A FALL DIP AT 96 —Most people go swimming in the hot summer months, but call it quits after Labour Day. Not Allan Tustian. On his 96th birthday last Tuesday, he went swimming in Lake Mindemoya, as he has done nearly every day since June. And the next day, September 23, he was joined by (left to right) his great niece Debra Seabrook, his great-great niece Darcy and her grandmother Cheryl Seabrook, and neighbour Jan McQuay. Warm and sunny, it was an inviting day for a dip in the lake. Mr. Tustian plans to continue swimming in Lake Mindemoya well into October. Asked about the secret of his longevity, Mr. Tustian laughed, "Maybe luck!" Then he added that it could be his sense of humour, so things didn't really bother him. "Attitude is a big thing in your life, I learned that during the war, when anything could happen." When Debra Seabrook suggested that swimming every day could be part of it too, Mr. Tustian told us that Andrew Beaudin, who was an actor and an excellent swimmer, showed him how to swim the crawl when he was very young and living at Treasure Island. A sense of humour and keeping fit, those are two good tips for everyone, whether you're nine or ninety-six.

St. Bernard's Catholic Church seeking partners for Syrian refugee resettlement Community meeting is Wednesday, September 30

MANITOULIN-The images are stark and the need stands at a crossroads as hundreds of thousands of refugees flee the war torn country of Syria. A group of concerned people from across Manitoulin Island have put out a call for those interested in stretching out a hand, once more, to refugee families seeking a safe haven from the ravages of war and terror to gather for a 6 pm meeting this evening (September 30) at St. Bernard's Roman Catholic Church on Hayward Street in Little Current.

Manitoulin Legal Clinic (MLC) Chair Linda Erskine initiated the refugee sponsorship meeting after a discussion following the September 22 MLC regular meeting.

'We (members of the board) were discussing the plight of the refugees following our meeting and it didn't take long before we had decided that we needed to do something," said Ms. Erskine. "We all agreed that when a group of like-minded people come together and decide to do take action, there is nothing that cannot be accomplished.'

The precedent for action on Manitoulin Island was set during another crisis, when the parish of St. Bernard's sponsored a Vietnamese family during the 'boat people" crisis that lasted from the late 70s into the 1990s.

"It was accomplished then and, we believe, it can be accomplished again," said Ms. Erskine.

She contacted St. Bernard's parish priest Father

MANITOWANING—Seniors in Assiginack are edging ever closer to having an apartment complex of their own, thanks to the hard work and determination of a core group of people and a contractor interested in seeing the units through to fruition.

The group, made up of Jean McLellan, Jane Tilston, Marg Peltier and Dave Ham, have been working on the initiative of having Assiginack seniors afforded the option of residing in their home municipality when the care of a home becomes too much. This project has been ongoing since May, Ms. McLellan told The Expositor.

Ms. McLellan and Ms. Tilston were fresh from a trip to Mindemoya where they toured the Sparrow's Nest facility (near the Mindemoya Hospital) and the Jeremy Gordon developments in the Anglin Subdivision. They found ... continued on page 9

CENTRAL MANITOULIN—The submission of a preliminary concept design by developer Stephen Hill for the Seabrook property met with a cautiously positive response from the Central Manitoulin council during its Thursday, September 29 meeting.

Councillor Pat MacDonald cautioned that the motion before council was not in support of a zoning change for the property. "We are not supporting a zoning change at this time," she said.

That's because we have not been presented with a zoning application," pointed out Mayor Richard Stephens, who added that he had some concern with the wording of the motion before council expressing its support. "I am concerned with the word 'design'," he said. "He presented a concept to us.'

DSB boosting rental for social housing units

by Alicia McCutcheon

ESPANOLA-The chair of the Gore Bay Non-Profit Housing Corporation is upset the Manitoulin-Sudbury District Services Board (DSB) has decided to go ahead with its plan to raise its market rental rate over the next two years.

At its last meeting in June, prior to a summer break, the DSB discussed realigning the maximum market rent value of the social housing units to amounts more in line with the household income limits as set by the Housing Services Act (HSA).

The board learned that the HSA sets household income limits for those applying for rent-geared-toincome units which are defined based on a bedroom size and increase accordingly for a larger household. In the DSB catchment area, the household income limit is $37,500, considered high among service managers in the North.

As the Manitoulin-Sudbury DSB covers an area with a lowerthan-average market value, "persons applying for rent-geared-toincome subsidy are easily attaining the market value of

We have asked that the candidates restrict their answer to a 1,000-word limit. Otherwise, they are free to answer in any way they choose.

The Truth and Reconciliation Commission on Residential Schools released a lengthy list of recommendations for André Robichaud Conservtive The Conservative government remains committed to improving the lives of Canada's aboriginal people. That is why our government continues to work to improve living conditions for First Nations and Inuit by supporting priority areas in education, women, children and families, water and housing.

The Conservatives reintroduced legislation to guarantee to people living on reserve the same protections other Canadians enjoy under the Canadian Human Rights Act. As well, the Harper government formed the Canadian Northern Economic Development Agency and introduced measures that will bring jobs to northern Canada and create opportunities and employment for aboriginal peoples across the country.

The Conservative government supported First Nation communities with urgent on-reserve infrastructure needs, concentrating on school construction, improving access to safe drinking water, and replacing crucial health and policing infrastructure.

Acknowledging how invested the Harper government is in the First Nations agenda, the Conservatives issued an apology for the Inuit High Arctic relocation and the extreme hardship and suffering that it caused.

To back up their commitments, the Conservatives promoted aboriginal skills development in northern communities: introduced updated legislation to protect drinking water in First Nation communities, and signed an historic First Nations Health Agreement.

Our government has enhanced First Nations human rights and signed The Family Homes on Reserves and Matrimonial Interests or Rights Act; worked to enhance transparency and accountability for First Nations by passing the First Nations Elections Act; and helped provide much needed financial transparency to reserves through the First Nations Financial Transparency Act.

The Conservative Government helped ensure the equitable and fair treatment of the Qalipu Mi'kmaq First Nation with the passage of the Qalipu Mi'kmaq First Nation Act.

Support to First Nations by the Conservatives was further demonstrated when the government passed Bill C-34, the Tla'amin Final Agreement Act, which gives the Tla'amin Nation more control over lands and resources, as well as selfgovernment over their lands, resources and members form government on October 19, 2015. Justin Trudeau stood up in the House of Commons June 2, 2015 and said, "The commission issued 94 recommendations to advance the process to close the quality of life gaps that exist, to revitalize indigenous languages and cultures, and to restore the original respectful relationship with first nations, Métis nation and Inuit peoples. The Liberal Party, today, accepts and commits to implement these recommendations.<sup>3</sup>

To put these recommendations in order of importance is impossible. It is difficult to say that education is more important than violence against women. Or that child welfare is more important than the current inequities in the health of Indigenous peoples. However, since this is the question, this is my answer.

Since there is an immediate threat to women and girls across Canada, the implementation of recommendation 41 is paramount. Both Amnesty International and the United Nations have called upon the Canadian government to take action on this issue to no avail. Indigenous women and girls experience violence at a rate of five times that of any other population in Canada and any violence experienced tends to result in more serious harm.

My graduate work investigated the violence that aboriginal women face. My research found that there are root causes of violence against aboriginal women not the least of which being racism and misogyny. The reasons that women experience violence and the implications of such violence must be immediately investigated in consultation with aboriginal organizations. The mandate of such an inquiry will be to recommend concrete actions governments, law enforcement and communities can take to understanding and solving these crimes. The current government has ignored uncomfortable truths and has done nothing to address the root causes of this national tragedy.

Recommendation number eight calls on the federal government to eliminate the discrepancy in federal education funding for First Nation children being educated on reserves and those First Nation children being educated off reserves. The federal government has chronically underinvested in First Nations education. As a result, First Nations students are falling behind in reading, writing, and numeracy, and less than half of students on reserves graduate from high school. In August, Justin Trudeau announced a plan for $515 million per year of new investment in core annual funding for First Nation Kindergarten to Grade 12 education, rising to over $750 million per year by the end of our first mandate. Plus Canadians and their government to consider and to implement.

Most Canadians, First Nation and non-First Nations alike, now agree that Canada's long history of sending aboriginal children to (mostly) church-run residential schools, away from their communities and families, has proven profoundly misguided, if not worse.

If your party is chosen by voters to form the next govern-

Heather Wilson Liberal

and Reconciliation Commission's 94 recommendations would be implemented should the Liberal Partv ing to turn the page on many dark years and move forward towards a better future for all peoples, this report amounts to a blueprint for that.

As Canadians, we must all learn more about this sombre chapter in our history. We will not forget the testimonies and we will remember the children who never made it home to their families. The NDP remains determined to repair the broken relationship with indigenous peoples, which is the result of inaction by previous governments at the nation to nation level.

Canada must show leadership. We must ensure that formal apologies made in 2008 were not in vain. The government must act immediately in the areas of education, child protection and health care in order to put an end to the inequalities and sorry legacy of residential schools.

The report itself is the culmination of nearly six years spent examining Canada's residential-schools history and calls for sweeping reforms to government policy and a conclusion that the system amounted to "cultural genocide."

While how we arrived at this point must be considered, nothing will be served by partisan bickering that moves the discussion away from the job at hand. In fact there was considerable cross-party efforts between Jack Layton and Stephen Harper that led to the historic Residential Schools apology that was the genesis of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission. That said Justice Sinclair's call for immediate action has not resulted in government's rolling up their sleeves and getting down to work.

A New Democrat government will do just that, starting with calling an inquiry into Missing and Murdered Indigenous Women within the first one hundred days of our mandate. We do not subscribe to the belief that these are merely a series of individual crimes that should only be the subject of police investigations. These women are people. They are sisters, mothers. aunts. friends. and cousins. To view them as mere crime statistics is jaded and to dismiss the potential of an inquiry to bring about a sea-change of opinion and behaviour is short-sighted.

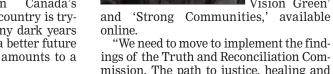

It is helpful to recall the example of Ipperwash when considering what an inquiry can tell us. In that instance we learned that things had to change, and they have. The biggest change came for police officers who were acting on orders from the premier's office when they took the life of Dudley George. Since then they say they have fundamentally changed their approach to dealing with peaceful confrontation because of the Ipperwash inquiry. This shows us lessons can be ment of Canada, how quickly will it move to implement or facilitate at least some of the Commission's recommendations?

Please name, in order, the five most important and pressing recommendations of those presented with a brief description of why they are important and how they would be supported for implementation by your party in government.

Carol Hughes NDP

The release of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission's report marked a landmark moment Canada's ings of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission. The path to justice, healing and reconciliation begins with accepting a painful truth: the horrors of the residential school system constituted a policy of cultural genocide...

True reconciliation will take time, and while we work to build a new, nation-tonation partnership based on mutual respect and understanding, there are urgent and important steps that must be taken by the federal government to put the relationship on firmer footing.

We begin by recognizing indigenous rights and title, and will negotiate in good faith to settle land claims, establish treaties and self-government arrangements, and move to repeal the Indian Act should that be the consensus of First Nations. We will respect the rights of First Nations to take leadership of development projects on their traditional territories."

"Creating opportunity for indigenous communities and their people means ensuring access to quality public services for all First Nations, Métis and Inuit. It requires adequate funding for housing, education, and health care, both on and off reserves. We will work to expand rural health care infrastructure by investing in telehealth and mobile medical units, to ensure indigenous communities have access to critical care.'

"The glaring exception to everything one loves about Canada can be found in the profound inequality of life on First Nations Reserves and life for off-reserve urban aboriginal people across Canada. Water that is too hazardous to drink; serious health problems from diabetes to tuberculosis, addiction, and suicide; unacceptably poor housing stock; high unemployment rates—all make a mockery of our progress elsewhere in maintaining our 'social safety net...

"Finally, in November of 2010, after years of stalling, the government of Canada quietly signed the UN Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous Peoples. The delay was unconscionable and embarrassing. Now action is required."

As government, the Greens will speedily move to implement the UN Declaration. We will also restore the $5.1 billion commitment and the specifics of the Kelowna Accord. One of the central features of the landmark Kelowna Accord, reached between federal and provincial, territorial and First Nations governments in Canada in November of 2005 is the creation of 'baselines.' Mr. Orok was drawn to the Green Party by Elizabeth May (Green Party of Canada leader) and was impressed not only by the party's platform, but how she handled herself in the Maclean's National Leaders Debate.

"They are one of the only parties to talk about the national debt, which has only been going up under the Harper government and the the only party to talk about the importance of CBC. I feel CBC is especially important to Northern Ontario. The Green Party also has a vision of reclaiming rail travel and ecotravel."

He is also concerned about the possibility of a nuclear waste disposal site in the area.

Ideological blinkers must be removed in climate debate

It was encouraging to read the answers to last week's question to the candidates in the upcoming election on a topic that dealt with their parties' commitments to climate change initiatives.

Specifically, the question asked candidates that, should their particular party be elected to form the next government of Canada, what commitments would it bring to an upcoming Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change scheduled for Paris, France in late November.

Interestingly, the only candidate to actually reference this meeting in a response was NDP incumbent Carol Hughes, who said her party in government could go to Paris "to get on track with the world."

All the candidates referencing their parties' platforms stated generally what they would do and the government candidate, Andre Robichaud of the Conservatives, was of course able to reference his party's actions in government.

As expected in an election campaign, each answer was different from all the others and, of course, domestic changes designed to mitigate the effects of global warming were without fail linked to jobs, one way or another.

But as we witness this much warmer than usual fall season, we see a Little Current crabapple tree suddenly back in bloom this week and as a local fisherman catches a female bass (which usually spawns in May and June) laden with eggs, these very ordinary signs are clear indications that we have managed to confuse Mother Nature.

So what about those rival political notions concerning climate change?

The point is that, on this topic, after the election is over and the government is formed, there is no room for political bickering and this is one topic, especially if we are presented with a minority government, that all political players must agree on a common and progressive course of action that will set the course in our country to deal with climate change and to, as much as possible, contain its effects for Canadians as we look ahead two or three generations.

We can't, of course, do this alone and that was why this newspaper posed the question last week that indicated a reference to an upcoming international climate change conference and what each party, in government, could bring to that intergovernmental table.

This part of the question was not answered by any of the candidates except by extrapolation from their parties' platforms. In fairness, this was sufficient.

But the fact remains that the subtle changes which we're seeing more and more, coupled with epic weather events (the dramatic increase in number and ferocity of hurricanes along the Atlantic coast of our continent in recent years) is more and more an indication that something is happening, that something is much larger than we mere humans and that, internationally, we have to cooperate on mitigating forces.

In this case, cooperation begins at home and most certainly trumps political one-upmanship.

When the dust settles and we have whatever we get on the government benches, a vigorous all-party committee on climate change, with teeth, would be a positive indicator that the government is sincere in its statements.

The reality of the impacts that climate change will have on our society are too important to allow our reactions to be steered by ideological blinkers and both sides of the debate have been guilty on this front.

For the climate change deniers, those blinkers are clear. That ideology says that the changes are not man made, that they are not happening and the whole climate change debate is a left-wing conspiracy. For the champions of climate change, any discussions of mitigation and ways of dealing with the inevitable changes that are coming are anathema because mitigation is perceived by them to be a barrier to reducing carbon emissions.

With each passing season, it is becoming clear that climate change is upon us and that its impact has the potential to be dire. We need political leaders who will gaze beyond the blinkers of ideological posturing and begin the debate on how we will deal with that inevitable impact and so in concert with those of their peers on the international stage who are also prepared to take the measures that are not simply necessary but imminently so.

Sea Cadet program recommended to families

A worthwhile quality program run by dedicated people

To the Expositor:

I'd like to take this opportunity to highly recommend the Sea Cadets program to families with children aged 12 - 18. I cannot begin to tell you how wonderful this program is for the cadets and the many opportunities they get to experience as a result of it. In our own experience, we have seen our son grow in discipline, self confidence, determination, leadership skills and much more.

There is no cost to the parents besides getting your child to Little Current every Monday evening. Our son has experienced Cadet Training Camp in Kingston, sailing, seamanship, orienteering, riflery, field trips to different competitions, tours of museums, playing snare drum in band, sailing on a 'pirate ship,' opportunities to serve his community and so many other things! Just show up on Monday night at 6:30 pm at the Little Current NEMI arena to register (upstairs). It's a quality program run by dedicated people and very worthwhile! They have just started up again and you are welcome to join at anytime.

Harper exhorted to channel his 2005 self

Rescind the Tony Turner 'Harperman' suspension

To the Expositor:

In April 2005, Stephen Harper said, "When a government starts trying to cancel dissent, or avoid dissent is, frankly, when it's rapidly losing its moral authority to govern."

Recently, Tony Turner, a concerned citizen and a migratory bird specialist with Environment Canada, composed a classic protest song, "Harperman," about some of the Conservative government's actions and policies that have adversely affected a broad spectrum of Canadians over the past decade.

expected him to intervene on Turner's behalf. Maybe he didn't see the video. Maybe, despite nearly 2 million YouTube views of the video after Turner's suspension, nobody in his office has told him about it.

Good news, Mr. Harper. There is still time to look into this situation, channel your 2005 self, go to Turner and say to him what Voltaire said to a rival contemporary in 1770: "I detest what you write, but I would give my life to make it possible for you to write it." Then, maybe you could go to the Justice Department and have them rescind Mr. Turner's suspension. Now, that would be a big step towards regaining your moral authority to govern. # Gerry Lougheed deserves better than scapegoating

To the Expositor:

I lived and worked in Sudbury for 35 years and have known Gerry Lougheed Jr. and the Lougheed family for all that time.

Gerry has done so much for the Sudbury community and in particular over the years he helped me personally on projects that I worked on to benefit our Sudbury community.

We both worked in politics Gerry, Liberals, and myself, Conservatives. I can tell you as fact that when the Premier's Office called and asked you to do something, you did it, and relied on that office to ensure what they were asking you to do was legal.

Gerry did the same thing. We both were volunteers for our parties and had to run businesses full time. We both relied on our political masters, particularly the premier, to ensure that what we did was legit.

In this case not only Gerry but the premier's point person Patricia Sorbara was present at the Sudbury meetings. So not only should Sorbara be charged but also Wynne.

Of course, this is unlikely to happen because the OPP head is also a political appointment. Moreover, the shameful display by Liberals in the house is all wrong.

The matter of "we cannot say anything because it is before the courts" is nonsense. In this country we are still "innocent until proven guilty" and the matter is not before the courts. Charges have been laid, that is all.

Wynne should talk or resign. At least the Mafia have their code of honour and obviously the Liberals have none. To besmirch a wonderful man like Gerry Lougheed is disgusting!

Rhea Woods happily grew up in the Gore Bay area of Manitoulin and went on to raise her own family there as well. As a grandchild of Haweaters, she has earned her rite of passage. Her husband Marvin was Gore Bay's mayor for a number of years. Rhea's entrepreneurial family held prominent commercial properties, including a meat market, a grocery store, a restaurant, a jewellery store and laundromat. These commercial pursuits have helped this Manitoulin town grow over five decades.

"My dad, Ray Witty, was one of 13—10 boys and three girls. All were born on Barrie Island. My mother Mary was a Campbell. I am not aware of my European heritage, only that our names suggest an Irish, Scottish and English heritage." In 2000, Rhea was selected to be 'Mother of the Year' in Gore Bay. Four years later, she earned more credentials as 'Citizen of the Year.'

Rhea was born to Mary and Ray Witty, in Mills Township, on May 19, 1931. She was the youngest of four children. Her siblings were Jean, Harry and Alex. "My mother was a school teacher and she knew someone named Rhea. The name also sounded a bit like my dad's name, 'Ray.' There were huge snow drifts in Gordon Township in those years. "I can still see my brother and I stepping over telephone wires on top of those huge snow drifts." I also remember spraining my ankle and being carried home a few times from school. It seems I couldn't resist jumping from the wood pile.'

Occasionally, Rhea would have a pet lamb to nurture. Sometimes a mother rejects a baby and then the young lass would take over feeding it with an old square vanilla bottle. "The nipple fit perfectly on top. Dad would fence in a separate area for the orphan babies to keep them safe. I idolized my dad. By the time I was 10, he had taught me to rake the hay with the big fork."

"Each evening, it was my job to collect the cattle from the field on the other side of the street. I was accompanied by my pet lamb and Teddy, our border-cross." When Rhea got the cows back to the barn, she would help milk them and assist with cutting the turnip for the cattle. The young farmer would also help her dad take care of the pigs and the chickens and she helped fill the cream cans for pick-up. "I managed to stay out of the kitchen, much preferring the outside work with my dad."

'We had a big apple orchard; including red crabs, Whitney crabs, larger Dutchies and Macintosh apples. These were closer to the house near the sour apples and the cherries. Occasionally mother would ask me to fetch two sour apples so she could make icing for a cake. I loved the fruit and could often be found perched on a branch feasting on apples. Once I fell from a high branch and broke my tail bone.' "I was always afraid of bears and spiders. I still shiver when I recall the time my mother chastised me and locked me in the basement. That was not an unusual punishment for parents to bestow at the time. There was no electricity yet, so the basement was really dark. I was so terrified that I cringed and stayed on the top step. I imagined spiders all around me and a big bear coming for me. "Years later I told my mother how I had felt and she was mortified that she had chosen this method of punishment. 'Why didn't you tell me about your fears?' she asked. Strangely enough, she had the same fears so that made her feel even worse at the time.'

School ended for Rhea after Grade 9. "I didn't have a way of staying in town for high school, so decided to find work. I rationalized this decision based on an assumption that the girls in Gore Bay seemed kind of 'snotty,' but this impression changed when I actually met them."

At 13, Rhea became a clerk at Stedman's store. One of her jobs was laying out the candy. It cost only 10 cents for a good-sized bag. At 17 Rhea became a telephone operator which included lighting and maintaining the fires in the wood stove at the back of the office. She conceded that it was fun to listen in on the conversations too.

Rhea met Marvin Woods in 1948 at the 'Sailor's Ball' held each winter for all the sailors of the Great Lakes freighter, after the shipping season had ended. These dances were very well-attended by people from all over the Island. It turned out Marvin lived right across the street from where she worked. "I knew his two younger sisters. He was the eighth born and the last son in his family of 14 children." Fridays and Saturdays, movies were held and this was a great opportunity for dates.

Marvin had been discharged from the Navy following the war's end in 1946. He was guite charming and an entrepreneur to boot. He could make her laugh with his pranks. She recalls the time he pretended to step on her newlybought, fresh loaf of bread right in the middle of the street. Marvin would visit Rhea at the telephone office, walking over from the nearby corner meat market he owned. It was later expanded to include groceries and a restaurant. As each expansion took place, Marcin's parents' living quarters were slowly moved further back in the big building.

Marvin convinced Rhea to come work with him in the restaurant. "I agreed and found out what where my sister had prepared a big dinner, attended by many members of the Woods family," Rhea explains. Afterwards, the newlyweds drove to Sudbury and then to Toronto. "Dave and Doreen Frasier, Marv's sister and her husband, visited us at the hotel in Toronto. By the time we got home I had come down with some kind of virus, but that hadn't detracted from the joy of our trip."

Rhea found she was gaining a lot of weight during her first pregnancy. It looked awkward on such a small person. "Marvin said it was easier to jump over me than walk around. I weighed in at 163 lbs but must have been scared skinny after the early birth, because I was back to my normal 115 lbs a week later. The baby weighed eight pounds so much of the rest was fluid. Dr. Henry had been attending his sister's wedding so Dr. Strain nervously took me on. I was his first delivery in Little Current. He had to use forceps and my tail bone broke during the birth."

Rhea worked hard to get herself back in shape. She ate well and walked each day. Little Bill was a touch 'colicky' and had issues with constipation, both of which had him howling morning, noon and night. "The doctor told me to out on the step. Then she would relax and go right to sleep. Each summer, Rhea would take the kids to the lake for swimming lessons. She would take turns getting the boys to different early-morning hockey games. "It was a long drive to Wiky before roads were depend-ably plowed." Daughter Lou was into figure skating. "Sometimes I wondered why I didn't meet myself coming the other way. It still boggles my mind when I think back to those hectic times. We were running the businesses and keeping long hours. Marvin seldom came home early."

"My oldest son Bill, at 14, delivered milk by horse and wagon in Gore Bay. He had been anxious to get out to work." Younger son Jim Mac, however, loved to hitchhike to his cousin's nearby farm, even when he was asked not to. He would call to let his family know where he was when he got there. "I guess it was really important for him to hang out with his cousin who was nine months younger, especially since he would get out of doing some extra work at home. He preferred farm work to store duties."

Both Rhea and Marvin curled at the local rink each winter. "In 1950 our team, Marvin, Mary and Grant Williamson and I, won the big tournament and we were gifted with a clock. It was fun travelling to bonspiels with friends. The furthest winter destination was Wawa. "We have a granddaughter living in Wawa and her son is three-years-old today."

Marvin was the mayor of Gore Bay from 1960 to 1966. This was the time the Woods-Lane apartment for seniors was constructed, the name rising from both mayors that had worked on the project. Marvin had begun another term in 1973 when he had to step down for medical reasons a year later.

The couple invested in a laundromat, 'Econo-wash' first, then in 1970, a jewellery and gift shop, M & R Jewellery, all in Gore Bay. Their pace of work slowed down a little at this time but the machines in the laundromat still had to be serviced and cleaned and the jewellery store needed daily attendance. Wood's Brother's Clothing opened in 1978.

Each winter, the couple escaped to Florida where they had their own trailer. As they neared retirement, it got harder to maintain the businesses, especially after Marvin developed heart disease. His open-heart surgery compelled him to cut back his hours. This also meant less time in Florida. Neighbours in Florida began to comment on the long grass at the trailer site, so after three years, Rhea and Marvin decided to sell.

"We rented for a few more years, enjoying the company of some good friends we had established there. This included a couple from Gore Bay we had met in our first year. Many American friends visited too, residents of Ohio and Michigan that had frequented our restaurant in the summer. Europe was a destination for us as well, but I wasn't impressed with Spain. We found dirty beaches that weren't raked and a lot of donkey poop." "Whilst in Spain, I remember good friend Ron saying that he would eat anything put in front of him." Rhea decided to test his resolve by wrapping some donkey poop in saran wrap and offering it to him. He didn't hesitate to decline the offer and conceded that Rhea had been correct in her assumption, that not all was edible. "In Hawaii, there were a lot of flies on the food sold on the street, so I was reluctant to buy any. However, Jamaica was impressive. "The people were very friendly and the food was so clean and appetizing, I was eager to eat anything they put in front of me. Anything but raw fish, that is."

awaiting me on December 25," Rhea explains. "It was a real surprise. I took real good care of the sled and many years later, my brother gave it to his kids."

"The first day of school stands out too because our teacher, Dick Clark, asked us to draw three little pigs. He was new at his job. Our previous teacher had gone to war and he hadn't returned. They had declared him missing."

"I liked school, especially drawing, for which I got lots of stars. Writing was alright but I disliked hard work really was. You had to do several jobs at once and stay on top of it all." Marvin was busy too, as the cook and the baker. His mum had taught him how to make great pies. He always wore a white shirt and a bow tie in the kitchen."

Marvin and Rhea were wed on a sunny September 12, 1950. "I had two attendants and we drove to the Manse for our nuptials. Afterwards, it was back to the farm wait for three months and he would be fine, but it took six months. Luckily, he was a very cute baby with his blonde corkscrew curls. People adored him." Jim Mac and Mary Lou, born later, completed the Woods family. Rhea's tail bone was rebroken with each birth.

Daughter Mary Lou, 'Lou,' really liked her stroller when she was little. She would squirm about in her carriage until Rhea put her

Manitoulin Expositor to host free social media workshop

Social media guru Dave Patterson shares tricks and tips to enhance your business

by Robin Burridge

MANITOULIN—The Manitoulin Expositor will be hosting a series of free workshops titled 'The Social Side to Business' across Manitoulin this fall, teaching Island businesses how to utilize social media to its fullest potential.

Expositor production manager and social media guru Dave Patterson will be leading the workshops. Mr. Patterson has a background in Internet security "and was on social media before it was social media (message boards back in the early 90s)," he quips. He has facilitated over 100 computer-based classes across the globe and will now be sharing his wealth of knowledge with Island businesses and organizations.

"We are offering the workshop across the Island in Little Current, Gore Bay, Wikwemikong and Mindemoya so that everyone on Manitoulin will have an opportunity to attend," explained Mr. Patterson. "We will also be offering it for free because here on Manitoulin we live and thrive together. The better off a business does, the better off we will all be."

Mr. Patterson said that through the course he will be teaching how to create, maintain and effectively use social media profiles and how to effectively interact with target markets to grow a strong and loyal customer base.

"I will be showing businesses how to brand themselves, how to link posts, the importance of maintaining your profiles and a number of tips and tricks," continued Mr. Patterson. "Also, it's not just open to businesses, we would like to encourage anyone who is interested to attend such as church groups, organizations and entrepreneurs."

Though the workshops are available for anyone to attend, individuals are asked to have a basic knowledge of computers and social media.

'The Social Side to Business' will be held in Little Current at the Artisan Room at the Northeast Town office on Tuesday, October 20 from 9 am to 12 pm, in Gore Bay at the Gore Bay Community Hall on Wednesday, October 21 from 9 am to 12 pm, in Wikwemikong at the band office in the council chambers on Thursday, October 22 from 9 am to 12 pm and in Mindemoya at the council chambers on Friday, October 23 from 9 am to 12 pm. Snacks will be provided at all workshops.

OPP charges male for impaired driving

On Wednesday, September 23 at around 4:30 pm, an officer of the Manitoulin Ontario Provincial Police (OPP) was on patrol of Main Street in Billings Township. A white Volkswagen vehicle was observed and police initiated a traffic stop and determined that the driver had consumed alcohol.

As a result of the officer's investigation, a 50-year-old male of London, Ontario was arrested and charged with the following: driving while ability impaired-motor vehicle, contrary to the Criminal Code and driving with more than 80 mgs of alcohol, contrary to the Criminal Code.

The accused will appear before the Ontario Court of Justice on a future date in Gore Bay to answer to his charges.

The OPP is reminding motorists that there is no safe amount of alcohol consumption when driving. Anyone who suspects a driver is driving while impaired is urged to call police by dialing 9-1-1 immediately.

OPP reminds motorists that seatbelts save lives

The Ontario Provincial Police Fall Seat Belt Campaign began on Thursday, September 23 and runs through to Friday, October 9. Members of the Manitoulin OPP Detachment are participating in this important road safety initiative. Officers will be focusing on seat belt enforcement and educating road users in an effort to change driving behaviour and save lives. Roadway users can expect to see the familiar OPP roadside spot checks as officers look for proper seat belt use. Drivers are legally responsible for ensuring that passengers under the age of 16 are properly buckled up in a seat belt, an appropriate child car seat or booster seat. A properly installed child safety seat can reduce the risk of serious injury or death by as much as 75 percent. The number of occupants in a vehicle is limited to the number of seat belts-one person, one seat belt-it's the law. The penalty for a seat belt offence is $240 of which $40 is applied to the victim surcharge fund and two demerit points. Traffic crashes remain the leading cause of injury-related deaths in Ontario, estimated to exact a social cost of $9 billion every year. The human toll, loss of life and #### suffering is immeasurable.

"One of my top priorities for Manitoulin is to reduce collision related injuries and fatalities on our roadways. Officers will be out checking and enforcing seatbelt laws as the OPP strives to ensure the safety of all motorists," said Manitoulin OPP Detachment Commander Staff Sergeant Kevin Webb.

Wildlife collisions – reduce your risks!

Now that the colder weather is upon us Manitoulin OPP is cautioning motorists on the increased incidents of wildlife collisions on area highways. Collisions with wild animals can result in serious vehicle damage, personal injury or even death. In the last week Manitoulin OPP Detachment responded to seven motor vehicle collisions involving wildlife.

Wild animals are unpredictable at all times so always be on the watch.

• Scan the road ahead from shoulder to shoulder. When you see wildlife beside the road, slow down and pass carefully as they may suddenly bolt onto the road.

• Watch for the yellow wildlife warning signs that indicate an area of increased risk. Slow down when travelling through these areas.

• Use high beams at night where possible and watch for glowing eyes of animals

Steer

• Stay in control. Watch your speed and take extra precautions when driving at night as visibility is greatly reduced. Slowing down will give you that extra second to respond.

• Never swerve suddenly. This could cause your vehicle to go out of control or head into oncoming traffic.

Brake

• Brake firmly if an animal is standing on, or crossing, the road. Never assume the animal will move out of your way.

Stop

• Stop as safely as possible if a wild animal is crossing the road. Remember, if one animal crosses the road, others may follow.

• If possible, avoid driving during dusk or dawn when most wildlife collisions occur. Swerving to avoid hitting a wild animal may result in a more serious collision. If hitting a wild animal is unavoidable, remember to stay in control...watch, steer, brake and stop. They face new challenges every day. The sex ed. and health curriculum can help. The first updates since 1998 will help parents and teachers give kids the skills they need to stay safe. Find out what kids will learn grade by grade at ontario.ca/hpe.

Mindemoya Thunder Fun Run Sunday

Sunday, October 4 marks the date of the annual Mindemoya Thunder Run. The great fundraising event is for the local, minor hockey association. Registration will take place at the arena starting at 9 am. The 2km race starts at 9:30 am and the 5k-gun goes at 10 am. If you have any questions or you need a pledge form people can contact Marie Ford. If you would rather just pay at registration, that works as well. The fun event goes rain or shine as does the bake sale and BBQ!

Local speedsters and coach get scooped

Coached by Manitowaning's Robin Fisher Cooper, four local gals have been recruited by Athletics Ontario to run for the Newmarket Huskies. Autumn Peltier, Sierra Pangowish, Victoria Trudeau and Franchesca Pheasant have been grinding up the kilometers under the tutelage of Ms. Fisher Cooper this summer. They will be running under the Huskies banner in Bolton, Ontario on October 3rd. Their coach is a former cross country/long distance runner for Wikwemikong, St Joseph's College in North Bay as well as in university. Great work and congratulations to all five. Good luck in southern Ontario.

Panthers back on the prowl!

The Manitoulin Panthers competed in the Nickel District Showcase Tournament over the weekend. The event is used to place teams in their appropriate competitive regular season divisions.

Playing in Sudbury way the youngest Panthers picked up a 6-3 victory in their opening game of the tournament. Members of the Novice Panthers include: Jacob Smith, Lucas Dubois, Gage Hughson, Greyson Case, Kallan Jones, Jack Carter, Jarvis Lebrun, Andrew Tabachak, Kohyn Eshkawkogan, Zagaasage 'Z!' Toulouse, Marlon Oshkabewisens, Eric Thibault and Keannu Bisschops as well as team staff: Kevin Eshkawkogan, Jay Hughson, Josh Eshkawkogan, Scott Stephens, James Panamick, Mitchal Payette, Jacqueline Carter, Allison Brewer, Clara Corbiere and Keven Smith.

The Manitoulin Bantam Panthers opened the NDMHL Showcase Thursday with a close hard-fought loss (5-4) to the Nickel City AA squad but managed to split their four-game series. They beat the NC Minors 'A', 10–4 and NC Minor 'AA' 2–1! Congratulations to a strong start to the season: Eric Varey, Kennedy Sintal, Ben Marshall, Jayden Little, Carter Abbotassaway, Lauren Laginsky, Austin Hawkins, Shannon Debassige, Lukas Abotossaway, Colin Withers, Regan St. Amour, Caleb Parks, Alex Ingram, Parker Hall, Levi Morrison, Connor Belmore, and Boston Thibault. Team staff includes: Craig Abbotassaway, Al Laginsky, Lukas Little, Peter Sintal, Rob Marshall, Heather Hall, Nancy Wadell and Pam Ingram.

The new Atom squad is also starting their season with a good stride with their first win in a dominant 6 - 1 score over the Nickel Centre Devils. The Atom roster and the latest news from the Peewee and Midget squads are to follow. Here's to a great season to all the Panthers!

Playing off the Rock

Former Panthers playing rep. hockey in Sudbury for this 2015-16 season include: M'Chigeeng's Aysia Debassige, Aundeck Omni's Samuel Assinewai, Birch Island's (Whitefish River) Kolby McGregor, Little Current's Billy Biederman and Wikwemikong's Carson Shawana. Best of luck to all. In addition we wish a full recovery to Carson who recently suffered a serious (non-hockey) cut to his upper leg requiring numerous stitches. Be patient Carson; heal well and quickly.

Dana Lewis of Wikwemikong and her Sudbury Lady Wolves BB had a great weekend in Oshawa. They had a 3 win, 2 ties and 1 loss weekend taking the Silver Medal. Former Wiky Hawk, Mindemoya Thunder and Sudbury AAA player Tanner Webkamigad will suit up for the St. Charles College Cardinals of the Sudbury and District High School League and be playing against our local MSS Mustangs.

3-pitch this Thursday

The Manitoulin Elementary 3-Pitch Championships will take place tomorrow, October 1. The Junior event will take place in Gore Bay at Charles C. McLean and the Seniors will play ball in Mindemoya.

Terry Fox Run kudos

The 35th Terry Fox Run in Little Current had another successful year and enjoyed a beautiful late summer day down at Low Island. Thank you to all who participated and all who came together to support cancer research initiatives. The run organizer, Joanna Rosenbaum, would especially like to thank the following volunteers and Manitoulin organizations that helped make the day go smoothly and contributed to the success of our run: Roslyn Taylor, Charlene MacNevin, Cindy Campbell, Cathy Jeffery, Leslie Taylor, Mel Delange, Colleen Mailloux, Natalie Hastings, Steve Fessenden, Joanne Corbiere, Al Boyd, all of the members of the Manitoulin Amateur Radio Club, the

Central Manitoulin elite athletes share their passion for their sport

by Betty Bardswich

MANITOULIN—Two elite athletes who used to call Manitoulin home are rocking the sports world. Cindy Lewis, formerly of Spring Bay and now living in Toronto, and Evan Bayer, also of Central Manitoulin, and living in Calgary, are posting excellent marks with Ms. Lewis participating in triathlon events and Mr. Bayer showing outstanding results in road bike racing.

The triathlon consists of swimming, cycling and running with the three in succession, but can be in different distances. The sprint distance has the lowest length, then the standard, long and lastly, the ultra distance. Ms. Lewis participates in the Ironman Triathlon which is an ultra distance event. It includes a 3.86 kilometre swim, followed by a 180.25 kilometre bike ride and a 42.2 kilometre run, which is known as a marathon. Any athlete who completes these events under 17 hours then becomes an Ironman. This triathlon is considered to be one of the most arduous one-day events in the world. Ms. Lewis entered her first triathlon event in Tennessee in 2007 and began racing as a professional Ironman athlete in 2011. She has won numerous top 10 finishes in Ironman and Half Ironman events and recently finished the Ironman Austria. Her personal best time of 9.29 hours was posted at Ironman Texas and, as she explained, this was a race where everything went right.

"There are so many things that might not go your way during such a big event," Ms. Lewis said, "from equipment issues to nutrition issues, injuries and mental focus. This particular race went well all around and I ended up finishing with a one minute personal best for me. The Ironman Louisville has been the most difficult a few times and that is because of the heat. In 2014 it was almost 45 degrees Celsius with humidity."

Ms. Lewis's parents Bev and Fred Lewis live in Evansville and her mom spoke to The Expositor about her daughter's athletic proficiency. "We moved to the Island when she was 10," she noted, "and Cindy got interested in track and field in public school and carried on into high school and university. She won female of the year in grade school and was first more than once in track and field events and also won awards in university." Indeed, Ms. Lewis has been an Ontario University Athletics (OUA) all-star and was named a Canadian Interuniversity Athletic Union (CIAU), now Canadian Interuniversity Sport (CIS), all-Canadian athlete.

Ms. Lewis has a Doctor of Chiropractic degree from Canadian Memorial Chiropractic College in Toronto and also acts as a running, cycling, triathlon and strength training coach.

Mr. Bayer has been interested in road racing for years. "I used to watch the France in high school," he told The Expositor, "then get on my bike and see how fast I could time travel around Lake Mindemoya. I knew fairly early that I had talent on the bike, more talent than I ever did running, but was hesitant to get involved in the sport because of the cost and the lack of avenues into the sport in Northern Ontario. For years there were bills and student loans to pay and it just seemed easier to put on a pair of running shoes and head out the door.'

Mr. Bayer is certainly right about the cost of road racing. His two bikes retailed between $3,500 and $4,500 and a powermeter for each bike was $1,200 with race wheels going for $1,000, if you can get a deal. "Add the cost of new chains, ties, cassettes, tubes every few hundred kilometers and it adds up to be an expensive hobby. In short, I could put a down payment on a house for the money I have put into cycling but I don't regret it for a second. This is also part of the reason I enjoy riding with The Lead Out Project. All of our prize money gets pooled and at the end of the season we buy bikes for kids interested in getting into bike racing."

Mr. Bayer was in a spin class at a local gym when the instructor asked if he was interested in racing and Mr. Bayer said, "it was basically the kick in the ass I needed to bite the bullet and buy a good bike, jerseys, shorts, helmet, shoes and gloves. I told her I was interested and a week later I was joining her team."

Bike racing has five different categories and it didn't take long for Mr. Bayer to win races and move up to the top category and win the Provincial Road Race and time trial. "This," said Mr. Bayer, "got the attention of Dave Holmes who was starting a new competitive team called The Lead Out Project."

Mr. Bayer races between 25 and 30 races a season. As he explained, some races are standalone and some are stage races, which are multiple races in one weekend and can consist of a time trial which varies between five and 40 kilometres, a road race from 110 to 185 kilometres and a criterium which ranges from 45 minutes plus three laps on a roughly onekilometre course to 75 minutes plus three laps.

"Cycling is like decathlon in a way," Mr. Bayer spelled out. "The best cyclist at one discipline or event isn't necessarily the best at all of them. To be competitive in all disciplines requires a huge variety of training."

Mr. Bayer has won many races and in the past year, has raced in Alberta, British Columbia, Saskatchewan, Ontario, Quebec and Oregon. When asked if he gets to Manitoulin to visit family and friends often, Mr. Bayer said, "Two to three times a year on average. I usually get home in the summer for a week or two, in November for a few days to deer hunt with my dad and brother and I am always home for Christmas. I both love and miss Manitoulin."

Town of NEMI, and the Manitoulin Expositor.

Businesses and organizations that contributed with donations, or otherwise supported the event were: The Little Current Lion's Club, Turners of Little Current, Orr's Valumart, Kool-It-Ice, Green Acres, Loco Beanz, Dreamer's Cove, Reflection Hair Studio, Island Foodland, Mindemoya Home Hardware, Taylor Sawmill, UCCM Police, Williamson's Hardware, the Manitoulin Central Family Health Team, and Manitoulin Physiotherapy Centre.

Special thanks to NEMI Mayor Al MacNevin and Algoma-Manitoulin MPP Michael Mantha for taking time out of their busy schedule and showing their support as well.

Sudbury skater near the top of "Best Of" list Sudbury's Rebecca Johnston was named the 3rd best female hockey player in the world by the Hockey News. A member of Canada's National team, Rebecca is only 25 and played against many local women in high school hockey.

Over 30 hockey players receive new equipment courtesy of JumpStart

by Alicia McCutcheon ESPANOLA—Earlier this month. 40 young hockey players received the opportunity of a lifetime when they were chosen by Jump-Start Charities (Canadian Tire) of Northeastern Ontario, and Hockey Canada to be outfitted head to toe in new hockey equipment, have their registrations paid for the year and celebrate with a fun on-ice session with players from the new Junior A team, the Espanola Express.

Chris Bright, director of recruitment programs for Hockey Canada, explained that 40 children were chosen from Espanola and Manitoulin with just over 30 of those children coming from the Island, representing five different hockey organizations.

This is a very big deal for those Island youths, as this happens only two or three times a year nation-wide, depending on available funding.

"We were looking to come back to Ontario, and as we had primarily been in southern Ontario before that and we reached out to the Northern Ontario Hockey Association," Mr. Bright explained. He noted that Canadian Tire and its JumpStart Charities had a large footprint in the area and so the Espanola/Manitoulin region was chosen.

"We had great support from Espanola Minor Hockey, the Espanola Express, Bauer Hockey Equipment and the Canadian Tire Espanola staff too," he added. "It was a very large community effort."

Those chosen to receive this generous gift were first vetted through a JumpStart application which showed that the child's family needed some assistance.

"We were thrilled to be in that community and it was nice to have the Junior team as a part of it," Mr. Bright enthused.

Following the handing out of the equipment, the young players headed to the Express change room to have help from the senior players to size and tape their new hockey sticks. "The Junior team got a great opportunity to give back and remember where they came from—that was a first for us," the Hockey Canada rep added.

Celebrating 25 years

Last week a previous generation of the Little Current Volleyball Club players cheered from the sidelines while the current generation battled it out on the court. For 25 years, recreational pick-up volleyball has been available free to the community every Friday from 7:30-9:30 pm at Little Current Public School thanks to ongoing support from the NEMI Town Council.

...Senior-specific housing: Mindemoya

"It is a concept 'design'," pointed out CAO Ruth Frawley. "Can we change the wording to a 'concept design'?" rejoined Mayor Stephens. "I think you have to be careful."

With a change to the motion implemented to reflect the council was supporting a concept design the motion was passed.

An earlier development proposal had met with stiff resistance from residents in the vicinity of that development leading to a refusal of support or zoning changes by the council. Mr. Hill indicated at the time he would not be appealing council's decision, adding that it was important to work with the community rather than against it and that in hindsight consultation with the development's neighbours should have been better.

"It was a bit of an unfortunate situation," noted Mayor Stephens of the earlier proposal. "He had brought the plan to council and council had indicated its approval, but then local opposition to the plan came up and a number of the councillors had backed away from the project."

The new concept design focusses on one-to-two bedroom townhouses, with as many as 10-12 assisted living units, but in an earlier interview Mr. Hill noted that, depending on local feedback, there could be considerable changes made to that plan.

Mr. Hill stressed that the project is not a "low income" development, but remains focussed on providing seniors' housing. He said that seniors remain the target market for the development, and that focus is grounded in the personal experience of Mr. Hill's own family and their attachment to the Island and the Mindemoya area in particular. Mr. Hill's wife was born on Manitoulin and he was primarily raised on Manitoulin. The couple returned to the Island after being away for several years and, like many couples, the Hills were faced the challenge of finding suitable accommodation for aging parents.

The developer said that it was his intention to improve communications with the community with the new project.

"I think we all learn from our previous experiences," noted Mayor Stephens.

Mr. Hill noted that their research found the nearest assisted living accommodations were to be found in Elora. "There was nothing at all on the Island," he said.

The mayor said that it was his understanding that the developer had already been approached by a number of people interested in the development. Mayor Stephens said that, from his perspective, the project looked to be very positive both for his community and the Island as a whole.

elements of both to be very appealing and would be passing these suggestions on to the developer, who cannot be named at this early stage, she explained.

*The developer is going to do it all; all we can do is suggest," Ms. McLennan added. The group is now helping to find a location, one with five acres, preferably.

ably. "We got permission from the council, 100 percent support," she said. The group is hoping to have 12 units, all of which would be two-bedroom and on one level.

The group realizes that it is hard to designate a complex 'seniors only' and have it viable, so a 20 percent cap of residents under 50 is being suggested, Ms. McLennan explained.

"We haven't discussed the price range for rent yet, but it wouldn't be beyond the price range of rents in Manitowaning," she concluded.

It is the hope of the contractor to break ground in the spring of 2016.

...DSB boosting rental for social housing units

...continued from page 1 rents for the area long before they reach the maximum of the income limit," a report to the board states. "It is for this reason and the gap created with inflated household income limits that is a driver for consideration of review of the current market rent structure."

Staff suggested that by increasing the market rents to a level more in line with the household income limits of $37,500, it would increase the DSB's ability to rent-geared-toprovide income subsidy where appropriate "while ensuring that the rents for those who do not require subsidized rents are more in line with the community at large. This would encourage those who do not require assistance to seek out available units in the community.'

In Manitowaning, this would mean a one-bedroom unit, currently at $571, would jump to $940 (maximum); Mindemoya, onebedroom, $571 to $940; Little Current, one-bedroom, $571 to $940; and in Gore Bay, one-bedroom, $571 to $940, bachelor, $502 to $805.

The non-profit breakdown is as follows: Gore Bay appraisers study the 'market' to determine market rents (and do not rely on a tenant's income). As such, ability to pay has no bearing on what a market rent should be set at."

"Establishing rents at or near $940 per month in municipal non-profit/private non-profit housing will result in an 'economic' eviction of its market tenants and will erode the very fabric that is underscored in the philosophy of non-profit housing (mix of housing types and incomes)," Mr. Hunt continues.

"We are asking the DSB to take a more cautionary approach and start at $650," he suggested. "The DSB's $940 is not based on any market analysis and we would stand out like a sore thumb across the province."

"Historically," Mr. Hunt explained, "social housing is just a little shy of the market rent, the low end of market rent."

If the DSB moves ahead, it wold mean that social housing is now competing with the private sector, "but you're subsidized, they're not. Over time, affordable housing would become the affected and see a rent increase. There are currently 450 people on the waiting list for social housing in the DSB.

"We have this huge waiting list of people who need to get into rent-geared-toincome housing," Northeast Town Mayor Al Mac-Nevin said. "Household income limit—at least it's a starting point. The problem with Ray's report is when I see the ads in my community, rents are in the range of $600 to $700 month plus utilities. Hydro and heating have gone up incredibly fast. These nonprofits don't seem to jive with what I'm seeing in the real world.

Mayor MacNevin said he supported option three: increase to new market rent values over a two-year period (with the provision of six months' notice the tenants rent would be increased by 50 percent per year until the rent has reached the new market rent rate).

Western Manitoulin DSB representative Bill Baker asked for a recorded vote. The Manitoulin representatives voted as follows: in favour, Edgar Lovelace, Dawson/Robinson and Al MacNevin, Northeast Town and Assiginack; against, Bill Baker, Western Manitoulin and Eric Russell, Tehkummah and Central Manitoulin. The motion carried. Ron Lane, chair of the Gore Bay Non-Profit Housing Corporation and also the community's mayor, said news had yet to reach him of the DSB's decision, but he was disappointed to hear it. 'Our main concern was that they don't raise the rent for the current tenants-we don't want to lose those tenants," he told The Expositor. "The market rent is too high for the area. I think it's very unfortunate that they didn't accept the submission.'

he added. "The average age in our building (Millsite) is 85. For the people getting subsidized rent, it's not a big deal, but for those paying market rent, it will be."

Ray Hunt, on behalf of the Town of Espanola Non-Profit Housing Corporation and the Gore Bay Non-Profit Housing Corporation, presented a report to the DSB at its September meeting on the establishment of market rents in non-profit housing.

"Using income limits to determine market rent is a fundamentally flawed process in that the housing industry (both nationally and internationally) does not use income as a proxy in determining market rent," he stated in his report. "Instead, professional private sector."

Espanola Mayor Ron Piche said he and his council agreed with Mr. Hunt. "I don't think $940 is appropriate at all."

Mr. Hunt again implored the DSB to be cautious. "Let's do this methodically and with a panel of experts to determine a market rate for the area."

Following the staff report on market rates, CAO Fern Dominelli explained to the board that by upping the market rent "this will generate additional revenues for rent supplement. For in, someone sav. Tehkummah or Killarnev where there isn't anything (social housing units), we could offer them subsidy to keep them in their community.

It was explained that currently, 26 tenants, all of them seniors between the ages of 76 and 85, would be Mr. Lane said he was pleased to hear Mr. Baker voted against the motion.

...André Robichaud

The Harper government is making significant progress on aboriginal and Northern issues and is achieving concrete results in areas such as economic development, construction of new schools and housing, safe drinking water, and land claims.

On June 11, 2008, Prime Minister Stephen Harper offered a historic formal apology to former students of Indian Residential Schools and sought forgiveness for the students' suffering and for the damaging impact the schools had on aboriginal culture, heritage and language.

The Harper government concluded a final settlement on Indian Residential Schools and launched the Commission for Truth and Reconciliation. Budget 2006 confirmed $2.2 billion for the Indian Residential Schools Settlement Agreement and announced almost $200 million to support implementation of the Agreement.

To date, over $1.57 billion has been distributed to over 76,000 former residential school students.

On June 16, 2010, our government announced its intention to repeal old provisions of the Indian Act that provided the authority to establish Indian Residential Schools. The announcement was made on the occasion of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission's first national event on Indian Residential Schools.

The comprehensive $60 million five-year report included 94 recom#### mendations.

These clearly require a great deal of consideration and it would not be responsible on the part of any government to pick the top recommendations and begin to force its priorities on the First Nations people. That would plainly be repeating the methodology of the past.

Without consideration of the priorities and impact of applying the recommendations on the First Nations communities across Canada, a government would be ignoring the spirit of the Truth and Reconciliation Commission.

Even between and among various First Nations constituencies there will surely be a need for negotiation on a prioritizing and implementation strategy.

In my role as an economic development officer, I have a proven track record of working with First Nation communities in my area. I was part of developing a Memorandum of Understanding for economic development with Mushkegowuk Council. I helped spearhead one of the largest networking events in Northeastern Ontario for aboriginal and non-aboriginal youth. Through activities, presentations and traditional learning, the "Growing Together" Youth Gathering, now in its third year, aims to foster mutual relationships based on respect and mutual benefit.

These same principles of relationship building and respect developed here in the riding of Algoma-Manitoulin-Kapuskasing will go with me to Ottawa.

I will also ensure that we continue to make strategic and targeted investments in Northern Ontario. Some of our investments include: $1.5 million for the operations of Waubetek Business Development Corporation; $1.5 million to expand the small business centre in Wikwemikong First Nation; $500,000 to support the engineering and project management costs to develop a community-owned on-reserve wind farm in M'Chigeeng First Nation; $393,814 for the East-West Transportation Corridor Study in the Ring of Fire; $232,200 to undertake a regional economic development in fisheries, aquaculture, mining and tourism; and $71,051 for a Northeastern Ontario Aboriginal Mining Strategy.

As your representative, I will help a re-elected Conservative government continue its commitment to Canada's aboriginal people in a collaborative atmosphere, where the priorities and concerns of the First Nations must lead the strategy.

Our government recognizes that there have been dark chapters in Canada's relationship with First Nations. While we cannot undo the past, we can learn from it and ensure that those dark chapters are not repeated. There is no place in Canada for the attitudes that inspired the Indian Residential Schools system to ever prevail again.

$50 million to support postsecondary support programs, substantial new funding to promote, preserve and enhance indigenous language and culture and working collaboratively to include aboriginal and treaty rights, residential schools and the contributions of indigenous people to Canada in classroom learning. Last month we learned that schools and facilities on reserves are not funded in the same manner as other schools. The schools are literally crumbling around the students precluding learning advancement. We and would implement an immediate new investment of $500 million over the next three years for First Nations education infrastructure.

A Liberal government would build a renewed partnership with First Nations that ensures high quality education and economic opportunity for all First Nations. As the fastest growing demographic in Canada, it is critical to our shared future that First Nations have the education and economic opportunities as everyone else. It must be a real priority for the federal government Recommendation numbers one through five call on the federal government to implement child welfare practices that would reduce the number of aboriginal children in care and investigate the reasons that children are in care. We would support the funding of organizations like Kina Gbezhgomi on Manitoulin Island. The mandate of organizations like this coincide with the fifth recommendation that support children remaining in their communities with healthy caregivers in order to stay connected to their roots, culture and language. A Liberal government would ensure that child welfare organizations are funded such that delivery of such services is sustained.

Recommendation 45 calls upon the federal government to jointly develop a Royal Proclamation of Reconciliation and reaffirm the nation to nation relationship with aboriginal people and the Crown. A Liberal government would focus on developing this Reconciliation Framework by holding mandatory annual meetings between the prime minister and First Nation chiefs and establishing a Nation Council of Reconciliation. I believe that this shows a willingness to move forward together that has previously eluded federal government resulting in the current stagnant relationand therefore, ship progress.

Finally, the last recommendation that I think needs attention is not included in the TRC's recommendation. Poverty is a major problem in many First Nations communities and in turn the cause of many social problems. A Liberal government would support through increased infrastructure and innovation investment the expansion of economic opportufor First Nation nity peoples. For example, the Shoal Lake First Nation on the Ontario-Manitoba border has been without an allweather road or clean water for 17 years. Trudeau has promised to partner with the City of Winnipeg and the province of Manitoba to rectify this atrocity. Freedom Road, as it is known, would allow residents the ability to move freely to work and school without impediment.

Economic opportunity is a game changer for First Nations communities. Many communities need capital investment to move innovation forward. A Liberal government would work with First Nations communities through sector specific funding to ensure that people that are ready and willing to start up or expand have the capital funds and other resources necessary to make it a reality.

Trudeau was the only party leader to visit Chief Theresa Spence when she staged a hunger strike in Ottawa. This with the fact that he announced plans for education and infrastructure funding and spoke to the AFN General Assembly is proof that the Liberal party is willing and able to move toward reconciliation.

learned.

There are so many challenges after decades of inaction under multiple governments that have left First Nation children to grow up with unsafe water, crumbling homes, substandard health care and education and scarce economic activities. New Democrats will address these challenges with a new respectful relationship and meaningful consultation so the damage can be reversed and a better shared future can be built.

We will create a cabinet-level committee chaired by Tom Mulcair, as prime minister, to ensure that government decisions respect treaty rights, inherent rights, and Canada's international obligations, starting with the principles of the United Nations Declaration of Indigenous Peoples.

With respect to the Truth and Reconciliation Committee, we will take action on the recommendations on a priority basis established in consultation with Indigenous communities. That will begin with a funding contribution of over $8 million over four years to the National Centre for Truth and Reconciliation.

Among the biggest challenges that must be addressed is the unequal education opportunities that are the legacy of the short-sighted two percent funding cap that has been in place for almost 20 years. Every year students and schools have been asked to get by with less and addressing this problem is a priority for New Democrats.

We support the Shannen's Dream campaign to guarantee quality education for First Nations students by implementing a joint process with Indigenous communities and organizations to address the education funding gap. This will include a new investment of $1.8 billion over the next four years, based on an annual escalator.

First Nations communities are facing an infrastructure deficit that is only mounting. New Democrats will work with communities to improve schools, drinking water facilities, roads, and other essential services. That starts with new investments of $447 million over four years because we know the well-being of a community flows from its ability to address these challenges.

In addition to these items we are committed to helping more Indigenous youth find good jobs. With so much being asked of First Nations when it comes to resource development it will only make sense if they are able to benefit significantly from agreed upon projects. That is why New Democrats will work with indigenous partners to ensure the ongoing success of the Aboriginal Skills and Employment Training Strategy.

Finally, we will work to restore and improve our environmental safeguards. When the Mikisew Cree and the Frog Lake First Nation challenged the government in federal court over the provisions in the omnibus budget bills C-38 and C-35 that changed the Fisheries Act and the Navigable Waters Protection Act, they were fighting for us all. New Democrats were fighting the legislation in parliament, but the majority government just rammed these oil and gas friendly bills through, despite overwhelming concern from all sides. New Democrats will reverse the damage done by these short-sighted bills and put teeth back into the environmental assessment process so that Canada protects our lakes and rivers.

New Democrats are determined to act upon the report of the Commission. We will consult with Indigenous people and establish which of the recommendations require the most pressing attention. We will commit to always pursue the truth, and to work together towards healing and reconciliation.

being.

Something fundamental needs to shift. That shift must begin with dignity for all aboriginal peoples: respect, an end to policies of assimilation, and strong support for health and education on and off reserve. Health specialists and behavioural experts need to be trained from within communities to provide the proper support for fetal alcohol syndrome children. Work must be intensified to ensure more programs that involve elders mentoring young people."

The Manitoulin Expositor has asked me for the top five priorities for Truth and Reconciliation. According to our published literature, Green MPs will do the following:

Support the restoration of the $5.1 billion commitment of the landmark Kelowna Accord reached between federal and provincial, territorial and First Nations governments in Canada in 2005, with the proviso that the ensuing programs do not lead to greater infringement on Aboriginal and treaty rights.

With the Kelowna

address several issues related to poverty. It was a consultative approach, which is the way to do it. The Green Party budget (available to view online with the Vision Green Platform) has $800 million dollars dedicated to First Nations, to be spent every year for five years, plus other health initiatives such as dental care and housing.

Ensure that every First Nations, Métis, and Inuit child has access to quality educational opportunities based on the expressed cultural, political, and social priorities of the First Nations, Métis, and Inuit governments following meaningful consultation. The Green Party will advocate for the delivery of health care, education, and other services in a way that incorporates traditional practices and recognizes the role of extended families and elders. The Green Party will increase access for First Nations education by removing the two percent funding cap and fully funding the program back log (at a cost of $424 million).

The Green Party of Canada will launch a full inquiry into missing and murdered aboriginal women. (The number of aboriginal women according to the RCMP report was 1,181 between 1980 and 2014. This represents 1,181 families affected.) address the treatment of aboriginals in the Canadian justice system and to investigate and address the disappearance of aboriginal women; and ensure, through consultation with indigenous organizations representing the concerns of aboriginal women, that the rights of Inuit, Métis, and First Nations women are protected.

Promote aboriginal culture, language, and history as a fundamental source of Canadian identity; and support the development of aboriginal education curricula that are language and culture specific.

Personally speaking as a Kinesiologist, a focus on sports and athletics participation and recognizing the needs to honour sports heroes and to partner with other organizations is a very sound one in terms of public health and fitness. Everyone should know that Tom Longboat was the greatest runner in North America.

You should also know that the Royal Canadian Legion sponsors track and field as part of their constitution. Cost of transportation is a factor to attend sports events, but service clubs may be able to assist if governments cannot. Fully implement the recommendations of the 1996 Report of the Royal Commission on Aboriginal Peoples, thereby embarking on true nation-to-nation nego-

Four running for chief of Sheguiandah First Nation in Nov. election

by Alicia McCutcheon SHEGUIANDAH FIRST NATION—The nominations for Sheguiandah chief and council were held on Saturday, September 25 with four running for the position of chief and 14 for the three band councillors' seats.

Those running for the position of chief are

Andrew Aguonie, Ron Kagesheongai, Aguonie, Orville Aguonie and Edward Mishibinijima (Simon) Sr.

For the position of councillor, the 14 nominees include Alison Aguonie, Agoneh, Jake James Atkinson, Jackie Bowerman (incumbent), Constance Donaldson (incum-Marie bent), Linda

Robert Manitowabi, Edward Mishibinijima (Simon) Sr., Melvina Sutton, Georgina Thompson (incumbent), Tim Trudeau, Carrie Waindubence, Nicole Waindubence and Pearl Waindubence.

The nominees have until this Friday, October 2 to decline their nomination and be removed from the ballot, however they can also decline their nomination up until the day of the vote, Friday, November 6. Electoral Officer Cynthia Behm explained that while their names may still appear on the ballot, once the poll is closed and the ballots counted, their votes will not be included in the final tally.

The current council is made up of incumbents Jackie Bowerman, Constance Donaldson and Thomspon. Georgina Chief Richard Shawanda passed away in June, leaving that position vacant at the council table.

George Gardner, who had already been in discussions with Dr. Roy Jeffery of Little Current.

"I received a call from Roy about the possibility of us working together to sponsor a refugee family," said Father Gardner. The doctor had recalled the role that St. Bernard's had played in bringing a Vietnamese family to Manitoulin during the so-called "boat people" crisis.

Assiginack councillor Leslie Fields, who is also a member of the MLC, has been in discussions with the Anglican ministry and it quickly became clear that there was a strong desire across the Manitoulin community to not stand idly by in the face of this new challenge.

'The idea right now is to sponsor two or three families, to help provide the families with a mutual support system while settling in a new land," said Ms. Erskine.

The challenge will take a concerted effort, as the costs of sponsorship (at least $30,000) and the logistics of helping a refugee family settle in are significant.

'That is why we think pooling all of the resources from across Manitoulin, making it a Manitoulin community effort, is important," said Ms. Erskine. "There are people willing to help us make this happen. Mike Shain (MLC executive director) gave me a contact for a law firm that is willing to assist us with the paperwork free of charge and I hope to hear back from them by the time the meeting takes place."

Ms. Erskine said that the plight of the refugees strikes a chord with her as a wife, a mother and a grandmother. "If we were a family with children, living in a war torn country, I would hope that someone, somewhere in the world, would step up to help us," she said.

There will be a meeting at St. Bernard's Church in Little Current on Wednesday, September 30 from 6 to 7:30 pm to set the process of sponsoring a family in motion. For more information contact Linda at lmoshe7@hotmail.com or by phone at 705-282-4283.

Mindemoya road closures should be complete this week

by Michael Erskine MINDEMOYA—Nightly road closures have been a minor inconvenience to Mindemoya residents over the past few evenings, but the closures are anticipated to have already ended by today (Wednesday, September 30)—although work on the roads will continue, likely picking up again in the spring.

The topic of the road closures was discussed during an update by CAO Ruth Frawley at the September 29 meeting of the Central Manitoulin council.

Ms. Frawley noted that the road closures were not originally anticipated, but that it was determined by the contractor that the closures would be necessary on September 23 through 25. "The protocols have been followed and notices were sent to the ambulance, OPP and fire departments.

Since the meeting, however, "unforeseen issues" forced a continuation of the road closures, albeit at a different section of town. That work was to take place from Frawley said that she hoped that part of the project that required the road to be closed would be over by the time The Expositor hits the stands. "That is my understanding, yes," she said.

The work was being completed during the night time hours to minimize the impact on local travel and so far there had been no ing," she noted. "By this evening 2,051 people had seen the notice of closure and were sharing it. That is with a population of 1,942."

The traffic slowdowns on Highway 542 M'Chigeeng and Mindemoya had more impact on residents than the nightly closures, "but they are finished with that project,

Great prices at September Manitoulin Livestock sale

ASSIGINACK—There were 40 steers and 95 heifers offered for sale at the September 19 edition of the Manitoulin Livestock Exchange (MLE) in Assiginack.

The sale saw mostly yearlings off grass and some good Charolais cross calves.

The day also acted as a herd dispersal sale for Erling Size which attracted a large crowd despite the inclement weather.

Mr. Size's 12 Charolais cows, bred two to four months, fetched between $2,700 and $3,600 while the two bred heifers saw a price of $3,600. Three cows with calves were also sold as part of the dispersal, ranging from $2,800 to $3,250. Good Charolais and Hereford calves sold at a price of $3.50 to $3.65/pound for steers, and $2.90 and $3.30/pound for heifers.

"We had lots of new buyers thanks to Ed Ferguson, Dave McCauley, Morris Hore, Mike Wright, the Greenman brothers, Erwin Martin, Ed Averhart of Hanover and Dale Pallister of Dundalk," said Dave McDowell, MLE co-proprietor.

In the regular sale, the following prices were seen for steers: 800-900 pounds, $2,000 to $2,235; 700 to 799 pounds, $1,800 to $1,900; 600 to 699 pounds, $1,680 to $2,030; 500 to 599 pounds, $1,600 to $2,000; and 400 to 499 pounds, $1,580.

Heifers were sold for the following prices: 800 to 899 pounds, $1,775; 700 to 799 pounds, $1,775 to $1,830; 600 to 699 pounds, $1,760; 500 to 599 pounds, $1,675; and 400 to 499 pounds, $1,480 to $1,500.

The next sale for the MLE will be Saturday, November 7.

Manitoulin Sea Cadets to host annual recruiting night Youths ages 12-19 urged to come out and learn about the many opportunities the cadets offer

by Robin Burridge

LITTLE CURRENT—Youths aged 12 to 19 from across Manitoulin are invited to join the Manitoulin Sea Cadets for its annual recruiting night on Monday, October 5 at 7 pm at the Northeast Town recreation centre in Little Current.

"The evening will include a demonstration, a question and answer period and a short video," explained Carmen Laidley, Sea Cadet chair on the Manitoulin Navy League. "The Sea Cadets offers a wide range of activities free of charge for youths 12 to 10vears-old and it gives young people a chance to learn new skills and travel.

"The cadets program provides a lot of opportunity for youth," added Manitoulin Sea Cadets Commanding Officer (CO) Maggie King. "It helps build self-esteem and promotes physical fitness. The program also offers opportunities to learn to sail. Through the Sea Cadets, youth will learn a host of tangible skills from expert marksmanships, orienteering, sailing, military drills, knot tying to the opportunity to play a musical instrument."

"Youth also learn how to stand up and speak in front of people and how to be a leader," continued Ms. King. "It instills a sense of pride in them and the importance of rules and protocol. All of the skills they learn help to nurture and build the character of the youth, while providing them with unique opportunities not exclusive to the military."

Ms. King added that the program also provides an outlet for youth to make friends and have fun, while being exposed to new interests and learning life-long skills.

The Manitoulin Sea Cadets recruiting night is open to all youth 12 to 19 on Monday, October 5 at 7 pm in Little Current at the Northeast Town recreation centre. Ms. Laidley noted that the Sea Cadets are always looking for volunteers to help with the program or fundraising. Anyone interested can contact her at 705-368-3718.

4elements Living Arts announces its first annual Elemental Festival

KAGAWONG-What do the fall colours, the annual salmon run, and installation art have in common? This October 2 to 4, the first annual Elemental Festival will take place in Kagawong.

Presented by 4elements Living Arts (4e), a local interdisciplinary non-profit arts organization, the festival is site-specific and includes multiple forms of contemporary art. This year's festival will showcase the Kagawong River with the theme 'Rivers' anchoring all of the activities and celebrating the river rehabilitation work of Manitoulin Streams.

Internationally renowned artist Michael Belmore's (Thunder Bay) one-tonne granite sculpture will be installed in the river. Sean Procyk (Toronto) will create a kinetic installation on the river and lead workshops in sound-art.

Other confirmed artists include Ann Marie Hadcock (Wiarton) whose unusual fibre work is sure to delight, and francophone artist Mariana LaFrance (Manitoulin Island) is performing a new work. Pistol George Warren, darlings of the Sudbury music scene, will perform on Saturday night.

In keeping with the multi-arts and community aspect of the Festival, 4e welcomes submissions of prose and creative non-fiction to its Elemental Festival Writing prize. The weekend will be packed with activities for kids and adults including sound and river walks, artist talks, installations by local artists, workshops and a community discussion about water and rivers. Participation in most events is free of charge.

With events like Warkworth's Sunday Drives Festival selling out, and Sudbury's profoundly successful UpFest, it's clear that art communities on the 'periphery' have a lot to contribute and are shaking loose outdated mindsets about where contemporary art can happen.

"This is not a festival that could take place anywhere but here; it will respond uniquely to the experience and ecosystem of this particular landscape," said Sophie Anne Edwards, curator.

Visitors from across the region, from as far as Sault Ste. Marie and North Bay, are expected. With the summer tourism season waning, October is the perfect time to visit Kagawong.

"You'll have the spectacular view and exquisite fall colours to yourself, while the salmon make their annual run up the Kagawong River to spawn at Bridal Veil Falls," Ms. Edwards enthused. "Visitors can enjoy a day trip, or take advantage of off-season accommodation prices. With all activities of the weekend, you can come for the weekend but feel like you've stayed a whole week.'

4e is supported by the Ontario Trillium Foundation; grants from the Ontario Arts Council and the Canada Council for the Arts have made this first Elemental Festival possible.

To set up an interview with one of the artists, for more information about the writing prize criteria, or to register for workshops contact Patricia Mader, festival co-curator, at patricia@4elementslivingarts.org.

Angry Antlers Vineyard in Assiginack offering tour this weekend

by Betty Bardswich

ASSIGINACK-Grapes and Grains owner and wine vintner Curt Holmberg of Mindemoya has teamed up with Angry Antlers Vineyard owner Rick Krasowski to host a first annual vineyard tour to take place on Sunday, October 4 from 11 am to 3 pm. The tour also includes a barbecue and #### nature walk.

"Rick has worked very hard for a decade developing these beautiful grape vines," Mr. Holmberg told The Expositor, "and we invite everyone to join us as we explore and sample the grapes on the vineyard. The vibe you experience standing in a vineyard with these beautiful clusters of berries growing and coming to life is something one should at least experience once in a lifetime. It is an indescribable feeling. We will proceed to pick all the grapes we need. We will de-stem, sort and crush them onsite and then transport the juice and grapes back to the store where I ... continued on page 14

...continued from page 13 work my magic turning it into beautiful organic wines. Making wine from grapes is much more challenging than just making it out of a commercial wine kit. There is a lot more science involved but I am ready to take on the challenge and just have a lot of fun with this experience."

A wine press has been installed at the store and Mr. Holmberg invites Islanders to pop in to Grapes and Grains to see how it works.

Mr. Holmberg went on to talk about the wines that would be available for purchase saying that there will be two red side wines which are Frontenac and Sabrevois.

"These grapes have been grown organically and carefully," Mr. Holmberg explained, "and the flavour appearance of these grapes will be something to remember and cherish for years to come. The wines will be ready for Christmas and will be just fine, but they will soften and get better with age.

There are two promotions that are featured at Grapes and Grains now that include a chocolate intervention which includes three flavours of chocolate ports and two different flavoured wines called Naughty and Nice. All will be ready for Christmas. In the New Year, Mr. Holmberg will hold beer making workshops and perhaps some mead making for Easter.

The Anary Antlers Vineyard will be offering for purchase two red side wines which are Frontenac and Sabrevois.

MFAA hosts annual fall show

The Manitoulin Fine Arts Association (MFAA) Annual Fall Art Show is on now until Saturday, October 17 at the Centennial Museum of Sheguiandah. MFAA member Ivan Wheale stands next to his piece The Old Boat-Venice' at the opening reception of the show on Saturday. The fall hours of the museum are Tuesdays to Fridays from 10 am to 4:30 pm and Wednesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays from 9 am to 4:30 pm

Mr. Holmberg encourages anyone interested in the vineyard tour to book now by calling 705-377-6144 or by email grapesngrains@yahoo.ca. "Make sure you don't miss out on this incredible trip to Manitoulin's largest organic vineyard and wine making experience from grape and stem to bottling and aging your own wine from scratch."

A wine tour this weekend to the Angry Antlers Vineyard is a sure fire way to spend an autumn's day.

...Now and Then: Rhea Woods

Rhea smiles as she recalls her sister-in-law turning back during the plane ride home from one of their trips. She warned her not to eat the lunch. Apparently sushi was on the menu and everyone knew how Rhea felt about raw fish. Meat that was too rare suffered the same fate of being ignored. "Generally, I loved visiting new places and trying new foods, with only those two exceptions."

"Later, when we actually retired, we sold our businesses to our two sons and they are still operating them today. Jim Mac operates the Woods Brother's Clothing and the M& R Jewellery in a new location. Bill runs B & J's Restaurant."

"Marvin died a few years ago and I have been living alone in our family home. I have three stents that don't slow me down. I do a lot of volunteer work at the Lodge, mostly at lunch time, to help my sister Jean who has a very debilitating disease that stiffens all her joints and prevents her from eating or doing anything for herself. She can no longer communicate so that adds to the challenge."

Rhea has contributed her time to helping the Lions Club where her brother was a member also. "I collected for the Cancer Society for many years. I take used books to the local health store, The Island Pantry, to sell them to raise money for the Society as well.'

It was Jim Mac who nominated his mother for 'Mother of the Year' in 2000. He entered her name and explained why she should be given this award. His entry was chosen as the lock on the door and not who would take a cat or a dog. That would be hard on both myself and the pet." People say about Rhea that she is an organized person, always thinking about others first, before she considers her own needs. When asked if there is something she would love to do that has evaded her in the past. "I can't think of a thing. I believe I have done it all. It's my time to rest now.'

"If I could go back in time, I wouldn't change anything. I have had a good life so there is nothing I would do differently." She smiles as an afterthought presses in. "Perhaps I would have stayed with the telephone company and not chosen to work in the hectic atmosphere of a restaurant; but it was for the man I loved, so that made it less painful." When asked, Rhea declares, "my recipe for happiness is taking the good with the bad. You often get both so you should expect that there will often be a setback, and that will make it less of a burden."

winner. Four years later Rhea was awarded as Citizen of the Year from the Town of Gore Bay, Rhea was 'Grandmother Rhea' to many other kids in the neighbourhood, including young Brady Wilson. "My favourite seasons are spring and fall. I really don't enjoy the humid heat or the bitter cold, although now that I am older, the cold is worse than the heat. I don't watch much television except for the news and weather. I much prefer to read and my favourite authors are Nora Roberts and Danielle Steel. I used to collect spoons but have given many away or sold them in the jewellery story. There are only two racks left. People know about my collection of 28 teddy bears. Thanks to the current owner, I still get to enjoy some Macintosh apples from the old farm each year. We've always had good neighbours. I haven't met my new neighbour on my right yet, but I will soon.' "I am proud of what my family accomplished. My husband was both a hard worker and a visionary. He knew what would do well," she concludes. "Manitoulin really is the only place to be. I am a Haweater, so my roots are here. I feel safe. People still leave doors open when they step out. That's a good, comfortable feeling. Friendly people that make such a difference. I wouldn't dream of being anyplace else but here in Gore Bay.'

- in memoriam

ALSTON--In loving memory of Darrell, a dear husband, father, grandfather who passed away five years ago, October 3, 2010. They say memories are golden. Well, maybe that's true. I never wanted memories; I only wanted you. A million times I needed you, A million times I cried. If love alone could have saved you, You never would have died. In life I loved you dearly; In death I love you still, In my heart you hold a piece No one could ever fill. But now I know you want me To mourn for you no more, To remember the happy times Life still has much in store. Since you'll never be forgotten. I pledge to you today; A hallowed place within my heart Is where you'll always stay. If tears could build a stairway And heartache make a lane; I'd walk the path to heaven, and bring you back again.

Our family chain is broken, nothing seems the And same.

But as God calls us one by one.

The chain will link again. Always remembered by wife

+ in memoriam

ALSTON--In loving memory of Darrell Alston, August 7, 1955 to October 3, 2010. Your presence still lingers here.

The wounds don't seem to heal. There is a bridge of memories From here to heaven above That keep you very close to us: It's called a bridge of Love. As time goes on without you And days turn into years, They hold a million memories

And a thousand silent tears. To us you were very special; What more is there to say. Except to wish you were here today.

Sadly missed by Mom Esther and Dave Leach, sister Kathy, brothers Donald, Wayne, Lorne and Craig Alston. 20p

WIGLE--In loving memory of our father, George Wigle, who was taken from us two years ago today, September 30, 2013.

Two years ago this was the day, We got the call that you went away. You laid in bed and closed your eyes,

Never getting a chance for even good-byes. Life has not been the same since you went away.

The call we received seems like vesterday.

In our hearts your memory will always be,

As we dream at nght, your smiling face is what we see. There is a void we have deep within our hearts. But the memories of you will never depart. We hold them dear with everything we do, Just one more time our wish is to see you. We miss you so much Pop. John(Butch) and Debbie. 20oa VANHORN--In loving mem-VanHorn, of lan ory September 26, 2011. Our lives go on without you, But noting is the same. We have to hide our heartaches When someone speaks your name. Sad are the hearts that love vou Silent the tears that fall Living our lives without you Is the hardest part of all. You did so many things for us Your heart was kind and true And when we needed someone We could always count on

you. The special years will not return

When we were all together But with the love wit

In Rev. 3:17 God says to the Laodicean Church: "You do not realize that you are wretched, pitiable, poor, blind and naked." What an indictment! The Laodicean Church is the 7th Church and it is symbolic for the churches of today. The big problem with the churches of today is that they do not realize the miserable, pitiable state in which they are. When I am talking about the churches, I am not talking about the buildings, but about the people who meet in there. These people are not blind and naked in the literal, natural sense, but in the spiritual sense. They can not see because they are blinded by sin. They are naked because their sins prevent them from wearing the white robes of righteousness that Jesus offers them upon their repentance. 2 Cor. 3:3 says: "The God of this world (Satan) has blinded the mind of them that believe not (do not obey God's commandments)!" When a person does not sanctify God's sabbaths (Friday sunset till Saturday sunset) he sins and commits an act of unbelief. Notice it is not the Denomination or your conscience who decide what sin is. Sin is the transgressing of Gods laws, 1 John 3:4. By Gods law is knowledge of sin, Rom. 7:7. God's law is holy, righteous and good, Rom. 7:12. The same law that tells you that murder and adultery are sin, tells you that not sanctifying God's Sabbaths is sin. And God considers the transgressing of His Sabbaths such a serious sin that He allowed the temple and Jerusalem to be destroyed and Israel be taken into Babylon (confusion) for it. The entire Sunday Church is in "Mystery Babylon" for this very sin. Amos 3:7 says: "The Lord God does nothing without revealing his secret to his servants the prophets." What Yahweh has revealed to me is the devastating results of this specific sin of not sanctifying God's sabbaths. Those results include 1) Spiritual blindness, 2) mental confusion, Deut 28:28, 3) bondage (captivity in "Mystery Babylon") 4) Spiritual nakedness. 5) Not entering the kingdom of God. 6) Satanic (demonic) control. But God also still calls the Laodicean Church to repent, Rev. 3:19. In order to repent a person must first agree that certain actions that God calls sin are sin. In order to be delivered from "Mystery Babylon" a person must first humble himself by confessing: "Lord I have sinned by not sanctifying your Sabbaths." And it does not matter how sincere, how intelligent, how well educated he is or how much of the Bible he knows. As long as he does not sanctify God's Sabbaths, he will stay blind, confused, naked and under Satan's control. In order for any person to receive spiritual understanding he must first be willing to obey God and keep His commandments, Is. 1:19, John 7:17, Deut. 4:6. God offers robes of righteousness to those who purify themselves from sin. Rev. 19.7 and 8 say. The bride has made herself ready. It was granted her to clothe herself with fine linen, bright and pure." Please notice the word herself. Rom. 8:13 says, "If through the spirit you do mortify the deeds of your body (get rid of sin) you shall live (be saved)". It is like God offering you a tub full of water (The word, Eph. 5:26) and soap (the holy spirit) but you will have to jump in the tub (start studying God's word) and start scrubbing yourself with the soap. You are the one who will have to do the confessing and repenting. It is like a doctor prescribing medicine. It won't do you any good if you do not obey the doctor's instructions and take the medicine. All of God's word will not do you any good if you do not obey its instructions. And that is thus Saith the Lord. Hank Reckman, Prophet of Manitoulin, Search For Truth Biblical Ministries. Box 210, M'Chigeeng Ont. POP 1G0.

GORDON OLIVER WILSON

Gordon Oliver Wilson entered into his eternal rest at Health Sciences North in Sudbury, Ontario on Sunday, September 27, 2015 at the age of 85. Celebrating his life while mourning their loss are his children: Ed and Judy Wilson of London, Ontario; Bob and Tricia Meinzinger of Mississauga, Ontario; Bob and Marie Magee of Orleans, Ontario; Donovan Wilson of Cannington, Ontario; and Jeff and Chrissy Wilson of Providence Bay, Ontario. Gordon was immensely proud of his 11 grandchildren: Aaron, Brendan and Naomi Wilson; Nathan, Angela and Joshua Meinzinger; Stephen and Chelsea Magee; and Cassandra, C.J. and Jacob Wilson. He was also great-grandfather to Jonas and Simon Wilson. Gordon is survived by his sister Muriel Seib of Abbotsford, B.C. He was predeceased by his wife Nellie in 1996, sister Elsie in 1997 and brother Burton in 2005. Gordon was born to William and Amy (Johnston) Wilson and lived his entire life on the 12th line of Campbell Township. He graduated from Emmanuel Bible College in Kitchener, Ontario in 1952 and answered God's call to return to the family farm and support the ministry of Salem Missionary Church. Gordon served his community through his roles as President and Director of the Providence Bay Agricultural Society and as a member of the Manitoulin Camp of Gideons International. A celebration of Gordon's life will be held on Saturday, October 3, 2015 at 2 pm at Salem Missionary Church, Spring Bay, with visitation from 1 pm to 2 pm. To confirm the time, please visit www.manitoulin.ca/death-notices/ or www.culginfuneralhome.ca. Donations in memory of Gordon may be made to Gideons International or Manitoulin Health Centre.

THEODORE ROY

Theodore Roy, a member of M'Chigeeng First Nation, lived in Chicago IL, returned to the Spirit World. Leaving his loving wife, Dorothy Roy, and four sons, Terry and wife Ginger, Charlie and wife Jolene, Eric and wife, Jody, and Anthony. Proud grandfather of Christina, Jessica, Alexis, Bobby, Terry, Amber, and Jade. Great-grandfather of Brody Roy. Son of William and Louise (Migwans) Roy, predeceased by Celia, Violet, Patrick, Gary, Jaccob, C Jean, and Susan. Dear brother of Mike and Georgina of Chicago, Francis Roy, Masie (Roy) and Levi Debassige, Mandy (Roy) and Francis Ozawagosh, and Joe Fox and Grace. Theodore Henry Roy, the 10th child of 12, was raised in a part of the shameful era of Canadian history, and that is of Indian Residential Schools (Survivor 1939 - 1948, Joseph Garnier School, Spanish, Ontario). From lumber work, to working on the skyscrapers in the city of Chicago, Illinois. Theodore married his wife of 38 years, Dorothy Debassige (Roy), in November of 1977. He spent his summers of retirement farming, tending to his land and lumber work in his homeland of M'Chigeeng. His final years were spent in Chicago, but his travels to M'Chigeeng each and every summer were of utmost of importance in his life and to his family. He passed his established business on to his four sons: Terry, Charlie, Eric and Anthony. He shared many of his life trade skills with his loved ones, whether that involved hard work involving labor, family or organizing family gatherings. Uncle to many nieces and nephews. Visitation was at the Roy residence, 49 Assanse Drive, M'Chigeeng on Sunday, September 27, 2015 from 11 am until time of the funeral service on Monday, September 28, 2015 at 11 am. Interment M'Chigeeng Cemetery.

JAMES MURRAY MCDERMID "SPUD" ames Murray J McDermid, "Spud", a life-long resident of Providence Bay, died peacefully at Mindemoya Hospital on Monday, September 28, 2015 at the age of 85. Born to Elsie (nee Bailey) and James McDermid in Tehkummah on July 16, 1930. Beloved husband of Audrey "Toots" (nee Lockyer) McDermid. Loving father of Sally and husband Jim Dawson of Toronto and Jamie McDermid of Providence Bay. Proud grandfather of Jesse and Morgan and special great-grandfather of Hunter and Mya. Predeceased by both his brothers, Irving and Blair. Will be missed by in-laws Floyd and Lila Lockyer, Sally Lachapelle and Dean and Darlena Lockyer, all of Little Current. Will always be remembered by many nieces, nephews and friends. Murray led an accomplished life but his greatest love was for his family. He was a proud Haweater who was proud of his heritage and loved his kilt. He was a curler and a hockey player and by the age of 16 he knew he wanted to be a ballplayer. He was a hard-throwing right hand pitcher and a hard-hitting left-handed hitter. He cherished his time at Hornel, New York, playing for the Brooklyn Dodgers Farm Team. He taught himself leather craft and he schooled many Islanders in the craft. He loved his camp in Carter Bay, deer hunting and cutting wood. He also loved heading north with the Sloss brothers to moose hunt. Murray was the Providence Bay Cemetery contact person for over 50 years, overseeing of all the cemetery needs. He won Citizen of the Year Award last year from the Providence Bay Agricultural Society. He served on the Providence Bay Community Centre Board and on the Providence Bay Discovery Centre Board until his death and was a member of Providence Bay United Church for 63 years. For his many years of dedication and service, he has been recognized as a Melvin Jones Fellow For Dedication For Humanitarian Services by the Lions Club International Foundation, and was awarded the Providence Bay/Spring Bay Lions Club Lifetime Achievement Award and the Golden Hammer for 50 years in the hardware/building supply business. He served on the Board of Directors for 29 years for Home Hardware and, after those years of service, Home Hardware made a resolution to honour him: he was inducted into Home Hardware Builders' Circle. His name is engraved on the Home Hardware Stores Builders' Circle granite monument located in the Tribute Garden in St. Jacobs, Ontario. Family and friends will gather at the Providence Bay Cemetery for a graveside service (the date and time are not determined yet--expecting mid October). Donations to Mindemoya Hospital Auxiliary would be greatly appreciated. (Island Funeral Home will only be accepting cheques). Record your thoughts, memories and photos at www.islandfuneralhome.ca.

Memorial donations are gratefully appreciated and can be made at the admitting office to the auxiliaries of the Manitoulin Health Centre and the Renovation Fund in both Mindemoya and Little Current and the Gore Bay Manitoulin Lodge Auxiliary Incorporated, 3 Main Street, Gore Bay, Ontario, POP 1H0 and the Manitoulin Centennial Manor Auxiliary, Postal Bag 460, 10 Robinson Street, Little Current, Ontario, POP 1K0. Donations can also be made to the Manitoulin District Cenotaph Fund, Box 656, Little Current, Ontario POP 1K0 or Pet Save Manitoulin, Box 393, Gore Bay, Ontario POP 1H0.

Little Current United provides $6,000 grant for school nutrition program

LITTLE CURRENT—Little Current United Church Pastoral Charge and the Wikwemikong Board of Education concluded a happy agreement during the Sunday, October 20 church service that saw the church community passing on a $6,000 grant it had facilitated which will be used to augment the in-school student nutrition program at the First Nation's three schools.

Little Current United Church parishioner Gail Gjos, who is also chair of the church's Outreach Committee and the congregation's representative to Sudbury Presbytery, was invited to the pulpit where she recounted the story of the grant and how Wikwemikong schools had entered into the discussion.

The former St. Paul's United Church in Sudbury had closed, she explained, and its congregation had decided to take part of the proceeds from the sale of the church's assets (primarily the church property) and to make this money available to other United Church pastoral charges within Sudbury Presbytery if they came up with new missionrelated works that could, at least in part, be funded by a grant from the St. Paul's fund. The cap for each grant was set at $6,500 and there was a "detailed application form to be filled out and sent to a committee for approval," Ms. Gjos explained.

ure out how we (Little Current Pastoral Charge) could make the best use of this golden opportunity."

"This was when Peggy entered our deliberations," Ms. Gjos explained.

Ms. McGregor, hearing the terms of the St. Paul's grant that Sunday, "presented us with a plan and an opportunity which she brought from her job at the Wikwemikong Board of Butternut squash is my favourite fall vegetable. I planted eight butternut squash plants in my garden, all excited about the crop that I will be harvesting in September. Throughout the summer and into the fall I would check to see how the plants were progressing. Yesterday I looked again and realized that unless we have another month of warm weather with no frost the plants would have produced a total of four squash. A bit disappointing but on the bright side the spaghetti squash went crazy and I have lots of them and not everyone's favourite to eat.

Butternut squash can be bit of a challenge to peel, seed and cut up but you can 1. Heat oil in large pot over medium heat. Add onion, garlic, ginger and curry powder; cook, stirring often, until the onions start to soften, 2 to 3 minutes. Add squash, lentils, tomato and salt; cook, stirring, for 1 minute. Add water. Cover and bring to boil. Reduce heat to a simmer, cook, covered, stirring occasionally, until the squash is tender and the lentils are mostly broken down, about 20 minutes.

2. Stir in coconut milk and heat through about 1 minute. Serve with cilantro or parsley.

Education. The plan and the grant application (supporting it) were presented to the presbytery committee and were approved, so here we are today!"

Ms. McGregor, also speaking from the pulpit, had brought with her an eagle feather, "which I had been given about five years ago by the children of my community. This comes with tremendous responsibility, especially to children," she explained.

Ms. McGregor, who works for the Wikwemikong Board of Education, said that one of the projects with which she has been entrusted "is to set up a nutrition program for Wikwemikong's three schools."

"This program had been informally run previously but the goal now is to make it more formalized," she explained.

Ms. McGregor recalled that when she was at church one Sunday in March and had heard Ms. Gjos speaking about the St. Paul's grants, "a light bulb went off in my head as I thought 'what a wonderful way this would be to use these funds'!" "Wikwemikong doesn't have a United Church," Ms. McGregor added, "but I think that, with children, the lines are blurred." She recalled that she had then approached Pastor Jane Blannin-Bruleigh with the idea and then spoke to Gail Gjos, "and we had to hurry to get the grant application in on time."

Each of Wikwemikong's three schools (the Junior School, Pontiac School) and Wikwemikong High School will receive $2,000. The funds will be used in each school to provide equipment like blenders and toasters "to ensure proper food safety and hygiene."

Ms. McGregor, who had at one time served as Director of Education for her home community of Christian Island in southern Georgian Bay, told the congregation that, "for those of you who don't know, First Nations education in Cana-

Butternut squash is a nutritional gold mine—high in Vitamin A, which promotes healthy eyes. It is also a good source of fibre, which helps you feel full longer. The following recipe I make all the time because it is vegetarian and a complete meal.

Squash and Red Lentil Curry

2 Tbsp sunflower seed oil

11/2 cups diced onion

3 cloves garlic, minced

1 Tbsp minced fresh ginger

2 tsp curry powder or garam masala

1 20-ounce package cubed peeled butternut squash or 5 cups of squash that you peeled and chopped yourself from a medium sized butternut

1 cup red lentils

1 15-ounce can chopped tomatoes, drained

4 cups water

11/2 tsp sea salt

1 14-ounce can coconut milk

Chopped fresh cilantro or parsley for garnish

2 Tbsp sunflower seed oil or olive 1 cup sliced leek, white and light green parts only

12 cups chopped kale 3 cloves garlic, minced <sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub> tsp sea salt <sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> tsp ground pepper <sup>1</sup>/<sub>4</sub> to <sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub> cup water, as needed 2 Tbsp all-purpose flour or corn-starch or potato-starch 1 1/2 cups milk or coconut milk

Pinch of nutmeg

Heat oil. Add leek and cook, stirring often, until starting to soften, 1 to 2 minutes. Add the kale, garlic, salt and pepper; cook stirring often, until very soft, 10 to 20 minutes, adding water ¼ cup at a time if the greens start to stick. Sprinkle with flour and cook, stirring, for 30 seconds. Stir in milk and nutmeg; cook, stirring, until just starting to boil and thicken, 1 to 2 minutes. Serve hot.

Sudbury Dolphin Aquatic Club holds fourth annual Little Current Big Clean-Up dive

by Mel Young

LITTLE CURRENT-On Sunday, September 20, the Sudbury Dolphin Aquatic Club participated in the fourth annual "Little Current, Big Clean-Up" dive sponsored by NBS Auto Repair, owned by Rob (Fluff) McCulligh. Seventeen scuba divers and their family and friends removed a dumpster and a half of garbage from the bottom of the lake at the public docks in downtown Little Current.

Every year, the Dolphins focus the clean-up at different areas of the downtown docks. This year, the focus was on the west end of the docks. Found were three barrels, a number of tires and countless bottles and other debris; yet, there da is underfunded," explaining that she knew this first-hand because of her earlier experiences. "The grant per student in First nations schools is $5,000 compared to $10,000 per student in, for example, the Rainbow District School Board," she shared.

Ms. McGregor concluded with her thanks and appreciation to the church with a heartfelt "miigwetch from the children of Wikwemikong!"

Mackenzie Sayers, principal of Pon-tiac School at Wikwemikong, also attended Sunday's service, representing Director of Education Dominic Beaudry.

Ms. Sayers, whose home community is Garden River First Nation near the Soo, also took to the pulpit to thank the pastoral charge. She explained that, "I have been with the Wikwemikong Board of Education for 10 years and I fell in love with Manitoulin Island and, especially, with our students. Manitoulin is a wonderful place to live.'

Ms. Sayers explained that it is an important part of her board's mandate, "to promote lifelong learning" and that all its schools incorporate Anishinaabek world views.

"This grant," the principal explained, "will enable us to stabilize the nutrition program. We also appreciate the opportunity to build bridges with other communities," Ms. Sayers added.

She explained that the elementary schools are open from 8 am and that there will be formalized breakfast and snack programs at both elementary schools and a snack program at the high school. "Appropriate food will help with 'brain power'," Ms. Sayers noted. She also said that, in the case where some families are low income, the breakfast and snack programs effectively augments their incomes and so indirectly assists with helping these families stretch their incomes further, also benefitting their children.

Ms. McGregor and Ms. Sayers accepted a cheque for $6,000 from Ms. Gjos, Pastor Jane Blannin-Bruleigh and Ivan Edwards, the pastoral charge's financial officer.

Following these presentations, Pastor Jane Blannin-Bruleigh, on behalf of the two congregations of her pastoral charge, stated that, "we want to thank you for the opportunity to build this bridge. What is a better opportunity then with children?

seems to be less and less 'new' garbage to pick up, which shows that people are being more diligent about putting their garbage into trash bins instead of the lake

A number of community members showed interest in the event by stopping to watch or inquire about the event. A few people even stopped to help bring up heavy items founds by the divers! There has been growing participation in the event every year, both in the water and on-shore.

"We enjoy doing the clean-up dive every year to maintain and preserve local aquaculture and to give back to the community. Many of our divers dive the countless underwater wrecks and beautiful shorelines of the Island and share the same interest in keeping it clean for everyone's enjoyment now and in the future," says Jackson Young, vice-president. "It's a fair sized task and we could always use more support from those willing to help out in any way.'

We hope to see you at the next "Little Current, Big Clean-Up" in September 2016!

EDITOR'S NOTE: This spring, the Manitoulin Nature Club launched a Notable Trees of Manitoulin (NTOM) initiative to catalogue significant trees of Manitoulin Island. The club is seeking individuals to nominate trees that are important to them or that are in some way unique. Early surveyors documented trees at the imaginary corners and angles of parcels of land to mark boundaries and called them 'witness trees.' This distinction is also used to describe trees present at key historical events or events specific to a particular person such as a wedding or engagement. If there is a 'witness tree' in your family's history, this would be a welcome nomination.

Notable trees can include notable specimens because of their size, form, shape, beauty, age, colour, rarity, genetic constitute or other distinctive features. They can also include living relics that display evidence of cultural modification by aboriginal or non-aboriginal people including having strips of bark or knot-green wood removed, test hole cuts made to determine soundness, furrows cut to collect pitch or sap or blazes to mark a trail. As well prominent community landmark trees, trees associated with local folklore, myths, legends or traditions or specimens associated with an historical person, place or event

Edith Garrette has nominated two Ohio buckeye trees for the Notable Trees of Manitoulin.

"The trees are on Meredith Street on the Little Current Library side by Little Current Place," explained Ms. Garrette. "They have been there since Little Current Place was built, probably over 20 years ago."

"I nominated them because you normally don't find buckeye trees this far north," said Ms. Garrette. "They are in southern Ontario, but to my knowledge, these are the only ones on Manitoulin."

This week the students of MSS were given great opportunities. On Thursday, 125-150 MSS students and staff walked to the annual KTEI Fall Harvest in M'Chigeeng. From food samples to culture and even just learning in general, the students had a great time at the harvest and would definitely love to go again. Mar-shall Maciuk, a Grade 9 student, said, "The fall harvest was an excellent opportunity to learn about nature and local aboriginal culture. My favourite part was getting to try all the great foods. Students walked around the powwow grounds and got the chance to try beading, go on a medicine walk, receive a free pine tree, watch scone baking, learn about animal trapping, and enjoy a hot chocolate or tea.

Last year, Manitoulin Secondary School sold the second most magazines in District Rainbow the School Board (over $17,000), and this year the goal is $18,000. If we manage to reach this goal, the Students' Council will book a hypnotist show. There are already students selling their magazines online. All magazine orders are due by October 13. During the magazine kick off assembly, students' council showed the video they created to inspire the student body: The Magazine Avengers. On Wednesday, four students including Emily Hnatyshen, Victoria Mac-Donald, Rebecca Dawson and myself, along with Ms. Bauer, will travel to Toronto for the 2015 Free the Children We Day event. There will be speakers, including Spencer West and Marc and Craig Kielburger. There will be musical performances by Demi Lovato, Hozier, and Nick Jonas.

dents and staff have had a great week. 'Til next time, stay golden, Mustangs.

Ms. Garrette told The Expositor that the buckeye tree gets its name from its walnut looking fruit that, when cut open, looks like the eye of a deer.

The Aesculus glabra, or Ohio buckeye, has large leaves with five to seven points. In the spring it features upright clusters of yellow-green flowers and later in the year large brown seeds call conkers.

There are found in southwestern Ontario, but are common in the midwestern United States.

According to Ontario.ca the young shoots and seeds of the tree are poisonous to cattle but squirrels can eat the inner pith for raffinose, which is a sugar molecule sweeter than sucrose.

Freedom's Call

The fields and skies are filled with geese. Their haunting call just doesn't cease. They pull my heart across the sky and deep emotions make my cry. I feel the call within my soul and with them somehow I am whole. Today the clouds above them soar. While I down here try to ignore the pull, the wonder lust of youth to join them as they are headed south. I know it seems a silly thing, to fly along and with them sing. Their song of freedom as they go. These wiser ones who know the snow will soon appear and them the white will change our patterns overnight. Give me wings, and set me free. Pat Hall September, 28 2015

I got pretty close to being double skunked tonight, the kind that lingers! Thank goodness, the car lights showed my front step enough, but it was a close call! I had showed Mum one earlier, after our cribbage game at the hall. When we had a few more games, eight isn't enough I guess!

When I got back from Mindemoya, there was a note on the table, Kim and Kathy had come for Elaine's wake and were going back the same day ferry. I had taken Joan (cousin) up to emergency (bad headache) left my faccacia bread rising, but had to top it up, and finish it, at the hall, later as I set up for cribbage, (due to time delay) we had six tables, fabulous food break (as always) Mum's famous banana split cake too. By the way, Joan's OK.

K and K called in at the hall on their way home. Great to have Eugene back again. We had two 24 hands. Marg Audrie, first place; Betty and Noreen, 942; second, Cal and I, 933; third, Jean and Mary, 928; low, Hugh and Lyla, 840; door, Audrie and Noreen.

After the funeral service, when they took Elaine on "Silver Wings," I think everyone in the church had a meltdown. The song and Dwight's voice was perfect, if there is a perfect to a funeral, if you know what I mean! It was such a surprise and yet it shouldn't have been. Duncan said they just thought if it as the day before.

It is nice that oncoming traffic stops to show respect for the procession-Tara and Donna (Phillips) and I went with Sherry. On our way back to the hall we took a side trip down memory lane and into our historic (Leeson) past, when we went down Squirrel town Road, Donna knows so much family stuff. For UCW prepared the luncheon at the Tehkummah hall where families, relatives, friends got to touch base and socialize.

The young folk sent me a beautiful floral arrangement after for a keep sake. I'm writing this, it's almost five am, Friday morning! I'm wide awake. Next thing the phone rang, it's Sherry calling to say good by for her, trying to get to the Dominican Republic. Thinking of you Murray!

A show at the hall this weekend- cribbage 1:30 Wednesday.

As Cal said-lucky he had it in passing gear- I said careful- as the one deer hardly made it, but number two pretty well had his belly on the ground. Watch for them folks! Drive carefully!!

Well Mum beat me good, or bad as however you look at it, three straights. I barely won the fourth. So I went home earlier, I went to South Bay Mouth to wave the ferry away. Then had breakfast at Pierside! Lotsa traffic ways. Saturday evening's trip to camp shows much colour change to the maples and I scattered some flower seeds there and around Cal's. He whomped me a couple games. Today I beat Mum three of four. The air is positively balmy tonight and the moon gorgeous and full. Beautiful skyline. Where are the bugs in the car lights, where are the bugsno fireflies this year either?? Helen is home this AM she called- Thank goodness for our girls right! She's trying to get mended.

Corrine came home this week, and she's Mum's neighbour again. Mum took her some supper the night she came. They talk about God moments- when your heart and soul is so touched by beauty majesty and awe. The wild geese affect me that way. I always get so emotional when I see/ hear them. More so the huge flocks of spring and fall, and I know they are moving on. All the flight migrations are miraculous in their own right. The hummingbirds, I think, are gone this week too. I didn't see one on Saturday at all. Two monarch butterflies hatched at Tara's this week.

I had a wonderful visit with Diane (McLean) this week. We sat in the sun and of course I stayed for lunch. I still have a lump jaw from my bee sting.

Tillie popped in for a word on Friday evening she says she and Tom have horses up on Flackertys farm. I think she kind of likes them and horse racing.

Well the call of the wild goose grabbed me. So I flew my usual way, on car tires. I looked for wild geese, saw hawks and Sandhills, ended up at C and E for breakfast- and a great breakfast it was! Checking the time I figured I'd just wait for church. So got wind blown (warm tho) along the (harbour) and water watched/ listened to the waves, and watched the "travel in Good Spirits" to go go by me for the second time this week!!! Sandra and ?? sat at the other end of table. He had been goose hunting unsuccessfully this am. Back there again, Mum and Corrine, Pauline and Wayne. I just caffed this time. Jacquie (Gordon) says to mention her name. She was there with a handsome gentleman! On my way home I stopped at the Buckhorn Motel- and met "Shirley". They are from Burlington, have a good garden. I got a couple of back tomatoes and some kale. Pays to introduce yourself right? He said he hears Jemeal is doing well.

Audrie gave me a note to copy, readers of my column Bill and Angela Forbes of Blizzard Creek called in at the Williamsons on their way home. It was a quick try to close their place on Lake Manitou. Speaking of Manitouan unusual splelling on a licence plate! Do you do that? I'm always reading them and T shirts!!

I'm assuming the deer that we barely missed is now in deer heaven, as Smiley told me folks were stranded at their motel due to a run in and an injured van.

Earl is putting siding, reinsulating too I guess, on the backside of the restaurant.

I had a nice visit with Marion (Case) this afternoon. She just lost her brother Dick (Clifton) Freeman a couple of weeks ago though he had been lost to Alzheimer's for a while now. Sympathy to the family.

Hey a milestone congratulations to Mary and Barry O'Neil on their fifteenth anniversary.

Cole was saying he saw the biggest wolf on the Annaleise Carr, 2012 and 2014 Ontario Junior Citizen, Simcoe, ON At 14, Annaleise Carr was the youngest person ever to swim across Lake Ontario. Two years later, Annaleise swam across Lake Erie. Combined these efforts raised awareness and hundreds of thousands of dollars for Camp Trillium, a family camp for children with cancer. Her book, Annaleise Carr: How I Conquered Lake Ontario to Help Kids Battling Cancer, inspires others to take on

The Providence Bay Curling Club is having their annual general meeting on October 6 at 7:30 pm. New members are welcome to attend and learn this fun winter sport! The season will be starting mid-November, so come to the curling club and check it out! It's also that time once again for the monthly breakfast at the club on Thursday, October 1 from 7 and 10 am. Come out and support this not for profit fundraiser.

A group of volunteers with the help of Manitoulin Streams came out to help with the eradication of the invasive phragmites. They collected the rhizomes down by the water so that this plant does not continue to spread. Thank you to Jane, Marlene, Lise, erin-blythe, Nathalie and Nathan from Manitoulin Streams for their hours of hands on volunteer work. Manitoulin Streams is working with an eco-consultant for the next step of applying a herbicide to help remove these reeds and the date is yet to be determined. We'll keep you posted.

Ingrid Blay has arrived safely in Dusseldorf, Germany. She is there visiting family. Glen and Mona Bryan are back at their summer home for a stay.

Condolences go out to the McDermid family with the passing of Murray. He will be greatly missed by the entire community. He was a real community man and did so much for Providence Bay. Our thoughts and prayers are with the family at this difficult time.

Condolences also go out to the Cornish family on the passing of Dolly.
