charlie. They all took the opportunity to spend some time together as a family with Mom/Grandma Elsie at the Wikwemikong Nursing Home.

Keith McAllister was spotted walking down the street with his little dog on lead. He had a couple of his daughters with him who were collecting garbage along their walk. Keith and Brenda must be so proud of the family that they've raised together and are beautiful role models for the youth in our community.

Our own local Lake Huron Fish & Chips Co. was mentioned in Porter Magazine recently. The article was about adventures in Sudbury and the author wrote "we drove down to Providence Bay for a meal at Lake Huron Fish & Chips...after feasting on perfectly flaky, locally caught fish and crispy fries, we curled up in our little cabin."

Longtime resident Doris Wilson has moved away to be closer to her family and to start a new chapter in her life. Daughter Jenn Wilson will enjoy having her Mom closer to her. Your presence in Providence Bay will be missed Doris.

The Mindemoya Bridge on Highway 551 must be coming closer to completion. The new double lane bridge has its base and cement side rails in place. The pavement that was put down in the spring leading to the bailey bridge has been lifted. We are expecting that soon the bridge will be paved and the stoplight removed.

Toots McDermid's party to celebrate her 90th birthday was held on Saturday, October 14 and was very well attended as befit the former co-owner of McDermid's Home Hardware along with her late husband Murray. It was held at the Curling Club. Daughter Sally Dawson was here to take in the festivities.

Happy belated birthday wishes go out to Kevin Patterson who celebrated on Monday, October 16. Marie Neill also celebrated the same day. Happy Birthday.

A reminder that the monthly euchre tournament that is held the last Tuesday of every month has been moved up a week this month due to Halloween falling on the last Tuesday of the month this year. The tournament will be held October 24 at 8 pm at the Twilight Seniors Club. All are welcome, but you need a partner to play.

If you have something that you would like to contribute to the Providence Bay News and Notes, please let us know. We know the amazing people and things that happen in our community but let's allow everyone to know. If there is an upcoming birthday, anniversary, fundraiser or celebration, please let us know. You can email Cheryl at prov_chick@hotmail.com or call her at 705-862-1613.

Submissions must be received by each Sunday at 3 pm for submission in the following Wednesday publication of the paper. We look forward to hearing from you.

Tehkummah News and Notes

Kevin and Brianna Gilbert stopped to say hello. They were meeting Lisa, who was coming on the ferry last Friday.

Here it is Thanksgiving weekend and Marg Reckham just arrived at her son's home. We sat and visited in the lovely sunshine. Bob and Valerie Brill came across from the store, said we were creating a disturbance in downtown Tehkummah! They were heading to their Windfall Lake home for the last weekend of summer?

My gosh, it takes the moon a long time to come from South Baymouth to Tehkummah. It's just lighting up my yard now, 9:30 pm, and I saw it rising above the trees as the Cheech left port. There was even a girl standing on a picnic table to take photos of that orange orb! 100 cars/pieces off, 42 cars/pieces on. Just had a cup of tea with the neighbours. Dave was visiting there too.

Saturday evening met a nice lady who is interested in settling here, sounds like she loves the Island.

Stopped at Mum's, a four-handed crib game on with Simon and Dorothy against winners Mum and Lori. Simon left, and I sat in. Each team got a skunk five games later, Dorothy and I the champions.

The deer hunters won't have to go too far for the game, as Friday night one was walking in Ward's driveway, probably eating our wind fallen apples, and then on Sunday evening.

I just about got run over by a reindeer in my own backyard! (re: song) Sunday, I think. I took a drive into Michael's Bay. I was going to pick the rosehips, for jelly at the old restaurant, but the birds, or time, had beat me to it. Speaking of "thyme," I picked a bit of it though. Scattered wild flower seeds on my travels that day, met a couple of salmon/ rainbow/ watchers, Doug and Kim, such lovely weather, and gorgeous scenery. Shorts weather on Thanksgiving Monday. Marg sat out with me in the morning, 10 at Tara and Ray's for the great turkey dinner. Sherry back from her (their) trip to Cancun. Travis and Alicia are here from Gore Bay. We were having a great visit. Cal came along, and he had had his Thanksgiving dinner with Lyle and Shirley's family.

We got an emergency call to go to bingo, they needed players, so Tara and I rescued them. We both won enough to pay our way, so that was OK, cause I had to borrow. I was so beat when it was time to leave the place, I couldn't get off the chair. How embarrassing is that. Niece Lori gave me a hoist. Poor kid, I should call to see if her back's OK. My bones are getting worse!

Hostile territory on Manitoulin ferry dock as things drone along?

Three tables for bid euchre, and an awful lot of fun! Winner, Janet and Glenn?; low, Laurene; door prize, Glenn.

The "what ifs" of life was the topic of our Sunday sermon. He touched on this and why do we always rethink after the facts, because we can't change a single thing? Are all our minds the same? I had good timing Tuesday evening going into Tara and Ray's just in time for leftover turkey/ham dinner. They say timing is everything!

Eight tables for cribbage, great lunch, we had an amazing seven "24" hands. Georgina had two, Lorrie, Graham, Sandra, Roger and myself. First, Donna and Janet, 948; second, Bill and Betty Jean, 941; third, Bill McG. and Mary J., 925; low, Hugh and Lyla, 776; door, Noreen, Roger and Marg McG.

Cal and I went to Carol's and Earl's for a bowl of soup.

When I came home from Sandfield euchre, Mum's outside light was on and I got a real shock when I couldn't find her. Bill Case had said he'd seen the ambulance go by while he was playing cards. Sure enough I knocked on Dorothy's door and she had gone for a ride. I found a note from Susan; she had a dizzy spell, came home the same night though.

Sandfield euchre (last of the season) ladies' high and lone hand, Sue; ladies' low, Florence, 42; men's high, Gib, 81; lone hands', Dave (J.); low, Raymond. Oh yeah, Bill and I got skunked; lunch, Sharon and Janice.

Euchre, Floyd and Mary

"lunch" Jeneen cakes; men's high, Simon, 69; men's lone hands, Mark, 3; men's low, Andy, 50; ladies' high, Tina, 87; ladies' lone hands, 3; ladies' low, Linda, 55; door prize, Linda.

Mum had lots of visitors at her door today. Dorothy, Lori, Rick, Bev, Richard, Betty, Family Susan, Simon, Pauline, Sherry, Tara. Two calls from her niece and nephew in B.C. and from Paula in Ottawa.

A delicious lemon pie came to Mum's door, and an apple pie from the home farm. Guess what? I tried them both (yum). Thanks, Betty Russell and Shirley Sagle.

A trip to Mindemoya found me visiting with Mame Murray at the laundromat. She is looking really well. I don't see her too often. Adrien's home, she says.

Well, Dorothy beat me three straight at Mum's Friday evening while Mum was napping.

Susan spent Thanksgiving in Ottawa. Pauline and Wayne's visitors were Dave and Christine.

Pattison's yard was active. Retirement? Birthday? Holiday? A get-together, house warming maybe?

Oopss! Susan left her sun roof open Saturday night. It was a bit wet? When she and Paula left Mum's. Anita, Alicia and Sammy are here for the weekend. Anita stayed with Mum overnight.

Kim and Kathy phoned, woke me up around nine. I was in bed before nine last night. Despite the country music at the Hall. I would have liked to go, but I was so tired. Church sermon was "Extravagant Love." At Mum's for a bit, Mickey (Simon's daughter) and Pauline are there. Cal comes along and we go and watch the closing of South Baymouth for the season. The ferry Chi-Cheemaun did double salutes on her last crossing (I'm sure it was bumpy) of the year! Peg and Glen from Guelph had been to a proven winners plant perennial seminar in Michigan, touring amazing gardens and preparation and cataloging mailing, packaging. Stopped in to visit Mum. Staying with Susan and Simon.

Little Current Library Notes

by Marian Barnett

The parking lot at the library is full on Friday afternoons. Inside, some-what older learners are taking in Barbara Baker's "Lunch and Learn" series. Last week, they worked on computer issues such as Facebook and Pinterest. This week Barbara is teaching all about managing your pictures on the computer. She invites everyone to come and learn!

Pauline Tofflemire presents another in her water-colour series on October 18. Budding writers are looking forward to Petra Wall's slide presentation, "Fashion Your Story," on October 25.

John Savage will be back in November with his popular iPad classes.

Earlier in the fall, participants enjoyed Jean Narazonski's horticultural sessions.

Participant Paulette Soganich has high praise for Lamar Hyatt's oil painting instructions. Patrons Jacinth Dakin and Leona Sylvester would love to practice more gentle yoga like the classes given by Lise Baronet. Most for these programs at the library have been funded by a Trillium grant.

"Adopt a Magazine" is a Board invitation to library supporters to pay for an annual subscription to a magazine of their choice. Talk to staff if you would like to help maintain the quality and variety of magazines in this way.

Nathan Quackenbush

Nathan Quackenbush was named the winner of the Little Current Public Library summer reading program. For every book borrowed, youths five to 17-years-old received a ballot for a draw to win $50. Books by a Canadian author, or with Canadian content, earned individuals an extra ballot. Six-year-old Nathan is from Little Current and said he did a lot of reading this summer. When asked what he would be doing with the $50 prize, Nathan said he is saving up for a trip to Disney World with his grandmother.

was the winner of the Summer Reading Program. Congratulations, Nathan! The decline in young visitors to our library, and libraries throughout the province, has been a concern to Board and staff. Encourage or bring a child to the library. Board books, picture books, chapter books, graphic books and popular series, along with audio visuals, are all found in the cheerful children's section.

Ms. Valerie Morris, Library Assistant, has been added to the busy team of Head Librarian Karen Gallo and Librarian Angela Cosby. The collection has grown to 15,000 items. Staff are now involved in necessary preparation for the installation of an updated operating system for all aspects of library functioning. In spite of modernization, patrons always benefit from the personal touch at our library.

Your Library Board is made up of these volunteers: Chairperson Ned Martin, Vice Chairperson Maureen Armstrong, Rosemary Burnett, Karen Nesbitt, Mike Easton, Nina Coates, John Royal and recently added Paula Hooper. Laurie Cook is the Town's representative on the Board. Meetings are held at 4 pm on the 3rd Tuesday of the month, and most members serve on committees as well. Thanks to them all for behind the scenes dedication which ensures that NEMI Public Library remains a special place in our community.
