

Sun shines on Manitoulin's first year-'round greenhouse project

by Robin Burridge

LITTLE CURRENT—A celebration was held for the official opening of Manitoulin's first community all-season greenhouse last week in Little Current.

"This is a Noojmowin Teg initiative which is focused on healing and a reconnection to the land," said Christianna Jones who blessed the grounds of the community garden and greenhouse. "Manitoulin was founded on agriculture, both native and non native, and this initiative is going to help us reconnect to the land and each other. I am honored to be here and to be a part of this. This project is going to help balance ourselves and build relationships."

Following the drumming and the ground blessing, Danielle Bourgault, Healthy Kids Community Challenge (HKCC) local project manager, and The Manitoulin Community Fresh Food Initiative (MCFFI) Coordinator Kristin Bickell, welcomed everyone to the opening ceremony.

"We are grateful for everyone who was able to attend today," said Ms. Bourgault.

"Everyone has worked really hard on this initiative," added Ms. Bickell. "It has been wonderful—thank you. And thank you to everyone who is here today."

Northern Ontario Permaculture Research Institute (NOPRI) Chief Executive Officer Justin Tilson and Science Director Mark Hamalainen spoke about the conception and building of the greenhouse.

"This greenhouse was just an idea last year that has blossomed," said Mr. Tilson. "We approached the

Sheshegwaning First Nation hard-hit by blastomycosis infections

A HARVEST IN THE VILLAGE SQUARE—Providence Bay's downtown centrepiece, the Village Square, is all decked out in honour of the Harvest Glory Days and Thanksgiving season and is a wonderful example of the spirit of The Expositor's annual Harvest Glory Days friendly intra-community fall-themed decorating competition. Many homes along Prov's main street are also decorated in the theme as are most of the hydro poles. The deadline to enter your home or your community is this Friday, September 29. You can do this online at www.manitoulin.ca. Check the main menu for the registration form or call The Expositor Office at 705-368-2744. Fax number is 705-368-3822. (The deadline is earlier this year because Thanksgiving Weekend is also earlier and the paper tries to encourage local tours during the holiday.) For more information, please check the advertisement on Page 13.

MINDEMOYA—News that a motion is before the Central Manitoulin town council to send out requests for proposals for the demolition of the historic Mindemoya Old School building initiated an avalanche of memories flowing into The Expositor through emails, traditional mail

Six people hospitalized for treatment

by Tom Sasvari

SHESHEGWANING—The community of Sheshegwaning First Nation is still dealing with the outbreak of blastomycosis, a rare infection that is caused by breathing in the fungus blastomyces dermatitidis, that hit the community earlier this month.

Sheshegwaning Chief Dean Roy explained, "as far as I know all the people who had been diagnosed with (blastomycosis) have now come home. Six went into the hospital," he said, noting, "two were discharged (on September 12) and the others came home on the 14th and are back in the community."

"There are other people currently under investigation for blastomycosis. So far, six children and one adult are diagnosed and being treated for blasto; of these, six are confirmed and one suspected. But all have been released and all are now on medication," explained Chief Roy.

The infection has also been confirmed to have taken the life of at least two dogs in the community.

Within the past three years, two Manitoulin people have died from blastomycosis infections. Over the past 20 years, numerous pets have been infected, both dogs and cats, with varying rates of successful treatment.

In the spring of 2016, The Expositor organized a community information night to explain how blastomycosis can be contracted, how to avoid infection and symptoms arising from infection.

The paper plans on organizing another session in the spring of 2018.

Central debates Carter Bay development

Seeks ruling on status of 10' X 10' structures

by Michael Erskine

CARTER BAY—The Carter Bay property, with its iconic sand dunes and pristine desolate shores, has long been a source of controversy confounding Central Manitoulin staff and municipal councillors and in that regard little has changed in recent times. Currently, the fate of a small building constructed on one of the lots in the property remains up in the air while council sorts out information on what can, and cannot, be done on a lot in the unregistered subdivision.

A large group of Carter Bay property owners had come to present delegations to a Central Manitoulin council meeting opposing any building in the sensitive area and demanding that the town enforce its own bylaws and reinstate an order to demolish the offending structure.

"No, we didn't come to a resolution on it yet," said Mayor Richard Stephens. "We discussed it a bit at Thursday's Finance and Administration committee meeting, but there is still some information that we feel we need clarified before we proceed to any decision on the matter."

The status of the property is not clear in the minds of the council members, noted the mayor. "That property was originally set up as a subdivision with lots and channels, but it was never regis-

Bridge consultant to be hired by early 2018

by Alicia McCutcheon

MANITOULIN—The Ministry of Transportation (MTO) reports that it is on schedule to hire a consultant to undertake a long, hard look at the Manitoulin swing bridge by early 2018.

“After the agreement is executed, a notice of study commencement will be prepared and sent to all identified stakeholders,” Lara Cantin, media spokesperson for the MTO, explained to The Expositor. “The notice is sent early in the project stage. The public will have the opportunity to see and comment on the alternatives and design process at the Public Information Centre (PIC). In addition, people are able to provide any comments or questions throughout the EA (environmental assessment) study.

Ms. Cantin further explained that a PIC is a consultation technique used during the EA process where project information is presented on display boards. “It is generally held in a facility near the project area. PICs provide the opportunity for one-on-one interaction with members of the public and project team members,” she said.

Saturday morning, the day will begin with a community art workshop at the Park Centre from 9 am until noon. “The community engaged workshop will encourage participants to question their relationship to the land and each other and to consider how art can play a role in social change,” says the workshop description.

The official unveiling of the Billings Connections Trail and sculpture walk and talk will leave from the Park Centre at 1 pm and go until 3 pm. Seven commissioned sculptures were developed over the last year around the themes of environment and Truth and Reconciliation as part of the Billings’ Connections Trail, The Billings Art and Heritage Project, and funded through the Canada 150 Fund, Ontario 150

Kagawong’s Post Office Museum gets much-needed upgrades thanks to funding

by Alicia McCutcheon

KAGAWONG—The Kagawong Post Office Museum has been moved around over the years, taken apart, put back together again and now, thanks to funding from FedNor and Trillium, received a facelift.

Rick Nelson, curator of the Old Mill Heritage Centre and the Post Office Museum, explained that the Post Office Museum was in “serious need of TLC” but, thanks to help from FedNor and Trillium, as well as assistance from Billings “every step of the way,” it’s received a major upgrade.

After seeing improvements made to the new home of the Main Street Café building by Dave Mills, Mr. Nelson said he knew just the guy to do the museum work.

FedNor gave an investment of $16,000, which contributed toward the new roof. Trillium assisted with a $16,000 Ontario 150 Community Capital Program grant for everything “below the roof,” Mr. Nelson joked.

Vimy oaks planted at Manitoulin District Cenotaph

by Betty Bardswich

MANITOULIN—A beautiful tree planting ceremony of an oak sapling and a red maple, a symbol of Canada, was held September 17 at the Manitoulin District Cenotaph. The event was hosted by the cenotaph committee consisting of Jim Corrigan, Linda Bowerman, Jeff Marshall, Alan Tustian and Donna Foster, and was held to commemorate the 100th anniversary of the Vimy Ridge battle and Canada’s 150th anniversary.

Ms. Bowerman, the secretary-treasurer of the committee, welcomed guests and introduced Chaplain Diane Musgrove for an opening prayer and singer Kieran Harper, accompanied by her mom Angela Harper, on guitar, for the singing of the national anthem.

Ms. Bowerman then gave a history of the Vimy Oaks Legacy saying, “the Battle of Vimy Ridge in northern France, April 9 to April 12, 1917, is considered to be one of the defining events in the history of our nation. Where Allied troops had struggled and failed, the Canadians overcame great odds and eventually captured the Ridge at a cost of some 10,600 casualties. After the battle, Lieutenant Leslie Miller of Scarborough, serving with the Canadian Expeditionary Force, gathered up a handful of acorns from a partially buried English oak on the Ridge. He sent the acorns home to his family with instructions to plant them. In 1919, Lieutenant Miller returned, was

Shopping locally helps keep our towns alive

Anyone travelling the back roads that crisscross the length and breadth of this vast nation cannot help but be struck by the incredible number of small ghost towns that pepper the countryside, legacies of the days when hotels would spring up one horse and buggy ride apart, or located at an appropriate railway depot location for the railroads then being built, soon to be followed by general stores, banks and the other commercial enterprises that service what was then largely an agrarian society.

Within a couple of hour's drive, one comes across a larger town that has flourished on the lifeblood of less fortunate communities. Thus the ebb and flow of urban development marches on, creating winners and losers in a survival of the fittest (or luckiest). Small towns have slowly strangled as customers ventured to larger centres where they can find the cheaper products and greater variety that economies of scale allow.

The trend accelerates almost of its own accord, building with an exponential speed, until local customers don't even consider looking in their backyards for the products and services they need. This trend has been remarked upon by many older residents who can recall the days when movie theatres, grocery stores, hardware stores, shoe stores, pharmacies and a plethora of other goods and services could be found not only in today's communities like Wiikwemkoong, Mindemoya, M'Chigeeng, Manitowaning, Gore Bay and Little Current, but also in many of those tiny communities that now boast little, if any, commercial activity.

Great kudos must go out to those entrepreneurs who have chosen to buck that trend, choosing to set up shop, literally, in the remaining commercial centres of Manitoulin Island. That includes long time captains of commerce like the Bondi family, who have built an impressive chain of enterprises in communities that span the Island, and relative newcomers to the scene such as the Rozells, who celebrated their first year of business as The Edgewater Pharmacy in downtown Little Current this past weekend, as well as established "new" businesses like the Manitoulin Physio Centre in M'Chigeeng that is celebrating a decade of success or Wiikwemkoong's Andy's which grew from the little gas station that could into a linchpin of Island commerce.

The list of those who have had confidence in serving our communities goes on and on.

But now these business people who have revitalized and repurposed our business centres are coming under a new pressure and threat from beyond Manitoulin's shores. Like the advent of the automobile, the coming of the Internet is threatening brick and mortar, mom and pop, enterprises like nothing that has been seen before, as customers click to order the products they want and wait for the delivery truck to appear at their door.

It is already challenging to be a retail operation in a rural area with a large, nearby city whose businesses can work on tighter margins than smaller volume family businesses. But not all is without hope. The popular Manitoulin Trade Fair has done a great service in building awareness of what is available in the way of products and services close to home and the Eat Local movement is also encouraging people to take a look around them to discover the gems we have within.

We can each do our part by not automatically assuming that a better deal can be had a click or an hour-and-a-half of gas consumption away and by taking a good look at what is on offer through the businesses of our friends and neighbours. It is like so much in life—you either use or risk losing them.

Small local businesses have so very much to offer in the way of expertise and personal service, and quite often on offer for little more than what is on the price tags at the big box stores a gas tank full of traffic hassle away.

Shop local and help our communities thrive.

Writer has doubts about Tehkummah vacancy motivation

Do the right thing and follow the rules

To the Expositor:

I find in our township that two councillors and a member of administration will try to find any way they can to twist, distort and obstruct the rules to avoid appointing a replacement for the vacant seat on council. The members on council should know that you have a recount in case of a tie. No tie here.

A recount should be asked for if this was the case by one who wasn't elected, not by a sitting member on council. Maybe this councillor, by saying a recount is needed, is in conflict.

In my opinion, we have two councillors and an administrator that are trying to get one of their own on council. In the past two years my taxes have gone up more than the previous nine years put together. Everyone's taxes have taken a huge jump.

I believe that we need a change of direction in our tiny township. Persons on council and administration with grandiose ideas are leading this township to bankruptcy. In my opinion they are not qualified to do the job. I say to them, do the right thing and fill that vacant seat by the rules.

A call to gather proud Canadian's memories

Building a people's perspective

To the Expositor:

We are a small group of Ottawa Valley residents who are seeking to engage with other (so called) "ordinary/average" Canadians to complete "People's Perspective" project. For the People/by the People.

In other words, we are seeking your help.

I personally have spent much time in hospital this past two years and a friend came to me (while still in hospital) with the idea of re-releasing my song 'Proud Canadians' as a tribute for the current Canada 150 celebrations. He then produced a video, posted it on YouTube and launched a grassroots social media campaign that has taken off from there. (Search 'Lyle Dillabough-Proud Canadians-studio version 2000' on YouTube.)

While doing an interview recently on a Valley radio station the idea came to me to ask folks across the country to send in copies of their: favourite photos, certificates, ticket stubs, documents, memorabilia, letters, stories and basically anything that can be copied, so we could compile it all into a book entitled 'Proud Canadians: A People's Perspective' ('Reflections of Canada 150, or something like that.)

A real, real reflection of Canadians, authored by Canadians, for Canadians.

What do you think?

We are also presently contacting local museums and historical societies across the country seeking their assistance as well. And response so far is very good.

Before I became ill my travels throughout the country revealed that, in spite of all the advances in technology, many feel more isolated and powerless than ever before in their lives. They feel they no longer matter and everyone and everything is talking down to them.

An undertaking such as this (though small as it might be) serves to remind us all that it is the everyday people who do the work, pay the taxes, fight the wars, care for one another and basically "make it all happen."

So please do send in your contributions. Remember, the item that you might think is not valuable is likely the very one that we are looking for:

A great day for a dive

Members of Sudbury's Dolphin Aquatics Club pose for a photo following their annual recreational cleanup dive along the waterfront of the Port of Little Current. "Being a Dolphin Aquatics Club member is also about being socially responsible and this is where we pay it forward and educate people about keeping our waterways clean for future use," said Jackson Young, training director with the club. "The reward is increasing our awesomeness, public awareness, elevating club pride, getting our photo in the paper and, of course, an awesome fish fry celebration." The fish fry is sponsored by Little Current's NBS Auto. "We couldn't make this happen without them," said Mr. Young.

Rochelle Cadieux Neal

This talented, recognized artist lives in an idyllic location on Manitoulin's Lake Mindemoya. The place where she exhibits her life's work each summer is called Periwinkle Studio, and true to the name, the ample-sized atelier, built by her husband, is surrounded with an acre of periwinkle. This enchanting green carpet adds to the colloquial charm. Rochelle's art has been proudly displayed in many other galleries and shows, including our own Perivale Gallery, The La Cloche Art Show, the Northern Ontario Art Association (NOAA) exhibition, the St. Thomas Art Gallery, and the Robert Long Watercolour Show in Destin, Florida. In 1999, she was the featured watercolour artist at The St. Thomas Appreciation of the Arts. Rochelle is also the recipient of numerous awards and a former member of the Botanical Artists Association of Canada.

Rochelle was born on July 12, 1937 to Charles and Irene (Palma-teer) Cadieux. Her mother had admired an actress named Rochelle Hudson so she named her daughter after this talented performer. Rochelle spent her early years in Stouffville, a small town of 900. Paternal great-grandfather Joseph of Normandy, France had arrived to Stouffville after becoming a French translator first in Quebec and later Ontario. "I remember him as a distinguished gentleman who sent me a ten-dollar bill when I was 10." Grandfather Cyrelle, son of Joseph, started a horse and cart delivery business. He, and his son after him, carried freight and mail from the Canadian National Railway to local homes and businesses.

When she was three, Rochelle moved to Manitoulin with her parents so her dad could work for Wagg's Creamery. Her mother Irene was a little homesick at first but she came to love the Island. Irene's grandfather, Enos Lundy, had been a lighthouse keeper at Michael's Bay on Manitoulin. Madame Cadieux was further convinced with a litany of positive testimonials about Mindemoya.

It was in 1941 that Rochelle's Charles left for war. "I was four-and-a-half and my little brother Paul was just three-weeks-old. I saw my mother crying as he was leaving and I said to her, 'Mommy, don't cry; he'll be back.' Somehow, I knew." Another early memory was the Rock Garden Terrace. "The owner, an American woman, had an amazing garden that extended down to the lake. We visited every June. I was impressed and decided I would live on that side of the lake one day."

Irene and her children lived in Mindemoya, on dad's war pay, in a very small house with no running water, no indoor toilet and no electricity. "We had to chop wood daily and carry drinking water from Nevill's Garage." There was a cistern for wash water in the basement. The milk sat on the window sill in the winter; in summer, the ice house cooled spoilable items. "I learned to cook on a wood stove and bathe in a small square tin tub. As the girl, I got the tub first and the males came last. In the winter, we melted snow; in the summer, we swam. Mother would take us in the wagon to the Ketchankookem Trail where we could swim on the private beach. Later, with the help of her friends, Irene added some space and siding to the house, including a porch."

Charles came home from Europe in 1946 decorated with many medals and a humility about the war experience. "They tried to make heroes out of us but we were scared much of the time and we just did what we had to do to protect our country," he claimed. "I didn't know my dad when he came home; he was different. As a sergeant, he liked to bark out orders. We weren't used to that, but we had to obey. After dad returned we got electricity, a bathroom with running water, lights, a furnace and a fridge. Dad added a garage with a playroom on top. We loved to play store there."

"In later years, I always wondered how women got through the war years alone. They persisted but were never recognized for their contribution. I did chores for my mother, helped with the garden and went to the store for food each day. Perhaps that's what other families did too," Rochelle muses. "We had a big garden. The summer and after dad got home, we started to sell vegetables in Mindemoya. That year I got a bike and figure skates for my birthday. That was very special and skating at the arena became a favourite pastime."

Sister Sherry was born nine months after the war ended. Michelle and Pierre were added to the family years later when Rochelle was 21 and in nurses' training. The family addition that year was Michelle and Pierre two years after that. "When I was 14, we opened Cadieux Clothing and moved to a space above the store. We bought our first vehicle, a half-ton truck."

"I remember my Grade 1 teacher Winnie Cox when she announced one day, 'We are going to draw a rabbit.' Apparently, my bunny impressed her because she held it up. That day I realized I had a talent. It was my first inkling that I could draw." While brother Paul was off with the boys fishing, Rochelle spent her spare time studying plants, leaves, lines and shapes. "At that time, I didn't realize that process was part of being an artist."

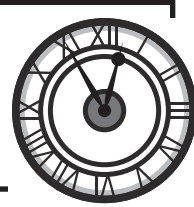

Rochelle's first paintings were on Masonite with oil paints she got for Christmas. "I remember getting permission to watch local artist Joe Hodgins, the owner of Treasure Island, paint. He realized I was serious about art." Another hobby was collecting bugs and butterflies that were positioned on wax with a suitable background that Rochelle painted. She won a prize at the Providence Bay Fair.

"In Grade 11, I had Miss Consisten who taught Ancient History. I was so impressed with Nefertiti, a powerful woman in her time in ancient Egypt. I learned about Hadrian's Wall, the Wall of China, Pompeii and the Roman Coliseum, all fascinating places that I saw later in life when Wayne took me there. One year, I found a bust of Nefertiti on a sale table in Florida and I just had to have her. She symbolized strength and independence to me. She now sits on my art table."

Grade 13 in Mindemoya found Rochelle the only girl in a class of nine boys. She finished her year in Little Current where there was one other girl to befriend. She stayed with the Boyters, the post-master family of Little Current. "As a youngster, I only wanted to be a nurse. Florence Nightingale had impressed me when she cured her sick dog. I had a dog and I wanted to make sure I would be able to make him well too."

Marilyn McCutcheon, a nurse at Wellesley Hospital in Toronto, impressed the young lass too. "She was from Mindemoya and, at 18, I fell into her footsteps. I took nursing training at Wellesley Hospital, a popular training location in Toronto." The course lasted two years and was followed by a year of interning at minimum wage.

In 1960, while she took another year of training at Western University, Rochelle met a very handsome man who played varsity football. "We met at the fall fair after a friend had showed me a booklet issued by the university. Wayne, the captain of the football team, was on the cover. I told her that I could never meet such a handsome man." It was not long before she met that handsome man in the school cafeteria.

She told him all about Manitoulin, her enthusiasm evoking a quest for a date from Wayne for the upcoming football weekend at Western. She agreed to go. Then he offered her a smoke. She took it and began to cough. "You don't smoke, do you?" he asked. "No, I was trying to impress you," she said. Wayne responded, "if you are trying to impress me, don't smoke." After the long weekend Wayne met his new friend at the train and took her home. That was the start of their romance. Rochelle was soon the envy of many young ladies who had also had their eye on Wayne Neal. "Looking back, I was not really confident with men until I met Wayne," she shares.

"I remember the first time I brought Wayne to Manitoulin after our engagement in late March. It was Easter and a blinding snowstorm hit. We had borrowed Wayne's father's car to make the trip." Wayne could see nothing but snow for miles and the roads were curving and dangerous. By the time they got to Mindemoya, it was dark and visibility was zero. "Where in the hell are you taking me?" he finally blurted out to his betrothed. Rochelle accepted his frustration with confidence because she knew it was only an introduction to a wonderful place, seen at its worst in the dark of a late-winter snowstorm.

The couple was married on June 10, 1961 in the United Church in Mindemoya. Lorene Smith played the organ. Wayne's and Rochelle's sisters were attendants. Michelle was just two-years-old. There was a dinner followed later by sandwiches and coffee. "The flowers, orchids and lily of the valley for me, cost $80 and came out of the $100 we had for the honeymoon. This left $20 for our little get-away to Sault Ste. Marie for two relaxing days of watching the freighters pass by."

After the honeymoon, the newlyweds came back to Manitoulin, then headed to St. Thomas, Wayne's home town. Rochelle worked as a community nurse, and Wayne taught history in high school. He also coached sports teams for the physical education program. He became the head of the history department, then moved on to vice-principal, then principal of the school and later Superintendent of Education for St. Thomas.

The couple has two sons, Murray and Andrew. Murray has an MBA and works on Bay Street in Toronto as a chief financial officer of Scotia McLeod Securities. Andrew also has his MBA and he is a pharmaceutical representative for Astra-Seneca Pharmaceutical Company. "We have four grandsons and one granddaughter." Murray's son Brendan is in his third year at the University of Toronto where he is taking specialized computer science. Second son Ryan is 13 and goes to a private school in the city. He is a good pianist and a talented hockey player. Son Andrew lives in Calgary and his son Conor, 16, is very athletic too. Daughter Emma loves horse-back riding and son Jack, 10, is a good goalie. "We visited them earlier this spring."

Although working after marriage was frowned on by the older generation, namely Wayne's dad, Rochelle's hubby felt that would be fine. Working part-time, she could spend more time with the kids and still enjoy her career. When Andrew was three, Rochelle started into full-time nursing again. There was a high demand for this profession. "I loved community nursing and helped set up and coordinate a pre-natal program and curricula for other courses. I enjoyed the teaching aspect and much of the work was done in private homes."

Rochelle transferred to home care nursing under the Community Care Access Centre for the area. She was promoted from case manager to assistant director of patient services (home care) and palliative care for the organization, overseeing a staff of 65. She retired at age 58. Meanwhile, Wayne had become Superintendent of Education for St. Thomas and he also became mayor of the city. His extensive community work included setting up a Big Brothers' Association. Despite this hectic schedule, Wayne was also a big help with his own family.

The Neals did a lot of travelling with the kids. Wayne's high school travelling teams, canoeing in Algonquin, back-packing in the Rockies, excursions to forts and battleships, everywhere in North America. "We saw it all." The family always had a dog, including two toy poodles. Now sweet 17-year-old Maggie, who is deaf, lives with the couple. "Our pets were always a close part of our family. I still cheer for all the rescued dogs I see on Manitoulin Pet Rescue."

When family circumstances called her back to Manitoulin, Rochelle knew what she needed to do. Her mother suffered with Alzheimer's. The Neals bought a farm house in Rockville. She helped take care of her mum as her dad needed help. Finally, mum was admitted to the Lodge in Gore Bay, not long before she died.

"When Michelle became ill, I kept a promise to my mum made long ago, to care for her." Rochelle stayed with friends Rose and John Diebolt for a year and then lived with Rosemary and Dwayne Thompson. "I got to know my sister quite well. I remember going with her to the surgeon and the first thing he said to her was 'I am so glad you brought someone with you.' I knew I needed to be strong because she needed surgery right away."

"We spent three years together, sharing stories, painting, driving around and moving forward before she died. It's been seven years now, but some strong family love happened first. Regrettably too, my brother Paul left us three years ago and Sherry's daughter passed away at age 35. All our family members died of cancer." In later years, dad Charles married again, to Irene Tann, and they lived in Mindemoya.

"In 1995, we made the decision to live on the Island each summer. We bought this old cottage on the same side of the lake as the Rock Garden Terrace that I have admired since I was a child. This place had the view and it is peaceful and quiet, a perfect summer get-away."

Favourite seasons are spring with all the trilliums, as well as fall with the splendid colours that abound. "I can't wait to get here in the spring to enjoy the trilliums and the Periwinkle that blankets the ground and surrounds the studio. Wayne learned carpentry skills from family and friends. He built me the studio so that my watercolours would not cover our kitchen table. I love it in here." Wayne also cuts the matts to help Rochelle with the framing.

"Art has been a focus for much of my life, starting as a youngster." The writer is shown a painting of a deer in the woods and is reminded of her own first painting of a deer at the same age. Rochelle's artistic pursuits attained a new level after the kids had grown and she retired. "Each year, we spend two months in Florida where I do group-painting with an artist named Robert Long. Up to that point, I had never done watercolours and he urged me to 'just start painting' the first time I joined their group."

On Manitoulin, Rochelle worked with Christie Pearson Anderson, Linda Williamson and Judy Martin to get the Manitoulin Fine Arts Association up and running. "It started in Gore Bay with an art and quilting group and grew to include other forms of art. I worked on some NOAA shows as well." Rochelle is also a member of art associations in London and St. Thomas. Up until recently she was also a member of the Botanical Artists of Canada.

"Gardening is another favourite pastime and I still love to walk in the woods," she said. "I fell two weeks ago and was reminded of my age by my husband. I am 80 but I feel like 39. I do love doing meaningful stuff, see-

OPP assists with lost boaters

Members of the Manitoulin/Espanola OPP Marine Unit were called to assist in locating a vessel in distress Friday evening shortly after 8 pm. A male and female were on Ella Lake near Nairn Centre. A severe thunderstorm passed through the area while the couple was on their way across the lake just before dark. They were caught in the storm and were forced to make their way to shore due to the heavy rain, thunder and lightning. Darkness and poor weather caused them to become stranded and disoriented and police were called. The Espanola OPP Marine unit located the boaters shortly after 10:30 pm and escorted them to safety.

The Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) is reminding boaters to check and monitor weather conditions before heading out onto Ontario's waterways. Vessel owners are also encouraged to ensure that their vessel is equipped with the proper safety equipment and appropriate lifejackets or Personal Floatation Devices for everyone on board. More information about boating safety can be found online at: <http://www.safeboater.com/articles/safe-boating-guide.aspx>.

RDSB schools collecting gently used winter wear

MANITOULIN—Rainbow Schools are making this winter a little warmer by participating in the Winter Clothing Drive powered by Cooper Equipment Rentals in support of Our Children, Our Future.

Members of the community are invited to drop off gently used winter clothing at any of the Rainbow District School Board's elementary and secondary schools in Sudbury, Espanola and Manitoulin Island until October 30.

Clothing will be redistributed within the schools and communities served by the Board.

"This is our third year of participating in the Winter Clothing Campaign," said Walden Public School Principal Chris Bourré, who is co-ordinating the effort on behalf of Rainbow Schools.

"Last year, we collected 5,478 items of clothing, from coats, to hats, to scarves, to mitts. Thanks to generous donations, we were able to help more than 3,600 families in need in our community. This year, we hope to expand our reach to 4,500 families."

In addition to Rainbow Schools, clothing will be redistributed through a storefront location at the Storefront Centre in Sudbury from November 1 to 8.

Last year police investigated a dog attack whereby M'Chigeeng elder Pearl Bebamash was badly injured as a result. It was learned that Ms. Bebamash was out walking her small dog at the time of the attack and while protecting her small dog, received severe puncture wounds to her upper body and torso.

Fortunately for Ms. Bebamash, Andrew and Tim Debassige were nearby and were able to render immediate medical assistance. Recognizing the need to get Ms. Bebamash to the hospital, they quickly helped to transport her to the Manitoulin Health Centre in Mindemoya.

Constable Josh Shokan

investigated the incident and acknowledged the compassion and quick thinking of Andrew and

Tim Debassige in the aftermath of the attack. Ms. Bebamash recovered from her injuries and wanted to recognize the two men for the sincere help while she was in distress. Chief of Police Rodney Nahwegah-bow agreed and help Ms. Bebamash and arranged the special award and recognition.

Upon receiving the award Andrew Debassige was humbled by the recognition and said "I just did what anybody would have done." Ms. Bebamash shared her appreciation, acknowledging their act of kindness and compassion.

Chief of Police Rodney Nahwegahbow said, "Our communities need to recognize citizens who step forward to help each other especially in situations like this as it encourages others to do the same."

Little Current Terry Fox Run raises just shy of $3,000

by Robin Burridge

LITTLE CURRENT—Over 60 individuals came out for the annual Little Current Terry Fox Run recently, which raised just under $3,000 for cancer research.

"It was a sweaty run," joked organizer Joanna Rosenbaum, noting the unseasonably warm weather. "We raised $2,900, which contributed to the over $10 million that Ontario has raised this year for the Terry Fox Foundation. We were happy to see more new people join this year as well."

To date, since 1981, the Little Current Terry Fox Run has raised $85,277.

Prior to this year's run, Ms. Rosenbaum thanked the many volunteers this year including the Manitoulin Amateur Radio Club.

There was a second Terry Fox Run held on Manitoulin in Silver Water recently. To date the run has raised $40,000. The West End run also had a great turnout this year.

"Terry's Marathon of Hope took place in 1980 with the simple objective of informing Canadians of the importance of finding a cure for cancer," stated a press release from the Terry Fox Foundation. "With fierce determination, he ran an average of 42 kilometres (26 miles) every day for 143 days. Terry was forced to end his run on September 1, 1980 when the cancer spread to his lungs. By February 1, 1981, Terry's dream of raising $1 for every Canadian was realized - the Terry Fox Marathon of Hope fund totaled $24.17 million. Terry died in June 1981. In 1980, his Marathon of Hope inspired a country and launched the annual The Terry Fox Run in his honour. Now in its fourth decade, these events continue to motivate people here in Canada and around the world, raising much needed funds for cancer research."

Competition kayaker Steve Arthurs wraps up another successful season

by Alicia McCutcheon

LITTLE CURRENT—Competition kayaker Steve Arthurs had another successful summer out on the waters, competing with the best of his class in events across Northern Ontario.

Mr. Arthurs raced in the annual Sudbury Canoe Club race held each June, placing first this year in the 12K Open division. He admits that the weather conditions were less than ideal for the race, which meant a less than ideal turnout, but he was still happy to take top spot.

Mr. Arthurs missed out on the Mindemoya Classic as part of Central Manitoulin Lions Club Homecoming Weekend this year due to an illness, but he was back in fine form to host the second annual Haweater Weekend Paddle Challenge, which he's hoping to see grow bigger with each year.

The Great Canadian Kayak Challenge and Festival held late last month in Timmins is the premier event in Northern Ontario and Mr. Arthurs, partner Robin McGauley and Mr. Arthurs' son Rhyis all represented Manitoulin well.

Rhyis was second in the youth division while Ms. McGauley, who decided to race at the 11th hour, came in sixth place in the 6.5K Open division. Mr. Arthurs raced in the 16K Elite division, placing fifth. He also raced in the 4.5K Open division and placed fourth, giving it his all in a sprint to the finish to earn that spot.

"It's getting more difficult all the time as big names are starting to show up," Mr. Arthurs said.

There could be one more race in Mr. Arthurs future, the Great Muskoka Paddling Experience held over the Thanksgiving Weekend, but he's still unsure if he's able to commit.

Mr. Arthurs is expanding his horizons these days too, taking part in his first ever McLean's Park Six Hour Mountain Bike Relay Race, hosted by Tehkummah's own Alex Anstice.

"It was the first time I ever did it—it was a fun time," he laughed.

Mr. Arthurs was effusive in his praise for: Manitoulin Fuels, Sunswim Pool Concepts and Design, Orr's Valu-Mart, Little Current Chiropractic, Elite Training, Harbor Vue Marina, Manitoulin Self Storage, OJ Graphix, TerraStar Building Products, NBS Auto Repair, The Manitoulin Expositor, Glow 100 and Great Lakes Country 103.

Missouri woman seeks to be first to circumnavigate all the Great Lakes in one season

by Michael Erskine

LITTLE CURRENT—Traci Lynn Martin hails from Kansas, Missouri (not Kansas City, Kansas she admonishes), which is a long way from the big water of the likes of Lake Superior or Lake Huron, but the competitive surf ski paddler has set her sights on being the first person to circumnavigate all of the Great Lakes in one season—and looking at the schedule, she is quite likely to pull it off.

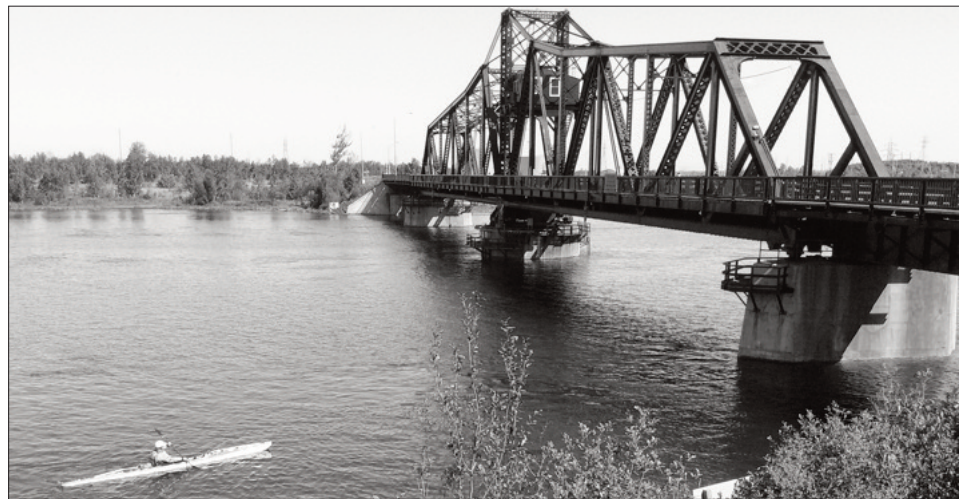

Ms. Martin stopped by the North Channel dock of Roy and Margaret Eaton and she and her logistical support driver and co-ordinator Marv Kuziel joined the Little Current couple at the Manitoulin Hotel and Conference Centre for dinner last Monday evening, where The Expositor caught up with them.

"Two men have tried before but failed," she said. "No woman has ever attempted it." Ms. Martin has already completed the rounds of Lake Superior and Lake Michigan, making her the first to complete those lakes in a surf ski (a type of sea-going racing kayak). She has clocked exactly 2,530 miles so far (impressive, but it sounds so much more so as 4,071.64 kilometers, tease the Canadians at the table).

When her journey is complete, she will have completed 4,000 to 5,000 miles (6437.376 and 8046.72 kilometers, respectively), depending on the route she takes. "I originally thought it would be 5,800 miles (9334.195 kilometers)," she admitted, with a number of spots she would have liked to have paddled through, "but it is more important to finish off all five legs."

"A surf ski is similar to a kayak," she explains, "except that the paddler sits atop the vessel rather than inside it. A surf ski is typically longer than a kayak, with a deeper cockpit. Despite its typical instability, a surf ski (with an experienced paddler) is a very effective craft for paddling in big surf and waves. Surf Skis were created in Australia."

Ms. Martin started out on her odyssey on March 9, slipping into ice-filled waters in a wet suit and pushing her way through the slush and ice flows of early spring breakup, towing her kayak behind her. "It's okay if

Traci Lynn Martin sets off on the next leg of her attempt on the Guinness World Book of Records for the longest documented voyage by kayak, seeking to circumnavigate all five of the Great Lakes in one season.

she pulls it herself," noted Mr. Kuziel, who was allowed to break a trail through the ice ahead of her, but not allowed to touch the kayak itself. She plans to finish her journey into the Guinness World Book of Records (as the longest documented non-stop voyage by kayak) by December 31. "Actually, I am hoping to finish before that so I can spend Christmas with family and friends," she said.

Currently, according to Guinness World Records, the longest solo journey by a surf ski is by Gerhard Moolman (South Africa) when he covered a distance of 3,822 miles (6,152 km) on a surf ski between Hout Bay, South Africa, and Lamu, Kenya, from 20 April to 23 October 2002.

Ms. Martin's face is wind burnt and sun scorched, the backs of her hands are red and frankly look quite painful. She suffers from rheumatoid arthritis and had to cut short her paddling the day before due to a flareup.

So why is the American nurse and competitive paddler undertaking this ordeal, a challenge that has defeated two men before her? Is it the bragging rights? No.

"I work as a nurse," she said. "A lot of people who come into the hospital have given up on life. But you have to get up, you have to do it. They say to me 'I hurt too bad.' I do understand, but you can't. No matter what illness you have, you cannot give up. You have to keep doing the things that you love. You will find life is better if you keep doing those things you love doing. But whatever you do, don't give up on life."

Ms. Martin has a message.

Where on her journey so far has she loved what she is doing the most? She doesn't hesitate. "The Apostle Islands, paddling through the sea caves," she said. "Pukaskwa National Park on the Canadian side. The North Channel has been very special, Sleeping Bear was very spiritual."

Ms. Martin has a gofundme account (JustAroundThePointe), a Facebook page where you can follow her along her journey and an Instagram account of the same name and, of course, there's Twitter @StellarTourD4ce.

MSS boys place first in North Shore golf

The Manitoulin Secondary School boys' golf team place first at the North Shore Secondary Schools Athletic Association (NSSSAA) championship last week. They are, from left to right, Tait Wallace, Ben Marshall, Carter Abbotossaway, Boston Thibault and Eric Varey. "The boys play a lot of golf over the summer months with family and friends and enter into NSSSAA very quickly into the school year," said Coach Lisa Corbiere-Adison. "Last year was a building year with many of the boys in Grade 9. This year, their practice showed and they did much better in competition. Tait Wallace also joined the team and was a great help." This year at NSSSAA Eric Varey placed first and Boston Thibault placed second, both with a score of 87. All five advanced on to Northern Ontario Secondary School Athletics championship yesterday, Tuesday, September 26, in Blind River.

and is supported by the Township of Billings.

The sculptures include: 'The Globe' by Hooman Mehdizadehjafari, a laser-cut steel sphere on a pedestal which will be located at the picnic area near the entrance to the east side of the Kagawong River Trail; 'Great Lakes Trees' by Kathryn Corbiere, two jack pine trees and one Great Lakes tree which will be located at Sandy Beach off of Maple Drive; 'White Tail Deer' by Robert Cram, a highly polished bronze that will patina over time, located at the west side of the Kagawong River Trail downriver of the blue footbridge; a sculpture by KWEST, Matt McNaught, which will be located near the entrance of the Kagawong River Trail by the tennis courts; 'Ascend/Transcend' by Ted Fullerton, three cold cast, resin figures on steel lifts, located on the Park Centre Lawn; 'Drum Circle'

by Quinn Smallboy, a welded steel drum, on the Kagawong downtown lawn near chess set; and the Community Sculpture Project with Cree architect Jake Chakasim.

Also as part of the Billings Connections Trail was the installation of 32 historical interpretive plaques throughout Billings and a brand new Billings map with the new stops and sculptures listed.

The Kagawong Fibre Arts Group will be presenting an artists talk and demo at the Park Centre from 3:30 to 5 pm.

Jake Chakasim will lead a community-designed sculpture talk at the Billings Public Library from 3:30 to 5 pm.

At 5:30 pm there will be a musical performance by Melody McKiver, followed by a musical performance by Nick Sherman at the Park Centre at 6 pm. Admission for both is by donation. Melody McKiver is an emerging Anishinaabe musician, media artist, traditional powwow dancer and artist. Her musical talents span across viola, violin, drums and percussion with hip-hop, electronic, contemporary, classical, jazz and blue influences. also as a home for Benjamin and Mary Bock and their family."

In 1897, the building became a post office and Mr. Bock served as postmaster from August 1, 1897 until February 2, 1903. "The post office was originally called Cavemount but was renamed Spring Bay Post Office on November 1, 1897," Ms. Fraser added.

By 1990, the log building was owned by Mr. Bock's great grandson, Harold Tracy. He and his wife Mary Jo donated the building to the (then) Kagawong Historical Society. "Volunteers disassembled it and relocated it to the Village of Kagawong at a location behind Manitoulin Chocolate Works," she added. "In the summer of 2008, it was moved to its present location and became part of the Old Mill Heritage Centre."

Ms. Fraser, on behalf of the board, thanked its predecessor, the Kagawong Historical Society, for all of the work they accomplished "in preserving Billings Township and Manitoulin history."

Billings Mayor Austin Hunt told the audience that the building, which he had a sneak peek at, "has been delightfully restored."

The mayor said he recalled when the municipality first received the former post office from the

Tracy farm, joking that he thought it may have contained chickens at some point due to the number of feathers it contained, nor did it have a roof.

"I hope that when you look at it you'll be happy with what we've done," Mayor Hunt said.

Lisa Corbiere-Addison, a member of the Ontario Trillium Grant Review Team, was on hand to give her congratulations.

"I would like to congratulate the Township of Billings on receiving a $16,000 Ontario 150 Community Capital Program grant from the Government of Ontario," Ms. Corbiere-Addison said.

"Since your request for funding was to repair and preserve the Post Office Museum, the Government of Ontario could see the benefit in upgrading and reinforcing the building's interior and exterior as well as improving wheelchair accessibility."

"The great thing about this renovation is that it will ensure the continuation of welcoming some 4,000 visitors and local residents annually," she added.

MPP Mike Mantha acknowledged the workmanship and heritage contained in buildings such as the Post Office Museum. Having such heritage, he added, is a reflection on the leadership of a community.

"The south may have their 'Hurricane' (referencing long-time former Mississauga mayor Hazel McCallion), but we'll keep our Wizard of Aus!" he laughed.

The Old Mill Heritage Centre and Post Office

Museum is open Wednesday to Sunday from 11 am to 4 pm. Be sure to check out the Lester B. Pearson display while you still can, on now until Thanksgiving Weekend.

ough Chinese Baptist Church that purchased the farm property in 2002."

In January 2014, a group of volunteers, the Vimy Oaks Legacy Corporation, decided to repatriate offspring of these descendent oaks back to Vimy Ridge, whose oak trees had all been destroyed in the First World War. These Vimy oak saplings will be planted in the Vimy Foundation Centennial Park, adjacent to the Canadian national Vimy Memorial site, as part of centennial commemorations in France in 2017 and 2018.

The non-profit Vimy Oaks Legacy Corporation has undertaken to offer Vimy oak saplings grown in Canada for sale to qualifying organizations and individuals to be planted at commemorative sites throughout Canada to honour the soldiers who fought at Vimy Ridge and other battles during the First World War.

Ms. Bowerman also expressed her thanks to Sue and Joe Morin who donated the oak tree in memory of Ms. Morin's father, George Bury, and to Dave and Cheryl Harper of Har-Cor

Greenhouse, who donated the maple tree.

Legion member Dennis Blake also spoke at the gathering as he had attended Vimy ceremonies in France, along with his son and the sea cadets of which he had been an officer for 12 years.

"Nothing has made me so proud to be a Canadian," he said. "Not only this trip, but also to read about Vimy."

He went on to say that the Vimy ceremony was an amazing experience. "It was a long day, but very well organized. The prime minister was there as well as the president of France and other dignitaries."

Mr. Blake, his son and the cadets also toured France, including a trip to Paris. Wearing bright red tunics with a maple leaf on the back, they were stopped more than once by people who wanted to thank Canada for their contributions. Indeed, a five-year-old boy, crossing the street with his mom said, in French, "Look Mom, it's the Canadians."

Mr. Blake finished his remarks by saying, "This was a moving experience for the kids and they will remember it as we remember 1917."

Ms. Musgrove then did the blessing of the trees by opening with an Ojibwe prayer. Tobacco was placed around the trees and Ms. Musgrove blessed the saplings by touching them with a feather and asking them to grow strong and powerful.

Janet Linton, of Port Perry, attended the tree planting ceremony and told The Expositor that she was visiting a friend on Manitoulin, but added that she used to play in the acorn forest in Scarborough and remembers putting the acorns in little buckets for distribution.

The tree planting ceremony ended with Ms. Bowerman thanking everyone for attending and to say that it was a real honour for the cenotaph committee to apply for the purchase of a Vimy tree and to have the application accepted. Ms. Harper then led the audience in the singing of 'Highway of Heroes.'

...Mindemoya Old School supporters rally to save last historic building

demoya Old School's imminent demise.

"When one travels to Europe, much of the United States, South America or even some spots in Canada," wrote former student Lynn Quesnel in a missive to The Expositor, "some of the most interesting and visited sites are those with some sort of historical significance. In Collingwood, where we spend part of the year, an old hotel that was in disrepair and had a very bad reputation, has been restored. Again, a couple of young entrepreneurs saw the potential in the beautiful old structure. Now it houses galleries, shops and a café. It is an extremely popular spot that draws people from all over." The Quesnells went on to question the rush to demolish the historical structure and called for a rallying effort to convince council to pause before pushing the demolition button.

Among the photographs and memories that have come "over the transom," in newspaper parlance, is the following excerpt supplied to The Expositor and taken from page 13 of the first Manitoulin Continuation School Year Book, circa June 1923: "Returning to the Manitoulin after several years' absence, I decided that I should like to visit Mindemoya. I had been informed that with the coming of the railroad (to Little Current), the village had quickly grown into a town, and consequently, I was anxious to see it myself.

"As I passed along the road, the first thing that attracted my attention was the changed appearance of the school, instead of a one-story building, there was a fine two-story, eight-roomed school. The next thing was the school grounds. They now occupied about eight acres and as my eyes glanced across them I saw beds of flowers and vegetables, a basketball field, a football field and, last but not least, a baseball diamond. Looking over the sights nearer at hand I noticed the beautiful fences and walks.

"I made my way into the school and was met by a member of the staff who conducted me around and showed me the features of the building. In the hall there was a tablet with the names of the members of the staff since the school was built, at the head of the list were the names of Messrs. Purdy, Foran and Pierce.

"After looking around the public school rooms which were on the first floor, I was taken upstairs, where the four High School rooms were located. There were three classrooms and a science room. I was told that there were now one hundred and thirty-five students in attendance and that all the boys took agriculture in lieu of science. Before leaving the upper rooms, I asked about the ventilation facilities and was told that they were now controlled by a secret electric wire to the boiler room. Then I made my way out but took a look at the Community Hall, which was now turned into a gymnasium with complete equipment.

I went away happy that I had been able to recall so many familiar scenes and my thoughts turned to a line of poetry, 'And the thoughts of men are widened with the process of the suns'."

Since the history of Mindemoya Consolidated School is closely tied to the development of the educational system in the Mindemoya area we will begin with a brief outline of the history of education in this area.

The late Douglas Lanktree compiled a history of the building of the Mindemoya Old School with the assistance of an original article by Marvin Clarke, school records and assistance by Mike Smith and Mary Ann McCutcheon.

"The first settlers in this area of Carnarvon Township, the Vincers, McDonalds, Galbraiths and Elliotts arrived in 1872-73. They were joined in 1874 by the Hodgsons, Kings and Caddells in 1876 to establish a thriving pioneer community.

"School Section No. 1, Carnarvon, was organized in the year 1876 and a log school house was built to the north of the main intersection in 1877. This building burned and was replaced by another log building about 1880. As the population increased and the school became crowded an agitation was begun in 1893 to have the section divided with the dividing line being the twentieth sideroad which runs north and south through the town of Mindemoya. This proposal was turned down by Carnarvon council and a new frame building was built just west of the main intersection of the town.

"By 1918 the population growth made it necessary to hire a second teacher and consider expansion. Again there was a movement to divide the school section and build two schools. This time the movement was more successful. Council divided the school section, and two sets of trustees were elected with Mr. David Wyman acting as secretary for both boards. Plans were made for the building of two schools, one in the east and the other in the west end of the section.

"At this time a counter movement was established by some of the more progressive ratepayers with a plan to establish a Consolidated School comprising sections one and four to serve all pupils from grade one to grade twelve. This plan proved to be popular since it encompassed the improvement of high school education whereas previously some pupils took Grades 9 and 10 in the elementary school and others went to Owen Sound, Sault Ste. Marie etc. for further education.

"Plans were made, debentures were issued and the Consolidated school was built, reportedly the first and certainly one of the first Consolidated Schools in Ontario where more than one school section was served and pupils from grades one to twelve were educated in the same building.

"The (then-new Mindemoya) school opened in 1921 and one of the informants for this article, Mike Smith, being a bright ambitious young lad at that time, was the first student to enter the building on the morning of the day that it opened.

"With the opening of the Consolidated School, another first in the Province of Ontario became necessary. The first school buses to operate under contract were established to bring the pupils from the far corners of the joint sections. One of the contracts went to Finn McDermid who brought in the pupils from the west end of the section in a canvas covered wagon in summer and a canvas covered sleigh in winter, both drawn by horses. The second contract went to Lew Spry who used a democrat with a fringed top in summer and the covered sleigh in winter to bring in the east end pupils."

Pat Costigan and Norma Hughson, along with other present and past members of the Central Manitoulin Historical Society, compiled an extensive list of historical nuggets, which were then forwarded on to The Expositor by Lynn Quesnel.

The Mindemoya Consolidated School was completed in 1922 by Charters and Brown, a construction firm from Sault Ste. Marie.

"In its first year of operation, the new school housed 35 to 40 high school level students.

The new school building originally served dual purposes. The rooms on the right were the public school while the rooms on the left comprised the continuation school (aka high school). A large recreation room was situated on the east side and on the west side, separated by the furnace room, was a hot lunch room, while on the right side there was a storage or supply room, according to an introduction in Central Manitoulin Councillor Linda Farquhar's 1959 yearbook.

Each classroom had a cloakroom for outdoor clothing and the classroom windows were (and are) very large, which kept the rooms bright and reduced the need for artificial lighting. Likely there was many a daydream as students gazed out onto the fields outside on a sunny day.

Half of the basement of the Mindemoya Old School served as a community hall.

"My 89-year-old mother (Nola Haner) remembers playing badminton in the basement," recalled one contributor. "She also remembers that after the war, a victory garden was planted and tended by students, with the school custodian taking over in the summer while the students were away."

The first school buses or vans were sleighs drawn by teams of horses in the winter and covered wagons in the summer, as evidenced by a photograph supplied by a contributor.

The school fair was a very big event every year and once the arena next door was built, it was used to house the fair. The last of those school fairs was held in 1969, but then less than a decade later, Central Manitoulin Public School revived the school fair and it is, once again, a very big event for the Mindemoya community, complete with a parade through the streets from the school to the arena.

The playground was huge and included quite a lot of mixed forests. In the spring a favourite trick for the older boys was apparently secretly eating leeks at recess so the teacher would send them home because of the resulting odour.

In wintertime part of the schoolyard was used to play broomball and for skating.

By 1944, the heating system was updated and in 1950 the enrollment increased so much that the community hall in the basement was made into two more classrooms, one for Grade 7 and 8 and another to expand the Continuation School. By 1959 Central Manitoulin High School had been built, so the whole Old School became dedicated to the elementary level students.

In 1969 Manitoulin Secondary School was built in what was then called West Bay (now M'Chigeeng) and the Mindemoya Old School became the junior public school for Grades 1 to 4 and the old high school housed Grades 5, 8 and Kindergarten. When all the elementary grades moved to the senior school, the municipality took over ownership of the Mindemoya Old school and it housed the municipal offices and library and a plaque by the front door, placed there by the Canada Council, indicates the building honours the memory of long-time Carnarvon Reeve and businessman Farquhar Anglin.

When then Reeve Tom Farquhar envisioned a new municipal building, part of the selling point was that the rental of the office space in the Mindemoya Old School building would offset the cost of the new building.

The building went on to be used for a variety of purposes such as dental offices, government offices, toy library, law office, health unit, among other things. The last tenant was a lawyer who made extensive renovations to her unit before being asked to vacate earlier this year.

Now the Mindemoya Old School lies silent and dark, without hydro or heating, waiting for its fate to be decided by the Central Manitoulin council at its September 28 meeting.

Northeast Town council about the project and a partnership with Noojmowin Teg and they (the municipality) offered us this land. Now, Phase 1 is almost complete and we have created something for the community."

Mr. Tilson spoke about how Phase 1 included the 100 square-foot all-season greenhouse and community garden, but that they would like to develop the space further in the future.

The five-year project plan includes: two 1,200 sq/ft greenhouses for food production and municipal composting in 2018; a large 5,000-10,000 sq/ft greenhouse for scaled commercial production and aquaculture in 2019; and a food hub including a commercial kitchen and cold storage facilities, spin out businesses such as a plant nursery, styrocrete construction, cidery, mushroom production and local recycling in 2020-2021.

Mr. Hamalainen spoke about the challenge of designing and building an all-season greenhouse.

"It was a really interesting challenge figuring out how to build an all-season greenhouse in an affordable and sustainable way," said Mr. Hamalainen.

He and Mr. Tilson spoke about how they were able to create insulation by using styrofoam from the landfill and shredding it and mixing it with concrete.

Noojmowin Teg Health Centre Executive Director Pam Williamson spoke about the history of the project and the Activities which disturb damp soil or rotting wood, such as digging or raking, may release the fungus into the air. The fungus is found in moist acidic soil in parts of Northern Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Quebec as well as other areas around the Great Lakes and Mississippi Valley.

Although this is a rare infection, it is important to know how to reduce exposure to the fungus when working in moist soil area, such as under the house, cottage, porch, or shed. Simple precautions include wearing work gloves, proper footwear, long pants, long-sleeved shirts, and a disposable NIOSH N100 approved HEPA filter dust mask.

The symptoms of blastomycosis can be similar to those of influenza or pneumonia. "If you have a persistent cough, muscle aches, joint pain, tiredness, chills, low-grade fever, skin sores or unexplained weight loss, let your health care provider know that you may have been exposed to the fungus that causes blastomycosis," said Rylan Yade, an environmental support officer at the SDHU. "They will want to know if you have been in a high-risk area and in contact with moist soil." People typically become sick between 21 and 100 days after being exposed to the fungus. If the infection is left untreated, blastomycosis may be fatal."

For more information on blastomycosis call the Sudbury and District Health Unit at 705-522-9200, ext. 398, toll-free 1-866-522-9200, or visit www.sdh.u.com

An email from Health Canada, which is working with the community on blasto, states, "in response to several cases of blastomycosis in Sheshegwaning First Nation, a Health Canada Environmental Health Officer (EHO) visited the community on September 13. The EHO met with the community leadership and provided information about blastomycosis, including signs and symptoms and how the disease can be acquired, through a well-attended community presentation.

"A public health investigation has been initiated to collect information with the objective of learning more about this disease and if whether a source of exposure can be determined. As blastomycosis is an uncommon illness, the findings of this investigation may contribute to a better understanding of the disease."

Chief Roy indicated, "I had called in an environmental health officer (through Health Canada) to investigate and to have a community information session on how the infection is contracted and provide information on what blastomycosis is and how it can be prevented."

"We have not determined at this time what might have caused the spike in occurrences," stated Chief Roy. "But as part of the investigation, they (Health Canada) will be trying to find commonalities between those affected to determine a cause. We live in the endemic region for blastomycosis (where it is most prevalent), and it's not always possible to avoid exposure to this organism. This disease is actually rare, and hard to catch. You have to be in contact with the soil and breathe in the spores, and it is not passed on from person to person or from an animal to a person."

"The reason I wanted to call in the EHO team is that the community was in a state of panic and were looking for answers," said Chief Roy. "Things are a little calmer in the community right now. The focus is on education and prevention."

Chief Roy noted that for those persons identified with having blastomycosis "even though they are responding well to treatment, it is a long road ahead. They will have to be on medication for six months."

tered as such," he explained. "Even though it was drawn up, and the maps and diagrams are very pretty and detailed, it was never properly registered."

In order to circumvent the challenge of the consolidation of the property, a previous owner had come up with an innovative, if problematic, solution. "They checker boarded it," he said.

The mayor explained that two property lots with the same owner would normally be consolidated into a single parcel of land. The previous owners used separate companies in which to hold the adjacent lots, thereby ensuring they would be kept as separate pieces of land.

"Now my understanding is that the new owner has put all of the lots under the same company," said the mayor. "That would merge those individual lots into one large parcel."

There are still over 100 owners of individual lots within the overall boundaries of the larger Carter Bay properties and a large number of those owners, along with the current owner of the larger parcel Carter Bay Properties LLC (aka former Little Current resident Michael Bailey), have opposed any development. But another group of property owners have built structures, most of them out of sight (out of mind), in apparent contravention of the town's long standing policy of not allowing development: building permits are not issued by the municipality for any construction at Carter Bay.

"We have to determine what that word 'development' means," said

Mayor Stephens.

There are two parts to the issue, according to the mayor:

"The first is that the building we are currently talking about, the owner claims is 10 foot by 10 foot, so is under the 100 square feet size where you don't need to get a building permit," he said. "So is a 100 square-foot building really 'development'? Two, it falls down to a bit of interpretation and so we are seeking Ministry (of Municipal Affairs and Housing) direction on the matter."

As to the other "hidden" structures that have so far been off the radar: "We have heard rumours of that sort of thing," said the mayor. "I think that when the Manitoulin Planning Board's overhead system is in place a lot of those places will be picked up."

...Ontario seeks more Island puppies for tick study pleased."

Dr. Stinson learned about the study from Dr. Michelle Evason who did a talk on Lyme disease at a conference he attended earlier this year, stressing the need for more information about where dogs are contracting Lyme disease and how to prevent it. The study's goal is to gather data on where ticks are in Canada and how to prevent the disease, as well as how to better manage the problem.

The study is being conducted by Dr. Scott Weese and Dr. Michelle Evason of the Department of Pathobiology at the University of Guelph.

"The purpose of the study is to enroll pet owners and their puppies (seven months of age or younger) that will be followed for evaluation of exposure to ticks carrying Borrelia Burdoferi (the cause of Lyme disease) and their possible development of signs of illness due to Lyme disease," the consent form to participate in the research study states. "This is part of a larger long-term (lifetime) Lyme disease and canine health study."

The study will involve drawing blood from the participating puppy at the age of seven months (or less) and repeated every 6-12 months. The puppy owner will also be asked to complete an electronic or telephone questionnaire on the puppy at six-month intervals over the course of the study (three years). Commitment to the initial phase (three years) does not commit participants to the later phases of the study, but it is hoped that, long-term, the puppies and their owners will participate throughout the dog's life. Participating in the study is free for the owner; they are simply responsible for bringing the puppy in for the blood tests and filling out the questionnaires.

As well, if a tick is found on the puppy, the owners are asked to submit it for testing.

Symptoms of Lyme disease in canines include: fever, loss of appetite, reduced energy, lameness and generalized stiffness, discomfort or pain.

While none of the puppies enrolled in the study have tested positive for Lyme disease, Scott Veterinary Services has seen numerous cases this year.

"My practice on Manitoulin has had seven cases of canine Lyme disease this year," he said. This is in addition to the six cases that The Expositor reported last year between the Island Animal Hospital and Scott Veterinary Services.

"We will be doing blood tests on the dogs at the six month check-in, which for many will be around December of this year or January 2018," Dr. Stinson explained. "We will be looking for seroconvert—if they have been in contact with the disease."

Dr. Stinson said he has seen a large growth in the number of ticks and as a result has added the Lyme disease vaccination as part of their core vaccinations.

"We want to make the public aware that ticks and Lyme disease are here," he added. "We have been disappointed with the (Sudbury and District) Health Unit response."

The study is still taking more puppies. If you have a puppy seven months old or younger, you can contact Scott Veterinary Services in Mindemoya for more information or to join the study.

For more information contact Dr. Stinson at 705-377-5666 or stop in at 2058 Highway 551, Mindemoya, Ontario.

Little Current United Church congregation welcomes new pastor

by Robin Burrige
LITTLE CURRENT—The Little Current Pastoral Charge of the United Church of Canada has welcomed a new pastor, Paul Allard.

Pastor Paul recently moved to Manitoulin from Cochrane, but officially started at the Little Current and Sheguiandah United Churches on July 1 of this year.

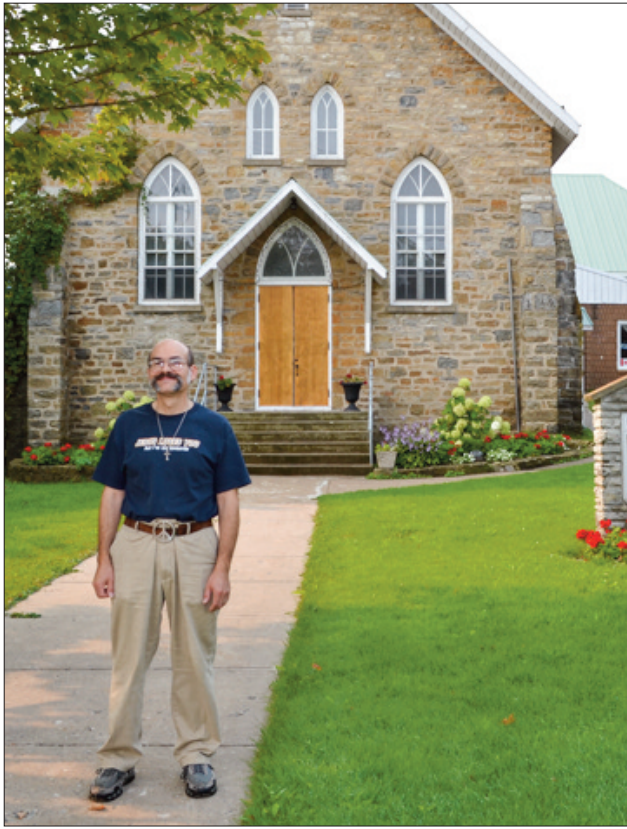

He is no stranger to Northern Ontario, growing up in Kirkland Lake.

“I didn’t start in the ministry right away,” explained Pastor Paul. “I worked for Northland Telecommunications for 24 years as a telecommunications tech. The job took me all over—I spent a lot of time in Timmins, but also Moosonee, Hearst and Swastika.”

“In 2009 I finally decided that I wanted to serve the church and ministry,” Pastor Paul continued. “I asked the church (the United Church of Canada) and started the discernment process. A group was formed to help me identify if this was my calling. After a year and a half they made the decision based on my philosophies and my faith focus and decided that my interests and skills would be suited to becoming a minister.”

Pastor Paul started the Designated Lay Ministry Program (DLM), a three-year work-study program that trains individuals to be a minister as they work.

“It’s like a co-op,” said

Pastor Paul. “It was a full-time job, so I quite my job at Northland—I just felt called to work in the ministry.”

Pastor Paul worked at St. Paul’s United Church in Cochrane as he completed the DLM program, which included online distance education courses as well as twice a year extensive two-week sessions in Saskatchewan.

“I completed the course in the fall of 2016 and was the minister at St. Paul’s until earlier this year,” he said, noting that he had to leave due to budget restraints and the church no longer being able to have a full-time minister. “I needed a full-time ministry position and applied to Manitoulin.”

Pastor Paul was offered the position at the Little Current United Church Pastoral Charge and accepted. “I was really impressed with the congregation, the people and the area,” he shared.

Since starting at the pastoral charge in July, Pastor Paul said he felt that the both the congregations and community have been very welcoming.

“Little Current, and Manitoulin in general, is a very friendly place,” he said. “People are often willing to stop and chat and the church has gone out of its way to be accommodating, as I wasn’t able to move to Manitoulin right away. My wife Karen and I have a lot of pets and it was difficult to find a place to rent at first.”

The couple eventually found a home in Little Current and moved to Manitoulin along with their six cats and two dogs. “We are big animal lovers,” Pastor Paul said.

As for his vision for the church, Pastor Paul hopes to get more involved in the community.

“I was a Lion in Cochrane and would like to join the Little Current Lions Club,” he said. “I think it is a great organization. We also participated in the recent Manitoulin Pride event. I went to the meetings ahead of time and we were thrilled when they asked us to hold the social at the end. We had a number of volunteers from the church who helped with the barbecue. We were really impressed with the gathering and hope to host it again next year.”

Pastor Paul also plans to bring technology to the pulpit, incorporating PowerPoint into the Sunday service.

“With PowerPoint I can project the hymns up on to the screen,” he explained. “Rather than people holding a book and singing into their book, they can look up and project. It also allows me to incorporate a lot of extras like video clips, pictures or songs. I find that it sets a different mood and really enhances the service. I did it at St. Paul’s and it was well received.”

The new pastor has also introduced an open door day on Wednesdays from 1:30 pm until 5 pm. “It is open to anyone who wants to come in and sit, meditate, pray or even knit,” Pastor Paul said. “I also try to keep regular office hours Mondays to Fridays from 9 am to 5 pm.”

The Little Current United Church (LCUC) is located on Robinson Street in Little Current, with Sunday worship from 10 am to 11 am.

There will be a Saint Francis of Assisi pet blessing at LCUC this Sunday, October 1 at the 10 am service which is open to the congregation and community. People are invited to bring their pets (caged) or a photo of their pet.

Wiikwemkoong Fall Fair fun for the whole herd

by Giselle Aiabens

WIKWEMKOONG—The Wiikwemkoong Fall Fair was held this past weekend on what felt more like the first weekend of summer than the first weekend of fall. The unusually high temperatures did little, however, to deter fair goers, and all early indications point toward great attendance numbers according to Wikwemikong Agricultural Group committee member Jacqueline Hopkin. This year's theme, "Fun for the Whole Herd," was evident in the variety of events for all ages.

The events were kicked off Wednesday night with a Parade of Lights Bike Night, which was an opportunity for cyclists to decorate their bikes with lights and ride down the main street of Wiikwemkoong en masse. First-time participant Kendra Kitchikeg liked "how everyone lit up their bikes and played music" and thought taking off together was "a lot of fun!" She enjoyed the event with her family and is looking forward to the next one.

Friday evening, the family of the late Louis Manitowabi, hosted a family dance in his honour. Mr. Manitowabi was "an integral part of reviving the Fall Fair and was the lead organizer for many years," explains Lenore Manitowabi, daughter of the late Mr. Manitowabi, when asked about the importance of honouring her father at the Fall Fair. She goes on to explain that her father was "passionate about the importance that agriculture plays in our everyday lives – it's what puts food on the table." For these reasons, honouring him at the Fall Fair was only natural. Unfortunately, however, due to a death in the family, key organizing members of the family were not able to be at the dance and had to find last minute organizers to assist on the evening of the dance. Ms. Manitowabi expressed her profound gratitude to community members Shelley Trudeau and Dawn Wemigwans, who stepped forward to ensure that the dance, organized in her father's honour, was still able to happen. The grandchildren of Mr. Manitowabi were at the dance and were able to participate in this fun tribute to their grandfather at the fair that he was so fond of.

Saturday's events started with the parade of floats creatively put together by organizations and families, followed by a pancake breakfast fundraiser and exhibit at the arena, which included entries by school groups and community members alike. The exhibit served as an opportunity for Janine Pitawanakwat of the Wikwemikong Development Commission (WDC) to promote the directory of agricultural and handmade products she is currently compiling. Ms. Pitawanakwat explains that the directory is "an opportunity for community members to advertise their products, for free, whether they be food items like fruits and vegetables or other hand-made products." She encourages interested community members who would like to be included in the directory to contact her at the WDC office.

The bulk of the outdoor events were held at Thunderbird Park including afternoon entertainment with Eugene Manitowabi and Friends, various activities such as Texas horseshoes, capture the flag, round bale rolling, and water hauling, a look-alike contest, dance demonstrations, potato sack races, pony rides, as well as a number of vendor booths with food and produce.

The current fall apple harvest provided an excellent opportunity for community members Christianna Jones and Jocelyn Bebamikawe to show off their apple press, making delicious apple cider for those interested in trying their hand at using the apple press. Ms. Jones explains that the Food Share and Value-Added Apple Product Initiative Program, which is responsible for bringing the apple press to the fall fair, will soon be receiving three more apple presses, five grinders and three bottle-fillers which will be made available for community members' use. Ms. Bebamikawe encourages community members to utilize these tools in order to better use the "resources (apples) that are already available" to us. They will be setting up at the Whitefish Festival on November 1 as well as at the Six-Foot Festival at Debajehmujig Creation Centre in Manitowaning, where anyone can bring their apples to turn into juice, which they can then take home.

Kim Manitowabi, one of the key organizers of the ATV Poker Run, was pleased with the event, explaining that it "was a great time with 20 bikes and 24 participants in total." Dan Bowerman won with four aces. The run lasted about four hours and organizers are looking forward to hosting it again next year.

The Horse Pull competition always makes for great excitement, and this year's winners include Brandon Gilbert of Purple Valley placing first in the heavy weight division pulling 6,000 pounds over 6'2," followed closely by Stan Osawamick in second place, pulling 6,000 pounds over 3'11" and Jerold Webkamigad in third. Sheguiandah's Katie Cyr took first place in the light weight division pulling 5,000 pounds over 20 feet, second and third place went to John Graham and Blaine Gilbert, respectively. Katie Cyr was

URGENT: World War III Nuclear War, and End Times Events Starting Sept. 23 2017

This is a summary of the 8 page document which can be downloaded from the Internet at <http://tinyurl.com/JC-Coming4>

Based on the reference sources shown below, I now believe there is better than an 80% chance of World War III with all-out nuclear war occurring soon, followed by the Second Coming of Jesus Christ. I believe that End Times began on Saturday Sept. 23, 2017. The End Times are the last 7 years of God's Creation (ie. Planet Earth and the Universe), ending as early as the Fall of 2024, but no later than the Fall of 2027. God's plan for mankind spans 7,000 years: 2,000 years between Garden of Eden and God's covenant with Abraham; 2,000 years between Abraham and Jesus' baptism, in or around 27 AD; 2,000 years between Jesus' baptism and his Second Coming (on or before 2027), then 1,000 years for God's chosen people in the New Jerusalem in Heaven. The End Times are usually divided into two periods of 3.5 years each. The Bible documents that Jesus said the End Times will be cut short (ie. likely shortening the time of Jacob's Troubles, the last 3.5 year part of the End Times, which end just before Jesus' Second Coming in the Fall of 2024)

God always reserves the right to change His plan, especially if there is mass repentance, and a turning away from sin. The Bible has numerous examples where God's judgement was delayed or cancelled when people changed their evil ways. If God changes or delays His plan, and the End Times don't start on Sept. 23, 2017, then the End Times will likely start sometime between Sept. 23 2017 and the Fall of Year 2020 (a maximum delay of up to 3 years). Either way, the End is near.

Before the End Times, there have been many Harbingers (ie. 4 Blood Moons in 2014-15, eclipses on Feast Days 2011-2017, the Aug. 21 2017 total eclipse in the USA, Hurricanes every time the USA tries to negotiate a Middle East peace agreement, etc.). These Harbingers are all about God trying to signal that evil must end and the repenting of sins must occur, or else we must prepare ourselves for God's judgement. You cannot hide from God's wrath & judgement, so the sooner we all change, the better. We will soon be forced to choose sides (good or evil, white or black). All the grey regions of our lives today, where "anything goes", will soon disappear. God loves you, and wants to maximize the number of people in God's family in Heaven.

Those who pray continuously for their own salvation (see End Times Prayer below), fully and deeply believe in Jesus Christ and His crucifixion for our sins, confess their sins, love God and their neighbours, follow the Ten Commandments, and dedicate their lives to God will be marked by God's seal on their forehead ("Sealed"). If you have been Sealed, this would be similar to having a ticket in the First Class section of an airplane: there is limited seating, it's expensive, but much more comfortable than the ride in tourist class in the back of the plane. When God places His Seal on your forehead, God will expressly let you know. Your Seal will ensure your safety and protection from the devil and his evil spirits, all weapons, attacks, plagues, and all other tribulations that are to come during the End Times. Sealed persons will demonstrate strength of character, do great exploits, testify to their faith, and bring others to God.

Some people say they believe in the Easter Bunny. Some people believe in Jesus similar to their belief in the Easter Bunny. In spite of what many organized religions teach, "born again" is more likely defined by God and the Bible as when someone is purified and made incorruptible during Rapture. Luke-warm belief in Jesus, or false claims of already being "born again" are likely insufficient to see a person safely through the End Times and into everlasting life.

If world-wide repentance, especially by "The Harlot: Babylon The Great", also known as USA) has not occurred, then on Sept. 23, 2017 there will be signs in the sun, moon, stars, & Earth, signalling the start of End Times by a unique celestial alignment in the Constellation Virgo, attracting attention from many (ie. similar to the Star of Bethlehem for the Three Wisemen). [Ed.: This has already occurred, as predicted]

Soon after the Sept. 23 2017 sign, there will be a 7 yr. interim peace agreement proposed for Israel and the Middle East, where Israel will be forced to give up some of its lands so as to achieve peace. This peace agreement will violate God's Covenant with Israel for the lands that God promised will belong to Israel forever. All or most world governments, religions, media, NGO's and other groups will support the peace deal, saying "land for peace", "peace" and "peace and security". The deal will include permitting Israel to immediately rebuild the Third Temple in Jerusalem, and re-start daily offerings and animal sacrifices to God. The status of the city Jerusalem will remain in dispute for this interim peace agreement.

God's hand has interceded to prevent nuclear war for many decades. When mankind dares to violate God's Covenant with Israel via this "land for peace" deal, God will remove his steadying hand, and nuclear war will no longer be prevented by God. According to human nature, without God's help, the risks of nuclear war are huge. There are between 15,000 to 23,000 nuclear bombs and ICBM's that exist today; most of which will be used during WW III. WW III will last 60 minutes, and will kill about 2.5 Billion people in all NATO countries, Russia, China, N. Korea, and Middle East via nuclear weapons, chemical, and/or biological weapons. Super-EMP (Electro-Magnetic Pulse, 4 times stronger than a regular EMP) weapons will likely be used during WW III. US and other NATO militaries claim to be adequately shielded from a regular EMP weapon, but no shielding exists for any civil infrastructure systems. While an EMP nuclear device won't kill anybody directly, experts suggest 90% of people will be dead within 10 years of an EMP attack due to loss of all electrical-electronic systems that modern society relies upon (eg. EMP destroys all electrical/electronic systems, resulting in NO electricity, drinking water, heating & air conditioning, sewage, refrigeration, food distribution, grocery stores, fuel production & distribution, Internet, phones, TV, radios, etc.).

You must pay close attention to world news. When you hear "land for peace", "peace and security", and see the signing of the Interim Peace Accord, get ready to flee for your life. WW III is likely to occur immediately after the signing of the peace accord, or likely within 40 days thereafter. Before WW III starts, God's angels will call His chosen people to flee to safety. Major roads and gas stations may be blocked by traffic jams created by others fleeing, so you must flee long before this event, or be self-reliant and continuously prepared to flee on a moments notice. I believe that Manitoulin Island, Ontario, Canada is one of the safest places in North America to which people can flee (or continue to live).

Before the peace accord is signed, or immediately upon the signing, you must leave all metropolitan areas with 100,000 people or more, and get away from all significant infrastructure, military bases, and similar points that will be attacked during all-out nuclear war. Hide in remote or rural areas that are at least 35 km. distant (radius for 50% chance of 3rd degree burns from nuclear airburst), or if ground burst, radioactive fallout zone will be 30 km - 185 km wide by 200 - 800 km. downwind of each nuclear target. I suggest you identify a specific safe place right now, well in advance. I also suggest you buy & store emergency supplies (eg. Battery/crank/solar AM/FM/SW radio & flashlight, batteries, food, water, medications, etc.; see EMO's Build an Emergency Survival Kit, sufficient for between 3 days to 3.5 yr. supply (essentials), plus Potassium iodide (KI) tablets (Iosat, ThyroSafe, or equiv.), coveralls, gloves, boots, and respirator for protection from nuclear fallout &/or biological weapons.

Un-Sealed people who are still alive after WW III will be stunned, grief-filled, angered, depressed, and abandoned (ie. every individual is on their own, to survive the best they can). There will likely be little or no government-led rescue efforts. You're on your own, or helped by (or helping) neighbours & friends. After WW III, the Earth's 10 regional leaders will quickly delegate (or abdicate) their authority to a "One World Government" that controls everything on Earth, including all remaining nukes (so as to prevent another nuclear war). The One World Government will be run by USA, Russia, China, and the EU. Each of these leaders will plan to rule sequentially for 7 years each, rotating back into power again every 28 years. The first Council Leader (ie. our first Totalitarian World-wide Dictator) will be the Anti-Christ. The other three Council Members will never get a chance to govern due to what the Anti-Christ does in the first 7 years of his rule during the End Times.

During the first 3.5 years of Anti-Christ's reign, he will persecute Jews and un-Sealed Christians more and more, and implement the "Mark of the Beast" system, where nobody can buy or sell anything without this Mark. If you decide to take the Mark, your decision will be irrevocable. Un-Sealed people will be lured in by the Mark's short term benefits in spite of the long term consequences (ie. the Mark will cause them to be lost forever, eventually thrown into the lake of fire to be burned and tortured forever). All un-Sealed persons that refuse the Mark will be denied, ridiculed, and persecuted more & more, and eventually attacked, jailed, and/or beheaded by the Anti-Christ. The Anti-Christ will claim to be God, and will blaspheme Jerusalem's Third Temple. God's two witnesses in Jerusalem will testify the Gospel for a 3.5 year period, continuously calling for all persons to repent their sins.

After 3.5 years of the Anti-Christ's reign, he will annul the Interim Peace Agreement, and attack Israel. All Israelis must flee to some wilderness area, Petra Jordan or similar, where they will be protected by God. Stalemated from attacking Israelis, the furious Anti-Christ will start attacking all non-Sealed Christians and all other un-Marked humans without mercy. Simultaneously, God will create storms, heat, droughts, earthquakes, comets, floods, famines, plagues, etc. as God's angels deliver judgement upon nations, the devil and his disciples, and all un-Sealed persons.

Once all persons have chosen their allegiance (ie. either God or Satan, white or black), the devil will kill the Two Witnesses. God's angel will lock up the devil in the Abyss for 1,000 years. All of God's good people who are still alive (ie. everyone descended from Adam & Eve, except Satan, Satan's disciples, humans who have defiled DNA, and humans who have taken the Mark) will be raptured to Heaven, for the 7 year long marriage ceremony and celebration with Jesus. All the beheaded Christians (ie. those who had been killed by the Anti-Christ) will be resurrected and will rule with Jesus in Heaven for 1,000 years. When the Anti-Christ is gone, the Jews will return from Petra, clean up Jerusalem for 7 years, will slowly awaken to Jesus as their Messiah, then will be raptured to Heaven. After the 1,000 years in Heaven for all of God's good people, all the rest of the dead people on Earth will be resurrected, then judged by God; the good people will join God in heaven, and the evil ones will be cast into the eternal fires of torture. After 1,000 years in the Abyss, the devil will be allowed out. The devil will start rallying all the evil people who remain on Earth (Gog & Magog), readying them to attack Jesus upon His return.

Jesus and His army will then return to Earth, and will battle triumphantly against the devil and his disciples in the War of Armageddon. The defeated devil is thrown into the lake of fire & will be tormented forever. Jesus will reap all evil humans, collecting them to a remote valley near Jerusalem where Jesus will crush them in God's winepress of wrath. The old Heaven & Earth will pass away (ie. Super Nova ?), and all of God's good people will peacefully live with God and Jesus in the new Heaven and Earth forever more. The End

End Times Prayer

A "regular" prayer is likely insufficient for the End Times. The following prayer was especially created, based almost entirely upon Biblical references, to help you join God's Team during the End Times.

My loving God, thank-you for my life. Thank-you for sharing Your creation and Your Son Jesus Christ with me. In spite of Jesus living the perfect example for me to follow, I have sinned against His example, against You, and against Your laws. I have closed my mind, my eyes, and my ears to You, Your ways, and Your creation. I have abused and disrespected Your creation.

I believe that Jesus is my Lord and Saviour, and He died on the cross for the sins of all humans. In my heart, I have faith that God raised Him from the dead, and He ascended into Heaven. I repent my sins, and testify to my ongoing believe in the Gospel. We are commanded to do good works; to love the Lord our God with all our heart, and with all our soul, and with all our mind; to love our neighbours as ourselves; and to help and serve others. All these things I strive to do. By Bible study, I learned that my sins, my imperfect life, and the filthy rags of my good works are not sufficiently worthy for me to be born again, and receive everlasting life with You in Heaven. Realizing my past failures, I now want to dedicate the rest of my life to You, Your laws, Your ways, and Your creation. I want to deny my selfish wants, take up my cross, and serve You. I want to be purified, made white, tested, and proved worthy of being one of Your chosen people. I must put an end to my sins. I must atone for my iniquities. I must fast, pray, keep your Sabbath Day holy, and obey all of Your Commandments. I must anoint myself as a sign of my ongoing repentance, and my dedication as Your servant. I must now study, think, watch, and listen for You. I am done with hoarding my worldly possessions. I am done with all other worldly distractions. I am done with my short sighted, selfish, and petty priorities. I pray for Your forgiveness, Your grace, and Your help to make the necessary changes in what remains of my life.

I pray for my family, friends, neighbours, and new acquaintances that I may adequately share God's plan, and invite them to join with me in Jesus. I pray for Israel, Jerusalem, and all of God's people who suffer. I pray for your help to improve myself, and achieve great exploits in Your name. Call upon me, speak to me, test me, so that I better understand Your will, and my role in Your purposes and plans for Your creation. I pray for Jesus and the Holy Spirit to come into my life. I humbly and respectfully offer the rest of my life to You as Your agent on Earth; to serve Your purposes, testify, do great exploits, and help bring a multitude to their salvation in Jesus. I believe and trust in my salvation through Your grace, the power of the Holy Spirit, and Your Son, Jesus Christ. I pray continuously that I will eventually be worthy enough to receive Your seal upon my forehead. Amen

...continued from page 13 also awarded best teamster. In a fitting tribute, with Chief and Council support and sponsorship, the horse pull area was dedicated to the late Leonard "Chicken" George who was instrumental in bringing horse pulling to the community—it is now known as Leonard "Chicken" George Memorial Horse Pull Park.

The fall fair committee hosted a licensed dance Saturday night with Elliott Lake native, Mike Trudell, who is looking forward to heading back to Nashville in a couple of short months to begin recording a new album, which will be out in early 2018. Mr. Trudell, who credits his inspiration from artists such as Allan Jackson, Garth Brooks, George Jones, and Merle Haggard, expressed his appreciation for the warm reception and support he's received on Manitoulin Island and hopes to be back in 2018 to promote his new album.

The Fall Fair is, as Ms. Hopkin describes, "a community driven event which provides a chance for community members to give back." This giving back to the community was definitely apparent in the many events hosted by different community members and organizations. It is this wonderful community spirit which will ensure the Fall Fair, on which the late Louis Manitowabi and his contemporaries worked so hard to revive, continues.

Junior Fall Fair King Liam Wassengesso and Queen Kara Peltier are all smiles as they enjoy participating in the parade.

Ms. Bickell and Ms. Bourgault announced the winner of the 'name the greenhouse contest.' Judy Olacke was named the winner for her entry, 'Sun Sprouts Greenhouse.'

Earlier in the day, there were school workshops with students from Shawonawosow School, Little Current Public School and Mniidoo Mnisging Anishinabek Kinomage Gaming (MMAK) as well as community workshops.

ing my friends and walking each day.”

“Strengths include a strong commitment to home, my marriage and family. I aim to be sincere and direct but gentle. I try to be patient and forgive easily. We never go to bed angry; we need to accept other points of view. I am a nature nut. I try to see the good things and don’t dwell much on negativity. At 80, I am where I want to be. I have completed 400 paintings now, and most have sold. I paint for the love of art, not for the money, but it’s fun to sell a piece too.”

“There is nothing I would change if I could go back in time. A tiny regret is not having a daughter but I end in a French square. Like her, I want to be ‘me’ as long as I can.”

Wayne and Rochelle have been married 56 years now and they are very happy with their summer life on Manitoulin and the winter months in St. Thomas. “Being married to Wayne and having my two sons are the fondest memories in my life,” Rochelle shares. “My life has been exciting. I never knew what would happen next.” Wayne was praised recently by a letter from a student he had instructed 50 years ago. The student was very grateful for lessons learned.

“Manitoulin, Mindemoya, and this spot right here, are my most favourite places in the world. I love everything about this Island. The quiet, peaceful solitude of the woods. Nature here calls to the soul and encourages creativity. It is nice to visit other places like Italy where I painted in Venice, but I love it here the most. Fortunately, Wayne does too, despite spending his early life in St. Thomas. Leaving here, each fall, taking down all the art, is painful. I wait until the last minute. During the long winter, we eagerly await springtime and our annual return to our Manitoulin sanctuary.”

Quote from Rochelle: “Nature’s world is so fleeting and the modern world is so complicated and busy that people don’t take the time to really look at these special things. It is this very close-up view of texture, patterns of shape and form and the contrast of depth and colour that I strive to capture. I want my viewers to share visually and emotionally what I saw and felt when a precious ‘moment in time’ touched have enjoyed spending time with my beautiful nieces,” she adds. “People who have inspired me include Florence Nightingale, Georgia O’Keefe, Monet, whose garden I visited with Michelle and Wayne, and Joan of Arc about whom I read as a youngster. She was a lady in control of her own life and believed in her goals. We saw where she met her

There are many great opportunities for everyone to get involved in at Manitoulin Secondary School (MSS), whether it is practicing for upcoming competitions or contributing to important campaigns.

On Monday, September 18, Roberta Bondar, the first female Canadian astronaut and the first neurologist in space, came to MSS to talk to the student body, staff, elementary schools, and community members about how the Earth matters. All in attendance were greeted by Mr. Mohammed, before Kathy Wachuk welcomed Nicole Shoshone to the stage. Ms. Shoshone is the director of education at Science North. She explained how she had been working with Dr. Bondar to educate students across Northern Ontario. Dr. Roberta Bondar is globally recognized for her fine art photography, neurology, and her several university degrees.

Dr. Bondar shared her inspiration for becoming an astronaut. She showed the impact of climate change in different areas of the world recorded by satellite photography: Las Vegas, Dubai, Amazon Rainforest, Columbia Glacier, Aral Sea. Dr. Bondar also shared a video of her life in the space station and pictures of Earth from space. At the end of her presentation she introduced the Ontario150 Bondar Challenge. The challenge is to take a picture of nature and describe why it is a piece of natural beauty. The presentation ended with a question and answer period. Most asked questions about the impact of space travel on the human body and what Dr. Bondar learned from her research in the space shuttle.

On Friday, the new First Robotics Team met. First Robotics is a combination of the sport and technology, the ultimate sport for the mind. For this competition, teams are challenged to raise money, design a team 'brand,' and design and build a robot to compete against other teams. The team will only have six weeks from the reveal date in January to construct and code a competition robot to meet the challenges. The group decided on a team name: Manitoulin Metal. Manitoulin Metal is still looking for more coders, carpenters, engineers, designers, and a business manager. The group plans to compete in North Bay and Barrie in 2018 and are looking for community sponsors.

On Friday, September 22, the Students' Council held the Magazine Drive kick-off assembly. To start off Co-Prime Ministers Jacob Maxwell and April Torkopoulos introduced the Students' Council for this school year: Josh Noble as vice-prime minister; Alicia Williamson as fundraising manager; Victoria MacDonald as secretary and treasurer; Delaney Madore as spirit rep; Isaac Gosse as AV technician; myself as public relations; Marshall Maciuk, Lauren Goddard, and Kaitlyn Keatley as

Grade 11 representatives; Zachary Carr as Grade 10 representatives; Malia Leighton and Maggie Chapman as Grade 9 representatives. Steve Bailey from QSP then launched the magazine drive. The magazine drive is the biggest fundraiser for the school and the money raised goes towards special events for the school. To encourage students to sell magazine, the Students' Council added incentives for reaching various goals: $3,000, sun-dae bar; $6,000, half-movie day; $9,000 teacher pie-throw; $12,000, teacher makeover; $15,000, afternoon sports/ games; $18,000, hypnotist. In order to participate in these events, students must sell at least one magazine subscription. To get the students motivated to sell, Students' Council created a Friends-themed video that had the student body laughing. Students will be selling magazines until October 10.

On Wednesday, September 27, SHARE/ Go Green has members leaving for Toronto to participate in WE Day Toronto. WE Day is a day full of performances and motivational speakers, meant to reward and inspire young leaders and world changers. WE Day tickets are not bought, they are instead earned through local and global contributions. SHARE/ Go Green has done lots of work raising money for emergency relief, collecting canned goods for the local food bank, and raising money for WE.Org projects in Kenya. WE Day is on September 28. Participants always come back with lots of inspiration to make the world a better place.

The entire school is busy, between fundraising, creating new inspirations, and keeping up their school work. 'Til next time, stay golden, Mustangs.

Recipe from Rose's Kitchen
by Rose Diebolt
rjdiebolt@hotmail.com

It was a day of trying out new recipes. Here are two new ones that I will put in my file and keep on using.

Black Bean Cupcakes

Yes, they do taste delicious. Don't panic when you mix them and go "boy are they runny." They will bake up firm and light. I kept the frosting simple. By making it ahead and letting it solidify you can add a tsp. to the cupcake when it comes out of the oven and it will melt to a nice glaze when it cools.

- 1 can of black beans, rinsed and drained
- 6 large eggs
- 1 Tbsp vanilla
- 1/2 tsp sea salt
- 6 Tbsp melted coconut oil
- 1/2 to 3/4 cup maple syrup or agave syrup
- 5 Tbsp cocoa powder
- 1/2 tsp baking soda
- 1 tsp baking powder
- 2 Tbsp water

- ICING:
- 1/3 cup cacao powder
 - 1/4 coconut oil
 - 1/4 cup maple syrup

Melt the coconut oil and mix in the maple syrup and cacao powder. Let it sit to thicken for spreading.

1. Preheat the oven to 350F. Spray a muffin tin with cooking spray or insert paper muffin cups.
2. Place the first six ingredients into a bowl, and blend in a food processor, then transfer to a large bowl.
3. In a separate bowl, blend all dry ingredients together well. When the dry ingredients are mixed, add to bean mixture. Add the remaining water. Mix until well-combined.
4. Carefully fill the muffin cups to 2/3 full. Bake for 25-30 minutes. The cupcakes should be done when an inserted fork comes out clean.
5. Bring the cupcakes out and let sit on a rack. Add the tsp of icing and let the cupcakes cool.

Falafel

Instead of using cooked chickpeas (which most falafel recipes call for), I soaked them. The texture was crunchy and a little dry, but easy to fix with more sauce. I found that using cooked chickpeas they are too soft to hold together in the pan. In deep-frying you can use cooked chickpeas but then you are eating a "grease bomb".

- 1 cup dried chickpeas
- 1 cup packed fresh parsley plus 1/2 cup chopped fresh cilantro
- 1/2 cup chopped red onion
- 3 cloves garlic
- 1 Tbsp oil
- 2 Tbsp lemon juice
- 1 Tbsp ground cumin
- 1/2 tsp salt

1. Soak the chickpeas in cold water for 24 hours
2. Drain the chickpeas and transfer to a food processor. Add the parsley, onion, garlic, oil, lemon juice, cumin and salt. Process until finely and evenly ground. Shape into 12 patties, about 2 Tbsp each.
3. Heat 2 Tbsp oil in a skillet over medium heat. Cook the falafel until golden brown, 3 to 5 minutes. Turn and cook until golden on the other side.
4. Top with your favourite sauce.

Tehkummah Talk and Times

Though I had found his calling card earlier this year, I finally had a conversation with "Toad" tonight, Sunday the 17th.

Did you ever get your ring hooked into a bracelet on the other arm? Talk about handcuffs!

Francis Martin saw the cougar last week near Town Line Road on Providence Bay Road.

I mentioned meeting Jane and Bruce Johnson at the car show and this week I got a photo of them with their 1916 Ford. But also a good photo of Cal and I with the same car, I do/we do meet the nicest folks in our life journey.

Friday they say it was fall on the calendar, but we're owning these days of sunshine and warm temps, our NOW summer! Kathy just phoned and said they're supposed to get 34 tomorrow. Must be summer? I had a lovely day today, for one thing slept until 11:45 and I'm supposed to meet with our Red Hat group at Carol's and Earl's; well I did hurry, they started lunch without me. But I was only 15 minutes late. Was so nice to be with this fine bunch again.

Lydia, Betty, Helen, Laura, Jeanine, Carol and I. (Joan B and Mum missing today). We had a great visit and update. Mum was off to a doctor's appointment. I checked on my way home; things are good!

While in South Baymouth, I checked Pierside. A young man named Luke was singing across from there, I stopped for a few songs. He'd been tree planting in B.C. and was on his way home to Hanover. Some cyclists from B.C. too (England) enjoyed our Island, and folks from near North Bay first time here. As I checked out Huron Lodge and visited with both Betty and Eric, then again at Thistle Do Nicely with Judy and Rick (this shop smells wonderful to walk into.)

Simon was having chest pains and was also getting checked out today. But when I called him on the morrow he said all was good!

Happy 100th birthday, Alvira Lubstorf. Must be Tehkummah area's water, now four folks over 100.

Sanfield euchre, Wednesday evening; ladies' high, Shirley N., 72; lone hands, Rose, 2; low, Sandie P.; men's high, Joe A., 74; lone hands, Joe, 5; low, Raymond, 44; draw, Bill Hay; good lunch.

Tehkummah cribbage, 7 tables; high hand, Gib, 24; first, Dorothy and Glenn, 956; second, Lori and Rick, 944; third, Gib and Florence, 935; low, Cal and Ted, 848; door, Marg C., Doris and Brad.

That guy and I went to Carol's and Earl's for a sandwich, where we found Rick and Marge back after summer and doctor's appointments. They're going to live here now, and too, Lorrie just drove in while we were there. Her summer in Kenora, over. Good to see them again.

DOUGLAS (DOUGALL) IRVING HALL
June 6, 1922 - August 27, 2017

At the age of 95 and 2 months he left us. It was a life well lived, and lived on his terms. He was a Son, Pilot, Father, Farmer, Teacher, Builder, Sailor and Friend. Born in Timmins, Ontario, he was the only son of Lenold and Grace Hall (nee Jones) and grandson of Douglas and Elizabeth Jones (nee Hutcheon). His early years were spent in Schumacher where his family worked for the McIntyre and Hollinger mines. Douglas left the north to join an uncle in Toronto to finish his schooling at North Toronto and then at Lawrence Park Collegiate. He returned to the North after his schooling and listed his occupation as miner. Douglas was one of many who flew with the RCAF during the Second World War. He joined in July 1941 at age 19, at Toronto and received his wings at Dunnville, June 19, 1942. During his time with the Air Force he was referred to as "Sammy". He underwent flight training (while training others) at No 9 Bombing and Gunnery School, at both Mt. Joli and Bagotville, before going overseas with 400 Squadron on Sept 19, 1943. Douglas was then posted to 414 Squadron from 1944 to 1945 then finished his tour of duty with 411 Squadron. He was a photo-reconnaissance fighter pilot flying high and low altitude sorties, initially in Mustangs and then Spitfires. He received his first Distinguished Flying Cross while with 414 Squadron on March 29, 1945. In May of 1945 he engaged a formation of enemy aircraft at Neuntadt and downed 3 FW and one ME, while damaging two others, and he was awarded his second DFC for his exploits and he became the Squadron Ace. After the cessation of hostilities before repatriation from England he was one of the first test pilots for the first Operational Jet Fighter, the Gloster Meteor. (F/L, 1941 to 1946, Photo Reconnaissance Fighter Pilot, DFC and Bar, Knight of the French National Order of the Legion of Honour (awarded 2015), Star of Germany, Star of France, 1939 to 1945 Star; 1939 to 1945 War Medal, Defense Metal, CVSM, RCAF Reserve.) While in England he met, fell in love and married Margaret Flavin, who joined him in Canada after his repatriation in March of 1946 and subsequent release on July 5, 1946. They initially set up home in Millikan, then in Barry's Bay, and finally settled on a farm outside of Uxbridge. He farmed for many years while supplementing income by working as a miner, a long distance truck driver and a lumberjack (during the winter months) in Northern Ontario. By the mid-1950's he obtained employment at GM and continued to farm and take courses in Toronto. After receiving his certification from the Radio College in Toronto, he opened his first store in Uxbridge in 1957 and two years later sold the farm and moved to the new family residence on Toronto Street. It was a busy time, finishing the new house, running his business, and raising their family, he still made time to be an active member of the community. Douglas was a Kiwanis member and was President of the Uxbridge Kiwanis Club (1964), he was on the Management Board Committee of the Uxbridge Music Hall (1966), voted onto the Uxbridge Town Council and was Deputy Reeve of Ontario County (1966 - 1969). He held executive positions with the Royal Canadian Legion, Uxbridge Branch. He was also a ham radio operator and made contacts world-wide. In 1969 he completed the Technology Program at Durham College in Oshawa. He started teaching night school while working during the day in the technology department. He continued taking advanced courses at the University of Toronto towards his degree and moved to the analytical chemistry area as a Laboratory Instructor and then was promoted to Teaching Master at Durham College in the Chemistry Department where he taught until his retirement. He was a man of many interests. He curled at the Uxbridge Curling Club, golfed with a wood, five iron and putter (and still managed to win once in a while!). He played squash at the courts in Uxbridge and then at Durham College, was a competitive duplicate bridge player, and managed to spend nights at the symphony. He was also an avid sailor and runner. He sailed every summer on the waterways of all the Great Lakes and trained to run marathons. He took summer courses in welding and blacksmithing and applied his various skills to building a steel hull 36 Robert's sail boat on his side yard in Uxbridge. He sailed his boat (Castle Dougall) in and around Georgian Bay before gifting it to Leo. He rigged and sailed a 22 ft. boat with H. Brown on the Mackenzie River to Inuvik (their goal was the Beaufort Sea), explored the Yukon River with his sons, took a kayak trip on the Danube, and biked the hills of Ireland with Ike and Kevin. Then he visited the countrysides of France and Germany en route to visit Leo and Kathleen at Lahr. Many winters were spent at Ike's cabin in Washington State skiing (had a Master Ski pass for Mt. Baker) and in Maple Ridge, BC. between daily skiing (on the black diamond slopes), visits to the local coffee shop, and working with Ike on various projects, he was busy all winter. Road trips were taken to see the sights of Canada, traveling to the coast many times (regardless of weather) to visit with Cathy and the grandchildren, to visit with Aunt Joan in California or just to spend time in the warm sands off the Florida Keys. One of his last major trips was via the Alaska Marine Hwy Ferry from Bellingham to visit Kevin in Whitehorse (with the dog, his two daughters, and son in tow). The Northern Lights danced that night in welcome. Over the past twenty-five years, with periodic visits to Uxbridge, he spent his summers in Little Current on Manitoulin Island, initially living on the Castle Dougall and then in the residence that he built. Yearly he made concrete as one of his projects as well as helping neighbours. At age 87 he commenced, with Ike, designing and building a second steel boat on the side yard of his home. Sam, Leo and Kevin also did "time" on the boat. It was a point of interest for Little Current to monitor the progress of this 39-ft. custom steel boat. Douglas is predeceased by his spouse Margaret Flavin (2002), his youngest son Leo (2009) and his middle son, Sam (2012). His memory will be cherished by all those who knew him. We who are left will tell the stories and remember his life's adventure; his children Peter, Margaret, Cathy Komourdjian (Martin), Kevin, Ike, Theresa Usprech, his daughter-in-law (our sister) Kathleen and our special sister Wendy. Loving grandfather to Maria (Hani), Ali and Amanda. A sincere thank you to all the persons at Sunnybrook Veterans' Centre (George Hees - L Wing - East) for their support, comfort and responsiveness since 2014. Everyone's kindness and attentiveness provided an environment of comfort to Douglas during his time at the residence. Theresa, your family thank you for your cheerful face and daily encouragement in providing family support to Dad over these years. Please join the family on Friday, October 13, 2017 at the Uxbridge Cemetery at 12:30 for the interment service with a Legion Tribute followed by a Celebration for Douglas, from 2:00 until 4:00, at the Royal Canadian Legion, Uxbridge Branch #170, 109 Franklin Street, Uxbridge, ON. On Sunday, October 15, 2017 the family will welcome friends for fellowship and refreshments at the Little Current, Royal Canadian Legion Branch #177 in a Celebration for Douglas, Downstairs Club Room, from 1:00 to 3:00. Providence Bay News and Notes

We have some belated birthday wishes to announce. Happy birthday to Anna Orford and to Morgen Moggy (nee McDermid) who celebrated on September 22. Former resident Dave Wunsch celebrated on September 25. Upcoming birthday wishes go out to Sally Dawson (nee McDermid) on September 28.

Tim McFarlane and husband Maciek Zielinski have arrived for a visit to Canada. They are sightseeing in Toronto and Niagara Falls before heading up the Bruce Peninsula to home. They will be staying at Hummingbird Retreat while in Providence Bay. They've also brought friends along with them. Welcome to first time visitors Yvonne and Marcus Franceschin, and to Lorraine and Stephen Lewis all of London England. The visitors from London are bringing #MADBANTZ with them.

There is going to be a work bee coming up at the Village Square this Saturday, September 30. If you have any perennial plants that you'd like to divide up and share, please bring them with you.

There was more going on in our village but we'll have to update next week. Our apologies for the brevity of this report.

If there is anything that you would like to contribute to The Providence Bay News and Notes, we'd love to hear from you. Please let us know of any upcoming birthdays, anniversaries, or events. You can email prov_chick@hotmail.com or call Cheryl at 705-862-1613. All submissions are required by 3 pm on the Sunday before each Wednesday publication of the paper. Have a great week everyone.

Massive amounts of concrete are shown being pumped into the new bridge in Providence Bay, spanning the Mindemoya River close to its Lake Huron mouth. Construction has gone on all summer with one-way bypass traffic controlled by traffic lights. The concrete deck on the new structure was taking its form very quickly late last week. Bray Construction is the main contractor for the bridge rebuilding.

Euchre tournament, 10.5 tables: first, Linda and Andy, 89; second, Dorothy and Merwyn, 76; third tied, Marg Case and Simon, 76; fourth, John and Pat N., 72; low, Betty Jean and Bill, 52; lone hands, Marg and Simon, 6; tied, Andy and Linda, 6; door prize, Charlene.

This was one busy day, started by baking for tonight's euchre and boiling the eggs. A visit under the tree: blackberry picking not too successful. Beat Mum two close games, and then she won one! Did some roadside flower planting; time then to go to the hall to make lunch with Linda. Sandie was my partner for the tournament; you may have noticed the results. Not in the winner's circle, but it was fun! Clean up after, I'm done in! Apparently Mum won all the games against Sherry tonight too.

So sorry to hear of the sadness the McCauley family is encountering in the loss of daughter/grand-daughter. You're in my prayers and thoughts.

We just got back from a game of cribbage with Gib and Florence. We were pretty equal tonight. I was standing outside cricking my neck, said to myself, it'd be a great night to lie about and count the stars. A contrast in evenings, last night storm watch! The black sky and lightning followed the Chi Cheemaun in. We watched traffic off and on, the storm seemed to be behind us so we drove to the harbor, too much light there, so out to Duck's Bay Road, truck pointed up the bay, what a great light show. A lot of colourful sheet lightning in the distance, some straight down chains! But above us in the black, some spectacular chains across the sky. Don't you wish they'd hang there a little longer so you'd get a better look? Still got to admire as he drove me home.

Well, we still have hummingbirds. I made more syrup Sunday morning.

Today I couldn't help admiring the Cosmos wild flower garden and showy sunflowers now taking up Bertha and Morde's front yard, super!

Lloyd Thomas is/was home! Glad to hear you're doing well. Keith Size, too, who is now in therapy? Get well soon!

This is going to be my last page; it's 10:30 Sunday evening. Church at St. Andrews, June McDougall our speaker today. She does a great sermon. They have a cute wee dachshund puppy. So with Mary's Sparky, two dogs, and a fair congregation. I read a couple of my poems, music was great.

Elaine Bosje, Mary, Joan, Borden and I did our lunchtime visit at Carol's and Earl's. Came home, and won today! I haven't been doing that great against Mum lately.

Today was Cole and Alicia's first wedding anniversary.

Tuesday afternoon, the birthday party was celebrated at the community hall. They are held the third Tuesday of each month, and start at 1:30 pm. We are so fortunate to have our wonderful musicians come and play for us.

Thank you Lyle, Gordie, Harold and Peter. Everyone is welcome, not just seniors! So mark this on your calendar. Think on this, just a little over a month until our U.C.W. Christmas Tea.
