Norisle group's fundraiser begins $18.5 million quest To refurbish and refit historic steamship for active service

by Alicia McCutcheon

MANITOWANING BAY—It was 40 years ago that the S.S. Norisle sailed into Manitowaning Bay, making the port her permanent berth in retirement and where she has sat ever since, her condition worsening with each passing year.

Eight years ago, the Friends of the Norisle organization was born—a group founded by Manitowaning's Jean McLennan and dedicated to preserving the beloved steamship that provided ferry service from Tobermory to South Baymouth from 1947 to 1974 before the M.S. Chi-Cheemaun took over. (The group has since been renamed the S.S. Norisle Steamship Society.) The group has worked tirelessly, dedicating volunteer hours and funds to doing what they can to keep the Norisle afloat (and from looking shabby), but recently decided to step up their game, entering into a partnership with Compenso Communications, a communications and government relations firm whose expertise is securing funds in various forms. They also happen to be based in Collingwood, home of the shipbuilding yard where the Norisle was built.

The Compenso team recently met with members of Assignack staff and council, outlining the strategies and the execution behind seeing the Norisle seaworthy and sailing once again.

Dave Ham, chair of the S.S. Norisle Steamship Society, began the meeting, introducing Paul Bonwick, president of Compenso Communications. Mr. Bonwick noted that his father worked on the building of the Norisle in 1946 and that he himself had worked in the Collingwood

Preliminary hearing begins for alleged Little Current arsonist

by Isobel Harry

GORE BAY—Witnesses began to be called on Monday, June 15 in the preliminary hearing of Clinton Gordon Haggart, the 32-year-old Little Current man who stands accused of seven counts of arson in a series of suspicious fires that tore through homes and businesses in that town last summer.

A preliminary hearing will determine what evidence the Crown has, providing an opportunity for the defence to evaluate the case against their client.

As expected, the court imposed a publication ban to protect the fairness and integrity of the case and the privacy or safety of a victim or witness; in this case, the applicable section of the Criminal Code of Canada is 539(1), specifically related to preliminary hearings. An order under this section bans publication of evidence taken at a preliminary inquiry until the accused has been discharged or, if ordered to stand trial, the trial has ended.

Before Judge Louise Serré of the Ontario Court of Justice, it

Wiky widow mourns murdered partner's loss Finds it difficult to cope with stigma of his death

WIKWEMIKONG—From the pages of this newspaper, the radio waves and on television, the recent murder of 33-year-old Percy Jr. Simon of Wikwemikong has been widely seen in the press, but the man behind the headline has yet to come through as the focus has been placed on the circumstances around the death of Mr. Simon and the upcoming trial of his suspected killers. The Expositor interviewed Percy Jr. Simon's partner of 17 years, Joanie Leedham, earlier this week to learn about Mr. Simon's life and the family he left behind.

Green Bay farmer will fight four federal, provincial wildlife charges

Says he had permission from MNR minister to shoot nuisance birds

by Alicia McCutcheon

GREEN BAY—It may have taken four charges to be levelled against him by a Manitoulin conservation officer (CO), but Green Bay farmer Paul Skippen is happy that the plight of the farmer and the damages they constantly incur from wildlife, with no compensation from any level of government, may finally be heard, even if in a court of law.

At every opportunity, Mr. Skippen, also a councillor for the Northeast Town, raises the issue of the lack of compensation for farmers who lose thousands of dollars in crop damages because of wildlife, including conversations with the ministers of Natural Resources and Forestry (MNR) and Agriculture and Food themselves. It was during one such encounter at the Ontario Goods Roads Association/Rural Ontario Municipal Association joint conference that Mr. Skippen, along with fellow Northeast Town councillor and Green Bay farmer Bruce Woods, chatted with former MNR Minister David Oraziotti who, according to Mr. Skippen,

CENTRAL MANITOULIN—While the Michael's Bay township site in Tehkummah has been the centre of attention through the past few years following the seizure of the property as proceeds of crime by the Canadian government on behalf of the Kingdom of Belgium, a number of the properties owned by the Vandroemme family and Eso Agri Canada were farms located in Central Manitoulin. It was announced at the June 11 Central Manitoulin council meeting that the municipality had received good news from the Seized Property Management Directorate in the form of an agreement to pay at least $56,000 in back taxes owing on the seized properties and that the balance of interest and penalties would be negotiated.

"We received a letter that indicated that they took consideration of our concerns," said CAO Ruth Frawley. "They had sent us a let-

Little Current Hospital Auxiliary celebrates its 70th anniversary

Three members honoured with Provincial Life Memberships

by Robin Burridge

LITTLE CURRENT—Members of the Little Current Hospital Auxiliary, Manitoulin Health Centre (MHC) board members and special guests gathered last Thursday evening to celebrate the auxiliary's 70th anniversary.

Following dinner, auxiliary president and master of ceremonies for the evening Dave Sylvester welcomed Hospital Auxiliaries Association of Ontario (HAAO) President Elen MacMillian who presented the Provincial Life Membership Pins, and Algoma-Manitoulin-Kapuskasing MP Carol Hughes, who presented each recipient with certificates of congratulations.

"Sue Laffreniere is a valued member of the Manitoulin Health Centre Auxiliary," said Mr. Sylvester of the first Provincial Life Membership recipient. "She joined our auxiliary in 2000 and has been an active member ever since. During her years of service, Sue has organized our annual fall bake and harvest sale. In the spring, she makes all the calls and invitations for our annual casserole dinner. She is always willing to assist in all of our auxiliary activities and fundraising efforts."

"She has been our auxiliary secretary since 2003, recording the minutes of our monthly business meetings and our annual general meeting," Mr. Sylvester continued. "Sue received an outstanding service award in 2009. She is a most valued member of our auxiliary and is deserving of this Provincial Life Membership Award."

Carmelita Genereux was also a Provincial Life Membership recipient, however she was unable to attend the celebration due to health reasons. Her son Robert accepted the pin and certificate on her behalf.

"Carmelita joined the auxiliary in 2003," began Mr. Sylvester. "Shortly thereafter, she accepted the position of membership chair which she held for seven years. Whatever the event, Carmelita has volunteered her time and talents. She currently helps out with the sale of raffle tickets when needed, contributes to all of the auxiliary annual events and works two days a week at the tuck shop selling HELLP lottery tickets and snacks."

"Carmelita and her late husband Lawrence were quite the team, promoting the auxiliary and selling auxiliary memberships," noted Mr. Sylvester. "The community expected to see them out each year selling fundraising raffle tickets. Unfortunately, Lawrence passed away in 2010. HAAO recognized our nomination and Lawrence's volunteerism and awarded him posthumous recognition in 2011 on the In-Memorial Honour Roll. In 2008, Carmelita and Lawrence were awarded the one and only 'Zip' award for zeal, insistence and persuasion. Carmelita has made many friends over the years within the auxiliary and the community with her smile and cheerful attitude."

Laila Kiviaho was the final auxiliary member to be recognized with a life membership.

"Laila joined the auxiliary in 2001 and has been an active member ever since," said Mr. Sylvester. "Laila served as president from 2003-2011 and served as vice president in 2002. She wears many hats—volunteering at the tuck shop one day per week selling HELLP lottery tickets and snacks and delivers snacks and magazines to the patients and staff. She also sews the cloth bags necessary for the personal care products that she purchases and puts together for the patients."

"She helped organize the fundraising effort to purchase the 18 TVs that allow the patients to watch TV at no charge and purchases and distributes the TV earphone headsets for the patients," added Mr. Sylvester. "As well, she writes a monthly newsletter for The Expositor and coordinates publicity with up-to-date news on the auxiliary activities. Laila also organizes a monthly book sale out of our hospital cafeteria in spring and fall and, during the summer months, at the local farmers' market. We can also add historian and archives coordinator to Laila's many titles—she keeps our photo, news and history albums up to date. She lead the auxiliary over a three

Ontario to begin restricting neonicotinoid-coated corn and soybeans this July 1

by Michael Erskine

TORONTO—Ontario is poised to become the first jurisdiction in North America to reduce the number of acres planted with neonicotinoid-coated corn and soybean seeds starting July 1, 2015. By 2017 the new rules are expected to see a reduction in the number of acres planted with the seeds by as much as 80 percent.

"Farmers are environmental stewards of their land and this regulation will enable our province's farmers to strengthen their approach to protecting their crops," Agriculture Minister Jeff Leal said in a Tuesday, June 9 statement.

"I think it's a step in the right direction," said Big Lake bee producer Dave Kains, who had just looked into the announcement when contacted Monday (June 15). "They are calling for a pretty significant reduction in a couple of years."

Although the bee kill over this past winter has been severe in some localities, Mr. Kains' losses this past winter were relatively light. "We only lost about four percent of our bees, which is pretty good compared to some areas. We have not seen the severe losses they have seen in other regions."

Mr. Kains noted that the exposure of hives on Manitoulin to neonicotinoid protected crops is low "by comparison to some regions."

There remain a number of issues that impact bees, including the var-

Manitoulin Central FHT renos near completion

Both hospital sites to undergo further changes

MANITOULIN—As the Manitoulin Central Family Health Team (FHT) Capital Expansion Project nears completion, further changes at both Manitoulin Health Centre (MHC) sites are on the horizon.

"The (FHT) building is completed both inside and out and in operation, but the parking lot and landscaping are still in progress," explained MHC CEO Derek Graham, noting that the project should be officially complete later this summer. "Also as part of the plan, once the FHT was in operation the existing offices in the basement of the hospital will undergo a redesign."

The MHC Little Current site could also see a renovation in the near future. Mr. Graham said that the hospital is currently looking at redesigning the emergency department.

"We have been in the planning phase and hope to move into the next phase shortly with the initial costing from engineers," Mr. Graham told The Expositor. "We hope that through the renovations we can create a better flow in the emergency department and create a more patient-centered space. Our target for this year is the planning and costing, which we will then take to the board for review."

Split Rail Brewing Company licenced and selling beer on Manitoulin Island

MANITOULIN—Split Rail Brewing Company began as a dream over five years ago, when long-time friends Andrea Smith and Eleanor Charlton set out to brew a high quality, great tasting craft beer on Manitoulin Island.

This dream is now a reality. Split Rail is licenced to sell beer and its first sales to Island establishments are on the books. This comes after Split Rail moved operations from its home-based garage near Mindemoya in late 2014 to its new location in Gore Bay, adjacent to one of the Island's biggest marinas and close to great local dining and artists' studios. A full public launch and retail hours are planned for July.

Thanks to Manitoulin Transport's support, the Split Rail team has renovated the facility to suit on-site brewing and include a retail store. The store's tasting bar features artwork by world-renowned artist Michael Belmore, and creatively acknowledges the company's Kickstarter funders and many supporters.

While several recipes have been perfected under the tutelage of brew master Glenn Fobes, Split Rail is launching with its inaugural two beers. "Our first offerings are Split Rail Copper Lager and Split Rail Hawberry Ale. The lager is a balanced, smooth and drinkable beer, with rich body and

Wikwemikong Cup and Saucer effort a great arrangement

It was encouraging to read a story in last week's paper that demonstrates the dual and related spirits of cooperation and community improvement.

The Manitoulin Tourism Association (MTA) has for more than a half century managed the famous Cup and Saucer hiking trails. Over the years, the trails have been improved, even lengthened, and about 25 years ago an optional, somewhat more challenging adventure trail was added.

This endeavour has always been a cooperation effort for when one is hiking the Cup and Saucer trails, one is using property owned by two local construction companies and the parking lot and entrance are in fact located on property owned by one of these, Don Eadie Construction.

In addition, the Northeast Town provided new entranceway signage recently and also empties garbage containers in the parking lot so they, too, are part of the cooperative model as is the Niagara Escarpment Biosphere which purchased adjacent property several years ago, adding further trails to the mix.

The story last week brought in a new player: Wikwemikong Tourism staff, when asked to help by the MTA management, set about a spring cleaning of the trail system.

The crew come as volunteers and, by all accounts, did a first rate job of putting the trail system in top form for the busy summer months ahead.

They did so, according to Wikwemikong Tourism manager Luke Wassegijig, because his organization recognizes the regional tourism significance of this feature and they were only too pleased to help out.

This is really a model partnership: municipal, First Nation, private sector and not for profit groups all agreeing that this is a feature that is important to everyone and so must be maintained in good order.

This isn't a unique multi-party arrangement but it is unusual enough to merit positive comment.

Well done everyone.

Elementary school teacher clarifies teachers' position on activities

All areas being affected by work to rule are administrative

To the Expositor:

I am writing this letter in response to the headline, 'Elementary teachers withdraw voluntary activities,' by Michael Erskine in the June 3 edition of this paper. I felt the need to clarify the position of ETFO, our current work to rule measures and the ongoing practice of elementary teachers, specifically at Little Current Public School. I am a teacher at this fine school and the teachers here are proud to say that we have not withdrawn voluntary activities. In fact, no where in the article is there any reference to voluntary activities. All areas being affected by work to rule are administrative. The children are in class every day, enjoying a rich learning environment and as I walked through the halls last week, here is a small sampling of voluntary activities I witnessed happening in our school, for our children: coaching, track and field events here, Island-wide and in Sudbury, planning of field trips, pow wow planning, class fundraising for various charities, graduation preparations, providing extra support for students at recess, peer collaborations, submissions for the La Cloche art show being collected, selected and framed, planning the Community Picnic and Talent show, rehearsals for talent show participants, cooking and the end of year celebrations being planned. The list goes on. These voluntary activities are carried out by teachers on our own time, by choice, in order to enrich the learning experiences and celebrate the children in our care, and we do them happily.

Pleasure expressed over Wikwemikong cleanup crew efforts

Manitoulin's first trail has been joined by a number of outstanding hiking opportunities

To the Expositor:

I am very glad to hear that the Cup and Saucer Trail, which has long been neglected, is getting cleaned up by the Wikwemikong trail crew. Back in the 1970s, I believe it was the first public hiking trail on the Island. At the time it was the only drawing card here for people who liked hiking. Gravel quarries have eaten away at the foot of the "mountain" and made for a noisy beginning to the hike on weekdays. Meanwhile, newer trails have been developed that now fully deserve recognition as pre-eminent here, namely Bebamikawe, Misery Bay and Nimkee Trail. For those who prefer short hikes, Lewis Twin Peaks, Bridal Veil

Falls, the Mississagi Lighthouse trail, the Bowerman Trail and the M'Chigeeng trail (now reopened) are all lovely. I hope the importance of these trails to Manitoulin tourism will be recognized by the powers that be and that they will be maintained and preserved in their natural state. I hope Islanders will explore our many trails this summer, they'll be surprised. I can't wait to explore Wikwemikong's new Point Grondine Park Trail!

Jam sessions come to life in downtown Little Current

by Michael Erskine

LITTLE CURRENT—Music is a passion for George Williamson so when his sister Joan returned from Florida bubbling about the jam sessions she saw taking place over the winter in Gillespie Park, the idea fell on fertile ground.

"I thought it would be a nice idea to set something like that up here, I just never seemed to have the guts," said Mr. Williamson. But the intestinal fortitude must have come from somewhere, because he kicked off the inaugural Friday night jam session with pal Gordie Greenough this past week.

Mr. Williamson is no stranger to the stage and microphone, having hosted a very popular karaoke night in a small Val Caron bar for many years. "It grew into a great place for an open mike session," he recalled.

The informal jam sessions in Little Current are taking place by the gazebo and cenotaph located beside the municipal building on Water Street. "The downtown is really the perfect place for people to have a place to perform," noted Mr. Williamson. The bandshell located by the cenotaph stands witness to a time when such entertainment on the main street was more common than today.

An open guitar case collects donations for Little Current's George Williamson, right, and his friend Gord Greenough from Mindemoya jam on the Little Current waterfront. Any musician who would like to join in is welcome to call George on his cell at 705-662-9171.

Manitoulin Family Resources. "I just thought that would be a good charity for any tips to go to," he said. "What better charity than to give toward helping needy families?"

The jam sessions are intended to be light-hearted affairs, mostly unplugged. "I have a small PA for vocals," said Mr. Williamson. "I have a jack where someone who was just a singer could plug in a karaoke or recording if it is something too complicated for us to back them up."

Mr. Williamson's wife Linda will manage the list of performers, should so many show up, to ensure that everyone gets time in front.

"Some people want to sing and be out front, other people just want to play and accompany," said Mr. Williamson. "They can do either if they like."

Part of the fun of these kind of events is that you really don't know who is going to show up," said Mr. Williamson, who recalled an evening when John Marcon, a backup musician for Anita Paris, turned up at his karaoke night. "There are a lot of retired professional musicians out there."

Mr. Williamson said that he hoped other Island communities would take up the idea and that it would spread across the Island. "It would be a great idea for South Baymouth where the people are waiting for the ferry," he said. "It would give them something to do."

"This kind of thing works best if it takes shape on its own," said Mr. Williamson, who suggested the sessions will grow organically into a form that suits the venue.

The Little Current jam sessions take place from 6:30 pm to 9 pm each Friday night and musicians and musicians/singers are heartily invited to come down and take part.

Manitoulin Secondary School celebrates 2015 grads

by Robin Burrige

M'CHIGEENG—The gym at Manitoulin Secondary School (MSS) was full of joyful cheers from family, friends and the 2015 graduating class themselves last Thursday evening as they tossed their caps in the air, celebrating the completion of high school and the beginning of their new life journey.

The ceremony began with the processional, led by the colour guard featuring members of Manitoulin's police forces and the singing of O'Canada, led by graduating student Taylor Van Horn.

"Tonight we are here to celebrate these wonderful young people and their accomplishment," said MSS Principal Laurie Zahnow.

Ms. Zahnow introduced the evening's special guests including Rainbow District School Board (RDSB) members Grace Fox and Larry Killens, RDSB Superintendent of Schools Bruce Bourget and RDSB Director of Education Norm Blaseg.

Ms. Fox took to the podium to congratulate the graduates on their milestone.

"Today not only marks the completion of a successful school year, but a milestone in your academic career," said Ms. Fox. "On behalf of the RDSB and the students, we thank the staff of MSS for their hard work in helping you get here. I would also like to thank the graduates' parents and family who have remained by your side every step of the way. Take pride in your many achievements, graduates, in academics, the arts and sports. I wish you success in your future."

Mr. Killens also addressed the graduates, noting that it was his twelfth year attending MSS graduation.

"There are several other graduations going on in Sudbury tonight, but it speaks to how important you are that Mr. Bourget and Mr. Blaseg chose to be here tonight," said Mr. Killens. "It is hard to find the words to explain just how happy we are for you graduates and how much we appreciate you. I want to encourage you all as you move forward in life to stay in the learning mode. You will learn from your mistakes along the way. And be good to yourselves. This is your day, it belongs to you and you alone—own it and be proud. Con-gradulations."

The M'Chigeeng Ladies Hand Drum Group played an honour song for the graduating class before MSS Vice Principal Madill and Superintendent Bourget began the presentation of the Ontario Secondary School Diploma.

Sarah Orford was introduced following the diploma presentation as the class of 2015 valedictorian.

Ms. Orford's address was heartfelt and personal for her class, with lots of references to the teachers and distinct memories, which made their time at MSS unique.

"Some of you have been counting down the days until graduation ever since we started Grade 9. Now that it's finally here it's almost unbelievable to think that four years could go by so quickly," said Ms. Orford. "I think it's fair to describe our high school experience as a roller coaster. There were so many amazing moments where we felt on top of the world and would laugh with our friends until we cried. On the other hand there were also times where we were completely stressed out and wanted to give up due to the obstacles and challenges that faced us, which at the time seemed too great to ever overcome, but we never gave up. We overcame every obstacle and powered on through to the end to be able to be here today and say we not only survived high school, we conquered it together."

During Principal Zahnow's closing remarks she noted, "Today is the start of your adult life."

"Your achievements and how you overcome your failures will define your character," continued Ms. Zahnow. "Tonight is your life. The staff at MSS join me in celebrating your achievement and we all wish you well in this next phase of your journey."

Class of 2015 Manitoulin Secondary School valedictorian speech

by Sarah Orford

Good evening friends, families, honourable guests, and my fellow graduates. My name is Sarah Orford and it is a true honour to be standing here in front of you today to say we finally did it! We are Manitoulin Secondary School's (MSS) class of 2015. After four incredible years the day has come where we will reflect upon our time spent at MSS, look toward the future, and of course wear the most stylish hats known to man as we accept our high school diplomas.

Some of you have been counting down the days until graduation ever since we started Grade 9. Now that it's finally here it's almost unbelievable to think that four years could go by so quickly. I think it's fair to describe our high school experience as a roller coaster. There were so many amazing moments where we felt on top of the world and would laugh with our friends until we cried. On the other hand there were also times where we completely stressed out and wanted to give up due to the obstacles and challenges that faced us, which at the time seemed too great to ever overcome, but we never gave up. We overcame every obstacle and powered on through to the end to be able to be here today and say we not only survived high school, we conquered it together.

First off I would like to take a moment and thank our families. They were always there to help us with our homework, buy project supplies and drive us to various sporting events. I would not be the person I am today without my parents' support and encouragement. The most important thing my parents have taught me is that you can be whatever you want to be as long as you have a strong work ethic and believe in yourself. I'd also like to say thank you to my two older brothers for never letting me take the easy way out and pushing me to be the best I can be.

Another group of people I'd like to thank is our teachers who have contributed to making our time here at MSS so memorable. Without them we wouldn't have been able to participate in all the fun extra-curricular activities that gave us an abundant amount of memories. Over the years they have taught us more than we had ever expected they could and more than we really wanted. However, it isn't the knowledge they taught us from PowerPoints, textbooks, or worksheets that I value the most because let's be honest, most of us went on Spark Notes or Google to try and find the answers to the homework questions. Instead, the knowledge I value most came from hearing about their past experiences and their perspectives on life. At the time our teachers might have thought that we would ask questions that were completely irrelevant to what we were studying in order to get them off topic so we would have less work to do, and okay in some instances, this was the true intention. But in truth, these stories and conversations are what we will carry with us to bigger and better places as we continue on our path to success and they are what will stay with us long after we leave. So teachers, don't be worried about us as we start off a new chapter in our lives because you have taught us well. On the other hand, I honestly don't know what you'll do without us next year. I'm sure you'll miss our creative ways of thinking, unique personalities and our sarcastic humour. Although, I know that when we leave, you will try and fill the void left behind by us with a new group of Grade 9s next year but it won't be the same because our class is irreplaceable. You must admit that we have made an impression on the school and you, the teachers, which you could never forget, even if you tried to.

Last but not least, the most important people I want to thank are my fellow graduates. Without you my high school experience wouldn't have been as enjoyable. I truly believe that I have made life-long friends, or at least life-long acquaintances while attending MSS. When I was first asked to present this speech I had no idea what I was going to say. It wasn't for a lack of great stories and unforgettable moments. I just wasn't sure how to sum up our time together in a way that would do it justice.

When we first started Grade 9 I'm sure most of us were nervous about pretty much every aspect of high school. We didn't want to get in the way of the Grade 12s, thought we would be drowning in homework on the first day and we were scared of getting lost, which some of us did. Just like all the other groups of Grade 9s before us and the ones that came after us, on the first day we went to our first class at least 10 minutes before the bell rang and sat in our desks awkwardly as the whole room was dead silent. It wasn't long until we finally started to get the hang of things and made new discoveries. For example it didn't take

District H Legion Meet

Congratulations to the 21 Manitoulin athletes who competed in the district meet in Sudbury this past weekend, sponsored by the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 514 in Gore Bay. As always our local runners, jumpers and throwers did extremely well. The 21 brought back 38 medals (top 3 finishes). There is no word yet if any athletes will qualify for provincials being held in London, July 3-4.

Here is a list of athletes that finished top 5 in their events. All the athletes performed great. Unlike school track and field where you compete against athletes your same age, Legion Track has age groups of 2 years. So some are competing against athletes that are a year or more, older than they are.

11 and Under girls: Sophie Heitkamp - 1st long jump, 3rd high jump, 3rd 100 meter, 4th 200 meter. Whittier Dwyer-Gauthier - 1st high jump, 1st triple jump, 3rd long jump. Victoria Trudeau - 1st 200 m, 1st 300m, 2nd long jump, 2nd triple jump. Autumn Peltier - 1st 1200m, 2nd 800m. Leah Carrick 3rd 300m, 5th 800m. 11 and under boys: Mason Leighton - 1st triple jump, 1st long jump, 1st 200m, 3rd 100m. Jesse Burella - 1st high jump, 1st shot put, 2nd triple jump, 2nd long jump. Lucas Wright - 2nd 100m, 5th 200m, 5th triple jump. Caleb McLaughlin - 2nd 1200m, 4th 800m.

13 and under girls: Ayriell Nodecker - 2nd high jump, 2nd triple jump, 3rd long jump, 5th 100m. Marjorie Scott - 1st 800m, 3rd triple jump, 3rd long jump. Malia Leighton - 1st high jump. Sierra Pangowish - 1st 1200m, 2nd 800m. Francesca Pheasant - 3rd 1200m, 5th 800m.

13 and under boys: Rory Dearing - 3rd triple jump, 5th long jump. 15 and under girls: Carissa Holliday - 3rd 2000m, 4th 1200m. 15 and under boys: James Scott - 1st 800m, 2nd 1200m. 17 and under boys: William Scott - 2nd 200m, 4th 100m, and 4th 400m.

Island Track and Field Championships

The annual Manitoulin Track and Field Championships took place over two days last week in Gore Bay. Little Current Public School continued their recent dominance of the very competitive event scoring 224 points. CC McLean was second with 162 and Wasse Abin took third with 94. When considering the per-capita points' race, CC McLean beat LCPS who just edged Assiginack for second.

With such a close competition the individual aggregate races were also tightly contested with many duplicate medals awarded for ties in points. Congratulations to all the following medal winners. 9 and under girls: 1st (perfect 12 points) - Aysia Francis-Debassige, 2nd - Delaney Bridgeman, 3rd - Ava Assinewai, Jazmin Colwell, Shaolin Roy. 9 and under boys: 1st (perfect 12 points) - Mason Leighton, 2nd - Billy Biederman, 3rd - Davin Deschenes and John Michael Taggart.

Amazing tennis opportunity

The Manitoulin Tennis Club is back on for summer tennis in 2015 starting now. Sessions are free this year, as the club focusses on trying to coordinate players from different communities and help them get together to play. Just show up and be ready for some exercise and fun. There are sessions already happening around the Island at 6:30pm: Sundays/Wednesdays at Manitoulin Secondary School, Mondays in Gore Bay, Thursdays in Manitowaning (at the Manitowaning Lodge) and we're still trying to find a good night for players in Little Current.

Any tennis player who wants more information should contact Chris Theijsmeijer at ctheijsmeijer@gmail.com, join the Facebook group 'Manitoulin Tennis Club' or just show up and have fun playing with others. Lessons are available as well if you would like them!

2nd Annual Mackenzie's Run!

Jillian Peltier and family have begun planning their 2nd annual Mackenzie's Run and Walk for CHEO (Children's Hospital of Eastern Ontario). The event is in memory of their son, Mackenzie and will raise money for the hospital's PICU (Pediatric Intensive Care Unit) and Project Stitch, a project to create new procedure rooms and to purchase new MRI equipment.

Last year's event raised an amazing $4,431 with the support of local organizations, businesses, community members and our friends and family.

There will be a 5km Fun Run, a 2km walk and a 1km event for children. The cost to register is $20/person and $5 for children under 10 years. Everyone will receive an event t-shirt and have a chance to win some great prizes.

They hope to see you on Saturday, July 18 at 9 am at Low Island Park in Little Current. Registration will take place from 8 - 9 am. Mark it on your calendar today. Also, if you would like to volunteer for the event or to register early and reserve your t-shirt, please email Jillian at jillianpeltier@hotmail.com and let her know (include your t-shirt size). If you are not able to attend but would like to donate, she will let you know how to find her CHEO fundraising site, or you can send an email transfer or mail a cheque. They are excited for another successful event and hope to see you there!

Comrades Ultramarathon finisher

Congratulations to David Anglin, who finished the world's oldest ultramarathon, the (nearly 90km) Comrades in South Africa. David, works for Bombardier in South Africa and hails from the local Anglin gene pool. His parents, Robert and Barb, spend the summer in Square Bay and David and family are regular visitors.

This race generally alternates directions, running from Durban uphill into the mountains of Pietermaritzburg one year (an 'up run')

NOJHL officially welcomes Espanola back into the fold

SUDBURY—The Northern Ontario Junior Hockey League (NOJHL) announced last Sunday that the Soo Eagles, Espanola Express and French River Rapids have all now been officially accepted and certified at all levels as new members of the NOJHL.

Each of the new member clubs have now all received their approvals from the various governing bodies that were required from the Northern Ontario Hockey Association, Ontario Hockey Federation, Hockey Canada, USA Hockey and the Canadian Junior Hockey League.

With that, the NOJHL is now sanctioned in all areas and will ice 12 teams for the 2015-16 season.

"We at the NOJHL would like to thank all our partners at the NOHA, OHF, Hockey Canada, USA Hockey and CJHL president Kirk Lamb for their efforts and continued support Jr. A hockey in our area," stated league commissioner Robert Mazzuca.

"All the parties involved worked closely to help facilitate the process and we at the NOJHL wholeheartedly appreciate the efforts of everyone to get us to where we are at today," added Mr. Mazzuca.

"We look forward to our new expanded 12-team league as we prepare for the upcoming 2015-16 campaign."

As for the Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan-based Eagles, Espanola and French River, who will play out of the Noelville Arena, they too are all excited to commence play in the NOJHL this upcoming season.

"I would like to thank Mr. Mazzuca, Hockey Canada and USA Hockey for their shared vision of welcoming us back to the NOJHL," offered Eagles president Ron Lavin.

"We have been in Sault Ste. Marie for five years and have the incredible backing of so many fans, volunteers and the absolute best place to play hockey at the Pullar," added Mr. Lavin. "We value the impact that we bring to such a great community and appreciate everyone's support, especially the City of Sault Ste. Marie."

Soo head coach and general manager Bruno Bragagnolo is also pleased to be returning to the NOJHL.

"The Soo Eagles are very excited and happy in becoming proud members of the NOJHL and keeping junior hockey in Sault Ste.

Marie and the vintage Pullar Stadium for all our great fans and sponsors," says Mr. Bragagnolo.

"There is nothing that can compare to the atmosphere in the Pullar when the Eagles and T-Birds (Soo Thunderbirds) do battle so we are really looking forward to renewing this rivalry," beamed the Michigan Soo bench boss and GM.

"We know the fans will enjoy the style and quality of play in the NOJHL as it has quickly become fans are extremely excited to have the NOJHL return to our great hockey town of Espanola," stated Express general manager Chad Clarke.

"The town's enthusiasm has been electric and overwhelming with support," added the Espanola GM.

"The NOJHL continues to get bigger and stronger year after year in developing and promoting athletes and the game itself. We have complete confidence and believe in the direction the league is heading. We feel it was a no brainer that Espanola belongs back in a strong established Hockey Canada league," said Mr. Clarke.

"We feel everything is coming together well and with our amazing loyal fan support, season ticket drive, great sponsors, all the volunteers and billets, who help make a difference for our players and the large amount of players looking to join our team, we feel we will be contenders right out of the gate," summarized Mr. Clarke.

As for French River, the Rapids too are excited and are busily gearing up for the 2015-season.

"We are proud to be part of the French River community as well we are very excited to be part of the NOJHL and look forward to being part of the premier junior A hockey league in Northern Ontario," stated Rapids team president Allan Donnan.

With commitment and official approval confirmed, the NOJHL is busily preparing for the new season, including working on the game schedule for the 2015-16 season.

one of the stronger leagues in Ontario with its teams doing well at the Dudley-Hewitt Cup, winning it two out of past four years," offered Mr. Bragagnolo.

"The league has great leadership and vision, great owners, great coaches and players so let the puck drop and let's have some fun," he added.

Another community back in the NOJHL fold is Espanola with the new-look Express joining the league.

"Our team staff, owners, volunteers, sponsors and especially our and then the next year in the opposite direction (a 'down run'). There are supposedly Five Big Hills, but there are actually a "heck of a lot more than that" according to David! Some of his best memories from the race were the signs people held up like: "Go, random stranger, go!," "This sure seemed like a good idea five months ago, didn't it?," "You think your legs are tired? My arms are killing me from holding this sign!" and his personal favourite, only 6km into the race: "Still a ####-pile more kms to go!"

Officially, about 23,000 people registered for the race, 19,000 people actually qualified, 17,000 people started the race, and 13,000 people finished as did David in 10,588th.

Eleanor Debassige, Grandmother to Justice Debassige and Savannah Blacksmith wishes to announce the College Graduation of her grandchildren. Special remembrance is given at this time to their late grandfather Timothy Henry Debassige who left for his heavenly home when Justice was just a baby.

Justice Debassige has received his College Diploma in Indigenous Wellness and Addictions Prevention at Canadore College on May 28, 2015. He will pursue his studies in the Indigenous Preparatory Studies program at Nipissing University in North Bay, Ontario. Justice is a member of the Mistissini H.O.P.E Committee where he is involved in promoting the prevention of Drug and Alcohol Abuse. He and his partner Ariel Coon have organized Sharing Circles to promote healing and wellness amongst youth in their community.

Justice has spoken out against Uranium Mining in his community of Mistissini, QC, it's important to him that youth have a voice and a say in protecting their community, the environment and the land for future generations. It is his positive influence and leadership skills that has led him to participate in Mining Conferences in Anchorage, Alaska and Montreal, QC.

Savannah Blacksmith has received her College Certificate in Indigenous Pre-Health Studies at Canadore College on May 28, 2015. She will pursue her post secondary studies at St. Lawrence College in Kingston, Ontario, in the Fitness and Health Promotion 2 year program.

Savannah has received several prestigious awards recognizing her inspiring attitude, her positive influence for youth in her community, for portraying leadership skills, respect and compassion towards others. Her awards are from; Youth Bronze Medal from the Lieutenant Governor of Quebec, The Commissioners Award of Excellence from the Cree School Board, Contribution Youth Women from the 2012 Outstanding Cree Women Celebration; and Athletic Award from the Mistissini Youth Department.

Savannah's sport in Basketball, she hopes to play at the varsity level. She is a competitive and skilled player. Presently she volunteers her time as an Assistant Coach to the Mistissini girls basketball teams in her community.

Eleanor wishes to Congratulate her grandchildren on their wonderful achievements. This is just the beginning of their journey. May God's graces be with Justice and Savannah as they step ahead towards their dreams.

...LC Hospital Auxiliary celebrates 70th anniversary

 year period from 2009 to 2011, raising $55,000 with many fundraising activities to assist in the MHC's $650,000 fundraising campaign for new hospital equipment. Thank you for your great work and dedication, Laila."

When she received her award, Ms. Kiviaho commented that being part of the auxiliary is "all about team work" and thanked her fellow members for all the hard work they do.

"This is a proud moment, giving out Provincial Lifetime Membership pins," said HAAO President Ms. MacMillan. "To have individuals like you from my own region is a real honour. Congratulations on these achievements and your 70th anniversary."

Past Regional Chair Leila Thureson of Mindemoya presented Mr. Sylvester with a certificate commemorating the 70th anniversary of the Little Current auxiliary.

MP Hughes also presented Mr. Sylvester with a certificate marking the occasion on behalf of Algoma-Manitoulin MPP Mike Mantha.

"You are an amazing group and you have raised the bar so much for fundraising I want you on my next election," joked Ms. Hughes. "Mike Mantha sends his regrets for not being able to be here, but we both want to extend our congratulations on reaching this impressive milestone. You are an extremely important organization, not only to the hospital but to the community as a whole. Best wishes for a great celebration."

Northeast Town Mayor Al MacNevin also extended his congratulations to the auxiliary, presenting a certificate on behalf of the town and council.

"Seventy years is hard to fathom for any volunteer organization," said Mayor MacNevin. "You are a hard-working group of volunteers. I've learned over the years that you can seem nice at first, but give you a card table and you're like pit bulls. I make sure I never go to the grocery store with without cash for raffle tickets. But seriously, I know how hard you work—it's amazing. I would also like to extend special congratulations to Sue, Carmen and Laila. Our council is so proud of the work our volunteers like you do. Congratulations."

MHC CEO Derek Graham shared how fortunate the hospital has been to have the auxiliary as a partner over the years and reflected on the huge impact by not only the current auxiliary but by auxiliary members over the years.

Mr. Sylvester recognized the past Provincial Life Members that were present for the celebration including Donna Corbiere, Debbie Heise, Ursula Paxton, Marilee Hore, June McConnell, Madeleine Charlton, Jean Cunningham and Alice Monkhouse.

He also recognized past presidents Laila Kiviaho, Dianne Musgrove, Elaine Huissier, Noreen Parkinson, Maxine Ferguson and Diane McCullough.

Debbie Heise, Ursula Paxton, Madeleine Charlton and Jean Cunningham were recognized as 40-year members, while Donna Corbiere, Alice Monkhouse and Marilee Hore were honoured as 50-year members.

Outstanding Service Pins were presented to Gloreia Myronuk, June McConnell, Carole Labelle, Sharon Bentley, Ted Musgrove, Doug Hore, Maurice Labelle, Heather Hutchinson and Laila Kiviaho.

Both Mayor MacNevin and Mr. Sylvester took a moment to recognize the passing of long time auxiliary member Wayne Orr.

"Wayne was instrumental in helping to raise funds and organize the purchase and installation of the TVs that the patients are enjoying to this day," said Mr. Sylvester. "He will be greatly missed from our auxiliary and community."

Mr. Sylvester concluded the evening by providing the group with a history of the Little Current Hospital Auxiliary.

"The first minutes we have are from November 1948," said Mr. Sylvester. "It seems that they had a balance of $548 and they made a motion to pay $500 towards the purchase of the new resuscitation and gas oxygen machine."

"There was a sewing convener," he continued. "She reported on the quantities of sheets, towel and surgical sheets that had been made during the year. In December of 1958 the Sisters of the hospital (then St. Joseph's Hospital) asked if some of the auxiliary members would assist in the mending over several afternoons. In March of 1950 the late Sarah Nickeloff was asked to dress as a clown and sell balloons. Our own Barbara Lawrence dressed up as Miss Hawberry 60 years later when we hosted the North Central Region Conference in 2010. In 1970, the Nursing Sisters discussed with the auxiliary how to further assist the patients. They helped with letter writing, reading to the patients, setting patients' hair and helping with crafts."

"The Expositor covered the Auxiliary's 35th anniversary tea in 1980, 35 years ago," said Mr. Sylvester. "Twelve of the 58 Sisters of St. Joseph who had been stationed here from 1945-1979 were able to attend the anniversary tea. It was at that time that the Sisters of St. Joseph relinquished ownership and the hospital became known as the Manitoulin Health Centre. At that time, the north central region chair, from Blind River, advised in her address that Ontario's auxiliary membership was 66,000 with 224 hospital auxiliaries."

"We have built quite a history," Mr. Sylvester concluded. "Laila has kept a record of pictures and articles on events and activities during the past 10-15 years. "There has been a lot of dollars raised and equipment purchased over the years. There has been fun and friendships and the events have also provided an opportunity for the community to come together socially. We are continuing the tradition."

Manitoulin Arts and Culture Council celebrates first anniversary

by Michael Erskine

KAGAWONG—The Manitoulin Arts and Cultural Council (MACC) has passed a seminal milestone and will be marking its first anniversary with a celebratory meeting at the Kagawong Park Centre.

"This month marks the first anniversary of the MACC," noted organizer author Kate Thompson. "To make our monthly meeting special, we're going to hold it at the Kagawong Park Centre from 1:30 to 3:30 pm."

Spokesperson Alex Baran of Providence Bay noted that MACC grew out of an initiative of LAMBAC two years ago that sought to bring a profitable coherence to the arts and artistic community on Manitoulin.

"Out of that first conference at the Manitoulin Hotel and Conference Centre we held a day of action at the Kagawong Park Centre," noted Mr. Baran. "About 40 people came out and the decision was made to try and give birth to something," he said. Four committees came from that meeting, dealing with structure, communication, innovations/ideas and programming. "Two committees eventually merged," he said. "One of the things that happened out of that final meeting was that we said 'let's try to have something come out of this that represents the thinking that has gone on to date'," said Mr. Baran. Throughout the intervening months the MACC, made up of a number of local artists and interested people, met either in person at Mr. Baran's home in Providence Bay or, more innovatively, by SKYPE. "It's been great," he said of the technological meeting space. "Instead of having to brave the winter roads in January and February we were able to get together in the warmth and safety of our own homes."

The meeting at the Kagawong Park Centre taking place this Sunday, June 21 will provide an opportunity for those who attended the original meeting to be briefed on what has been accomplished to date, as well as to learn about a couple of important possibilities for Manitoulin.

As part of the celebrations, LAMBAC's Maureen Strickland will speak to the meeting about the new Artist Investment Program (an extremely useful and reasonable loans program) being offered by the community investment corporation. Ms. Strickland will also be exploring the topic of 'Cooperatives for Creative Communities.'

"Cooperatives are really Maureen's lifelong area of expertise," noted Mr. Baran. "We are really hoping she will opine on how that model could provide an untapped opportunity that exists here where no other model will work."

"We'll have a quick review of what we've done this past year and what projects we have on our calendar," added Ms. Thompson. "We invite you to bring one or two samples of your work to exhibit, for everyone to enjoy for the day. We hope to raffle off a very special item – a surprise."

MACC is inviting the original attendees and anyone involved or interested in promoting the arts on Manitoulin Island to "come and reconnect with the Manitoulin's creative community; we look forward to seeing you!"

The anniversary meeting will take place Sunday, June 21 from 1:30 to 3:30 pm at the Kagawong Park Centre.

Artist returns to his roots for Ojibwe Cultural Foundation exhibit

by Robin Burrige

M'CHIGEENG—The Ojibwe Cultural Foundation (OCF) is featuring an art exhibit of the works of Paul Whittam, a Midland-based artist with ties to Manitoulin.

Mark Seabrook of the OCF discovered Mr. Whittam's art on Facebook and was drawn to his unique style.

"I came across his work and really liked his style," Mr. Seabrook told The Expositor. "It is faintly Ojibwe Woodland, but he had taken it to his own place."

The show at the OCF features 19 pieces, many depicting owls or Mr. Whittam's spirit animal the otter.

"My goal is to bring beautiful indigenous stories to the people," explained Mr. Whittam, or as he is commonly called Star Otter. "Through colour, imagery and form we can share our wonderful stories. When I create my work there will always be explanation given as to why the pieces were made and what the images represent. I want to use colour to heal. Medicine can come in many forms and my healing takes place through my work."

'Southbound and Stay Behind' by Star Otter on display now at the Ojibwe Cultural Foundation.

Though Star Otter describes himself as "mostly self taught" he did attend the Georgian College Art Fundamentals program and took several art courses while earning an Indigenous Studies honour degree at Trent University.

Through speaking with Star Otter, Mr. Seabrook also learned that he had a strong connection to Manitoulin.

"He (Star Otter) was adopted at a young age, but learned later in life that his family is from Sheshegwaning First Nation," said Mr. Seabrook. "Through elders and traditional instructions he found his uncle and eventually his mother who he reunited with on Manitoulin Island."

The works of Star Otter will be on display now at the OCF, 15 Highway 551 (the corner of Highways 551 and 540) in M'Chigeeng First Nation until Thursday, July 2.

The OCF is open Mondays to Fridays 9 am to 6 pm, Saturdays 10 am to 4 pm and Sundays 12 to 4 pm.

colour. The Hawberry Ale—incorporating the Island's signature berry—is subtly crafted with berries we pick ourselves on Manitoulin," says Ms. Charlton.

Setting up a local micro-brewery is a complex project and Ms. Charlton and

Ms. Smith are adamant that they could not have done it without a vast support network. "Literally hundreds of people from Manitoulin and beyond have helped create Split Rail, from the early stage advisory panel and tasting teams, to Billings' (Kagawong's) support in offering to host Split Rail, to our generous KickStarter backers, to Manitoulin's MPP Mr. Michael Mantha's encouragement over the years," notes Ms. Smith.

The business partners are deeply committed to the community, through ethical business practices, as well as responsible alcohol consumption, they said in a press release. Split Rail's vision includes creating new employment and tourism opportunities, while partnering with local business enterprises and other community groups.

Additional details about the launch and retail store hours will be updated on Split Rail's Facebook page, Twitter feed @SplitRail-Brew and website www.splitrailmanitoulin.com.

...neonicotinoid-coated corn and soybeans

roa mite, he noted. "I think it (bee die-offs) will prove to be the result of a combination of things," he said.

Mr. Kains agreed that it was somewhat surprising that, considering the important role that bees and other pollinators play in ensuring the global food supply, that the question of the cause of the bee die-offs is still so uncertain. "There is a lot of attention on it now," he said, "but it seems to have been slow in coming."

As of July, there will also be new rules in place to track the sale and use of neonicotinoid-treated seeds. During the planting season next year, farmers will continue to be allowed to plant the seeds in up to 50 percent of their corn and soybean fields, although exceptions will be available to those who can provide evidence that they are experiencing pest issues.

Neonicotinoids impact the ability of bees, and some 400 other pollinator species (including birds and butterflies) to navigate, feed or reproduce. The pesticide has also been fingered in weakening the pollinators, opening the doors for other diseases and parasites.

The issue is extreme, as reports from the winter of 2013-14 indicate that Ontario's bee losses exceeded an unsustainable 58 percent. Since any losses over 15 percent are not believed to be sustainable, many of the province's beekeepers were regarding the issue as an industry threatening crisis.

Despite the lag in global response, Mr. Kains said he commended the Ontario government in taking action on the issue.

Mr. Kains will once again be hosting a workshop for new beekeepers at his Canard Lane home this Saturday. The workshop runs from 10 am to 2 pm and is open to those who are interested in all things related to keeping bees.

and moved to Sudbury in September of 1943," continued Deputy Mayor Gauthier. "In 1950 he came to Little Current and worked as a clerk at the coal docks, eventually becoming superintendent until he retired in 1982 with 40 years of service. "Mr. Spec has made a huge impact on the town of Little Current. He belonged to the first hospital board when it was owned by the Sisters of St. Joseph and served as chair of the building committee and also chair of the board."

Deputy Mayor Gauthier also explained that Mr. Spec was the secretary of the Little Current Public School Board and a member of the Manitoulin School Board where he served as second chairman.

"As well, he was a member of the Manitoulin Centennial Manor board and served as its chairman in addition to being a member of LAMBAC for 18 years," noted Deputy Mayor Gauthier. "Mr. Spec likes to keep busy. After retirement, he helped his wife with her florist business and also sold Real Estate. He enjoys curling and has been an active member of the Little Current Curling Club since 1951."

"As you can see Mr. Spec has been a very dedicated individual in our community and is an excellent candidate for Senior of the Year for 2015," concluded Deputy Mayor.

"Thank you very much," responded Mr. Spec when he was presented with his certificate from Northeast Town Mayor Al MacNevin. "This is a huge honour."

THANK-YOU!

The Manitoulin Island Cycling Advocates (MICA) Chair Maja Mielonen and co Chair Guy Nielen wish to thank all 237 cyclists participating in the 5th Manitoulin Passage Ride for their visit June 6&7. A great deal of appreciation goes out to M.S. Chi-Cheemaun for offering FREE PASSAGE for Cyclists and their bikes, Batman's our supper destination, Kicking Mule Ranch our Sunday lunch destination, Manitoulin OPP for monitoring the safety for all road users and going beyond in many ways. Manitoulin Streams for setting up a display and providing volunteers, to Gus MacIntosh for fixing the bicycles broken down along the many back roads, to Willowdance Wellness Center for massaging the fatigued muscles. Many praises to MICA's business members partnering with MICA to provide luggage shuttle services, Max Burt serving a much loved Pork on his mobile barbeque, Garden's Gate and Maja's for the delicious fixings. The Uppers fantastic music made us bob into the night, MP Carol Hughes mentioned how important the safety of all road users is and praised MICA's work, MPP Michael Mantha brought good news that BILL 31 had past, and that he had presented some of MICA's signed petitions in the Legislature and afterwards spoke with the MTO Minister Stephen Del Duca about MICA's pilot project segment of the petition, and steps have been taken to find a good solution. The Petition can be found on MICA's home page www.manitoulin-cycling.com. We wish to thank our volunteers for the countless hours invested, with patrolling the roads for cyclists in distress, Huron Times and the many other support stations that readied the much needed nutritious fuel to make it possible to cycle on. A big thank you goes out for the donation of 250 containers of chocolate milk by the Manitoulin and North Shore Dairy farmers. To 4Elements providing their first Aid kits, Sudbury District Health Unit for printed material and a volunteer. We thank the MICA board members for all the planning that made the Manitoulin Passage Ride the best organized Ride available in Ontario so we were told by many of our participants that come back year after year and fill our Island for 2-4 days in early June when we need it the most. We thank the Manitoulin Expositor for the support given to MICA every year since our beginning.

...fundraiser begins $18.5 million quest

Mr. Bonwick, a former MP and municipal councillor, congratulated Assignack council and the previous councils on seeing the vision of the Steamship Society and lending support over the years. He introduced the team of Abby Stec, now the executive director of the Steamship Society, and Elaine Kelly, executive administrator and an avid marine history buff who hails from England.

Ms. Stec, he explained, has led numerous multi-million dollar fundraising campaigns and will do the same for the Norisle, which needs to raise $18.5 million in funds with "significant private and public buy-in." The goal set to raise this money is between 18 months and two years which would bring the year to 2017—the same year the municipality is relinquished of its duty to care for the aged steamship. (The province gifted Assignack with the Norisle once she became decommissioned for service 40 years ago.)

"We are looking for support as well as permission to enable staff to work with us and help in applying for funding," Mr. Bonwick addressed council.

Ms. Stec gave the presentation to council, explaining that the campaign's goal is to: "raise the necessary funds to refit the Norisle and return her to service as a heritage passenger steamship on Great Lakes cruises."

In a feasibility study conducted by the firm EPCG, it was found that there is evidence of a "significant market" being available for multi-day, berthed passenger cruises in the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence River from mid-May to October with anecdotal evidence showing that specific ports could support a winter restaurant operation aboard the Norisle.

The breakdown of financial requirements is as follows: ship refit, $13.5 million; contingency allowance, $2.7 million (20 percent of overall); shore equipment, $25,000; pre-opening/start-up costs, $440,000; and operating deficiencies, $666,000 for the first two years.

Ms. Stec explained that the Steamship Society and Compenso will work hard to secure major gifts and sponsors, raising the majority of the funds before making the campaign public. Target markets for fundraising include: Ontario residents, specifically from the Golden Horseshoe; Quebec residents, particularly from Montreal; other Canadians; US border states, particularly New York and Chicago (which are priority markets for the Ontario Tourism Marketing Partnership (OTMP)); US longer-haul markets, particularly those targeted by the Canadian Tourism Commission and OTMP, such as Boston and Los Angeles; and international markets, particularly Ontario's priority overseas markets with an interest in historic luxury travel including Germany, the UK and France. Other markets include those with a strong interest in heritage, cruising, Northern Ontario and wilderness adventure; incentive travel markets; those travelling with high-end tour companies; small corporate groups on meetings/getaways; and steamship and steam-related theme groups.

The five potential sources of funding, explained by Ms. Stec, are government, (federal, provincial and municipal), private sector investment, public-private partnerships, potential partners and fundraising and sponsors (in-kind and financial).

Ms. Stec explained that the Norisle has the fact that it is a steamship in its favour as an attraction, along with the heritage of the Great Lakes, smaller passenger numbers, interesting shore excursions and access to smaller ports.

Compenso expects the initial refit to create 102 jobs in Ontario with a price tag of $6.1 million in employment income and $4.5 million in taxes. The Norisle is also expected to create 58 jobs with $2.3 million in employment income and, over 10 years, operations are anticipated to generate over $49 million in spending in the economy, 580 person years of employment and $23 million in employment income.

A four-year projection presented by Ms. Stec shows 1,355 passengers expected with a gross revenue of $4,003,000 and an operating profit of $427,000.

"The business model is strong, it will work, but will take up to two years to get it to stand on its own and be sustainable," Ms. Stec told the group.

John Coulter, a member of the Steamship Society, spoke of his work on the Seguin in Muskoka, which proved to be sustainable after four years and is "very successful."

Mr. Bonwick again spoke of the importance of a municipal partnership in ter that led us to believe that there is some wiggle room."

Interest charged on outstanding taxes tends to run around 15 percent a year, noted the clerk. While the federal government was not prepared to pay the interest and penalties in full, they were sensitive to the fact that the municipality had incurred interest costs in financing the shortfall on the tax levy. "We don't want to make a profit on this," noted Ms. Frawley.

The total outstanding was roughly $79,000, and Public Works Canada has indicated that it will pay the principal of $56,000.

"Does this fall under PIL (payment in lieu)?" asked Councillor Alex Baran.

Ms. Frawley explained that PIL only kicks in once the federal government actually owns the properties in question (the federal government is not subject to municipal taxation, but usually provides compensation in the form of the PIL). "We will receive PIL from November 2015 onward (the properties were officially seized that November). But this is the amount from before that. Canada hadn't taken control of the property before that, it was only acting as agent."

"Will that impact on the current year?" asked Councillor Baran.

"We don't know," admitted Ms. Frawley, "but we will get our taxes."

Algoma-Manitoulin-Kapuskasing MP Carol

Hughes said that she was very happy when she heard the news. "My office has been working on this for a long time, it has been an issue since before I was elected," she noted.

Ms. Hughes and her office became very active on the file on April 10. "I had spoken with Kathy Hougan at Municipal Services in Sudbury to get a better understanding of the issue," she said. "We got some information on direction and passed on that information on April 15."

The issue was murky at best, she noted, but the Municipal Act did indicate that taxes owing had to be dealt with before a property could be transferred. "There was some question as to whether one of the entities involved (municipalities owed taxes) had registered a lien on the properties," she recalled. "It was not clear if they could collect all of the back taxes."

Ms. Hughes said that she had advised the municipalities to "consult with a lawyer who specializes with taxes," adding said that she was still waiting for some information to be provided by Public Works Canada. "I am waiting for a response from Danielle Pilon and terms of staff support and the municipal charitable status. He noted the upcoming 150th anniversary of the country and the funding opportunities that will be made available for heritage projects such as this one.

Reeve Paul Moffat asked about the Norisle refit and where it would take place.

It was explained that it depends on the boat's substructure as to where it will be refitted.

The business case shows that a larger port, such as Collingwood, would be a better home port for the Norisle, "but at the end of the day, it's the Friends of the Norisle who make that call, but the business case will really say it."

Should all go to plan, the Norisle would likely see a summer sailing season of Toronto to Montreal with late summer to fall sailings in Georgian Bay and the North Channel.

"And she'll be flying the Northern flag and the Northern story," Ms. Stec said. "She is an ambassador for the North. The Norisle is not stationery—she carries the Northern flag wherever she goes."

Councillor Leslie Fields questioned the 18 months to two years time frame. "So, in that time, the ship just stays here and hopefully continues to float?" she asked.

"Not necessarily," Mr. Coulter replied. "There has to be a sufficient appreciation of funds, but we could have a phased-in refit."

"When I first met with the group they talked about the ship as if she were alive and seeing her today, stepping aboard, she certainly is—she just needs a little bit of waking up," Ms. Stec said.

Mr. Ham told The Expositor that there have been numerous meetings with Compenso before getting to this stage, ensuring they were a good fit for the Steamship Society.

On the question of whether Manitowaning would be the home port for the Norisle again, "that would probably remain to be seen," Mr. Ham said. "Originally, it was the intention of council to have the Norisle winter here and Assiginack would benefit a bit from that (in its current berth)." Mr. Ham noted that 40 years ago, 60 foot pilings were driven into the bay alongside the ship and could continue to be used during the winter months.

"It's an interesting proposition and I certainly hope they're successful," Reeve Moffat told The Expositor when contacted following the meeting, calling the campaign "pretty ambitious."

He explained that while he wishes the group every success, the ship is becoming a liability to the municipality and council would "welcome any opportunity to see it sail out of here."

"I would love to see it come back as a destination on a cruise," Reeve Moffat added, but said he was doubtful it would ever winter in Manitowaning. "I just don't see the economy of scale. It certainly wouldn't be feasible to run it as an attraction in Manitowaning."

long for us to discover that Ms. Ferguson owns G corridor, which is where our lockers are, and doesn't appreciate us lingering in her hallway after the bell goes. I have to admit, we did spend a lot of time in G corridor the first couple of years and made tons of memories there such as one of us rolling down the hallway in a garbage can during locker clean-up. Other people also found out how strong, or should I say, how breakable the windows are in that hallway. Nobody can ever say we're a boring bunch of kids.

Other discoveries throughout Grades 9, 10 and 11 were that we learned Mr. Tallman consistently has the best Halloween costume every year which is hilarious but also kind of disappointing that he can pull off wearing a dress way better than I will ever be able to. Quickly it also became very clear that Mrs. Balfe loves the word etcetera and that Menny is by far the most entertaining person to present in class because he is naturally hilarious. I mean who knew he could make a speech about blueberry muffins that was that memorable? Other common knowledge among our class was that Mr. Wesno's flaming gummy bear of death demonstration is extremely cool and that our Scattergories games on Friday could get pretty heated. I'm sure our shouts of protests and celebrations were heard quite clearly by our neighbouring classes. One event that I don't think anyone really expected or could ever forget was when Noah hopped up on top of the science counters and started to wash his leg in the sink while we were in the middle of a lesson. Nonetheless it was hilarious and our teacher had a good sense of humour about it.

By the start of Grade 12 many of us were ready to make it the best year yet. By this time we had mastered the art of taking pictures in class when we were supposed to be doing our work because lets be real did something really happen if we don't send a snapchat about it to our friends, post it on Instagram with a bunch of unnecessary hashtags, and post a status about it on Facebook? Despite our social media skills, it was still a challenge to get onto websites that were ibossed. At this point some parents are probably shaking their head saying that if something is blocked then you don't need to see it but to that I say one day even Google was blocked. Thus the struggle was real. Speaking of struggles, I'd like to give a shout out to the students who were in Mr. Balfe's advanced functions class. It was a challenging course but together we won the Christmas door decorating contest and created an incredibly complex equation for Christmas since nothing is more festive than math equations.

Overall, our class is filled with crazy, funny, annoying, confusing, awesome, and open-minded individuals and I wouldn't want to graduate with any other group of people. Despite our differences we have always been there to support each other. Cindy was always willing to help anyone with their homework, Jayden and David could handle most computer problems, and you could always depend on Dexter to brighten up your day by telling you the most unusual facts on any topic.

Yes, it is true that we have had a remarkable time at MSS and I'm sure you've thought to yourself life can't get much better than this. In fact this year even one of my teachers told me that the last four years will end up being the best time of my life. However, I couldn't disagree more. Although my time at MSS has been amazing, I believe high school should not be the best four years of your life. If stressing over getting the right MLA citations, memorizing the Calvin cycle, trying to prove trig identities, and having to ask and carry around the proper documentation to go to the bathroom is as good as life gets for you then you have done something wrong. If you find yourself in this position do not pass go, do not collect $200, just figure out how to be happy and have fun because high school isn't the end, it's just the beginning of the rest of your life.

As I look out into the crowd of graduates I see a diverse group of people that are destined for greatness and large amounts of student debt. In the future some of you may turn out to be Olympic athletes, famous musicians, lawyers, business owners, farmers, mechanics, engineers, and who knows, Kyle may even help find the cure for cancer one day. The possibilities are endless. So I urge you to always go after what you want and never settle for less. Whether, your dreams take you to post-secondary school or travelling around the world, or another year at MSS, never forget to make the most of every moment. Life is a journey, so enjoy the ride. At some point in our life we will fail and make lots of mistakes but don't let the fear of failure stop you chasing after your dreams. I used to be terrified of failing and making mistakes but somewhere along the line I realized that failure and mistakes are inevitable and they are nothing to be ashamed of. If anything they teach you a lesson and make you a stronger person. Also, don't be afraid to try new things because in the end you will only regret the chances you didn't take.

Today it is clear to see that we've come a long way from where we began. We've grown up to become great leaders who fight for what we believe in. Going forward in life never forget to live in the moment, appreciate the little things and live life like nobody's watching. Most importantly remember that excuses will always be there, opportunities won't. It has been an honour to share this experience with you and I wish you all good luck in your future, not that I think any of you will need it.

Congratulations class of 2015!

Two women establish Manitoulin's first craft brewery on the world's largest fresh water island in the world, making world-class beer with a commitment to excellence, integrity, and social responsibility.

...Wikwemikong widow mourns murdered partner's loss

"I grew up in Toronto, but my family is from Wikwemikong and we moved back when I was older," Ms. Leedham shared. "That's where I met Percy. We lived in Wikwemikong where we started our family of four up until six years ago when we moved to Sudbury. We just wanted more opportunities for our family."

Mr. Simon worked for a Sudbury construction company and in his spare time loved to spend time with his children.

"We have four children: Joshua, 14, Jayden, 11, Jace, 5, and Emma, one-and-a-half," said Ms. Leedham. "He was a great dad and partner. He showed so much love for us. He loved to take the kids for walks on the trail behind our house and catch frogs with them. Percy was also really involved in sport with the kids. We went on great family road trips to see my family in Nova Scotia and down south."

Ms. Leedham told The Expositor that although Mr.

Simon loved his job driving a rock truck, he had ambitions to work in the mining field and that he had been applying for jobs.

Around the time of Mr. Simon's death, he had returned home to stay with his parents Percy and Nancy Simon and help his father harvest wood.

According to the Ontario Provincial Police, Percy Jr. Simon was killed at a home on Andrew Crescent in Wikwemikong on Sunday, May 17 at approximately 6:45 am after an altercation.

The result of a homicide investigation led to the arrest of 31-year-old Robert Travis Wemigwans, 43-year-old Tammy Trudeau and 56-year-old Byron Kagige, who were all charged with second-degree murder.

"While he was home helping his dad, he was still very involved in his kids' lives," said Ms. Leedham. "On that night (May 16) he had decided to go out and have a few drinks with friends. I never could have imagined this would happen. It was awful. He had goals, he had ambitions. What happened to him isn't fair—it shouldn't have happened."

"I wasn't there, but I guess they had been drinking and there was a misunderstanding," continued Ms. Leedham. "Things got out of control, but for three people to do this to someone is hard to understand. I feel angry. Someone should have stopped it. This never should have happened."

Ms. Leedham shared that one of the hardest things to cope with since the death of her long-term partner is the stigma around his death.

"People think 'it's just another drunken Indian murder'," said Ms. Leedham, "but that isn't the case. I want people to know that Percy was a loving father, partner, a man with a goal and ambitions. Our kids miss him every day."

"Since this happened, I feel like I'm drowning," continued Ms. Leedham. "Every day I'm just struggling to stay afloat, to be there for our four kids. We have so much healing to do. It is going to take a long time. The kids talk about him all the time, it's helping us work through this tragedy."

Co-accused Byron Kagige, Robert Travis Wemigwans and Tammy Trudeau are to appear in court on Monday, June 22 in Gore Bay.

was established that the case will go to trial as there is enough evidence that has been disclosed by the Crown. Glenn Sandberg, counsel for Mr. Haggart, indicated to The Expositor that there is no need for a lawyer to argue against committal to trial in this case. Therefore, the process became one of 'discovery' and the judge left the court; she will return when all the evidence has been presented to rule on the committal to trial. The accused has elected to be tried before a judge and jury in the Ontario Superior Court of Justice.

Mr. Haggart appeared in court, led in handcuffs into the prisoner box by police escort. He wears a goatee, mustache and close-cropped black hair; his v-neck white t-shirt showed tattoos on his neck and arms. He had trouble hearing the proceedings because of an ear infection, court was told, and was given a court hearing device which he wore throughout as he listened intently.

The charges against Mr. Haggart are: intentionally or recklessly causing damage by fire to personal property owned by Clinton Haggart, 25 Wilson Street East, Northeast Town, Ontario Aboriginal Housing Services, under Section 434.1 of the Criminal Code on June 13, 2014, and intentionally or recklessly causing damage by fire to a dwelling house, property of Ontario Aboriginal Services, 25 Wilson Street East (the home of the Haggart family); intentionally or recklessly causing damage by fire to a dwelling owned by Ontario Aboriginal Housing Services, 35 Blake Street West (the home of Mr. Haggart's mother-in-law, Margaret Bowerman); intentionally or recklessly causing damage by fire to a garage, property of Lorne Alston, on July 23 at 15 Blake Street West; intentionally or recklessly causing damage by fire to a shed, property of Jamie Still, on August 5, 26 Blake Street West; intentionally or recklessly causing damage by fire to a dwelling/recreation centre, property of Michael Maciuk, on August 17, 21 Campbell Street West (the Island Training Centre); and intentionally or recklessly causing damage by fire to a storage facility, property of Floyd James Renton, on August 17, 23 Campbell Street West (the former Little Current curling rink).

The process of discovery is expected to last for a week. Crown Attorney Stacy Haner told The Expositor that the complexity of the case requires that many witnesses will be called to testify. This newspaper will continue to monitor the daily court sessions for a report in next week's issue.

research from the Parliamentary Library. Hopefully we will have something soon."

Ms. Hughes noted that responses from government departments have been much slower following government cutbacks.

Ms. Hughes expressed surprise that Tehkummah Reeve Eric Russell would have been reluctant to approach her at her table at the Manitoulin Trade Fair, noting that she had approached both Central Manitoulin Reeve Richard Stephens and Michael's Bay Historical Society President Ben Lentir about the issue at the fair.

"I was kept very busy with envelopes for processing passports and the petitions," she admitted, but added that she was always prepared to discuss issues that concern the communities she serves.

Turbines down while Hydro One completes grid work

by Alicia McCutcheon

MCLEANS MOUNTAIN—The 24-turbine Northland Power wind farm atop McLean's Mountain has been still as of late but the wind farm manager assures the public that all is well with the massive turbines.

"Hydro One is doing servicing on the hydro grid and while they bring it up to speed, the turbines are offline for production," Northland Power manager Rick Martin told The Expositor. "It (the interruption) has been scheduled for a year."

The turbines are expected to be spinning again by the end of this month.

He noted that the turbines also went through their annual inspection last week, which took two to three days. "We did it in parallel with the Hydro One servicing."

...farmer will fight four charges

...continued from page 1 asked the pair "I don't understand why you just don't shoot them (referring to the nuisance birds)—you're a farmer, you have a right to protect your property."

From this point on, Mr. Skippen has not applied for the necessary permit for farmers to shoot Canada geese and sandhill cranes (the permit grants farmers kills of up to five geese and cranes each day), taking that conversation as verbal consent to protect his property.

Two weeks ago, after a flock of between 200 and 250 Canada geese landed in his fields, Mr. Skippen began a daily tirade of trying to scare the geese off: chasing them with a tractor, honking his horn and yelling and firing warning shots overhead. The farmer drove his truck to one of his further fields (the for-unlawfully hunting a migratory bird outside the open season, failing to immediately make every reasonable effort to retrieve a migratory bird, unlawfully discharging a firearm in the travelled portion of a right of way for public vehicular traffic and knowingly making a false statement to a conservation

"Well, can you manage to get them off my property?" Mr. Skippen asked.

The farmer said he believes he was within his rights to kill the goose, to protect his property.

"I had to do something," he added. "It's not fair to lose that kind of money."

Mr. Skippen is hoping to have a large contingent of Island farmers come to his July 2 court date in Gore Bay in support of his cause.

Farmer Paul Skippen estimates the damage to his crops at $10,000.

mer Gammie farm), parked alongside the road, stepped out of his truck, loaded the gun and, from the roadway's shoulder, shot into his field, killing one goose, he explained. "It was so wet, and the property was already so damaged, that I left it," he said of the goose. "The geese cost me $10,000 in crop damages."

The next day, he said, he received a knock at the door from CO Kyle Wood and was subsequently charged.

Mr. Skippen was charged with shooting a goose out of season and for leaving it on his property.

Following the charge, he got the necessary permit and has since killed another goose, which has been spotted by motorists travelling the Bidwell Road hanging from a tripod as a gruesome warning to other birds.

The farmer said he has been raising this issue with his area COs for some time and asked CO Wood to come speak to him about the problem over one year ago. "He never showed up," he said.

Mr. Skippen plans to appeal all four charges—officer—when he appears in court on July 2 at 9:15 am in Gore Bay. He says he did not shoot from the roadway, but rather the road's shoulder area, and did not mislead the CO, claiming people are allowed to shoot from the roadway's shoulder into the property on which they have permission to hunt (a law specific to Northern Ontario).

In the same conversation with the former minister, Mr. Skippen explained to him that farmers who rent out their land to other farmers to pasture their livestock get paid to do so. If the government owns the animals (the deer or birds) then why don't they pay the farmers compensation for feeding these animals, Mr. Skippen asked the then-minister. The minister replied that the government doesn't actually own the animals. "Then why do you charge to hunt them?" Mr. Skippen persisted. The minister then, according to the farmer, deferred to his secretary who replied "We don't own them, we manage them."

Call for Applications
Enaag-dawaab-jig
Committee Members

The United Chief and Councils of Manitoulin (UCCM) Anishnaabe Police Services Commission is seeking applications from positive, dedicated individuals of Anishnaabe ancestry who are members of the UCCM Member First Nations to serve on a "civilian oversight" body known as the Enaag-dawaab-jig Committee.

Purpose of the Enaag-dawaab-jig Committee:
The Enaag-dawaab-jig Committee is being established to improve police accountability, promote higher standards of police services, and increase public confidence in the UCCM Anishnaabe Police Service and the UCCM Police Service Commission.

Function of the Enaag-dawaab-jig Committee:
In accordance with UCCM Anishnaabe Police Services Commission By-law No. 2, Enaag-dawaab-jig will be empowered to perform five functions:

- To solicit, receive and make recommendations to the Commission on community concerns about police services of the UCCM Anishnaabe Police Service;
- To review UCCM Anishnaabe Police Service policies and make recommendations to the Commission on changes to these policies;
- To observe or participate in external investigations;
- To review complaints which could not be resolved by the internal complaints process; and,
- To coordinate mediation and arbitration services for Police Officers of the UCCM Anishnaabe Police Service who are not satisfied with the resolution of internal employment agreement conflicts.

Eligibility Criteria for Enaag-dawaab-jig Committee Members:

- Be an individual of at least (18) years of age;

DOUGLAS LEONARD LEWIS

Douglas Leonard Lewis of Spring Bay passed away peacefully with his family by his side on Wednesday, June 10, 2015 at the age of 72 years. Beloved husband of Mary-Alice (Reid) (married November 14, 1970) and dear father of Shawn (fiancé Kelly) and Alan (Andrea). He will be sadly missed by his grandchildren Logan, Alyssa, Alexis and Amelia. Doug was born to Leonard and Elsie (Middleton) and had many siblings, which includes Mildred (Leonard) Jewell both predeceased, Audrey (Delbert) Merrylees, Isabel (predeceased), Leah (Jim predeceased) Rayner, Pat (predeceased) (Joe) Baker, Shirley de Chevigny, Ken (Marlene), Gordon (Darlene), Garry (Shirley), Irwin (Mary), Merlin (Christine). Also remembered by his sister-in-law Margaret (Dave Cameron) Reid and brother-in-law John (Roxanna) Reid. Doug was born on September 8, 1942 at the Mindemoya Red Cross Hospital, to Leonard and Elsie (Middleton) Lewis. He grew up working on the family farm and later owning it. During his life, Doug lived in two different homes, he spent the first half of his life on Lot 12 Concession 12 and the second half of his life on Lot 10 Concession 12 in Campbell Township. Over the years Doug worked for Norris Pearson Farming and Trucking, John S. Paisley and Son Farms, Abbott Townsend and Wilson Sawmill, Earle Gilmore Construction, J. C. Brisson Construction and Taylor Sawmill. From time to time Doug would occasionally work for Grant Oakes, Manitoulin Livestock Annual Fall Sale, George Brethat, Walt McDonald, Jack Hale, Dave McAllister, Scott McDermid and the Legge Brothers. Doug enjoyed hunting, fishing and gardening and was always willing to lend a helping hand to neighbours and family. A graveside service was held on Saturday, June 13, 2015 at 1 pm at Grimesthorpe Cemetery. Memorial donations may be made to the Mindemoya Hospital Auxiliary – Chemo Fund as expressions of sympathy. Arrangements entrusted to the Culgin Funeral Home, Gore Bay. www.culginfuneralhome.ca.

JOESPHINE E. PRICE (MCINTOSH)

Josephine E. Price (McIntosh) passed away on Sunday, June 7, 2015 with dignity and grace after a courageous battle with cancer. Predeceased by parents Edna (Gillingham) and Peter McIntosh. Beloved wife of Robert B. Price of Mindemoya, cherished mother of Kim (Joe) Moor of Mindemoya and Ryan Price of Campbell River, BC. Adored Nana of Kaelyn and Jaemie Moor. Precious sister of Janice (Dennis) McAdorey, Louise Jackson, and Peter (Natalie) McIntosh. She will be sadly missed by many nieces and nephews. Joe was loved for her sense of humour and quick wit. She was an accomplished seamstress, quilt maker, and loved to paint in oils. One of her other favourite things to do was to shop. She was a definite "fashionista" who loved to dress well and with style. We will always remember her kind and generous nature. She was and remains the wind beneath our wings.

Cadet 11th annual review a precision exercise

by Michael Erskine

LITTLE CURRENT—The Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps 348 Manitoulin marched with crisp precision beneath the stern gaze of reviewing officer UCCM Chief of Police Rodney A. Nahwegahbow, their uniforms sharp as the Little Current Recreation Centre arena was filled with the applause of proud parents, friends and relatives.

The cadets worked their way through the afternoon program missing nary a beat, including an outstanding precision drill and musical performance by the corps' newly formed marching band.

A touching moment occurred when the band was led into the arena by drum major Petty Officer 2nd Class Alexis French wielding a mace donated by the family of 348 Manitoulin co-founder Ed Kift. The mace was originally donated to Mr. Kift by the Little Current Lions Club in the 1960s when he formed a long-running town marching band.

The program consisted of the ship's company falling in for O' Canada and a moment of silence for Canada's Forces, the arrival of the viewing party, a general salute, inspection of the ship's company by Chief Nahwegahbow and a group of dignitaries that

The entire ship's company and officers gathered for a group photo following their 11th annual review.

The Manitoulin Navy League Manitoulin Branch Outstanding Third Year Cadet Award (for demonstration of proficiency in dress, deportment, drill and self discipline) was presented by Naval Cadet Tara Pascoe to Master Seaman Miranda MacKay.

The Outstanding Fourth Year Cadet Award (for demonstration of proficiency in dress, deportment, drill and self discipline) was presented by Civilian Instructor Tina Davidson to Petty Officer 2nd Class Tim VanVolkingburgh.

The Most Improved Cadet Award was presented by Civilian Instructor Chantel Beaulieu on behalf of Bill Martin, president of the Channel View Drop-in Centre, which generously shares office space at the NEMI arena for the cadets' officers and staff during their parade nights. This award went to the cadet who has demonstrated a drive to work towards increasing skills in dress and deportment, drill, mandatory classes and self-discipline, Petty Officer 2nd Class Nicholas Harper.

Brian Chapelle of the Manitoulin North Shore Navy Veterans Association presented the Outstanding Citizenship Award to the cadet who is a good citizen and who strives to make a worthwhile contribution that benefits the country as a whole and not just themselves to Petty Officer First Class Quinton Cosby.

The Recruiting Award went to the cadet who has brought the highest number of new cadets to the Corps. This year the award was presented by Civilian Instructor Lynn Harper-Kutschke to both Petty Officer Second Class Ben Sayyae and Petty Officer Second Class Nick Harper.

The Top Marksmanship Award went to the cadet who consistently achieved the top score in both practice and competition. The award was presented by Assistant Marksmanship Coach Naval Cadet Tara Pascoe to Petty Officer Second Class Nick Harper.

The Music Award for Most Improved Cadet was presented by Civilian Instructor Tina Davidson and Little Current Lions Club President Bruce Burnett to the cadet who has demonstrated great learning capacity in a short time. "He has become a great leader and his music skills have grown immensely," said Mr. Pascoe as the award was presented to Petty Officer Second Class Nick Harper.

The Most Dedicated Award was presented by Civilian Instructor and Band Officer Chantal Beaulieu and Little Current Lions Club President Bruce Burnett to the cadet who demonstrated a clear understanding of music theory and band drill, as well as leading and instructing other band members. As well, this cadet had perfect attendance at all band practices. The award was presented to Chief Petty Officer 2nd Class Bradly Sayyae.

The Esprit de Corps Award is a special award. The selection was done by secret ballot by the cadets themselves. "This cadet demonstrated a positive attitude that contributes to the Esprit de Corps of the Manitoulin Sea Cadets," said Mr. Pascoe. This year, in hon-

"For the fifth year in a row, a special award will be presented," noted Mr. Pascoe. "Little Current resident and supporter of the cadets, Retired Colonel George Bury who passed away in early 2011. He was a veteran of World War II."

"Colonel Bury was a true gentleman and a positive influence not only with the corps but in the Manitoulin community as well," he said. "The George Bury Memorial Award will be presented to the cadet who exemplifies the Latin phrase "fidus amicus," which means "a true friend." The award was presented by the wife of

Officer Second Class Rebecca MacDonald.

The Legion Medal of Excellence, Manitoulin is given to a cadet in recognition for individual endeavours in citizenship, which meet or enhance the aims and objectives of the cadet movement. The medal was presented by Branch 177 Royal Canadian Legion representative Roy Eaton to Petty Officer 2nd Class Alexis French.

The Legion Medal of Excellence, Gore Bay was presented by Don Watson, representative of Branch 514 Royal Canadian Legion, Gore Bay to Petty Officer 1st Class Quinton Cosby.

The End of Cadet Career Award went to a cadet who will be leaving the cadet corps and pursuing post secondary education. The award was presented by past #348 Manitoulin Coxswain, retired Chief Petty Officer First Class Andrew Blake. The award went to current coxswain, Chief Petty Officer Second Class Cindy Hu.

The Aging Out Award goes to the cadet who completed their cadet career until their 19th birthday. An engraved pewter mug is the traditional gift for this accomplishment. The award went to Petty Officer Second Class Brandon Lee Shawana and was presented by OPP Community Services Officer Allan Boyd.

The Top Cadet Award went to the cadet who is the most outstanding sea cadet in the Manitoulin Division and was presented by our reviewing officer, Chief Rodney Nahwegahbow to Chief Petty Officer Second Class Cindy Hu.

Reviewing Officer Chief of Police Rodney Nahwegahbow then addressed the corps, congratulating the cadets on their service, followed by MP Hughes who also congratulated the corps.

Henry Wall, board member of the Navy League of Canada, Ontario Division, then also congratulated the cadets, as Bob Jewell, branch chairperson of the Navy League of Canada, brought greetings on behalf of the sponsoring committee for #348 Manitoulin.

Commanding Officer of the #348 Manitoulin Cadet Corps, Lieutenant (Navy) Maggie King-Roi then addressed the cadets, eliciting a cheer from her charges.

Chief Petty Officer First Class Cindy Hu then presented a gift to Chief Nahwegahbow, along with a card that read "Sir: Please accept this gift as a token of our appreciation for serving as our Reviewing Officer—with much thanks and gratitude," and signed by the officers and cadets of #348 Manitoulin RCSCC.

Following the presentations and awards, the ship's company marched smartly off of the field, to return for a reception and gathering with the guests and family attending

Tehkummah Talk and Times

Just came in from Bingo, the night air is so soft and scented with new rain and lilac, smells beautiful out there. Iona is back tonight, good to see her. Pauline took Mom to have her foot looked at today too. Mom has an infection in it.

Well I've been getting lots of comments on the show at the hall on Sunday, but I can only take credit for rounding up the talent. I'm glad everyone enjoyed it so much.

I went to Manitowaning with Joan today too. We get along so well. We had a cup of tea at Queen Street General, and Marilyn (Moggy) and her lovely daughter Joanne joined us for a nice visit. Marilyn is in the process of moving to Little Current.

After our cribbage game today I took Mom up, as her foot was bad again. New doctor, new diagnosis. This time "gout." Hopefully we've tracked down the trouble, so we can address it. I see in last weeks cribbage coverage Janet and Glenn's Kneotal's names were missed. They were first with 949.

Today we had six tables: high hand, Rick (Gordon), 24; first, Bill and Betty. Jean, 952; Edgar and Rita, 949; Mary and Jean, 948. Low, Hugh and Lyle, 849; door prize, Lois, Rick and Audrie.

Thank you to all the wonderful delicious lunch providers, wow!

Did laundry early this Thursday a.m. in Mindemoya and picked up Mom's new prescription. She wasn't feeling that well, but her foot was better. She was better when I called in later.

I went to Garden Shed alone singing "All by Myself" but Gail found me a friend. Kathy (Hill) joined me for a visit while I had my breakfast. I should finish putting my laundry away and make my bed. It was noisy in Mindemoya, loud speakers, sirens, balloons at the police station.

Thank goodness the bugs aren't biting and wasn't I grateful I put the kettle on with the first loud thunder, and it boiled for my coffee after the power was gone. Sometimes there is much to be thankful for!

"Hey Happy Father's Day!"

Terry and Rita Gordon, I can't believe its been twenty five years already. Now named Gordon's Park, it was originally the mounted animal nature trail. I recall finding stuff to stuff often while on my (back then) mail route. And it even had a song written for it, about it.

What's with the stupid pill bottle caps that chew holes in your hand when you close them? Twice lately I've had blood everywhere!

Did make Terry and Rita's open house day with a few minutes to spare, a great turn out they say. (Terry and Kathy Hill, Mom and I did Garden Shed after church today at Fairview, where the congregation presented to Elaine a beautiful planter for her forty years of dedication work as church organist.

Mom just beat me two of three, after we got back from Bev (Lynch's) Sr. U.C.W. meeting. We are a good bunch. I think Bev's a wonderful hostess, today now don't take this as fact, but, we made $39.80 at 10 cent an inch for our waist lines?? I think a few paid double?? Triple?? We're always trying to raise a buck. We did have a plant exchange at the end of the meeting. Just a month until our strawberry social. Where is this year going? My weeks all run together. Bev served a delicious supper. Quiche and lemon pie and more. I'm now in my lazee girl chair watching "Murder She Wrote." Neatly folded all my table clothes so they are ready for our next event.

I was wondering this Wednesday morning (I'm sitting out after the thunder storm, hydroless) reading how the little wren keeps her house dry. Does she back up to the entry to keep her kids protected? I've been singing one drip at a time. Not because of the rain but thankful the thunderstorm woke me. I left my bathroom sink plug in and almost?

I love hearing from folk who follow me (in my column) and love the compliments even more. A group of gals

Algoma-Manitoulin-Kapuskasing unmatched, Carol Hughes tells the House

OTTAWA—Sportfishing is an essential part of the tourism economy in Canada and even more important for Northern Ontario, according to Algoma-Manitoulin-Kapuskasing MP Carol Hughes.

Ms. Hughes delivered a statement in the House of Commons Thursday that chided the government for short sighted economics, while promoting the destinations in Algoma-Manitoulin-Kapuskasing.

“Anglers contribute over 8.5 billion dollars a year to the economy and a lot of that comes from visitors which is why it is so short-sighted when the government targets tourism infrastructure in cost-cutting exercises,” said

Ms. Hughes. “This fact is not lost on the outfitters and businesses that depend on tourism in Northern Ontario.”

Ms. Hughes says the outfitters in her constituency are hoping that the favourable exchange rate will draw more Americans over the border this summer. The MP boasted of the world class fishing opportunities in the area as well as the local attractions that keep visitors busy.

“While there is no end of great places to wet a line in Canada, nothing compares to the variety and quality found in Algoma-Manitoulin-Kapuskasing,” said Ms. Hughes. “With two Great Lakes and thousands of inland lakes, rivers and streams, visitors can chase salmon, trout, bass, musky and walleye with the chance to catch the fish of a lifetime.”

“When they aren’t on the water, people can fill their days with memories that will never fade,” the MP continued. “Festivals, powwows, museums, and markets bustle with activity and our businesses are always ready to greet you with some legendary Northern hospitality.”

Ms. Hughes finished by encouraging everyone to visit Algoma-Manitoulin-Kapuskasing, “where the only thing better than the fishing is the way we treat our guests.”

MSS was buzzing with the excitement of graduation on Thursday, June 11. The graduates stayed after school to set up the gymnasium on Tuesday, had a rehearsal on Wednesday, and then on Thursday they reached the end of their high school careers. After four years of high school, these students are stepping out of high school and into adulthood. The Valedictorian for the graduating class of 2015 was Sarah Orford. A huge congratulations to all of the graduates, and the school will miss you next year.

At lunch students have

been hanging outside, throwing around frisbees, and playing basketball on the outdoor courts. Students are eating in the courtyard, enjoying their lunches while sitting in the sun.

Guidance counsellors are busy organizing timetables for next year. For students who are taking e-learning courses next year, there is now a list of courses that are available. Students can now register for Summer School in Sudbury. To register for a course, it must have been completed with a minimum mark of 35 percent. The whole school is excited for summer, but that hasn’t affected learning. Students are still in their regular classes and doing their homework. Stay golden Mustangs. ‘Til next time.

Honey and maple regulation consideration

The Ontario government is considering making changes to Ontario Regulation 119/11 produce, honey and maple products to make provincial grading, labelling and colour classification standards consistent with federal requirements. Other potential changes to the regulation will be discussed which could strengthen food safety and enhance product quality, support innovation and growth of the maple industry in Ontario. Your input is important. Participate in the discussions and provide your comments and feedback on possible

Scouting - Learn what to look for!

Scouting is always the best method to determine if fields are actually at risk. Spring time assessments help determine what impact winter and early spring conditions have had on the early season pests. Harsh winters can have a large impact on bean leaf beetles for example, while grubs are well protected from extreme temperature fluctuations by hibernating below the frost line. Spring scouting is also the best time to monitor for those pests that overwinter in the US and migrate here in early spring (e.g. black cutworm). Scouting prior to planting informs growers of field conditions that have increased their risk to pests. Some additional cultural control measures could be implemented or decisions made as to where to best target the insecticide seed treatments. Fields found to be at low risk of the major soil insect pests can be targeted for planting fungicide-only treated seed in and experience little to no crop loss due to these insects. The Guide to Early Season Field Crop Pests provides additional information on how to scout for other soil insects.

To learn more about how to use baits to find wireworm populations and how to dig and assess for grubs and some of the key root feeding pests refer to OMAFRA’s webpage “Scouting for Soil Insect Pests in Field Crops.”

The weather has been cool and a little wet, but the kale and lettuce in my garden are loving it. I planted the kale and lettuce plants on Mother’s Day weekend, and we have been eating both the last two weeks. I planted the kale plants among the flowers and for a border, I used the lettuce plants. There is still time to plant both in your garden, or among your flowers. The best of both worlds—visually pleasing and also edible.

Bring the water and quinoa to a boil in a medium saucepan. Cover, reduce to a simmer and cook for 10 minutes. Do not cook longer or you will have mush. Turn the heat off, remove the pot and let sit for another 5 minutes. Fluff with a fork and allow the quinoa to cool.

Combine the quinoa, the beans, red pepper, onion, garlic, celery and kale in a large bowl.

In a small bowl mix the vinegar, oil, garlic, fresh basil, parsley, salt and pepper until well blended.

Add the dressing to the salad and mix well. Add extra vinegar for taste if needed.

Quinoa Bean Salad

I have been using green garlic out of my garden—just like a green onion. In this recipe use as much kale as you like, with more being better. The salad is perfect for a vegetarian meal, and all the food groups are covered.

- 1 cup water
- ½ cup quinoa
- One 19 oz can chickpeas, drained and rinsed
- One 14 oz can kidney or black beans, drained and rinsed
- ½ small jalapeno pepper diced (optional)
- 1 cup sliced red pepper
- 2 cups chopped kale
- 2 thinly sliced green garlic
- ½ cup chopped red onion
- ½ cup diced celery
- ½ cup cider vinegar
- ¼ cup olive oil
- 1 Tbsp fresh basil chopped
- 1 Tbsp fresh parsley chopped
- Salt and pepper to taste

apparently boost the economy each time they hit the Island, six of them! Great get together, fun, lots of card games. They stay at Bay Estates Cottages while here, and they read my columns, now how fun is that???

Thanks so much for the call, Marilyn McBain. By the way they're from Port Elgin. Hope you enjoy your time together. There was an increase in population in our township and somehow I missed it. I saw this lady pushing a baby carriage, Congratulations Ellen and family.

Had a visit with Bill Sawyer recently. Hope things are okay in your world.

Special Olympics Torch Relay Run. This weekend Bluegrass in the Country. I forgot to wish my sister Happy Big Birthday June 12. Hope it was happy Susan!!! June 17 Happy Birthday Penny.

Susan was visiting Mom after this morning. I checked in on Mom after euchre, Bev sent her some sandwiches. She's been sleeping a lot. Sleeping/healing. Her foot looked better.

Bev and Richard were on K.P duty, so they have done their stint. We had four tables. I was in charge as all the other "bosses" were away. Ladies high, Marg (Case), 79; Annette had three lone hands; Rose was lady low, 41. Men's high, Rick, 90. Rick and Simon cut with 4 lone hands. Simon won. Low, Edgar, 47. Marg Case won door.

Good to see Sandie, Rose and Ann with us again. (Sandfields summer residents) Sandfields first euchre, Wednesday 17 evening.

Party on, we got home just before midnight. Susan did get a surprise for her 65th. There were family and friends waiting in the big room at Carol's and Earl's. We had lots of visiting time. Chris sent Susan and Bids for their take out order. Jeff had phoned last night while I was at Susan and Simon's and said he had a special work order. So when Carol showed her into the room the first thing she saw was Jeff, Megan, Brooke, Mickey Brendan, Owen and Jaxon. Paula and Sean Brandow then Mom, Pauline, Wayne, Barb and Dave, Joan and Borden, Lynda and Martin, Mollie and John, Lois Ann and John, Sherry and Dave, Lori and Rick.

Later at their house Terry and Rita, Willie and Chris. Gift opening, cake, candles, the Happy Birthday song, gift opening, meat platter, veggie tray and fruit tray.

Simon you sure did a great job of organizing the surprise. As you can well imagine a lot of visiting went on and laughter.

I started my Saturday working in the yard, planting potting. I got pot of organic sage at foodland do you know how many sage plants are in one pot. Where will I plant them all?

While I was in the yard this beautiful flashy motorcycle drove in so I got a hug from Jose who is back at South Baymouth and the business for the summer.

I stopped at Cal's on my way to Manitowaning. He was having a relaxing day. The day before got a hair cut (short?) from Doug in Little Current and had lunch with Lyle and Shirley out at their place. I'd be surprised if he didn't stop at the Flea Market to shop.

Another new business in Tehkummah Saturday, a lemonade stand on Ward's step operated by Taylor and Samantha.

Well Bluegrass in the Country had a nice Friday evening after the rain and Saturday must have been perfect.

Saturday afternoon I went to Mom's to see how she was doing, cheered her up by beating her two of three cribbage games. Then I popped over to the hall where the Bowerman family was celebrating Ted's 75th birthday. Nice blue and white birthday cake and all the extras.

The Odd Gardener

I'm the strangest kind of gardener.
I leave the weeds? So long
So my garden shows some colour. After the daffodils are gone.

Forget me nots. There's still a few blue dots amid the green.
But my showy buttercups are huge.
Fertilized, tall, address the scene.
Light bursts through, they shine they show.

To the compost bin they never go.
Like gold drops fallen from the sun.
I love them everyone.
